Fighting Spreads In Athens British Use Tanks To Oust Snipers In Capital

Regular Greek Forces Aiding British Against Partisan Groups Who Favor Upsetting Present Government

By STEPHEN BARBER—Associated Press Staff Writer

ATHENS, Dec. 6—(AP).—A British Sherman tank and a platoon of British soldiers seized headquarters of the Left-Wing EAM party by storm today as fighting spread through wide areas of Athens. The Communist party building on Constitution Square also was taken. Parachute troopers forced the main entrance with grenades, and seized 18 armed Communists there.

Greek authorities said they believed all resistance would be overcome by tomorrow. In Piraeus, port of Athens, the clashes reportedly had subsided this afternoon.

Fighting with tanks and machine-guns broke out after snipers of the ELAS—the Militia of the EAM, National Liberation Front—fired on a truckload of British troops before dawn, killing one and wounding another.

A Sherman tank was sent to batter in the door of EAM headquarters, and British troops charged the stairs, scattering EAM defenders with half a dozen bursts of fire, and cleaning up floor by floor.

One British soldier was killed by a bullet through the head while searching the building. Most of the defenders apparently escaped, but 83 prisoners were taken.

British troops are establishing control from the centre of Athens by degrees, working out in concentric rings. Sniping continued incessantly throughout the city, with occasional bigger thumps from grenades and machine guns.

Sherman tanks attacked machine gun nests of the National Liberation Front forces located in housetops and other commanding positions. Fighting flared around the Temple of Seus, Hadrian's Gate and along a wide path from Averoff Stadium to the Acropolis.

Defy Orders.

A British communique issued this morning said:

"In defiance of all orders both from the Greek government and Maj.-Gen. R. M. Scobie, E.L.A.S. troops continued to advance toward the centre of Athens, overwhelming police posts and even firing on British troops on guard duty.

"British and Greek regular forces have now gone into action in support of the civil power."

Fighting broke out before dawn as snipers in the Plakka district opened fire on the truckload of Tommies passing along the main Piraeus road.

E.L.A.S reinforcements were reported en route to the city from outlying provinces. The E.L.A.S. form the fighting branch of the Left-Wing E.A.M. National Liber-

Hush-Hush Crime

LONDON, Dec. 6—(CP).—The London Daily Herald said today a $210,000 payroll for United States troops on the Western front had been stolen while in transit in England.

It was the most "hush-hush" crime of its kind in Britain's history, the Herald said. How and when it occurred is a mystery, and nobody will talk about it.

Shells Rationed For Guns On West Front

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press War Correspondent

WITH THE U.S. 9th ARMY IN GERMANY, Dec. 6—(AP)—Despite a considerable improvement in army supplies, which has allowed full-scale operations, artillery still is being rationed on the Western Front.

During quiet periods artillery commanders are instructed to conserve supplies for future operations. Some local operations do not get full support during these lulls because of the ammunition shortage. Batteries are put on quotas, which are lifted only when the high command strikes with a full-scale effort.

A great deal has been said concerning the reasons for the shortage. At first it was ports and transportation, which the Army's rapid advance outstripped, but now port and rail facilities are such that every army on the western front can be supplied for an indefinite period for a full-scale offensive if the goods are available in Britain and America.

The production of ammunition for guns of larger calibre than 105-mm. has gone steadily upward since the start of the war; instead the chart of large calibre ammunition production over the past three years hits a peak and then dives steeply down.

This apparently was because military and civilian production chiefs, trying to keep a close check on the trends of warfare to avoid large surpluses, reacted too quickly to temporary situations on the fighting fronts.

The war in Europe also is lasting longer and becoming more costly

Five Canadians Battle 50 Nazi

AN R.C.A.F. AIRFIELD IN HOLLAND, Dec 6 — (CP Cable). —Five Canadian Spitfire pilots of the Falcon Squadron, patrolling over the Wesel area of North-western Germany near the Netherlands frontier, took on more than 50 Messerschmitt 109s yesterday, shot down four, and probably destroyed a fifth. One Spitfire was lost, but the pilot is believed safe.

Leading the attack, FO. Fred Murray of Saint John, N.B., made two certain "kills" and probably destroyed another enemy plane. Flt. Lt. Bill Banks, D.F.C., Toronto, shot down the other pair.

Banks, who has 10 German planes to his credit, became the top scorer now on operations with his wing.

Italians Help Canadians Clean Out Town

By WILLIAM BOSS
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS ON THE ADRIATIC, Dec. 6—(CP Cable). — Aid of Italian Partisans and civilians in helping clean out the Germans in newly-captured Ravenna was acknowledged to-day by men of the Princess Louise' Dragoon Guards of Ottawa, who entered the historic city, five miles inland from the Adriatic, Monday afternoon.

The Italians knew where the town was booby-trapped and mined by the Germans. They also helped the Canadians discover and mop up the Germans holding out in the town.

In addition, a large force of Patriots helped squadrons under Capt. Ross Chamberlin of Hamilton, Ontario, and Maj. Baz Smith of Montreal clean out an area west of the town through which the Canadians under Maj. Doug Burke of Swift Current, Sask., and Maj. Alec Beckingham of Kingston, Ont., entered Ravenna on Monday. Deserted by their comrades in the hasty retreat, many Germans were still hanging on there.

Meanwhile the Dragoons were getting dry socks and boots, caring for swollen feet, and snatching time to enjoy the first hot meal in days.

The Dragoons' Colonel, a Toronto man, took calmly the news from war correspondents that the Canadians' feat in capturing the city was made the subject of a special statement from Allied Headquarters yesterday

"Gee, the boys will get a terrific kick out of that—they deserve it," he said as he received the correspondents.

Headquarters said the crossing of the Lamone was made in strength and that the bridgehead was held firmly against strong German opposition.

The crossing was made upstream from the village of Quartolo, four

Parents Believe Prayers Answered

FORT FRANCES, Ont., Dec. 6 — (CP). — When Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidt of Fort Frances learned yesterday that their 29-year-old son, William had been granted a stay of execution until March 1 they kneeled in the kitchen of their home and sang the hymn: "Praise God From Who All Blessings Flow."

"Our prayers have been answered," said Mr. Schmidt.

A few minutes later Sheriff C. L. Sundin called with official word on the stay of execution.

Four Prison Officials Held As Hostages

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 6—(CP).—Apparently irked by being quartered with German spies and saboteurs 25 long-term convicts continued today to hold four prison officials as hostages in the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary's five-storey segregation building which they seized on Monday night.

Director of Prisons James V. Bennett of Washington, who flew to Atlanta, was on the scene. Only skimpy details of the struggle within the huge prison, which houses 2,000 convicts, were given reporters who kept vigil nearby.

Bennett early in the night said that apparently the rebellious convicts were not armed and that none of the hostages, four junior custodial officers, had been harmed so far as could be determined.

Red Armies 40 Miles From Austria

Hit Defence Zone Guarding German Frontier

MOSCOW, Dec. 6 (AP)—Russian armored columns plunged within 40 miles of Austria today, storming past the southern end of Lake Balaton in Western Hungary and ripping into the final defence zone guarding the Southwestern German frontier.

Front dispatches said task forces from Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's 3rd Ukrainian Army already had stabbed deeply into the confused enemy flank behind the rail junction of Nagykanizsa, 10 miles from the northern Yugoslavia border and 46 from Austria.

The major rail line north to Wiener Neustadt, big German aircraft manufacturing centre, and Vienna was reported blocked by Russian artillery.

The Austria - bound Russians sprang forward from the area of Marcali, reported captured yesterday.

Tolbukhin's triumph in massing his forces along most of Lake Balaton's southeastern shore gave him a pivotal base for flinging out encircling arms to the northeast around Budapest, Hungarian capital, and to the southwest around Zagreb, northern Yugoslav city and capital of Croatia.

Russian vanguards, moving with extreme boldness, were probing the rolling countryside between the lake and the Drava River, beyond which thousands of Croatian Partisans loyal to Marshal Tito are said to have gone over to a fierce offensive against possibly 100.000 German troops still reported in northern Yugoslavia.

In the push to cut off Budapest, Tolbukhin's forward elements were reported very close to contact with Marshal Rodion Y. Malinobsky's right flank established on Csepel Island, in the Danube south of the capital. Malinovsky's trooph have been besieging Budapest from the southeast for days.

Liberals In Ontario Legislature Meet May Name Mitchell Hepburn House Leader

TORONTO, Dec. 6 — (CP). — Liberal members of the Ontario Legislature gathered today for a caucus amid speculation that they will name Mitchell F. Hepburn, member for Elgin riding, as House leader of their 16-man group.

Harry C. Nixon, Ontario Liberal leader and present House leader, declined to comment on possible developments at the caucus, scheduled to start at Queen's Park at 2.30 p.m.

Mr. Hepburn, former premier who resigned the leadership of the party in October, 1942, was re-elected to his Elgin riding seat in the provincial election of 1943 as an Independent Liberal. Last October he announced that he would support the Liberal party again and immediately afterwards attended a party caucus. There was no announcement at the time, but it was learned later that the members discussed the possibility of him taking over as House leader from Mr. Nixon.

Eden Defends British Stand Regarding Count Sforza

LONDON, Dec. 6—(CP).—Foreign Secretary Eden asserted flatly today that Britain was within her rights in trying to shape the governments of liberated countries. Speaking to the House of Commons a day after a United States declaration of a "hands-off" policy in Italy, Mr. Eden stood by the British Government's veto of the proposed appointment of Carlo Sforza as Italian Foreign Minister.

Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., United States Secretary of State, had announced yesterday in Washington that the United States did not oppose Count Sforza and felt the Italians should be allowed to form their own government without outside interference.

Mr. Eden's stand—clearly of significance in the reshaping of a post-war Europe—brought divided sentiment in the House.

Cries of "No" met a suggestion by Ivor Thomas, Labor, that Britain "withdraw gracefully" and admit that "a blunder has been made."

Just as Mr. Stettinius implied that his "no-interference" statement was a far broader declaration than the immediate issue of Count Sforza, so Mr. Eden apparently applied his words to the future of all liberated Europe.

"I must repeat to the House that I maintain the British Government has a perfect right to express an opinion to another government about a minister under conditions such as these," Mr. Eden said.

Comment Sharp

Count Sforza was minister without portfolio in the Italian government which resigned 10 days ago, and Mr. Eden said Britain did not oppose his holding a job other than that of foreign minister. Ivanoe Bonomi, who once resigned as Italian premier, still is trying to form a new government.

The British press commented sharply on the American note. It was rude and meant to be so, said the Manchester Guardian. The Yorkshire Post said it smacked of self-righteousness. Both newspapers recalled British opposition to the American-supported Darlan administration in North Africa.

Mr. Eden announced a full-dress debate for Friday on the crisis in Greece.

G. R. Strauss, Labor, asked Mr. Eden whether Britain had taken its position without consultation with other Allied governments. He said he wanted to know also how the Foreign Secretary could reconcile it with Bonomi's "complete denial."

"As regards the first part of the question," replied Mr. Eden, "perhaps you will be good enough to await a question I am going to answer in a moment or two about other governments.

"As regards Signor Bonomi's statement—he said 'Count Sforza and I are old friends and even when we have disagreed on any particular question I have never had reason to doubt his personal friendship to me.' That would almost apply to Mr. Strauss and myself."

Asked for a second time whether

Reprieves Come At Last Minute

TORONTO, Dec. 6 — (CP). — George and Anthony Skrypnyk of Port Arthur today were granted a stay of execution until next March 1. They were to have been hanged today at Fort Frances for the hot stove murder of Mrs. Viola Jamieson of Flanders, Ont.

The reprieve, granted in chambers by Mr. Justice J. A. Hope of the High Court of Justice for Ontario. It followed a similar stay of execution for William Schmidt, who also was to have been hanged today. Chief Justice Rose granted the stay in Schmidt's case late yesterday to permit an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada. A fourth man convicted in the case, Eino Tillonen of Port Arthur, had his death sentence commuted to life imprisonment earlier in the week by the Federal Department of Justice.

Mr. Justice Hope granted the reprieve to the Skrypnyk brothers on the grounds that Schmidt's appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada is pending and its outcome might affect their rights. Motion for the stay in thier case was made by Joseph Sedgwick, acting on their behalf.

On Legal Point.

Jap War Makes Larger Demands

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP)—Conquest of the Japanese will cost the United States $71,000,000,000 a year "after Germany is defeated," Lt.-Gen. Brehon Somervell predicted today.

"The war against the Jap alone will be the biggest war this country or this world ever fought before the present war," asserted the commanding general of the Army Service Forces.

Somervell declared 300,000 more war workers were needed at once on critical programs as he appealed for an "upsurge of production" in a speech prepared for delivery before the National Association of Manufacturers.

Secret weapons are being produced that "must be ready in large quantities for the Pacific pushes," he declared. The devices are "not yet in use in Europe."

For the first time munitions are being used up faster than they are being produced, said Somervell, warning that the full fury of the war in Europe may not even have been reached and "we are certainly not yet full out against Japan."

Germany "with its undeniable fiendish skill and efficiency is right now training thousands of fresh troops and turning out millions of tons of equipment for them," the manufacturers were told.

"Within the past 90 days we have had to increase by 25 per cent our estimate of the production we believed we would need to fight the Japs after Germany is defeated," said Somervell.

Somervell acknowledged heavy cost in ammunition and equipment, while reminding that "this nation has committed its troops to fighting the war in one specific fashion—with an overwhelming superiority of material . . . We would rather fire a ton of munitions than lose a single American soldier."

6 Miles From Saarbrucken Key To Rich Area Housing German Industries

Patton's Army Reducing Nazi Armies In Northern Lorraine Allied Troops Pour Into Siegfried Line

By JAMES M. LONG—Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Dec. 6—(AP).—The United States 3rd Army battered across the Saar River at six places today, burst into Saarbrucken, burning industrial centre of the Saarland and the whole key to the rich German coal and iron basin. Patrols crossed the river at a seventh place, at Merzig 16 miles northwest of invested Saarlautern, where Germans still held out in strong knots around concrete advance posts of the Siegfried Line.

Lt.-Gen. Patton's assault troops fought into the Siegfried Line itself at two places beyond the river in the Saarlautern area.

Saarbrucken was in increasing peril as shells landed among its thickets of factory chimneys. Americans were within sight of the city.

At the far north end of the front, no action was reported on the sectors held by the British 2nd and 1st Canadian Armies.

Gen. Patton's right and the flanking U.S. 7th Army squeezed down the German hold on Northern Lorraine—the Karlsruhe Corner—to a strip no more than 50 miles long and only five to 20 miles deep. His troops still poured through the original Saar bridgehead inside Saarlautern and through the second gap thrown in the Saar defences south of that city last night. The exact locations of the assaults upon the Siegfried Line itself were not specified.

Supreme headquarters regarded the four new Saar crossings as a single bridgehead, the third forged this week. All along the 50-mile front from Merzig to Saare Union, natural defences of the Germans were being negotiated as the enemy was being forced into the refuge of the stout and thick Siegfried Line.

The Canadians still were engaged in routine patrol warfare in German territory east of Nijmegen, although flood-water from the smashed Neder Rhine dikes had forced them to withdraw from some of their forward positions in the Arnhem-Nijmegen "island."

The British troops were drawn up in strength along the west bank of the Maas (Meuse) River, opposite the vital border bastion of Venlo which guards Germany's Ruhr district.

Perin to Saarbrucken, capital of the Saar and a city of 135,000 centring 70 square miles of coal fields, increased by the hour. Troops within sight of the city from heights six miles away set parts of it aflame

Houde Appeals For Orderly Resistance Acts

MONTREAL, Dec. 6. — (CP).— Camillien Houde, former Mayor of Montreal and a candidate for the mayoralty at the Dec. 11 elections, told a public rally last night in referring to anti-conscription sentiment that "I do not recommand active resistance."

"I do recommend vehement protests, parades and other demonstrations as long as they are orderly without window breaking," Mr. Houde added.

"If we have elections, though, we in Quebec are certainly going to protest as one man. Resistance, 'manu militari' (armed resistance), that I do not recommend, for fear there would be more blood shed over here than overseas."

Mr. Houde who was released three months ago from four years' internment for advising the population not to register under the National Registration Act said he "did not want Mr. King (Prime Minister Mackenzie King) replaced by anybody that would be worse" and that "the population has no choice."

Referring to what he called an inaccurate report of his Sunday speech, Mr. Houde claimed he had said: "With King we have conscription; it's purgatory for us and for him, but others it could be hell."

He said: "It is because I do not want King to be replaced by somebody worse that I compared the situation to purgatory. We are in a bad mess, we could be in a worse one."

Railway Yard Is Mass Of Rubble

LONDON, Dec. 6 — (CP). — Eight hundred American heavy bombers, escorted by 800 fighters, attacked Germany's No. 1 synthetic oil plant at Merseburg and the railroad yards at Beilefeld today.

The 3,300-ton raid took place under adverse weather conditions and results were unobserved.

A day-long series of raid warnings by German radio indicated that at least two more heavy bomber assaults were under way — one by the U.S. 15th Airforce from Italy and another by R.A.F. Lancasters from Britain.

Night Raids

The raids came after night R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. attacks on railyards at Beilefeld and Soest, the two most important railway junctions in Germany.

An R.C.A.F. dispatch said Soest was reduced to a mas of rubble. Reconnaissance pilots reported fires burning throughout the target area

British Troops Cross Lamone

ROME, Dec. 6—(AP)—British and Polish troops of the British 8th Army have smashed across the Lamone River southwest of Faenza and established a bridgehead while Canadian and British units are cleaning out isolated enemy groups in captured Ravenna with the aid of Italian Patriots, Allied Headquarters announced today.

Other troops of the 8th Army pushing westward from Godo are engaged in heavy fighting on the line of the Lamone River.

On the right flank of the 5th Army Indian troops have made further progress while farther left British troops of the 5th Army have captured Monte Penzola which commands the lateral road to Imola.

Tanks Had Difficult Task

In Continuous Action Over Two Months

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN HOLLAND, Dec. 6 (CP Cable)—Two and a half months of advance, with stop overs long enough to help to clear the channel ports, carried the 2nd Canadian Armored Brigade from the Trun Gap in Normandy to the Netherlands town of Breda.

Tank regiments of this D-Day brigade began their pursuit of the Germans at the end of August after helping to seal the Falaise pocket which caught part of the German 7th Army and after only a brief rest for maintenance and repair. Until their Holland fighting ended they were almost continually in action.

The regiments played an active part in the advance to the Seine River which they crossed at Elbeuf, south of Rouen. One formation of the brigade had heavy fighting in the Forest de la Londe and then led the way into Rouen. Dieppe, Boulogne, Calais and Cap Gris Nez were on the battle program of one or other of the three regiments which since the Normandy landing have been under the command of seven different formations from time to time.

Finally early in November the brigade came together as a formation near Breda, one of the cities in Holland which it helped to clear. This was the first time since D-Day that the brigade had got together for a rest.

Britain Moves to Curb Communism

Russians And British Jockeying To Hold Dominant Place In Europe

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Anaylst

This column has been asked to to interpret Britain's intervention in the Greek political crisis to prevent, as Prime Minister Churchill has made clear, any attempt to "impose by violence a communist dictatorship"—a crisis which is producing fresh bloodshed in ancient Athens.

An understanding of the position is particularly necessary in view of Washington's announcement yesterday of a "hands-off" policy permitting liberated countries to work out their own political salvation along democratic lines without outside interference.

Russia is coming out of the war as the dominant power of Europe, a role long held by Britain. Britain naturally is increasingly active in trying to salvage what she can of her old prestige. Coincidentally many continental countries, distraught by two great wars within a generation, are seeking eagerly—almost frenziedly in some cases—for solution of great economic, social and political problems.

These seekers after relief are tending towards the Left. In most cases communism (it isn't always clear whether it's the Moscow brand or a local product) is playing a strong role. This is true in most of the remaining monarchies of the continent, and Greece is an outstanding example.

Now while the spread of communism certainly can't be abhorent to Russia, it isn't calculated to help Britain maintain her place in the sun.

When you add all this up it seems to me to provide one cogent reason why Britain is intervening in Greece, which long has been in her sphere of influence. It's a mighty important point in that sphere too, for it not only is sentinel of the Balkans, but lies almost athwart the Dardanelles between the Black Sea and the Mediterranean. As the signs now read, Russia may soon be sailing through the strait as a great sea-power to challenge Britain's domination of the Mediterranean which perhaps more than any other single factor has maintained her as the gendarme of Europe.

Symington May Get Post

Aviation Delegates Deliberate 36 Days

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Dec. 6 (CP)—Agreements designed to form the basis of orderly development of international civil aviation were being typed on treaty forms here today in readiness for signature of delegations from 54 united and neutral nations.

The final act of the international civil aviation conference, after 36 days of deliberations, will be the affixing of signatures to these agreements at a plenary session now scheduled for tomorrow.

Because of failure to agree on one master convention the conference prepared a series of five agreements, some of them unlikely to get signatures without later consideration by home governments.

Canada, which has been chosen as site of the interim organization headquarters, is assured of a seat on the council by virtue of an agreed system by which 21 members will be elected from the assembly of signatories to the interim convention.

It is also possible that H. J. Symington, head of the Canadian delegation here, will be offered the post of council president. He is president of Trans-Canada Airways, a post he would have to give up if he accepted the council presidency.

IODE Members Told Story Of Maj. Bennett

Representatives from the Major Bennett Chapter I.O.D.E. will attend a banquet December 15, to be given in honor of two newly formed I.O.D.E. chapters, which will receive their charters that night. The two new groups will be known as the Agnes Neill Chapter and the Mary Birdsall Chapter. This action was decided at a meeting Tuesday night.

After reading a letter from headquarters, it was decided to send a letter to the federal member of Parliament, Gordon K. Fraser, supporting the policy of conscription adopted by both the local and Dominion I.O.D.E. members.

An interesting paper on the life of Major Bennett, after whom the chapter is named, was read by Mrs. Helen Barnes. She also read parts of letters written by this soldier while serving in the forces in Belgium and France in the last war.

It was decided that a phonograph and records will be purchased and forwarded to the crew of their adopted ship, H.M.C.S. Ambler, as a Christmas remembrance. A donation of $10 was made to each of the following war charities: Blanket Fund, Prisoners of War Fund, Polish Relief, British Children and Clothing Fund, Sailors' and Minesweepers' Fund and the Cigarette Fund. Final preparations for the annual Christmas dance to be held at the Y.M.C.A. on December 25 were made, and Mrs. Mary Craig volunteered to act with the Red Cross in welcoming war brides to Peterborough.

The meeting was held at the home of Miss Margaret Louden, with the honorary regent, Mrs. G. Hall, present. Mrs. Jack Skitch, Albertus avenue, offered her home for the January meeting.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP

We have often given recipes for chocolate cake, but the following one is the best yet. You will say, how can a cake be mellow and rich, with no eggs and only two tablespoons of shortening. Well, look over the recipe carefully and you will see that three tablespoons of richness have been provided for to take the place of the eggs and the cost is reduced materially.

Peanut Butter Chocolate Cake

1¾ cups sifted cake flour, ¾ teaspoon soda, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons shortening, 3 tablespoons peanut butter, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Sift flour once, measure, add soda, salt, sugar and sift together three times. Cream shortening and peanut butter, until well blended. Then add melted chocolate and mix will. Add sifted dry ingredients milk and vanilla. Stir until all flour is dampened. Beat vigorously for one minute. Turn into eight-inch layer tins which have been well greased, lined with waxed paper and greased again. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

Spiced Pork Shoulder

4 pounds pork shoulder, ¼ cup chopped onions, 2½ cups cooked tomatoes, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 bay leaf, 8 whole cloves, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, flour. Brown pork in deep pan on all sides. Add onion and lightly brown. Combine tomato, salt, pepper, bay leaf, cloves, vinegar and sugar. Pour over pork, bring to the boiling point and cover. Simmer for three hours or until tender. Remove meat, skim off fat and thicken sauce with a little flour, mixed to a smooth paste with cold water. Serve with the meat.

Cincinnati Cabbage

To 3 cups cooked shredded cabbage, add 2 tablespoons pork fat. Add a few caraway seeds, and season with salt and pepper. Serve this with your spiced pork shoulder, for a vegetable.

Name R. Ferguson To Serve With Reforestation Group

Reeve Rork Ferguson was appointed to the reforestation committee for six years by the County Council this morning, replacing W. A. Anderson, who has been chairman since the forest in Belmont-Dummer was assumed late in 1938. It was stated that Mr. Anderson wished to retire from the committee. Mr. Ferguson was nominated by Reeve Robert Martin and Reeve E. Seeney.

John McColl was named chairman of the committee in a motion by Reeve James Humphries, seconded by Reeve Gilbert McIlmoyl. He was appointed three years ago for a six-year term. It was suggested that his experience recommended him for the chairmanship, and Mr. Ferguson said he heartily supported the proposal of Mr. McColl for the position.

The McColl appointment may point to a future policy in determining the chairmanship of the committee, that is for a term of three years.

Mr. Humphries suggested that the six-year terms might preferably be reduced to four, but Mr. Martin advised that no change be undertaken until 1948, when the ten-year agreement with the Ontario Departmetn of Lands and Forests terminates, and Peterborough county comes into complete possession of its forest property.

The committee was established as follows: One member for six years; one member for three years, his successor (Mr. McColl) to be appointed for six years; two members of the current county council and the Warden, for one year. The first two members may or may not be members of the council when appointed.

Reeve Mahoney of Douro was chosen as the county's representative on the new County Agricultural Committee. He was proposed by Reeve Melville Johnston, seconded by Reeve G. McIlmoyl.

Western Oils Show Gains

TORONTO, Dec. 6.—(CP).—Western oils had a small gain this afternoon on Toronto exchange while mines and industrials posted losses. Trading was quieter at 320,000 shares.

Weakness was displayed in industrials for Utilities, Steels, Papers, Liquors and Senior Oils. Brazilian was off ⅝ and Distillers-Seagrams Pfd. dropped a point.

In the golds McIntyre took a loss of 1 to 58½ and declines of a few cents were boarded by Frobisher, Cochenour Willans, Preston, Upper Canada and MacLeod-Cockshutt. Conwest gained 8 and Pioneer 15. In base metals Hudson Bay, Noranda, Falconbridge and Steep Rock are lower.

TORONTO — Damage of $100,000 resulted today from a fire which swept the Siberry Men's Clothing Store on Danforth avenue near Pape in east Toronto. S. Sibber, co-owner, suffered burns about the face when he dashed through a wall of flame to get out of the building.

recently to the Supreme Court of Ontario, Mr. Justice R. E. Laidlaw dissented from a majority decision of the court refusing his request for a new trial on the grounds that statements made to police by the other accused men prejudiced the jury at the trial in Fort Frances in September. The dissenting judgment made it possible for Schmidt to apply for a reprieve.

The hearing before Mr. Justice Hope followed a conference this morning between Attorney-General Blackwell of Ontario, Deputy Attorney-General C. L. Snyder and senior officer of the department.

It was reported that officials of the department took steps last night to delay the execution of the Skrypnyk brothers after Schmidt received his reprieve. However none of them could be reached for comment on this.

The charges were laid after Mrs. Jamieson died in Fort Frances Hospital on July 2 from burns inflicted by intruders ransacking her house for money. Her limbs were burned with flaming newspapers and she was placed on a hot stove.

In statements accepted as evidence during the trial, the men admitted having tortured Mrs. Jamieson in an effort to make her reveal where she had hidden the money.

Schmidt, described in court by his common-law wife as "soft-hearted," confessed in his statement that the four men had stolen $1,300 from the Jamieson root-house in May, and he was said by Tillonen to have remarked while they were on their way to Flanders that "he knew how to make her talk—torture her with fire."

Anthony Skrypnyk said "all four men lit papers and burned" Mrs. Jamieson.

The men, removed after the trial to the provincial jail at Kenora, Ont., were brought back here this week.

A gallows was erected inside a high board enclosure in the yard behind the jail and considerable feeling was aroused because the structure is in plain view of the passers-by and near a public school. The Provincial Attorney-General's Department rejected a request by the Town Council to have the hanging held in a centre with the necessary facilities.

The brothers were to be hanged "some time after midnight," and it was generally understood the execution would take place before daybreak.

Sheriff Sundin did not amplify his statement, which indicated he had been instructed earlier by the higher authorities not to proceed immediately with the double hanging.

Beyond his declaration that he was waiting for instructions, he said simply the brothers "have not been hanged."

It could not be learned immediately whether the apparent delay meant a new turn.

Americans, British Disagree On Policy Re United Nations

By E. V. W. JONES
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Britain's war cabinet met last night to discuss the situation in Greece, where British tanks are reported to have fired on members of the E.L.A.S., underground army of the left wing national liberation front (E.A.M.).

Foreign Secretary Eden and Prime Minister Churchill may participate in a full debate on the subject Friday as asked by the Labor party.

These activities indicated the seriousness with which the situation in Greece is viewed, emphasized by an United States note which disclosed a policy at variance with Britain's and a warning in parliament that relations with Russia might become involved.

Britain's position, as stated by Mr. Churchill in the House of Commons yesterday and in newspaper editorials, is that she seeks only to maintain order until the people of Greece can peaceably elect a government of their choice. It is denied that British arms seek to maintan Premier George Papandreou or any faction in power.

The situation developed when permission to demonstrate was withdrawn from the E.L.A.S. forces after the E.A.M. called a general strike which coincided with the resignation of six leftist members from the government. The announced intention was to force the resignation of Papandreou.

E.L.A.S. is estimated to have a strength of 60,000 armed men, plus its own police force, and gained considerable experience in guerilla warfare in fighting the Germans.

Secretary of State Stettinius' statement concerned Italy in particular and stated the United States had told both Britain and Italy that it expects the Italian people to solve their cabinet crisis without "outside influence."

Indicates Reproof

This was accepted as a reproof in Britain, since Mr. Eden had told the Italian government that the appointment of Count Carlo Sforza as foreign minister would not be a "happy choice."

Mr. Stettinius' statement added that the American "hands off" policy "would apply to an even more pronounced degree with regard to governments of the United Nations in their liberated territories."

The British view is that law and order must be maintained until the liberated peoples may vote even if "blood must be shed to prevent greater bloodshed."

A hands-off policy would be an open door through which any group with power might prevent an orderly return to democratic processes, or the election of the government of public choice, it is felt.

"Papandreou's policy and utterances concerning E.A.M. have been hostile and provocative," said the Daily Mail editorially. "On the other hand the action of E.A.M. in declaring a general strike, thus preventing the Greek people from receiving the food supplies which they so desperately need, is incredible folly."

The newspaper inquired if conditions in liberated lands would be so disturbed if the major allies have a more closely co-ordinated policy, adding:

"When it is revealed that Britain and America differ radically in their attitude to the Italian government—is that the kind of thing to inspire confidence?"

Patient Claims Was Kidnapped

MONTREAL, Dec. 6 —(CP)—Mr. Justice Pierre Casgrain yesterday adjourned until Dec. 7 the hearing of a petition of Mrs. Garnet Napier Coyle of Perth, Ont., for a writ of habeas corpus to obtain the release of her husband from Verdun Protestant Hospital. Coyle, under examination, explained how he was taken to the hospital. The petition claimed that Coyle had been kidnapped from his home in Perth and that the Quebec court ordering him placed in a mental institution did not have jurisdiction.

Coyle said he was brought to Montreal where he was told his mother was ill in her Westmount home. He said he was driven to Westmount but did not see his mother. Then men who accompanied him went into a house and in their absence he fell asleep.

He said that when the men returned to the car, they "beat me up" and placed him in an ambulance which took him to Verdun.

Two Soldiers Guilty Of Deserting Camp

Two charges of desertion and one of absenting without leave were tried by the Standing Court-Martial held at the Peterborough Training Centre and all three men were found guilty. One soldier for desertion was sentenced to undergo detention for 140 days and put under stoppage of pay until he has made good the sum of $27.45 in respect to his apprehension.

A second was sentenced to 60 days with $5.20 stoppage in pay, while the third, who was absent without leave, was sentenced to 20 days detention

Two Councillors Re-elected Reeves

Two members of the county council, Reeve Albert Hall of Chandos and Reeve David Curtin of Galway-Cavendish, were re-elected by acclamation at the recent advanced municipal nominations adopted some years ago in both these northern sections of the county.

Mr. Curtin is beginning his seventh successive year as reeve and Mr. Hall his sixth.

Chandos council was returned without opposition: John Reynolds, Owen Montgomery, Harold Campbell and Gerald Ayott. In Galway-Cavendish election for council returned three of the former members and Lester Hickey a newcomer to the township's administration.

Robert Reid, 87, Dies

KINGSTON, Dec. 6. — (CP).—Robert J. Reid, 87, one of Kingston's most prominent citizens, died Tuesday. For more than 40 years he owned and operated a funeral home and furniture store here. He was the oldest member of Kingston Lodge, I.O.O.F., joining in 1877, a life member of the ancient St. John's Lodge, A.F. & A.M., and a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. Three sons and two daughters survive.

the United States and Russia had been consulted beforehand on Britain's attitude toward Count Sforza, Mr. Eden answered, "no."

Under Eisenhower.

He then explained that "the British have no objection to Count Sforza being a member of the Italian government—he has in fact been such a member for some time past." The form of his statement implied that Britain's objections were solely against Sforza becoming foreign secretary.

The discussion was broadened to include Britain's policy in other liberated countries.

Mr. Eden said that any action taken by Allied troops in Belgium was carried out under instructions of Gen. Eisenhower and that while Belgium remained a zone of military operations the supreme commander must be free to take whatever action he thought necessary to keep order.

Asked if United States authorities were in agreement, Mr. Eden replied "yes, so far as I am aware."

575 Bushels Of Potatoes To Acre Pontypool Farmer Wins Award

BETHANY Dec. 6 (ENS)—Alfred Johnston of Pontypool was presented with a $50 gold watch by the Potato Growers Club, at a dinner in the United church, Bethany, Tuesday night, honoring him for his top yield.

A competition was organized among 17 members of the Club some months ago the object being to grow 500 bushels of potatoes to the acre, and Mr. Johnston's record stood at 575 bushels to the acre. Winner of the second prize, a $25 silver tea service, was Ernest Cavano of Pontypool. Three third prizes consisting of $25 cheques were won by Milton Weatherilt and sons of Bethany; Melville Olam of Pontypool and Frank Norland of Pontypool

One hundred and sixty-five guests attended the fowl dinner given by the officials of the club, and following the meal served by the Women's Association of the church, the guests adjourned to the town hall.

A. E. Summers of Port Hope, Agricultural representative of Durham county was master of ceremonies, and the guest speaker was Richard Goodin of Toronto, potato specialist with the Department of Agriculture He explained what farmers are up against in keeping the ground for their crops up to the required standard. He also described a new insect that attacks the fibres of the potato, just leaving the shell. However, he said, a "medicine" has been developed which will work successfully against the pest.

Frank Paterson, Agricultural representative for Peterborough was at the banquet and he was enthusiastic about the work the group was doing. It was organized by Henry Blakely of Pontypool, an old potato grower and he has been active in building up interest among his neighbors. Mr. Paterson said that 575 bushels to the acre was one of the highest yields this year in southern Ontario, the average yield being 108 bushels to the acre ation Front), whose oposition to the present Greek Government flared into a series of disorders on Sunday.

Relief Stalled.

Scobie, British Commander of the Allied forces in Greece, said it might be necessary to inform the British and American authorities soon that the Port of Piraeus would be unable to handle scheduled relief shipments because of the E.A.M. strike.

Scobie has declared the E.L.A.S. guilty of mutiny. Its members are technically under his command.

The residents of Athens were not venturing onto the streets today as the fighting took place on this more serious nature, following overnight reports that ELAS units were marching on the strife-torn city from the outlying provinces in support of an attempted Left-Wing coup d'etat.

Strike Continues

In Athens itself, the Greek government situation last night remained shaky while sporadic disorders occurred and a general strike still tied up the flow of Allied relief supplies.

Scobie issued a communique saying British tanks had fired "a few rounds in houses held by Left-Wing elements which were attacking the civil prison, where a number of alleged collaborators were held."

Themistokles Sophoulis, 85-year-old dean of the Greek Liberal party, declared yesterday that Prime Minister Churchill, through instructions to British diplomats in Athens, had vetoed replacing Premier Papandreou in a government change that might have solved the crisis which came into the open Sunday with a series of disorders.

Papandreou offered yesterday to resign in favor of a coalition cabinet under Sophoulis.

The Liberal leader said all political factions had asked him to form a new government, even Leftist leaders expressing their willingness to prevent further deterioration of the situation and bloodshed.

Before any action was possible, however, Sophoulis continued, "British Minister Leaper called at my house and told me that, according to the latest instructions received from the British Premier, 'any change in the present head of the government is impossible'."

Sophoulis said "further discussion is needless."

with constant and increasing barrages. Sarreguemines, a French border town of 14,000, lies eight miles south-east of the capital on the Saar.

The 35th Infantry Division advanced up to seven miles in liaison with tanks to enter the edge of Sarreguemines, itself a major coal producer. Troops closed on the town from two sides. Off to the right of Patton's 40-mile front solidly inside Germany, the 4th Armored and 26th Infantry Divisions rolled up to three miles northward through Lorraine toward the German Siegfried Line.

Quiet Reigns.

Comparative quiet prevailed again on the Roer River front within 22 miles of Cologne. The U.S. 1st Army completed the capture of Bergstein, at the edge of the dank Hurtgen Forest. Bergstein lies half a mile from the Roer and six southwest of the river citadel of Duren.

The U.S. 9th to the north reported only patrol and artillery action in the area between Julich and Linnich, the outskirts of both having been reached. Both sides had taken frightful casualties along the Roer. The two American armies appeared to be refitting, regrouping and resting for the next plunge

German casualties, excluding the lightly wounded, were estimated officially at 9,000 a day on the whole western front.

It was estimated that seven Allied armies—five of them fighting on German soil and two others drawn up along the Rhine River boundary in the south—were inflicting 9,000 permanent casualties a day on the Germans. These figures, which include prisoners as well as killed and seriously wounded, means the Germans are losing about five division a week.

Losses Heavy

Allied losses in this grim war of attrition are veiled in secrecy, but are bound to be heavy. It is known that losses in much of the present fighting on German soil will surpass by far anything known in Normandy. Probably the toll being taken on both sides was exceeding almost anything in the military history of western Europe.

A French army spokesman estimated that the German army in the past six months has lost 2,500,000 men plus the services of 60 satellite divisions—some of which now are fighting the Germans Of the losses, 1,150,000 Germans were killed, wounded and captured in France, he said, adding that Germany's manpower shortage now is so critical that the enemy can only bolster the fighting front at the expense of vital war production.

Just six months ago today, the Allies invaded France. Now they have freed all the republic except 2,000 square miles or less. All Belgium is liberated. A fifth of Holland is behind Allied lines. The extreme advance from Brest to Sarreguemines was 430 airline miles.

Ministers Are Critical Of New Course

TORONTO, Dec. 6.—(Special).—Vigorous condemnation featured the report of three ministers and two laymen of the Toronto Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church, who had been asked to examine the textbooks for religious education in the schools. Following is the unanimous report of the committee to examine the new course of religious instruction recently placed on the Public school curriculum by the Ontario Government, made public here today.

"Having very carefully and thoroughly examined the teachers' manual and the teachers' guides for grade I and II, we have made the following critical analysis of their contents:

"Each teachers' guide contains 32 lessons, and each lesson is composed of:

"1.—Scriptural text or reference.

"2.—Statement of the aim of the lesson, or point of contact.

"3.—A children's story.

"4.—Class work and activities.

"5.—Background and study notes for the teacher.

"The children's story forms the body of each lesson. We have analysed the 64 lessons in the two guides as follows:

"1.—We found only two stories that could be described as an accurate retelling of the Bible narrative.

"2.—Most of the stories have an elements of scripture truth with much imaginative embellishment, in which words and deeds are ascribed to Jesus for which there is no scriptural foundation.

"3.—There are fabricated stories about Jesus for which there is not the slightest element of scriptural truth, mostly concerning Jesus' childhood and boyhood.

"4.—There are many stories that are pure fiction, having no relation to the Bible whatever.

"5.—There are so-called missionary stories which have no relation to the Christian gospel.

"6.—There are fairy stories or tales.

"7.—There are nature stories or myths.

"8.—There are stories which are actual falsifications of the Biblical narrative that is which set forth the very opposite of what scripture relates."

A resolution was passed that a copy of this report be sent forthwith to each minister and lay delegate in the Toronto Presbytery.

Says Stop Signs Must Be Observed

Motorists who have grown careless about stopping their cars before entering through streets are warned that they had better improve their driving habits or be prepared to be hit in the neighborhood of their pocket-books.

The law requires that drivers must bring their machines to a full stop and police have been instructed to report all cases that come to their notice of a failure on the part of motorists to comply.

A number of negligent drivers have been charged with failing to stop and they will be dealt with next week. Chief Thompson warned this morning that the list is going to be a lot longer if the motorists persist in not obeying the law in regard to making a full stop.

County Council Restricted To $50,000 Grant

Warden Isaac Anderson of Belmont-Methuen mentioned at the opening of the concluding sessions of the county council Tuesday afternoon that the Peterborough Civic Hospital bylaw had been endorsed by the ratepayers in the municipal elections, and remarked "the county will have to raise $150,000."

"Are we going to raise a share of the deficits, too?" Reeve Rork Ferguson of Norwood asked. "The meaning I took out of one of the 'ads' last week was that we would be liable for a share. It wasn't my understanding."

"This council has signed nothing to commit the county to hospital deficits," said Mrs. J. S. Spurway, clerk, and Reeve P. J. Mather affirmed that pronouncement with the statement that council had undertaken in June to make a grant to the Peterborough Hospital but was not a participant beyond that contribution.

The council is restricted from making a grant of more than $50,000 in any one year, and as the eventual pledge is for $150,000 which will be raised by issue and sale of debentures it was recognized that special legislation would be required to enable the council to pay its $150,000 to the hospital fund.

F. D. Kerr, K.C., representing E. A. Peck, K.C., county solicitor, was called to the council chamber for his opinion. He reported that the authority he wished to consult in Toronto was not available by telephone Tuesday. He had, however, met W. F. Huycke, K.C., city solicitor and was informed that the city's private bill respecting the civic hospital was not yet prepared. "I pointed out to him that the county wished to make a grant of maney, but the city would have to find some way of doing so. Mr. Huycke said that he could not assume to speak for the city council but he believed that the city would facilitate matters by having a clause put in the city's private act. He said he did not think the county council need have any worry on that point."

Reports to Council

Mr. Huycke reported the incident to the city council last night to the effect that he had expressed to Mr. Kerr his opinion that the county council would not need to submit their own private bill, but that a clause could be inserted in the city's bill providing authority for the county's grant of $150,000.

Council Backs Plan For Better Pensions

Contributory old age pensions, increased to a reasonable subsistence level and payable to all persons at 60 years of age, proposed by Waterloo county council was endorsed by Peterborough county council Tuesday afternoon on Deputy-Reeve A. W. Archibald's motion, seconded by Reeve Gilbert McIlmoyl.

Eleven of the members supported it, and presumably the subject could have stirred up a lively debate if any one had sounded a keynote of contention. Opinion was divided at some of the desks in a brief suspension of business, but remarks were only sketchy. The Waterloo plan suggests that all persons be required to contribute to an old age pensions fund with government administration, and that at the lowered age of sixty all person would be entitled to the pension whether they needed or accepted it.

Return to standard time, urged by Lincoln and Waterloo councils, was endorsed, although Warden Anderson remarked "I don't think there is much we can do about it."

Reeve Gifford moved for endorsement "as one county supporting another", and because he said hundreds of thousands of man-hours were being lost in this season by continuing on advanced time. He said the Federation of Agriculture had submitted a brief to the government on this question. Reeve Norman Lean seconded the motion.

500 More Fliers Return To Canada

OTTAWA, Dec. 6—(CP)—A group of 500 airmen, back from the air wars of Europe and Asia, arrived here today amid reports they might be the last group to pass through the repatriation depot at nearby Rockcliffe air station.

The reports said that the depot would be transferred to Lachine, Que., and the repatriation depot here would devote full time as a release depot. Already a section of the repatriation depot has been installed at Lachine. There was no official comment.

A Canadian Legion greeting service has informed Mayor Stanley Lewis that removal of the depot to Lachine would mean returning airmen could no longer be greeted at the nation's capital.

The United Sunday School are having their annual white gift service on Sunday morning, December 10, and in the evening the United congregation will worship with the Presbyterians when Rev. W. A. Cameron, Toronto, will be guest speaker.

Mrs. David Tucker, who suffered a severe heart attack last week was removed on Sunday to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Garbutt, Lakefield.

Mrs. Stanley Judge, Toronto, returned on Monday, after spending the week with her mother, Mrs. David Tucker.

Mrs. Thomas Clements is confined to her home with a nervous breakdown.

Mr. James Tucker is under the doctor's care at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Payne, Toronto, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Payne.

Mount Julian

Owing to the snow bound condition of the roads there were only four tables of cards at Mr. and Mrs. Ottis Northey's euchre party. Women's prizes went first to Mrs. Ottis Northey, consolation, Mrs. Warren Northey; men's first prize went to John Northey, consolation, Dorothy Northey.

Mr. and Mrs. William Church are having the euchre at their home on Saturday.

When the Left Wing EAM (National Liberation Front) attempted to hold a forbidden demonstration in this same square, Greek police fired on them, causing death of an estimated 14 with 148 wounded. Premier Papandreou later declared Left Wing leaders are "leading the country to civil war."

Quebec Asks Sanctions Against Shields

QUEBEC, Dec. 6—(CP)—Quebec City Council last night, on the proposal of Mayor Lucien Borne, passed a resolution asking the Federal authorities to "use severe sanctions" against Rev. T. T. Shields, Toronto Baptist clerggyman. Text of the resolution was telegraphed to Justice Minister St. Laurent in Ottawa.

The resolution recalled a recent address made in Victoria by Mr. Shields, in which he said that "Canada is mastered by the terror Church of Rome," and that "Quebec is guilty of the murder of thousands of boys at the front," Mr. Shields also said, the resolution added, that Cardinal Villeneuve was "an unprincipled hypocrite."

The resolution said that "Mr. Shields' brutal and unprovoked attack against Cardinal Villeneuve is a flagrant contradiction with his Eminence's noble, patriotic statements. During his recent trip to Britain and Italy, and more recently in Montreal and Quebec, Cardinal Villeneuve spoke like a great Canadian."

After recalling that Quebecers respect all faiths, and that recently Quebec City Council congratulated Bishop Carrington of Quebec when he was honored by the Church of England in Canada, the resolution said that Quebecers deemed "revolting" to see in wartime "a human being as irresponsible and dangerous to public security as Pastor Shields abuse freedom of speech and so often scoff at French-Canadians, without any regard for British fair play."

The resolution also said that "the behavior of Pastor Shields is such as to sow trouble in a country already so sorely tried by the war."

Farmers Reviewing Year's Activities

COBOURG, Dec. 6 — (ENS) — This the season of annual meetings and Northumberland County farmers have a good number at which to check up on the activities of the past year and plan for the future. With the tomato growers' meeting and the annual banquet of the Port Hope Agricultural Society things of the past, and the Central Ontario Cheese Makers' Association conference in Belleville, which was addressed by Ralph C. Banbury, Northumberland County Agricultural Representative, recently concluded, there remains only the Quinte Seed Growers' meeting next Monday in Belleville, the Harwood Creamery annual meeting and the annual meeting of the Holstein Breeders' Association also on next week.

Careless Driving Charge Dismissed

COBOURG, Dec. 6 —(ENS) — Magistrate R. B. Baxter Tuesday dismissed a charge of careless driving laid against Perry Giddings of Cobourg. Giddings was driver of a truck which met in collision on November 10 near Grafton with a car driven by Irmie Miller of Kitchener. Miller's wife received broken ribs and was taken to the hospital

Evidence revealed that Giddings had a truck load of furniture aboard and was proceeding west. His lights had failed en route and he had wired the right headlight direct to the battery. The clearance lights were also burning. Miller claimed that he was blinded by the headlight. The magistrate found that there was not sufficient evidence to show that Giddings was on the wrong side of the road The case was prosecuted by Provincial Constable R. Pollard and the defendant was represented by A. R. Willmott.

Saipan-based bombing raids on Tokyo may soon force an intensified battle for the strategically placed Bonin Islands unless Japan plans to abandon them entirely, competent military observers believe. Site of many Jap airfields and other facilities, the Bonins lie on the most direct path to the Jap capital—862 land miles from Saipan and 632 miles south by east of Tokyo. From the Bonins the Japs could launch fighters against the B-29's as they pass on their mission, and can with their radio station warn Tokyo of the Super-Fortresses' approach, thus permitting the alerting of anti-aircraft defences. These possibilities along with the fact that Allied possession of the islands would reduce the round trip flight from Saipan to Tokyo from the present 3,000 miles to a mere 1,270 miles, makes it appear that the islands will come into the battle picture in the not-too-distant future.

U.S. 1st Army Takes Bergstein

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Paris, Dec. 6 — (AP). — United States 1st Army troops on the right flank of the front beyond Aachen have captured Bergstein, two miles southeast of Hurtgen, headquarters announced today.

The bulletin, which made no mention of ground action on either the 1st Canadian Army or the British 2nd Army fronts on the Allied left flank, reported no changes in the Linnich-Julich sector of the Roer River front, where the U.S. 9th Army is engaged.

Third Army forces have repulsed a counter-attack northwest of Saarlautern and crossed the Saar at a second point, it reported.

Northwest of Haguenau, the enemy fort of Mertzwiler has fallen. The French 1st Army made further gains in the high Vosges.

Robert S. White, Veteran Editor Peterboro Native, Dies In Montreal

MONTREAL, Dec. 6 — (CP). — Robert Smeaton White, 88, grand old man of Canadian journalism and Parliamentary life, died at his home in suburban Westmount last night.

He had been in ill-health for some time, but his condition had not become critical until recently.

Mr. White was born in Peterborough in 1856, 11 years before Confederation, and as reporter and editor and member of the House of Comomns had watched and taken part in the whole story of Canada at a nation.

Sir John A. Macdonald was the Prime Minister when he was elected in 1888 for the old Ontario riding of Cardwell, which he represented until 1895, and Prime Minister Mackenzie King was in office when he returned to the House 30 years later for Montreal-Mount Royal, to remain there until 1940. He was a lifelong Conservative.

His death followed closely that of his wife, the former Annie Helen Barclay of Montreal whom he married in 1888 They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in Ottawa in 1938 and had been 56 years married when she had died last October 20.

Known as "Uncle Bob"

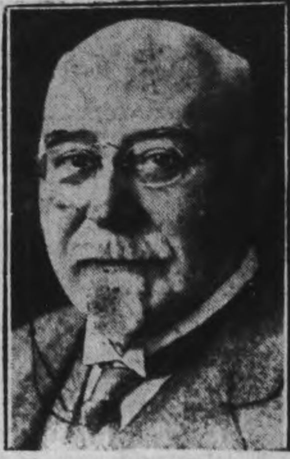
Mr. White, generally known as "R.S." or "Uncle Bob," was one of the White family which bought the Montreal Gazette in 1870, to remain with it to the present day.

With the Gazette he made his newspaper career, after receiving his education in Hamilton and Montreal and some business and banking experience.



ROBERT S. WHITE

He joined the paper as a "cub" in 1874, and two years later became commercial and financial editor, which, with his previous banking experience, made him an outstanding financial critic for the rest of his life.

His father, Thomas White, became Minister of the Interior in Sir John A. Macdonald's Cabinet in 1885, and the youthful son succeeded him as editor-in-chief. He also represented the Gazette in the Ottawa Press Gallery, was president of the Gallery in 1884, and was later made a life member.

In 1895 he was appointed collec-

Reviewing the Municipal Election

The experiment of changing the date of the municipal election from New Year's Day to the first Monday in December has justified itself. On last January 1 a thirty-three per cent. vote was polled, and on Monday the figure was in excess of forty per cent. As there was no mayoralty contest and no Board of Education contest to attract the particular attention of tenants, this must be accounted a substantial gain in interest and convenience.

* * *

The Examiner congratulates the gentlemen who were elected to the Council, and it wishes also to say a word for those candidates who were defeated. They offered themselves for public service and we hope that the fact that they were rejected will not discourage them unduly. The city owes them a debt of gratitude for their candidature and another time they may be more fortunate. We were particularly sorry that Alderman J. E. Sullivan was defeated. The Roman Catholic minority in Peterborough is large and powerful, and it should certainly have a representative on the Council. We do not favour class representation, but there are certain respects in which the Roman Catholic community differs from the Protestant population, and it should have a spokesman on the Council. We hope that Mr. Sullivan will be better supported next year.

* * *

The by-laws all were given substantial majorities, so that there can be no doubt about what the people of Peterborough want. The vigour with which these by-laws were supported has a significance for the Council which we hope will not be missed: the people want the hospital and the Memorial Centre, and are deeply interested in those projects, and will expect action by the best available men as soon as possible. For some time both must be regarded as planning and building projects, and the men who should be on the job are those who have shown in enterprises of their own that they know how to conduct affairs in an expeditious and economical manner. The money which will be used for these two projects is the people's money, and the people will expect it to be used carefully by men who are accustomed to dealing with money.

* * *

We sincerely hope (and we think that a great number of citizens will agree with us) that the new civic hospital and the Memorial Centre will not be held up by delays of the kind which appear to have brought plans for the new city hall to a complete standstill. Plans cannot be rushed, and building at present is extremely difficult. But there is a difference between unseemly rush and no progress at all. By the time the next civic election comes round both projects should be thoroughly planned and organized, and ready to go ahead as soon as building conditions allow.

The Noisy Service

We are glad that Defence Headquarters has asked Major G. A. Welsh to back up the statements which he made about the reinforcement situation in an interview with a Toronto newspaper; if Major Welsh had anything of importance to say on this matter, he should have said it to his superiors in the first place, and should not have taken his chance to complain through the press. We are glad of this not because we have any special feeling toward Major Welsh, about whom we know nothing whatever, but because we feel that criticism of army management through the press by privates, non-commissioned and commissioned officers is pernicious, and should not become an established procedure.

An army is not a completely democratic organization. If it is to be efficient there must be men who give orders and men who obey, and the men who give orders must be trusted to a very great extent by the public and by their subordinates. If a high-ranking officer shows himself to be incompetent there are other ways of righting the situation than a nasty wrangle in the press. Nobody expects a soldier to be an automaton, bearing misuse and injustice stoically; but neither can a soldier expect to retain his right of free, irresponsible and partially-informed speech when he is in the army. The Navy knows this, and has won the title of The Silent Service. The Canadian Army is winning itself the name of The Noisy Service.

The Toronto morning paper must bear a large share of the blame for this. It has encouraged the relatives of soldiers to make public private correspondence, some of which is so subtly expressed that it might almost be taken for the work of a skilled propagandist. None of this correspondence has found its way to other papers, and it would not be printed if it did. What a soldier may say in criticism of the government of his country is not wholesome wartime reading. As for the complaints and charges of officers, they have proper channels for complaint, and would do well to use them. An army which washes its dirty linen in public does not inspire confidence.

The modern soldier has more individual freedom than old-fashioned commanders ever thought possible. But that freedom should not be abused to grumble in print about his superiors, or else discipline, proper pride and esprit de corps will be rotted by fake democracy.

Restraint On Optometrists

A body called the Board of Examiners in Optometry is trying to restrain optometrists in this province from advertising their wares in the customary way—that is, by saying what sort of spectacles they sell and what their prices are. They attempt to justify this restraint on the ground that it protects the public from fraud.

There are no people who object to fraudulent advertising so much as newspaper publishers, and they take pains to exclude it from their pages. Many years ago—before the last war—the matter of fraudulent optometrical advertising was dealt with. There were firms at that time which prescribed spectacles by mail, and supplied them at a very low figure—something comparable to $1.98. The newspapers knew that this was a fraud upon the public, refused the advertising and thereby did a good deal to discourage the deceit. But we can see no connection between such quackery and the advertisement of a reputable optometrist, who gives his prices and the range of his goods in an advertisement of his own writing.

It looks as though the Board of Examiners in Optometry were trying to restrain trade and advertisement, while retaining their fondness for publicity. During past weeks we have thrown away several articles on optometry which purported to be of public interest but which were easily discernible as publicity handouts; we do not know who sent them to us, but we have no intention of using them. If the Board of Examiners in Optometry are resorting to 'public relations' of a rather crude kind, we suggest that they reconsider their position.

NOTE AND COMMENT

These are the shortest days of the year—unless you happen to be waiting for Santa Claus.

There are two sides to every question. We hear that sardines are now complaining about being crowded into cans like people in a bus.

'It is now November 21' says the Brantford Expositor in an editorial published in its issue of December 1. The editorial was about the folly of attempting to see into the future, but after all there is no need to lean so far backward.

---

Every day an illusion is shattered. Chemists of the U.S. Bureau of Mines now tell us that a little moisture helps gunpowder to ignite. When whoever it was ordered his troops to 'Trust in God and keep your powder dry' at least half his advice was useless.

The Ottawa Journal, in a burst of Old Testament righteousness, insists that General McNaughton be judged without regard for his achievements as a soldier or a scientist, as "a member of a Liberal and partisan government". The discovery that the government is 'partisan'—i.e., faithful to principles of liberalism which it has avowed for several decades—will discredit it even further with the Opposition, which is decidedly fluid in matters of principle, and has, of course, no ambition for power.

Huxley's Latest And Best

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

ON my bookshelves there are twenty-three volumes by Aldous Huxley; to these I have just added "Time Must Have A Stop" (Oxford) which in my opinion is the best of the lot. Huxley, who is now fifty, published this first novel when he was twenty-seven and in the intervening years he has taken his place among the best writers of novels in English of our time. It is not impossible that in the twenty-five or thirty years of working life still left to him he will achieve indisputable greatness; he certainly appears to be headed in that direction. "Time Must Have A Stop" is the finest novel which has come my way in a long time, and I recommend it to you without reserve, or perhaps I should say without any reserves save those which always apply to a novel by this author.

AND what are these? The first is that Huxley does not write for the illiterate or the stupid, and if you do not want to use your brains you had better leave him alone. He has never, at any time, compromised with the large body of public opinion which insists that a novel must be written on the psychological and stylistic level of "The Three Bears" in order to be thoroughly enjoyable. Yet his books sell in great numbers, and people who find difficulty in following his train of thought nevertheless take great pains to do so. Integrity always attracts followers, and integrity is one of Huxley's primary characteristics. He is himself a man of comprehensive mind and elaborate education, and he writes as though all his readers were the same; hundreds of thousands of people respond to the compliment, and make the effort which his books demand.

◇ ◇ ◇

THEIR reward is great. Huxley is a wit and satirist of a high order and his books are admirable entertainment. One of his limitations as a novelist is that he is incapable of creating a character who is genuinely likeable—a creature whose name and features stick in the memory. And like Bernard Shaw he is incapable of inventing a creature who has no brains; the Huxley intelligence shines through his heaviest veilings of character. This, of course, is death to any realistic effect, for the earth teems with brainless people, and no book which attempts to reflect the society of its time can do without them. But Huxley cares little for realism or reflection of society on this level. His books are written in a convention of his own making, sometimes reminiscent of Peacock, sometimes of Restoration comedy, but original in the main. Thus, lacking the charms of character, the books depend very heavily on the author's wit, which is quite strong enough to bear the burden.

HUXLEY'S readers have followed him through an interesting spiritual development. His early novels were almost entirely satirical in tone. "Crome Yellow," "Antic Hay" and "Those Barren Leaves" were, first and foremost, entertainments. Then Huxley 'got religion' in a highly complex and intellectual way, and the problems which he introduced into "Point Counter-Point" showed the direction in which he was headed. "Brave New World" was a somewhat unsuccessful exploration of the pitfalls of materialism, and "Eyeless In Gaza" was a prolonged wallow in the same philosophical mudhole. Huxley was preoccupied with the techniques of saintliness, and this book gave the impression that he was attempting to contemplate his navel (like Buddha) while holding his head in the position prescribed by Matthias Alexander, and at the same time exploring the Cloud of Unknowing by the spiritual technique of St. John of the Cross. The private agony of Huxley has borne fruit, but "Eyeless in Gaza" was the nearest thing he ever wrote to a bad novel. By the time he wrote "Grey Eminence" and "After Many A Summer" he was master of himself again, but he was a greatly changed man.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE extent of the change is discernible in "Time Must Have A Stop." The wit and the intellectual virtuosity of the early novels is increased, and the voyage for a satisfactory personal philosophy has reached a stretch of calm water. It is the story of Sebastian Barnack, a poet of seventeen whose gifts include the face of an angel and a notable gift for spinning words; his defects are shallowness and selfishness. When Sebastian goes to Florence to visit his Uncle Eustace he finds a kindred spirit in that cultivated voluptuary, who treats all life as a huge joke. When Uncle Eustace has heart-failure in the lavatory Sebastian is forced to turn to his cousin, Bruno Rontini, for a solution of an immediate personal problem, and thus sets in movement a train of evil which at last, after several years of bitter instruction, teaches him the futility and harmfulness of his most cherished ideas. Huxley has considerately left out of this book the character who lays down the law about the truths and obligations of the spiritual life; that character marred "After Many A Summer" and almost smothered "Eyeless In Gaza." In "Time Must Have A Stop" the opinions of Spontini are implicit in his actions; he talks very little.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE book contains scenes of brilliant comedy, perhaps the best being those in which the dead Uncle Eustace is called back to speak to his relatives through the agency of a medium. The sensations of Eustace Barnack after death are also described in some detail, and they make entertaining, if somewhat disquieting reading. The book is compact, not a paragraph could be left out advantageously. This the finest book that Huxley has written, and as he has always stood head and shoulders above the majority of his contemporaries it is a book which no discerning reader will permit himself to neglect.

THOSE RUSSIANS!

Americans returning from Russia tell some amazing stories about Russians whose daring would be in absolute violation of all American civilian and army rules and regulations.

In Russia, however, the flier is almost always right. A pilot recently flew so low over a moving freight train that he brushed the cupola off the caboose. An American army pilot would probably have been grounded for such dangerously low flying. In the Russian case, after a trial, the engineer of the freight train was fined because the train was behind schedule. If the train had been on time the accident could not have occurred, the court found.—Chicago Sun.

New Zealand "Paradise"

(By BRUCE HUTCHISON)

WHEN Mr. Coldwell went about Western Canada recently asking the Canadian farmer to accept the New Zealand economic system, most farmers did not know precisely what he was talking about. Perhaps Mr. Coldwell didn't either. But there was in Western Canada a farmer of long and practical experience who knew precisely, and in terms of dollars and cents, just what the New Zealand system has done to farmers who live under it. This farmer is Gordon Ross, member of Parliament for Moose Jaw.

Mr. Ross is now publishing a pamphlet not to discuss the politics of the New Zealand system, but to explore its actual effect in the farming industry—to show, in brief, how much the farmer gets out of the so-called socialistic policies which Mr. Coldwell wants to introduce into Canada. A practical man, Mr. Ross took pains to discover just what prices the New Zealand farmer receives for his products and then compared them with the price received by the Canadian farmer. Here are some of his figures, with full allowance made for the exchange value of Canadian and New Zealand money:

The New Zealand farmer is paid 28½ cents a pound for butterfat. For the same quality of butterfat the Saskatchewan farmer receives 47 cents, and the average Saskatchewan price for the top grade throughout the year has been 43½ cents. Even Australia pays the farmer better than Mr. Coldwell's ideal land of New Zealand. The Australian butterfat price is 34 cents.

Top-grade cheese in New Zealand brings 12¾ cents; in Ontario and Quebec, 24 cents; in Australia, 18 cents.

Grade A hogs, dressed, bring 10.87 cents in New Zealand; 16½ cents in Saskatchewan, plus a $4 bonus for the carcass; and 14 cents in Australia. Thus dressed Grade A hogs, weighing 160 pounds, brings $17.40 in New Zealand, $30.40 in Saskatchewan, and $22.40 in Australia.

Choice beef steers on foot bring 4 cents a pound in New Zealand, 11 to 11½ cents in Regina, and 4½ cents in Australia. A 1,500-pound steer would bring $60 in New Zealand, $165 to $175 in Regina, and $67.50 in Australia.

New Zealand is not an important wheat producer, but Australlia is. In Australia the price of wheat is 72 cents a bushel up to 3,000 bags, or about 6,000 bushels; 54 cents per cushel over that minimum. In Regina the price is $1.10 per bushel.

The New Zeland and Australian farmer both receive far less for their labour than the Canadian farmer, and the New Zealand farmer least of all. At the same time the farmers "down under" must pay far more for their machinery than the Canadian farmer. The New Zealand farmer pays slightly more for his machinery than the farmer in Australia.

In Brisbane, Australia, an eight-foot four-horse hitch binder costs $533.70. The same binder costs $347 in Regina. A 16-run drill, single disc, costs $341.45 in Brisbane, Australia, while a 20-run drill, of the same make, costs $313 in Regina. A five-foot mowing machine costs $195.75 in Brisbane, and $120.50 in Regina. A six-foot mowing machine costs $202.95 in Brisbane and $122.75 in Regina.

To make clear the difference between the position of the farmer here and in the Pacific Dominions—taking into consideration the prices he receives and those he must pay—Mr. Ross makes the following graphic comparisons:

To secure a standard six-foot mower the Australian farmer must hand over 597 pounds of butterfat. The New Zealander must hand over slightly more. The Canadian farmer need surrender only 279 pounds.

Last spring, before going to Australia and New Zealand, Mr. Ross bought a new tractor for $1,486.90. In Australia exactly the same tractor sold for $2,187. To buy such a tractor the Australian farmer had to deliver 3,037½ bushels of wheat, while Mr. Ross delivered only 1,352 bushels.

A 102-G Junior tractor costs $1,620 in Brisbane and $1,169 in Regina. To buy it, the Australian farmer must sell 30 steers of 1,200 pounds weight each, and the New Zealand farmer slightly more. The Regina farmer must sell only eight steers.

A disc plough, two-furrow, costs $339.30 in Brisbane and $168 in Regina. A disc plough, three-furrow, costs $412 in Brisbane and $200 in Regina. The Australian farmer must sell 572½ bushels of wheat to buy this plough, the Saskatchewan farmer only 182 bushels. The New Zealand farmer's cost, in terms of wheat and labour, would be higher than that of the Australian farmer.

Mr. Ross made many other discoveries in his Pacific trip which will be discussed later. But his bare figures of farmers' income and costs are sufficient to answer Mr. Coldwell when he asks the Canadian farmer to accept these blessings of a C.C.F. system.

In Praise of Walking

The day on which I was fully initiated into the mysteries is marked by a white stone. It was when I put on a knapsack and started from Heidelberg for a march through the Odenwald. Then I first knew the delightful sensation of independence and detachment enjoyed during a walking tour. Free from all bothers of railway timetables and extraneous machinery, you trust to your own legs, stop when you please, diverge into any track that takes your fancy, and drop in upon some quaint variety of human life at every inn where you put up for the night. You share for the time the mood in which Borrow settled down in the dingle after escaping from his bondage in the publishers' London slums. You have no dignity to support, and the dress-coat of conventional life has dropped into oblivion, like the bundle from Christian's shoulders. . . .

Walking is the natural recreation for a man who desires not absolutely to suppress his intellect but to turn it out to play for a season. All great men of letters have, therefore, been enthusiastic walkers (exceptions, of course, expected). . . .

The literary movement at the end of the eighteenth century was obviously due in great part, if not mainly, to the renewed practice of walking. Wordsworth's poetical autobiography shows how every stage in his early mental development was connected with some walk in the Lakes. The surprise which startled him on a walk after a night spent in dancing first set him apart as a "dedicated spirit." His walking tour in the Alps—then a novel performance—roused him to his first considerable poem. His chief performance is the record of an excursion on foot.—From "Studies of a Biographer," by Leslie Stephen.

Train Whistles

There is something about a train whistle. It is one of the links that bind a great, sprawling nation together. It is puzzling in these days of graphs, polls, and things laid end to end that reach so many times around the earth, that no statistician has figured out how many train whistles a day there are on our approximately 231,000 miles of railroad tracks.

Men and women now dwelling in teeming cities, whose ears are attuned to the rumbling road of city traffic, jangling telephones and the impatient blare of electrically motivated car horns, remember the train whistles when they lived in a more peaceful environment. It may have been on the broad, black-soil reaches of the Midwest when the flier tore across the farmlands toward the distant metropolis. Many a farm lad has halted the team when turning over the brown slices of earth, or when riding the hayrake, to watch the approach of the train and wave to the engineer. It may have been on the short-grass lonely prairies, or in the sandy-soiled, piney regions of the South.

Again, it may have been in the mountains and valleys of the Northeast, and the whistle echoed back and forth among the hills as the train puffed its way up steep grades following the river valley as it wound in and out among the wooded heights. On rainy days and at night the long, lonesome, drawn-out whooo-whooo-whooo-whooo—seemed to linger over fields and uplands. On the branch lines farmers and villagers knew when Local 67 arrived at the Johnson's Crossing. They would look at their watches. "She's late, but she can make it up on the level stretch going into Centreville."

In the last century no one knows how many farm lads have lain in their beds and listened to the whistle as the lighted train rushed through the black night. And as they listened they dreamed youth's dream of high adventure. And always that dream included the nerve-tingling anticipation that some day they would be on that train—riding to a future of accomplishment in the world of human affairs—New York Times.

HE'S A KILLER

The novice at trout fishing had hooked a very small trout and had wound it in until it was jammed at the very end of his rod.

"What do I do now I've finished winding?" he asked his friend, an expert angler.

The other snorted: "Climb up the rod and stab it!"

A Bible Message

It pleased Darius to set over the kingdom an hundred and twenty princes, which should be over the whole kingdom; and over these three presidents; of whom Daniel was first: that the princes might give accounts unto them, and the king should have no damage.

Then this Daniel was preferred above the presidents and princes, because an excellent spirit was in him; and the king thought to set him over the whole realm. Then the presidents and princes sought to find occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdom; but they could find none occasion, nor fault; forasmuch as he was faithful, neither was there any error or fault found in him. . . .

Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying and making supplication before his God. Then they came near, and spake before the king concerning the king's decree; Hast thou not signed a decree, that every man that shall ask a petition of any God or man within thirty days, save of thee, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions? The king answered and said, The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not. Then answered they and said before the king, That Daniel, which is of the children of the captivity of Judah, regardeth not thee, O king, nor the decree that thou hast signed, but maketh his petition three times a day. . . .

Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the den of lions. Now the king spake and said unto Daniel, Thy God whom thou servest continually, he will deliver thee. . . .

Then the king went to his palace, and passed the night fasting: neither were instruments of musick brought before him: and his sleep went from him. Then the king arose very early in the morning, and went in haste unto the den of lions. And when he came to the den, he cried with a lamentable voice unto Daniel: and the king spake and said to Daniel, O Daniel, servant of the living God, is thy God, whom thou servest continually, able to deliver thee from the lions?

Then said Daniel unto the king, O king, live for ever. My God hath sent his angel, and hath shut the lions' mouths, that they have not hurt me: forasmuch as before him innocency was found in me: and also before thee, O king, have I done no hurt. (Dan. 6: 1-4, 11-13, 16, 18-22.)

Unconsidered Trifles

There was a new attendant at the Spiritualistic circle, and he had formerly been employed in a big drapery shop. The fact came to light when a client requested him to tell the medium she wished to speak with Mr. Green.

"Certainly, madam," said the attendant. "Can you give me his Christian name?"

"I'm afraid I've forgotten it, but he died quite a short time ago."

The attendant cleared his throat and approached the medium.

"Please show the lady some of the latest shades of Green," he said.

The boys thought it would be great sport if they could fool a well-known naturalist. They killed a centipede, then glued on to it a beetle's head, the wings of a butterfly, and the legs of a grasshopper. They packed it in a box and took it to the great man.

"We found it in the fields," the leader of the group explained. "What is it?"

"Ah", said the naturalist. "Did it hum when you caught it?"

"Oh, yes", came the answer.

"Then", said the naturalist, "it is undoubtedly a humbug".

This yarn is by Walter Winchell, the famous American columnist:

American airmen who have been bombing Germany are a little tired of the sameness of German communiques. They've cooked up this one for Dr. Goebbels: "A huge swarm of American and British bombers, intent on their usual mission of bombing hospitals and churches in the Reich, was intercepted and completely destroyed today by a small number of German fighter planes. Springing to the defence of helpless civilians, the Luftwaffe pilots shot down more than 300 of the giant attacking planes, and left the remaining fifty so badly injured that they were unable to return to their bases.

"None of our gallant German planes or pilots was injured.

"One of our cities is missing".

FRENCH GUNNERS IN ACTION ON THE RIVER RHINE—In what is believed to be one of the first pictures of Allied action at the Rhine River, French 1st Army machine-gunners and riflemen under enemy fire, hug the ground while they send replying fire at enemy positions on the French side of the river as Germans frantically try to flee Allied Alsatian trap and cross into Germany. Directly across the river is Switzerland, marked by Swiss flags and just beyond is Germany.

There Is No Crisis On Canadian Soil

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

EN ROUTE TO VICTORIA: After two months with the politics of the United States and the crisis in Ottawa it is good to have a look at Canada again. Canada is not back there, in politics. Canada is lying outside the train window beside me now. This prairie land is the true substance of it, the actuality. Politics is remote from this land and superficial. And a political crisis, dividing race from race and man from man, is a brief aberration which the substance and actuality of Canada does not even suspect.

The land is going to sleep now. The first patches of snow lie on it, the grass is brown. Underneath, the fragments of water have frozen hard, the frost is going down and the bacteria, without which crops could not long grow nor men live, are idle now, waiting for the spring. In a few days the central plain of this continent, where man finds his food, will appear dead beyond revival. But only for a little while.

There is life in the soil still. The grass roots have not died. The trees are only taking a rest. The insects are down there somewhere, waiting for the spring, and in a few months the bacteria will go to work again, performing their blind, essential task in making the life of man possible.

To see the land again is to realize, with a little shock, how small a part man plays in the processes of the world. He is the master of it, we say. He plows it as he pleases. He makes it yield him his food, his fuel, his habitation and all the heaped-up gadgets which go under the general name of civilization. He shatters the land, too, with his cannons and his bombs and his flame-throwers. He turns his world into a fair imitation of hell blazing under forced draft. But the land is not changed and life still remains in it, stirring in every speck of earth. No pinch of dirty by the railway tracks but holds its little world of bacterial life. And in all this toiling, ravening, restless life process the whole human species is a minor phenomenon, too small to be counted in the general census.

The land of Canada, filled with its own sure energy, lies out there untouched by all the excitement and doubts of these last weeks that we call the crisis. No speeches alter it. No votes in Parliament make it live more or less. It does not heed the hoarse voices of politics. It has not heard of conscription. To it Mr. King and General McNaughton and Colonel Ralston and all the others are strangers. They, and all of us, will soon be gone. The land will remain forever. We may abuse it, own it or abandon it, but the essential stuff of Canada we cannot alter by any individual action or by the mass action that we call politics.

It would be a good thing, I believe, if every politician and every voter could pause in the middle of a political crisis and look away for a moment from the shadow, which is politics, and at the substance, which is Canada. Long after the crisis is forgotten, when our children read of it vaguely in a single line of a history book, Canada will still be here, right in the same place, the same Canada.. The autumn will come again, and the first winter frosts, and the snow, and the bursting spring, and the pungent summer when the grain grows in the darkness.

All will be the same here in Canada, whatever cities we build, whatever laws we make, whatever governments we elect, whatever follies we live. We can destroy the politics, the government, the economy of Canada, but Canada we cannot destroy, for its true substance is forever beyond our grasp, deaf to our frail shouts, insensible to our little furies.

Crisis? There is no crisis here in Canada. It sleeps in peace under the crust of winter and rests against the labors of spring.

Commons Continues Sharp Debate Hoping For Vote This Week

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 6 (CP)—Its temper short and its proceedings sometimes heated, the Commons yesterday continued its sharp debate on the government confidence motion with the expectation of a vote before the week-end.

The House continued to hear varying opinions on the order-in-council under which authority was given to send 16,000 home defence army men overseas.

Hon. Dr. H. A. Bruce (PC-Toronto Parkdale) and George Black (PC-Yukon) both withdrew statements suggesting that the government's policy would cause the deaths of men overseas by delaying the supply of reinforcements.

Arthur Slaght (L-Parry Sound) said he suggested that John Bracken, Progressive Conservative national leader, was "timorous" in explaining his party's position on overseas conscription. The House was noisy when Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House Leader, rose to reply to this statement and Mr. Graydon finally sat down protesting that for the first time the House had refused him a hearing.

Lt.-Col. Hugues Lapoint (L-Lotbiniere), a front-line soldier and son of former Justice Minister Lapointe, said he would vote against the government as he could not support the overseas conscription policy.

Price Too High

In the Senate, which completed its special sitting, Senator W. A. Griesbach (PC-Alberta) said the government's policy meant that Canadians were were being asked to pay too high a price for national unity and the government should be prepared to carry out total conscription.

Senator J. A. Calder (PC-Saskatchewan) said the overseas conscription problem was not confined to Quebec but existed in every part of Canada. Everyone hated conscription but nation after nation had been forced to adopt it be because of necessity.

When the House sitting opened, Navy Minister Macdonald, speaking for Defence Minister McNaughton, said that the reserve army of 100,000 part-time volunteers would be continued into the post-war period and its units as far as possible would be perpetuated in some continuing role.

Streamlining of the army will be continued to effect economies without detriment to the welfare and efficiency of the force and without destroying the organizational framework which will be maintained.

Mr. King said he took full responsibility, as president of the privy council, for distribution of 87,000 copies of his recent radio speech by the Wartime Information Board. He said it was in essence an appeal for public support of the recruiting campaign for voluntary enlistments.

Appeal Justified

His appeal had been justified. In the 26 days since it was made 6.297 men had volunteered for general service. Of these 2,701 were from the home defence army and 3,596 from the general public and reserve army.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said that Canada had been informed beef cattle exports were not required in the United States at present but a market for Canadian processed beef was assured in the United Kingdom until the end of 1946.

J. G. Diefenbaker (PC.—Lake Centre) said that the government had perpetuated discrimination and inequality of service by imposing only partial conscription, and in failing to face the situation had endangered "the last vestige of unity in this country."

The Prime Minister dared not tell the people that he would see additional men of the 60,000 home defence army effectives would be made available for overseas, but the people should be told.

The matter could be finally decided only by giving the people an opportunity by way of an election, when they would demand equality of service and sacrifice in the war.

Mr. Slaght said he had confidence in Defence Minister McNaughton and the policies he supported. He hoped Gen. McNaughton would require commanders in the field to make full, regular and accurate reports on the exact reinforcements position; that ample reinforcements would be provided to meet these needs that men who had been wounded should not be allowed to return to the front line until they had made complete recovery and that men who have been overseas for years, with front line service, should be granted leave to return home.

Mr. Slaght said he is retiring from politics at the end of the present Parliament. In the past he had differed from his party, notably on the question of monetary reform. He had no apologies for that.

Saved 2 Millions.

His actions in the banking committee last session in co-operation with G. G. McGeer (L-Vancouver-Burrard) had been condemned as time wasting by leading members of the "Tory Party" and some Liberals. Yet as a result one of the large banks had been compelled to "disgorge" more than $2,000,000 to the public treasury in taxes which would otherwise have gone into the inner reserves. That was more than the cost of a session of Parliament.

Mr. Slaght said he came to Ottawa prepared to vote against the Government if it did not take action to send reinforcements overseas.

"I believe the course taken by the Prime Minister and Gen. McNaughton is the proper course to take," said Mr. Slaght.

The Progressive Conservatives were using "political trickery" in their amendment to the Government confidence motion. Mr. Bracken should be available to answer questions in the House, where he has no seat. He suggested that Mr. Bracken was "too timorous."

Mr Graydon rose on a question of privilege and the House was noisy with interruptions. Speaker J. A. Glen called for order.

Mr. Graydon finally sat down

TAMBLYN
ANALYZES GIFT SITUATION

We are all "creatures of habit." That is true although it is doubtful if many of us realize that fact. We are all inclined to govern our actions by "past performance" — in other words by repetition of previous deeds. This is particularly true of "Christmas Giving." Upon devoting thought to the matter, we all find that certain persons each year—guided by our knowledge of their taste and actions—have been given by us, a certain type of gift. This year, by reason of many shortages in Christmas merchandise, it is going to be extremely difficult—if not impossible—in many cases to repeat that performance as certain classes of items are just "not to be had." So, whether we like it or not, we may be obliged to change and possibly that's all for the best. We may be forced to find an alternate gift as suitable as our original selection. This after all is in the true spirit of Christmas and brings joy to the giver as great as that of the recipient. Tamblyn Drug Stores at the moment have available a wide range of suitable "Gift items" for your selection. In view of this, may we suggest that you visit your nearest Tamblyn Store as early as possible and from a view of the many suggestions now on display, solve your gift problems and be assured that your careful choice will undoubtedly "fill the bill" even for the most difficult of cases.

MANY DEATHS

LEEDS, England — (CP). — Deaths in Yorkshire collieries this year have been double the average for the last five years.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

In the Ladies' Basketball League at the Y.W.C.A. this Friday night the senior division will swing into the second round with St. John's and C.G.E. who opened the season meeting for the second time. The Saints are out in front by virtue of two straight wins while the Electricians find themselves at the bottom of the heap, having been beaten by St. John's and Transports. Mary McPherson's team will be gunning for their first win when they clash with the Saints in the second game on Friday night's card while St. John's, of course, will be just as anxious to win because a third victory in succession would give them a real lead in the senior section. The game should be an exciting exhibition between two strong clubs. In the junior division the Quakers will make their first appearance of the season meeting the Normals in the 7.45 o'clock game and the fans will welcome this opportunity of getting a line on the newcomers to the loop. Little is known of the strength of the Quakers but Howie Macdonald is expected to come up with a squad that will prove real opposition for the Normal team who started out with a win over Westclox and then were beaten by the Y Grads.

They don't seem to be able to separate the Outboard Marines and the Westclox in the Ladies' City Five Pin League. Monday night's games found the two still tied for top spot with 24 points each. The Outboards knocked off the Brinton girls in three straight games and the Big Bens performed a similar feat at the expense of Empressettes. Both the leaders turned in good team scores, although the individual scores Monday night were not particularly high. There was a big change at the bottom of the ladder. For some weeks the Five V's and Arcos had remained stationary but the two clashed this week and the Five V's improved their position by grabbing off all three games from the cellar occupants whose point total still remains at five. The Merry Macs who have been in third place for weeks and have been rolling steadily all season took two out of three games to hold their position while Corvettes had a good night at the expense of Commandos who failed to take a game. The league is enjoying a good season and the battle for top spot promises to be about as close as any contest in the history of the organization. The two rivals seem to be unable to open up a lead and both are bowling consistently.

Can't Keep Him Out

You simply can't keep George Knotty Lee out of baseball. The former Toronto coach who now operates a hotel in Smiths Falls and who formerly was in charge of Peterborough's Central Ontario League club for a number of colorful seasons is at present attending the annual meeting of the minor professional leagues in Buffalo. A Toronto story says that the veteran is planning a minor loop with Kingston, Smiths Falls, Cornwall, Ottawa and Hull as members after the war. Knotty who used to be a scout for the Toronto ball club is now a free agent and he always has his eyes open for material that has professional possibilities. During the past season he ran a baseball school at Smiths Falls and says he uncovered some likely prospects. Lee has had a long connection with Peterborough baseball. Forty years ago he used to play against the local club when Dan McCabe and Chris Graham were the Peterborough battery. Later he often visited this city when Peterborough had a club in the Canadian Professional League and Knotty managed the Hamilton club in the same loop. Finally he was engaged as coach here for a number of seasons in the days when Central Ontario League ball drew big crowds to Riverside Park.

In an interesting article on Eddie Shore, Mike Rodden of the Kingston Whig-Standard tells of how the former Boston Bruin star moved out of the National Hockey League to become an executive and owner in the American loop. Says Bre'er Rodden: "It is said that he has made a fortune to add to the huge amount that he assembled when he was the greatest and most colorful of all defence players. There are a lot of people who who remember that it was Eddie Shore who brought "Ace" Bailey's hockey career to an untimely conclusion but what people don't know is the fact that Shore admired Bailey as an opponent and never had any intention of injuring him. It was one of those things that occur during the heat of a hockey battle and "Ace" Bailey, whom I had the honor to break into hockey and sign as a professional, harbors no ill-feeling toward the man who injured him but without malice. I have told this story about Eddie Shore to remind those who boost Wally Stanowski so lustily that the "Pride of Winnipeg," colorful and great as he undoubtedly is, still has a long way to go before he is qualified to enter that "Castle of Achievements" that the boy from Fort Qu' Appelle built as he skated to fame and fortune over the rocky road that is the National."

They Do It All The Time

"Reading Montreal accounts of Rangers' victory in Montreal the other night, you get the impression that Bill Durnan's lot is not a very happy one," says Jack Koffman in the Ottawa Citizen. "The minute Bill looked bad on a shot or two against Rangers, some of the Forum fans let out a howl, "We want Bibeault." You run into this type of fan in every city, in every sport. The fact that Durnan's defence looked pathetic was not taken into consideration. The forwards put backchecking away until a later date but this was another trifle the fans overlooked. Durnan's record with the Habs entitles him to more courtesy and consideration. There are always those who argue that Bill looked so good last season because of the powerhouse in front of him but even a hockey powerhouse is of no avail if your last line of defence is inept. The "We want Bibeult" aren't friends of the latter. They will all be yelling for Durnan one of these nights if Bibeault gets his chance and falters."

Canadiens increased their lead in the N.H.L. to three points last night when they made a successful raid on Boston and trimmed the Rossmen to the tune of 4 to 1 before a crowd of 13,000 Hub rooters. With Toe Blake setting the pace with a pair of goals and an assist the Flying Frenchmen had too much speed and scoring punch for the Bruins, who were held off the score sheet until the third last minute of the battle. Blake and Hiller fired Canadien goals in the first period, Blake registered his second marker in the second and the Montreal star set up a fourth counter soon after the 12-minute mark in the final. Then came the solitary Bruin goal to rob Bill Durnan of a shutout. It was negotiated on one of those lucky breaks that come up often as players step out of the penalty box just in time to take part in an attack. Egan was the man who had just finished a penalty in this particular case and he got back at the right moment to set up the scoring play that gave Boston their solitary counter. Cain did the shooting.

Wrestlers Stage Thrilling Bout; Battle To Draw

Whipper Billy Watson and Frank Sexton, the two most popular mat stars before the Canadian public at the present time, thrilled a big crowd at Brock Street Rink last night in a brilliant display of strength, speed and wrestling science as they battled an hour to a draw in the main bout of the weekly Tunney show.

Sexton took a surprise early fall in eight minutes when a Watson mule kick backfired and the Whipper evened it up in 25 minutes on another unexpected move that took the Pacific Coast champion off his guard. Then the two clever athletes battled for the rest of the hour, with the action getting faster and more open as the moments rapidly passed, and Referee Bert Maxwell called it an even-Stephen affair. It was exactly that.

It was the cleanest and cleverest exhibition of wrestling that has been seen here since the Tunney shows began. The two superbly-built battlers, both in the pink of condition and both complete masters of wrestling science, staged a display of offensive and defensive skill that had the crowd constantly applauding. Neither made a mean move. They broke cleanly at the ropes and stuck strictly to the code from start to finish, depending upon power, speed and deception to win for them. The result was an hour of wrestling artistry that won new friends for both favorites.

There was nothing to choose between the two men on the night's showing. On the attack they were fast and versatile and defensively the manner in which they took evasive action, spun out of dangerous holds, or turned a clever defence into a menacing attack by an adroit move at the right time, stamped them both as past masters in the mat game.

It was a picture bout. There were few dull moments, for these two powerful athletes are as fast as they are strong, and they both like to work at top speed.

A Surprise Fall.

The first fall came as a surprise. The bout opened with both battlers sparring for an opening and the fans enjoyed the clever manoeuvres with which they endeavored to get the jump on the opposition. Watson made the first real move when he dropped Sexton to the mat and applied an arm stretch, but the Pacific Coast champion soon got out of that jam and gave Watson a few bad moments with a stepover toehold. He could not develop the grip into anything serious, however, and the Whipper finally worked free and brought the crowd to its feet with a series of flying tackles. Sexton was bowled over three times in a row and Watson moved in to soften him up further with a mule-kick.

The strategy boomeranged, for Sexton, moving at top speed, grabbed the Whipper's feet and the next moment Watson found himself being swung rapidly round and round as the Ohio grappler turned the attack into a giant swing, his favorite weapon.

Half a dozen complete circles spelled curtains for the Whip. Sexton let him fall to the mat with a thud, and then dived on him to take the fall.

The second round was a repetition of the first, with both battlers taking advantage of every opportunity to attack, only to be met with a clever defence or a quick move that completely altered the picture. On one occasion Watson was bridging to keep his shoulders from being pinned and twice Sexton leaped high and dropped on top of the Toronto boy. He failed to break down the human bridge, and when he tried it the third time Watson slid to one side and Sexton dropped heavily to the mat, jarring himself considerably. That was the kind of action that was going on all the time, with honors even. Finally, however, Sexton got another chance to apply his giant swing, and it looked like the end. Once again, however, there was a surprise.

Whipper Squares Match.

The Columbus athlete whirled Watson rapidly around four or five times, dropped him to the mat and then started to pounce on him to pin his shoulders. As Sexton dived, however, Watson suddenly cut loose with a mule-kick that caught him as he came in and the surprised Coast titleholder was knocked over backwards, and before he could do anything about it the Whip had thrown himself on top of him and nailed him for the fall that squared the match.

If anything, the action was even more hectic in the third round as the two tried everything in their repertoire to get the fall that meant victory. At one time they exchanged mule-kicks half a dozen times in a row, and the quick moves had the crowd cheering wildly. After each had gone down hard thrice they gave that form of attack up as a tough job. Flying tackles, flying scissors, hammerlocks, toeholds, and about everything in the wrestling book were used, but both men were going strong at the end of the hour when the timer's bell brought the spectacular tussle to a close.

A feature of the card was the battle young Bill Stack, the tall, young Bowmanville boy who is improving every time out and really looks like a comer, put up in the semi-final bout. Stack had to take on Al Bunny Dunlop when Tom Collins missed his train connection. It was the first time the youngster had met a back-alley battler of the Dunlop type, and he eventually was beaten in 17 minutes with a back-breaker, but he did not go down until he had staged a fight against the Toronto strong man that won him the admiration of the crowd. Dunlop did not pull any punches. He gave the kid from Bowmanville the works with an annex or two tossed in for good measure. Hair-pulling, kicking, and all the other favorite bits of Dunlop strategy were used against Stack, but the youngster stood up to it well, and went on the attack several times himself.

He Belted Bunny.

When he belted Bunny across the ring and out through the ropes with a series of punches to the head, the crowd loved it. Eventually, however, Dunlop softened up the Bowmanville grappler, and then threw him with a back-breaker, mixing in a few punches to make sure that the hold worked.

In the preliminary Jim Burke, formerly of the Canadian Navy, and Jack Sibthorpe, a Toronto wrestler who was making his first appearance here, went 30 minutes to a draw. The two tried lot of holds and both came close to victory several times, but the bell found them still battling without a fall. The official verdict of a draw was fair to both men.

Referee Maxwell had an easy night. He hardly got his hair mussed and for once he escaped without arousing the ire of any of the battlers, rather a novel experience for the official. Fred Scates made the introductions, and was vice-president in charge of the stop-watch.

Nominate 109 Yearlings For King's Plate

TORONTO, Dec. 6—One hundred and nine yearlings have been nominated for the 1946 running of the King's Plate. This is the first time in the history of the oldest continuously run turf classic in North America owners have been called on to nominate their candidates as yearlings.

The nominations closed Nov. 11, and the directors of the O.J.C. were highly gratified at the number named and made eligible for the running of the 1946 renewal. When the O.J.C. decided during the fall to make further changes in the conditions of the Plate the naming of entrants as yearlings was one of the important changes which Col. K. R. Marshall, president of the Jockey Club, and the directors believe would prove a beneficial move.

From Many Sources

Of the 109 yearlings, these yonngsters are from the leading breeding and racing establishments in the Dominion of Canada, and are the get of more than 30 different sires. Among these youngsters are the crop of several King's Plate winners now standing in stud and including Archworth, bred by W. H. Wright, Barrie; Bunty Lawless, owned by W. F. Morrissey, and Budpath of the H. C. Hatch Stable. Yearlings, sons and daughters of Sweepster, Khorasan, Bad News Bob, Worthmore, Foxhunter, Carrier Pigeon, North Wales II, Blue Ice, By Pass II, Shoeless Joe, Even Stephen, Sun Power, Ladfield, Burdoch, Stand Pat, Brooms, Teddy Wrack, Dolan, Happy Fox, Marcus Aurelius, Osiris II, Kanuck, Soleil du Midi, Onslaught II, Pont L'Eveque, Arcadian Flag, Jazz Band and Haytime II, are the eligibles.

The Parkwood Stable headed the list by naming eight—four colts and four fillies. A number of Western stables, including that of the Whittier Stock Farm, owned by R. James Speers, Winnipeg, have been liberal nominators for the 1946 event, which Palmer Wright estimates will have a cash value of $16,000, plus the 50 guineas, the gift of His Majesty the King.

Boston Bruins Hit Snag; Canadiens Win

By The Canadian Press

Boston Bruins' drive toward the top half of the National Hockey League struck a familiar snag last night when Montreal Canadiens outskated the Rossmen for an easy 4-1 triumph before 13,000 at the Boston Garden.

The victory was the Frenchmen's fourth straight over the Bruins this year and boosted their league-leading margin to three points over the idle Toronto Maple Leafs.

Veteran Toe Blake powered the Canadien attack with two goals and an assist and took a 26-25 lead over Bruins' Bill Cowley in the circuit's scoring race. The Boston centre was held pointless.

Assisted by Elmer Lach, Blake got the Canadien offensive rolling with a disputed goal late in the first period. Bruins argued that Lach had been in the crease but referee Chadwick ignored the protest. Dutch Hiller made it 2-0 only 36 seconds before the period closed on a passing play with Buddy O'Connor and Fern Gauthier.

Bruins put on a sustained assault in the first half of the second, only to have Maurice Richard break away and set up Blake for his second goal at 10.39. It was the Habitants' high-scoring twins again who put the game out of Boston's reach midway through the final period, with the speedy Richard sinking Blake's pass for his 16th goal of the season.

Old Herbie Cain spoiled goalie Bill Durnan's shutout with less than three minutes left when he drove home a 15-foot angle shot on a pass from Pat Egan.

Boston winger Bill Jennings pulled a groin muscle in the first period. Centre Art Jackson replaced him on the front line and Bill Cowley did a double shift by centring both first and third lines. Defenceman Jack Shechuk was a second Boston casualty when he was cracked on the head by a stick in a second-period scrimmage.

BLIND MARINES WIN CREW RACE—In what is believed to have been the first such event ever held, blind marines from the Philadelphia Naval hospital defeated the sightless veterans from the Army's Valley Forge hospital by a quarter of a length in a crew race over a half-mile course on the Schuylkill River. # St. Mike's Overwhelm Marlboros; Falcons Victors Over Port Colborne

By The Canadian Press

St. Michael's and St Catharines each advanced two more points ahead of Oshawa Generals while Galt Red Wings went into a tie for third place with the Memorial Cup defenders in the O.H.A. Junior "A" standing as a result of their respective victories last night.

The amazing Toronto students overwhelmed Marlboros 15-1 in Toronto to win their fifth straight game without a defeat. St. Catharines Falcons at home disposed of Port Colborne 9-2 for their fourth successive triumph to remain in second place. In the other half of the double-bill at Toronto, Galt Red Wings managed a 5-4 win against Young Rangers to draw even with the idle Oshawa Generals for third spot in the standing with four points each.

St. Mikes swept through Marlboros to make it 4-0 in the first period and added four more goals in the second before Marlies broke into the score column. The match was virtually a matter of chalking up the Collegians' scores as follows: Tod Sloan 5; Morston, Paul and Thomson, two each, and Blute, Arundel, Sadler and McCormack, one each. The goal-finder of the Marlies was Marzalik.

In the other tilt at Toronto Bill Curik scored the first and fourth goals for Galt but it remained for Pete Babando to pick off the winning counter in 13.20 of the final frame for his second counter of the set-to. Pavelick scored one for the Red Wings Rangers' snipers were Pidhermy (2), Payne and Dewsbury.

The Falcons led throughout at St. Catharines against Port Colborne and McMurdy, Peterson and Davis accounted for two tallies each, Edwards, Dawdy and Unger dividing the other three. For the Ports, the scorers were Morgan and Savicky. There were 12 penalties, with McMurdy of Falcons drawing three and Clark of the losers absorbing two sentences.

The New York Rangers yesterday signed still another defenceman in Jimmy Drummond of Toronto, following the acquisition of Bill Moe from Hershey and Guy Labrie from Boston Olympics. Previous to doing a turn in the Canadian armed forces, Drummond played with Toronto Goodyears and Marlboros when each captured the senior title in 1940 and 1941 respectively.

Detroit Red Wings announced the recall of Goalie Harry Lumley from Indianapolis of the American Hockey League to replace Connie Dion who will do his net-minding for the Capitals.

Don Whitmore, wingman of the Navy grid team, polled more votes for a place on the mythical All-American eleven than any of the backfield favorites in U.S. college football, it was announced yesterday at St. Louis.

The Army eleven, winner of nine straight games during the football season, yesterday was awarded the Lambert Memorial Trophy at New York as the outstanding eastern college team of the year. Navy won the trophy last year.

Re-elect Shaughnessy.

The International Baseball League yesterday at Buffalo re-elected Frank J. Shaughnessy as president for a three-year term and adopted a 154-game schedule to open April 19 and close Sept. 9.

James Darling, past-president of the Ontario Church Basketball Association, was elected president of the newly-formed Niagara District Intermediate Women's Basketball League at St. Catharines. There will be three St. Kitts teams and two from Merritton. A sixth club, the Merry Macs of St. Catherines, also may enter.

Three rinks from Hamilton, two from Sarnia and one each from Toronto, Kingston and Galt remained unbeaten after the first day's play in the 12th annual seniors' bonspiel at Hamilton. The Sarnia quarters, skipped by Homer Lockhart and W. A. Watson, went through both starts without any difficulty. The Hamilton rinks, two from Victorias and one from Thistles, also were easy victors.

Several of the pre-bonspiel favorite fell by the wayside.

P. G. Dietrich of Galt in his second round match, won a 10-9 extra-end decision over Dr. J. A. Wright of London. In the first affair, the Galt rink disposed of one of the strongest fours in the 'spiel, that skipped by Bill Kennedy of Hamilton Thistles.

One of the biggest upsets was the defeat of the defender of the seniors' trophy title, George Hanson of Kingston, eliminated from the major competition by Homer Lockhart's Sarnia aggregation. In the Hudson-Ross event Hanson fell to A. P. Ross of Toronto Granites. He will contest the Doolittle Memorial today.

Betting Exceeds Billion Mark

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(AP). — Horse race betting was a $1,126,308,645 business in 1944—enough to give every man, woman and child in the continental United States a Christmas present of $10.

Led by the fabulous $410,230,402 wagered in New York, the 27 States polled by the Associated Press enjoyed their first billion-dollar year at the mutual machines. The total was an increase of $421,156,388 over the 1943 total of $705,142,257.

Taxes paid to the States and a few cities aggregated $55,971,232 for 1944, with New York again setting the pace by collecting $27,664,387 in revenue from the wagering fraternity.

A year ago the 17 States involved collected only $32,424,738 in taxes from the bettors.

Every State showed an increase in the amount of revenue obtained from the betting, Florida and Delaware benefitting particularly. Florida's 1943 track season was curtailed by the ban on pleasure driving and Delaware park was closed for the entire year for the same reason.

The lone State with a decrease was Louisiana, where the race season was nine days shorter in 1944 than in 1943.

TORONTO, Dec. 6.—(CP).—With another N.H.L. meeting coming up at the end of the week, that brings that presidential question to the fore again, with everyone wondering who the league bigwigs will woo with that plaintive song: "Is you is, or is you ain't my baby?" Baz (Montreal) Star O'Meara, himself an avowed candidate for the job, opines that the directors get along very well under the present system, and he doubts if a change would suit them too well.

Further, he says, "we guess the N.H.L. heads wont' want anybody as president who knows too much about them individually or in the mass." What they would probably like is some "noted figure who also has the tendency to be a stuffed shirt," who could be used as a mouthpiece while the directors do the scene shifting "as they have always worked, by coalition, agreement and the old rule of the survival of the fittest or the dominance of the smartest."

In Boston meanwhile, Bruins' manager Art Ross gazed into the crystal ball and came up with a forecast the next N. H. L. prexy would be from south of the border. Said Art: "The United States entries are through appeasing and catering to the whims of the two Dominion representatives in Montreal and Toronto." The U.S. governors, who outnumber the Canadians 4-2 are all ready to choose an American president, and transfer the N.H.L. offices from Montreal to the U.S., continued the peppery Bruin boss.

Boxing Notes.

An exodus of Maritime fighters to New England rings may be in the cards for the near future. Bill (Moncton Transcript) Hutchinson reports that Doc Avery of Millis, Mass., has taken over the management of a group of down east boxers, and has plans for them south of the border. Among the mitters are Pordena Smith of Cape Breton, Gordon McNeill of Halifax, Tommy Spencer of New Waterford, two British boxers now stationed in the Maritimes, Harvey Dubbs and Ollie Geldart. Besides those, he plans to get the contracts of Tiger Warrington of Liverpool, N.S., and Murray Langford.

Flyers Trounce Pittsburgh Team

By The Canadian Press

St. Louis Flyers trounced visiting Pittsburg Hornets 4-1 last night in the only game scheduled in the American Hockey League. The victory blasted Hornet's hopes for a first-place tie with Indianapolis Capitals in the western division.

Flyers took a two-goal lead in the latter half of the first period on counters by Red Doran, in his first appearance of the season as a wingman, and defenceman Vic Lynn.

An attempted rally by Hornets in the second period netted them one goal, scored by Bob Gracie, while Flyers were held in check throughout. St. Louis wrapped up the game early in the final session when Art Giroux and Winky Smith drove home shots within three minutes.

Hornets will have a chance to turn the tables when Flyers visit Pittsburg to-night. They also have another chance for a first-place tie, provided Hershey Bears defeat Indianapolis. Bears will be playing on home ice.

Britain Needs Bacon, Beef Very Few Apples

OTTAWA, Dec. 6 — (CP). — Agriculture Minister Gardiner said yesterday there was not the same demand by Britain for apples as there was for meat products such as bacon and beef.

Mr. Gardiner spoke after a report on fruit had been submitted to the 12th Dominion-Provincial agricultural conference, now in its second day, by R. A. Wheeler, head of the Fruit Marketing Division of the Agriculture Department

The report suggested an output of 14,000,000 bushels of apples for 1945—15 per cent less than the 1944 production. Mr. Wheeler said the committee, which surveyed the fruit and vegetable position, recommended a potato crop of 72,000,000 bushels for 1945, about two per cent less than in .944.

Acreages of four subsidized vegetable crops—beans, peas, corn and tomatoes—were substantially higher in 1944 than in 1943. Recommended acreages for 1945 are Canning beans 7,000 acres, corn 40,000 acres, peas 35,000, tomatoes 35,000.

Dehydration of vegetables in 1945 was expected to be on a smaller scale than in 1944, consequently smaller plantings of cabbage, carrots, and turnips should be considered, the report said. Production of other fresh vegetables at the same levels as in 1944 was suggested for 1945.

A ready market for all the milk Canada can produce was indicated in the report on the dairy products situation.

Estimated output of milk in 1944 was 17,600,000 pounds, "fractionally higher" than in 1943. If the normal demands for butter, cheese and fluid milk were to be met in 1945, an additional output of 500,000,000 pounds would be necessary.

How Your Child May Be Inviting Colds

Due to being indoors more with less chance for play, many youngsters' bowels become less regular in winter and this condition often lowers resistance and invites attack by cold germs. To help prevent such colds, keep your child's bowels regular with Children's Own Tablets. These pleasant little tablets are a laxative and more. They also help sweeten the sour stomach that often goes with out-of-order bowels. Get Children's Own Tablets today and guard your child against unnecessary colds. 25¢ at druggists.

English Soldier Forsakes Bowler

By FRANK LOWE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 6 — (CP). — Pictures streaming back from the fighting fronts to newspapers here show that the Englishman who in civilian life is a hide-bound devotee of the bowler hat and striped trousers school develops, once he goes into battle, a flamboyance in dress which would daunt the imagination of a Parisian modiste.

Best known exponent of this dress revolt among the soldiers, of course, is colorful Field Marshal Montgomery. His corduroy slacks, leather jacket and beret liberally be-sprinkled with badges are as well known to picture magazine fans as Betty Grable's legs.

But it isn't so well known that this innovation in military dress was started by an unknown junior officer who boldly defied convention by wearing peacetime slacks with his battledress tunic.

Like Slacks

"Monty" approved, and now, pictures show, officers appear in slacks varying in color from light fawn to dark brown. And there is also a story (unconfirmed) of a certain officer of the terribly-correct guards appearing in a pair of purple horrors.

This fad is an old one — a much newer one is the wearing of colored scarves made from parachute silk. Everybody who is anybody, sartorially speaking, wears them, returning soldiers say, and their testimony is borne out by pictures.

These show officers and men looping silk scraves of white, brown, yellow, striped and green around their necks—and they do things to a kahki uniform which the War Office never intended.

Then, topping this, are hats that bear no resemblance to the prescribed tin derbies. British soldiers don't like steel hats, and they won't always wear them, even in the front line.

Instead they wear sloppy berets, weighted down with metal tags including the flags of the countries they have liberated.

Another dress innovation which might, but apparently never does, lay a soldier open to the grim charge of being "improperly dressed," is that of wearing German belts complete with their eagle and swastika buckles. And hanging from these are generally prided Lugers or other German weapons, highly valued because of their workmanship.

Chinese Regiment Moves Against Japs

CHUNGKING, Decv. 6.—(AP). — Crack Chinese regiments from Northwest China moved toward Kweichow province yesterday as Japanese columns pushed to within 60 miles of the province's Burma Road capital of Kweiyang, hte Chinese High Command announced last night.

(These regiments were unidentified in the announcements, and no indication was given whether they were from divisions which have been assigned in the north to a blockade of Chinese communist troops. Gen. Chou En-Lai, communist leader, has been in Chungking and has been said to be negotiating with the government for an end to the Government-Communist feud.)

Bensfort News

At the Red Cross quilting the draw on a quilt for which tickets had been sold amounting to $18.30, the lucky ticket was held by Mrs. James Lewis. A second draw was made on a pound of butter by Mrs. C. Barnard and was won by Lloyd Huggins of Peterborough. Mrs. James Hall made the draw.

Mr. Harold Nurse and Miss Lulu Nurse were visitors to Toronto during last week.

Mrs. Frank Barnard and son Paul have moved to Sudbury, where they joined Mr. Barnard, who went in October.

Word has been received from some of the boys overseas that they received their Christmas parcels, sent by the Bensfort Red Cross in October.

Low Birthrate Worries British Leaders

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 6 — (CP). — A 16-member Royal Commission has been working a year now on a study of Britain's falling birthrate — a problem so important, Home Secretary Herbert Morrison says, that unless it is overcome Britain's population will be halved by 1999.

"The work is going well and a lot of progress has been made but the subject covers such a wide field that there is still a tremendous amount to be done," said a commission spokesman.

It is not expected that the nine men and seven women on the commission — doctors, economists and housewives under chairmanship of Lord Simon, the Lord Chancellor — will make its report before late next year.

The falling birthrate has been worrying official Britain for many years but loss of young lives during the war has made the problem more pressing.

The latest body to express its concern is the Tory Reform Committee. Its booklet, "tomorrow's children," says there are three choices:

1. Increase the size of families from no children or one child to two, three or four;
2. Open Britain to immigration from countries with expanding populations;
3. Let the country go into the "downward spiral" of a dying nation, with always fewer people and more of the molder.

Prime Minister Churchill said early this year: "The destiny of our country . . . depends on an overflowing fountain of healthy children, born into what we trust will be a broader society and a less distracted world."

Boom Is Over

During the war the birthrate has risen, but government experts believe the increase is only a temporary phenomenon caused by a rush of early marriages and will make no marked difference to the general population problem. Already the marriage boom is over.

After reaching a peak of 471,000 in 1940, marriages fell to 368,000 in 1942 and 295,000 in 1943 — the lowest marriage rate since 1926. More important, while marriages in the four years 1939-42 totalled 225,000 more than from 1936-38, there were only 19,000 more births.

It has been stated officially that to keep the British population at its present level — around 46,000,000 — some 700,000 babies are needed annually. The figure has been attained in some war years but owing to the past decline in the birthrate the number of potential mothers now is falling.

Accordingly, it is submitted by experts that the number of children in the average family must be increased. At present rates of decline the number of potential mothers will have dropped from 11,000,000 to 8,500,000 by 1971. There would have to be, by then, an increase of 25 per cent in the number of babies per mother to maintain the population at its present level.

Galway And Cavendish Elects 4 Councillors

KINMOUNT, December 6 — Charles Mullock headed the polls for councillor in the election held in Galway and Cavendish on Monday. The other three councillors elected were Peter Pearson, Lester Hickey and Frank Flaherty.

The results of the poll were Mullock 107 votes, Peter Pearson 88, Lester Hickey 84, Frank Flaherty 63, Robert Allen 56, William Scarlett 53. Reeve David Curtin was returned by acclamation.

C.G.E. Purchases Fire Protection

Authority to the fire department to respond "immediately," that is without special permission from the Mayor or chairman of the fire and light committee, to any call that might come from the Kawartha Golf and Country Club and the power plant at Nassau, was given by the council last night in response to a letter from Ian F. McRae, works manager of the Canadian General Electric Company.

"We respectfully ask your council to authorize the use of the fire department to be on call for fires which occur at either of the company's properties," Mr. McRae wrote, "it being understood that this company would be responsible for any atteidant charges without obligating the respective townships (Smith and North Monaghan).

We have provided portable hand equipment and the staff are well able to take care of minor outbreaks. We are concerned with the possibility of larger fires which might become beyond the control of the attendants Unless we are assured of more adequate protection particularly at the Nassau Generating Station, serious interruption to our production at the Peterborough works may occur."

The permissive resolution by Aldermen Sullivan and Glover dispenses with the detail of official approval for the department to go beyond the city's limits in answering any call to these C.G.E. properties.

"Calling the Mayor or the chairman of the fire and light committee might not cause much delay," said Alderman Sullivan, "but on the other hand it might result in delay and loss of up to half an hour."

Potato Growing Acres Show Improvement

According to a summary of field inspections of potatoes, recently compiled by J. W. Scammell, District Inspector, Dominion Seed Potato Certification Service, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, 1,753 acres were entered for field inspection in Ontario during the 1944 season. Of these 1,527 acres met the standards adopted for certified seed, or 87 per cent of the total. Although this is a decrease in the number of acres entered, from 1943, it is an increase of 196 acres in the number of acres finally passed; of 729 fields entered by 413 growers, 88 per cent were passed; 91 acres passed as Foundation seed, 1,335 acres as Foundation A seed and 100 acres as certified seed. The total acreage of commercial potatoes grown in Ontario in 1944 has been placed at 120,000 acres.

The leading variety of certified and Foundation stock potatoes is Katahdin, with 1,052 acres passed. The Chippewa variety is in second place. The Sebago variety is becoming popular and the Rural New Yorker variety has shown a sharp decrease in recent years. The Irish Cobbler and Warba varieties are leaders for the early crop.

Yields from certified fields are reported as favorable, and good supplies of seed are now available. Lists of growers may be obtained from offices of Agricultural Representatives and officials of the Ontario Department of Agriculture would be pleased to provide information as to the location of suitable seed for 1945 planting.

Major Walsh Is Told To Prove Statements

OTTAWA, Dec. 6—(CP)—Defence headquarters announced last night that Maj. G. A. (Tiger) Welsh, D.S.C., is being given an opportunity to "substantiate statements credited to him in a recent interview with the press," and added that the defence department has "no record that Maj. Welsh had reported to the appropriate authorities the conditions concerning reinforcements overseas alleged to have been made in the interview."

(In an interview with a Globe and Mail reporter at Sutherland, Ont., last Friday, Maj. Welsh said that as early as November, 1943, Canadian artillery commanders in Italy had filed reports of a serious condition developing in the arrival of untrained and inadequate reinforcements. Since that time, he said, the situation "has been rapidly degenerating."

(Maj. Welsh said that at Ortona his unit carried on 28 days without rest, and a draft of replacements was sent to his anti-tank unit from an anti-aircraft unit.)

Havelock News

Mrs. W. Wright has returned from visiting her son, Mr. Gerald Wright, at Montreal and friends at Farnham, Que.

Mrs. R. Campney is spending a week in Toronto.

Mrs. H. Davies of Toronto was the recent guest of Mrs. H. Hubbel.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kemp of Peterborough, spent the week-end with relatives in town.

Three new cottages have recently been completed on the shores of Belmont Lake by Jack Bannon, Robert Sayers and Albert Wilson. Several other lots have been purchased by prospective builders, the work to be commenced in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Mosson Galaher and sons, Douglas and Donald, of Peterborough, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Dafoe.

Help the Young People To Health - Happiness

What a common sight to see a young person whose bloodless face and feeble frame are evidences of poor circulation and weakness where bounding health and rosy cheeks should reign.

Young people in such a condition are generally of an anæmic nature and require a preparation containing iron to improve the blood content.

Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills meet this requirement, as they contain three concentrated forms of iron of an easily assimilated nature together with other valuable ingredients indicated for building up the system and helping to improve the blood content.

Price 50c a box, 65 pills, at all drug counters.

TRUST

an essential element of DEMOCRACY

Built upon the solid foundation of democratic principles, Trust Companies serve certain basic needs of the people in the exercise of their privilege as free individuals to make provision for their future.

So long as private ownership is recognized, the sanctity of the "Trust" estate respected and the right of disposition of property by "Will" preserved, so long will estates be created and require administration.

Symbolic of democracy itself, the administrative functions of Trust Companies are indispensable and irreplaceable in our way of life and will remain so as long as democracy prevails.

[E]LECTIONS JAN. 1

Elections throughout Peterborough county will be held New Year's Day with nominations, Friday, December 22.

GETS CHRISTMAS BOXES.

Cfn. Robert Wyllie, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wyllie, 227 McDonnel street, wrote a letter December 1, which his parents received today, telling them that he had received all his Christmas boxes from them, the Church, and the Army Auxiliary on November 25.

TAKES WEAK SPELL

Ray Doxsee, 44, of Coe Hill, fainted while purchasing a money order in the Post Office here Tuesday afternoon, and was admitted to Nicholls Hospital at 4.30 o'clock, where he spent the night. He will be discharged from the hospital today. Postal officials phoned for medical aid, and Mr. Doxsee was taken to the hospital in an ambulance

SOMETHING WENT WRONG

Pte. John K. Guerin, brother of Mrs Marion O'Toole, 556 Rogers street, thought he had discovered a new angle for not worrying his sisters, when he was slightly wounded at the beginning of November. But he miscalculated. He recently wrote home that he was in the hospital in England for a tonsil and adenoids operation—not knowing that National Defence Headquarters had already advised them he was a casualty.

SKIDS INTO DITCH

When his car skidded off Lansdowne street into the ditch just west of Haggart street, Clifford Cox, R.R. 11 Peterborough, had a narrow escape from injury. The right front fender and bumper of the Cox car were damaged in the crash.

Jury Returns 4 True Bills

"That greater vigilance should be taken on the highways to see that trucks and other motor vehicles should be in proper driving condition," was a recommendation in the Grand Jury's presentment by its foreman, Alex Huston of Otonabee, to His Honor Judge S. L. Smoke Tuesday afternoon.

The Jury reported True Bills in four of the seven cases on the criminal list, which proceeded to trial this morning, dismissing the three others with "No Bill" notations

Judge Smoke thanked the Jury on behalf of the citizens of the county "for your attendance and the work you have done, and also for your kindly remarks about my short address to you. I always feel that the public is not as well versed as to the Courts and the method of procedure as it should be. If I can throw any light on procedure in the courts at any time I am only too glad to do so. I feel that it is in the interest of the public that these things should be known."

Possibly referring to one or more of the Crown's three cases that were set aside by the Grand Jury, His Honor remarked that it was quite apparent "that there is considerable divergence of opinion between the lay and legal mind as to what constitutes an offence in actions of criminal negligence laid under the Criminal Code. This is not to be wondered at because Judges and members of the legal profession disagree more over this section of the Code than over any other section."

Warsaw Mailman Wounded In Foot

WARSAW, Dec. 6 (ENS) — Roy Moore, Warsaw mail-carrier, is in Nicholls Hospital in Peterborough today, suffering from a foot wound he received after a shell jammed in the barrel of a .32 rifle he was cleaning Monday evening.

The wounded man attempted to walk the half-mile to the village, but was picked up by Robert Lloyd, and taken to Dr. Donad Munro, at Warsaw. First aid was administered, and Mr. Moore was brought to Nicholls Hospital, where he will be in the hospital a few days.

Mr. Moore lives alone at his home.

$66 From Legion Is Added To Good Record

When the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund first began to function, among the very earliest to pledge their assistance, were the same men who had in years gone by, offered even life itself in the defence of their country in World War 1, who are now banded together as the Peterborough Branch No. 52 of the Canadian Legion, under the leadership of G. Gimblett as president.

At that time, the fund was then as it is now, engaged in raising a special donation for Christmas to assist the people who have lost their homes, and particularly young boys and girls, so that their action at that time and ever since, has in part displayed that same devotion to service for the Empire, to which may be added the very humanitariam quality of assisting those in distress, which they from experience in the forefront of battle, know befalls to a civilian population in the zone that enemy action takes place in.

It is only fair to pay tribute where it is due, and the work that the local branch of the Legion has done on behalf of this city and district effort to assist the Empire cause, may possibly be without an exact parallel in the whole of the Dominion, for which every credit is certainly due.

Have Given $2,462 To-Date

This group is numbered among the very few indeed who have never failed to make a contribution once each month in the whole four years of the funds operation, their latest gift of $66.10 appearing to-day, to give them a total credit of $2,462.56, which if one divides by the number of months in that period, shows that they have given an average of over $50.00 each month of that time.

When one considers they have much welfare of their own to take care of, this certainly is a fine showing, and it has been made possible through the Wednesday night bingo games that are regularly held to which a number of these vets give very loyal service indeed.

In speaking of this, tribute should be paid to Bob Hotrum, Andy Rutter, Percy Golds, Arthur Moscrop, Reginald Akers, Andy Wilson, Mervin Williamson, Bob Mitchell, Tom Chapman, James Mitchell, Lorne Northey, and the late Pete Wallace, one of whom is represented in a personal way in to-day's list, and all of whom have rendered valuable assistance in this connection.

Memorial for Mrs. Parker

The splendid part that the late Mrs. J. E. Parker of Norwood played in assisting the fund during the first three years of its operations, will ever stand as a memorial to her while the records of such are maintained, and to-day this is brought vividly to mind with another gift to honor her memory by her family, who worked side by side with her to help raise a splendid total of $1,165.59 that now stands to their credit.

Each succeeding Christmas has seen support for these special donations given by the brethren of the Masonic Fraternity, another of such appearing to-day in an amount of $25.00 from the Peterborough Lodge No. 155 A.F. and A.M. to add its quota of cheer to the children in Britain at this time.

School Children's Gifts

School children always look forward with keen interest to the coming of Christmas, it means much to them in happiness, accentuated by their being very much on the receiving end. It is a splendid sign of the times, when they can give a thought to their less fortunate brothers and sisters, by doing something to help make them happy also.

To-day sees help coming from the pupils of Grade I at Central School, and the Primary Class of Bridgenorth United Church Sunday School, all tiny tots to whom a few cents each means much, the latter of whom have excelled all along the line in making a large number of similar gifts for the same purpose, while the pupils of S.S. No. 3 Belmont also make a repeat in today's returns.

Fish And Game Group Organizes

COBOURG, Dec. 6 (ENS)—Johnny Hayden of Cobourg was elected president of the Northumberland County Fish and Game Protective Association which was organized Tuesday night. The Deputy Minister of the Game and Fisheries Department, D. J. Taylor, was present to assist them in organizing and he spoke briefly.

After showing two colored films of fishing in Northern Ontario, he expressed the hope that the Department of Education would include in the curriculum for Public Schools, the teaching of conservation of water and forests with a view to maintaining the natural environment of fish and game. He also spoke of the post war plans of his department for the expansion of the tourist trade.

Other officers elected are: Honorary presidents, Judge J. C. M. German and William Goodfellow, M.P.P.; secretary, William Arnott of Cobourg; treasurer, Winston Fisher of Cobourg. The executive includes: Joe Kelly of Harwood; Charlie Burrison of Gore's Landing; Sam Metley of Brighton; Frank Griffiths of Colborne; William Munroe of Grafton; and Jack Ball of Baltimore.

Young Man Fined On Assault Count

Pleading guilty to having assaulted James L. Young in the Sandwich Bar on George street Tuesday night, Gordon Hardie, Stewart street was fined $5 and $3.25 costs by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning.

Young, in giving evidence, said that the accused had been drinking, that he annoyed an elderly man in the Sandwich Bar and used bad language in front of the girl who was on duty there. Young said that when he remonstrated with Hardie and asked him to watch his language the accused had struck him three times and knocked him back against the wall.

Hardie admitted the bad language but said that he did not strike Young. He had merely pushed him he said.

"You struck me," Young replied. "I have three witness."

John Howard Hendren, 20, pleaded not guilty on a drunk charge and at the request of the police was remanded until tomorrow for trial. His Worship fixed bail at $50.

Soldier Tells Of Stabbing On C.P.R. Train

Edward Richer, 24-year-old soldier, told a Session jury before Judge S. L. Smoke this morning, of how he was stabbed in the back of the neck while riding on a C.P.R. passenger train en route to Ottawa, at approximately one o'clock, on the morning of September 3, 1944.

Richer testified he was returning to his seat when he felt something across the back of his neck, and when he turned about, he saw Joseph Nezezon running from the coach, a straight razor in his hand. Nezezon is charged with assault.

Questioned by Crown Attorney, V. J. McElderry, K.C., Richer said he had spent nine days in the hospital in Peterborough, and some additional hospitalization in Rideau Military Hospital, in Ottawa. He turned and displayed the marks on the back of his neck for the judge and jury to see.

When Mr. McElderry asked if he were able to carry out his regular duties after that, Defence Counsel W. J. Arthur Fair objected, and received the judge's advice that the question should be amended to concern only the extent of the injuries.

Minding Own Business

Cross-examination by Mr. Fair revealed that according to Richer, "the accused was apparently, to my knowledge, minding his own business."

Mr. Fair: "How much did you have to drink that day?"

Richer: "Nothing".

Mr. Fair: "How much did you drink on the train?"

Richer: "Nothing at all!"

Mr. Fair questioned Richer about various factors in connection with his position in the coach, and the positions of others on the same coach. Richer testified he could not be sure whether he was sitting facing the engine of the train, or facing the rear of the train.

Defence asked Richer about lights in the coach, and without making any definite statements with regards to whether the lights were dimmed the soldier said sometimes the lights in a train are dimmed after a while and other times they are not. Besides, Richer pointed out, he didn't make note of the things on the train about which he would be questioned, because the accident had not happened, up to then.

Mr. Fair advised him that observations of his own were not requested, and to stick to answering the questions.

Mr. Fair: "Did you make any observations to your fellow passengers about the accused?"

Richer: "No!"

Mr. Fair: "Was there any extra happiness or gaiety on that coach?"

Richer: "No more than usual!"

Mr. Fair: "Sometimes the troops become very obnoxious on the coach, isn't that right?"

Richer: "Possibly".

Witness added that others beside troops sometimes become obnoxious on trains.

Defence counsel questioned Richer about observations made to him by other passengers, about the accused man.

Mr. Fair: "Were there any observations made to you . . . about the accused looking like a wild man?"

Richer: "No".

Mr. Fair repeated the question asking if anyone had referred to accused as a German, to which Richer said "No".

Mr. Fair: "Did the accused strike you as being a foreigner?"

Richer: "I didn't make the observation".

"That was in your mind but you didn't say it out loud, was that it?"

"No!"

"Then," Mr. Fair summarized, "nothing at all happened, the man just got up and stabbed you, without you causing him any discomfort."

"That's right!"

Mr. Fair elicited from the witness that he had "sat in his seat staring into space for over an hour."

"And was the object of your staring the accused?"

"No!"

Police Testify

During the examination of Richer by Mr. Fair, testimony was heard regarding the R.C.A.F. Service Policeman, and the military policeman Cpls. Doyle and Quinn respectively. The two policemen were on the train, but the position in which they were sitting was not stated definitely by Richer.

Closing the questioning of Richer, Mr. Fair asked if he had noticed anything unusual about the accused up to the time of the stabbing, to which Richer replied no.

"Did you make any observations to the accused when you passed him... while going out for a drink of water?"

"No!" replied Richer.

Much of the defence questioning centred around the position of Richer, the accused, and others in the coach. Several technical points were examined by Mr. Fair, including the fact some of the seats in the coach were double, while some remained single. This, witnesses evidence disclosed, complicated some of the questions.

After a ten-minute recess, Mr. McElderry called James A. McCann, Montreal, to the stand. Mr. McCann was a passenger in the coach in which the accident took place.

McCann testified he sat with Cpl. Doyle, the R.C.A.F. M.P., whom he had met before, but whom he met on the train purely by accident.

"I thought I saw an excited look on Nezezon," he told the jury, adding that the accused had an excited look in his eyes, and was "sort of snorting." McCann, evidence disclosed, sat facing Nezezon, although there was some space in between.

McCann said he was coming in aft : getting a drink of water just prior to the accident, and he saw the accused "getting up to leave, it appeared." He said he told him the train was not going to stop, and the accused sat down again. That was all the conversation that took place, he said.

He had only sat down in his seat again for a short time, when he saw Richer coming into the coach from the water fountain, and Nezezon grabbed him by the shoulder and cut his neck. Without being able to describe the weapon, McCann said it was a "metallic object."

After that, he said, Cpl. Doyle reached out for Richer, and eased him down to the floor, and Nezezon ran from the coach. It seemed that everyone was afraid to go near Nezezon, he related. Accused then went into the men's toilet, he said, where he remained until the train reached Peterborough, and was removed by police.

"There was no confusion that I was aware of in the coach, up until the time of the accident," he said.

The case is continuing.

LONDON, Dec. 6—(CP).—The United States Embassy reported today that an estimated 12,000 to 15,000 British wives of United States servicemen have applied for visas to enter the United States. Attaches said another 1,000 already have been granted visas.

New Volunteer Blood Donors Needed

New recruits for the blood donors clinic during the holiday period of the next six weeks, enlarged by the likelihood of winter colds and other indisposition of the faithful regulars, will be invited in a special appeal by Mayor Hamilton, representing the city council, its constituents and their interest in the lives of the men in the three services.

Alderman Glover said the enlisting of additional blood donors was almost as important as the calling of men for the front lines.

Some Peterborough men who have already returned home, were alive today because infusions of blood plasma had saved their lives. Large numbers of men were being brought to health in the three services by the restorative effects of blood plasma.

"Last week we had 250 blood donors, the second largest week the clinic has had," Alderman Glover said "Now we are coming to a season of colds, influenza, other seasonal illnesses, Christmas, visiting and absences, and it is feared that we are likely to face a shortage of blood donors.

Faithful Attendance

The backbone of the donor list are the men and women of our factories and offices. We also get others from the county and villages, especially when they are able to come in during the off season.

Need Replacements

New registration is needed to fill up the winter gaps. Hundreds of our citizens have not yet realized that this call reaches out to them in exactly the same way as to those who have already given up to twenty and more donations of blood.

It applies to all persons from 18 years to 60 to register at the clinic at Brock and Water streets. I'd like the council to give Mayor Hamilton authority to make a special call up men and women to make up the daily quotas of Blood Donors."

Alderman Cotton seconded the Glover motion.

Appreciation of the voluntary services of the women of the Red Cross Society, doctors, nurses, and all others assisting in the work of the Blood Donors Clinic was expressed in a resolution by Aldermen Dutton and Cotton.

SERVING OVERSEAS — Gnr. James McIlvena, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. McIlvena, Lift Lock, is serving overseas. Prior to enlisting in January, 1943, he worked for the Colonial Weaving Company after leaving the Collegiate. He was also an Examiner carrier boy for two years. A brother, Gdsm. Martin McIlvena, is with an Armoured Regiment, in action since D-Day.

Driver Is Fined On Two Counts

Vernon Hughey, 593 George street, pleaded guilty to two taffic charges in police court this morning and was warned by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., that he had better be careful in regard to his driving. "If this man is before me again on similar charges remind me of these convictions," His Worship said to Inspector J. F. Reid.

On a charge of speeding on Hunter street west Hughey was fined $5 and $1 costs and for failing to bring his motor vehicle to a full stop before entering a through street he had to pay a fine of $3 and $2.50 costs.

Melville Booth who entered a written plea of guilty was fined $3 and $2.50 costs for not having proper lights on his motor vehicle. The charge was laid by Provincial Traffic Officer Price Morris.

For illegal parking Stanley Renoff was fined $1.85 and $1 costs.

Catholic Junior League Holds Enjoyable Dinner

The December meeting of the Catholic Junior League took the form of an enjoyable dinner party Tuesday evening at the Empress Hotel, with over fifty members in attendance. The guests were received by the president, Miss Gladys Costello.

The capable 'chairman' of the evening, Miss Madonna Hurtubise, in opening the program, assured the assembly that the present occasion and those to follow afforded the opportunity for old and new members to become better known to one another.

During dinner, Miss Geraldine Collins sang two Christmas hymns, "Jesu Bambino" and "O Holy Night". Community singing was led by Miss Doris Strickland. Miss Marion Best was accompanist.

The members were welcomed by the president, Miss Costello, who stated that, with a view to promoting good fellowship, the Christmas dinner party would be an annual affair. Miss Costello, in exhorting the members to take an active part in their organization, quoted "Ten Ways To Kill a Society."

The speaker of the evening, Miss Helen Furlong, was introduced by Miss Hilda Sullivan. Miss Furlong's interesting and instructive address dealt with the story of public health nursing. This included a brief history of nursing, in particular the beginning and progress of the Victorian Order of Nurses who were sponsored by Queen Victoria. A nurse of the Victoria Order is required to take a special course to enable her to perform the duties of her particular profession. She is employed by the National Office in Ottawa, but is responsible to the local Board of Directors of the association, who control and finance the local branch of the V.O.N. The National Office acts in an advisory capacity and supervises the work to ensure high standards. Miss Furlong, who was wearing her attractive uniform, drew attention to her badge which bears the letters V.R.I.-Victoria, Imperial Queen. Mrs. Dorothy McKenna thanked the speaker.

The 'surprise' of the evening was the presentation of Catholic Women's League pins to members of the Junior League for outstanding service during the past two years. Miss Hilda Sullivan presented a pin to the president, Miss G. Costello. Others honoured were: Miss L. Hickey, first vice-president and membership convener; Miss H. Sullivan, second vice-president and education convener; Mrs. D. McKenna, third vice-president and social service convener; Miss H. Burke, recording secretary; Miss B. Hickey, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. Brady, treasurer; Miss A. Donoghue, publicity; Miss G. Perdue, W.V.S. convener; Miss H. Hickey, Mrs. C. Maloney (in absentia) and Mrs. M. Crough, social committee; Miss T. Lucas, Red Cross convener; Mrs. N. White and Miss D. Strickland of the Auxiliary Service Club committee and Misses M. Clancey and V. Scollard for their special assistance on various occasions.

All members were invited to attend the Christmas party to be sponsored by the Senior and Junior C.W.L. for the children of St. Vincent's Orphanage, on December 21st at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Legion Holds Social Evening

The last open night for members and their ladies of Branch 52 Canadian Legion B.E.S.L. for 1944 was held Tuesday evening in the hall with an overflow crowd in attendance.

Pat McIntosh made his second appearance at these functions with an entirely new cast consisting of Jean Somerville, tap and acrobatic dancer; Nancy McKaig, piano accordion; Tom Hamilton, the only Canadian actor having a part in the picture, "Captain of the Clouds"; Dolly Moncrief at the piano, with Mr. McIntosh master of ceremonies.

At the conclusion of the show, supper was served in the banquet hall, which has been recently renovated and now presents a pleasing appearance, a second sitting being required to handle those attending.

Dancing in the auditorium was then enjoyed with Red Moncrief and his boys providing the music.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion were in charge of the luncheon arrangements, and the next open night for the New Year will be announced at a future date.

Mrs. M. Stokes W.A. President

The slate of officers for 1945 was presented at the Christmas and annual meeting of the Women's Association of St. James' United Church, Tuesday afternoon in the primary room, and Mrs. M. Stokes was re-elected as president.

Other members of the executive include: Honorary president, Mrs. A. Wilson; past-president, Mrs. George Rowe; first vice-president, Mrs. E. Grose; second vice-president, Mrs. M. Drysdale; recording secretary, Mrs. C. Olaveson; financial secretary, Mrs. J. Roberts; treasurer, Mrs. G. Rowe.

Atchinson giving the prayer and Mrs. J. O. Fife reading the scripture. Mrs. E. M. Davis was in charge, and read the Christmas story. The meeting opened with the singing of several carols.

George St. YPS Holds Bazaar

An interesting display of articles was featured at a bazaar held by the members of the George Street Young People's Society and so enthusiastic was the support they received, that proceeds totalled about $125.

Attractively arranged tables displayed home cooking, home-made candy, white elephant, novelties and costume jewelry, and throughout the evening, between numbers on the program, the audience moved about making their purchases.

Musical numbers featured the program for which Dr. Semple was chairman. Mrs. James Goldie and Miss Loretta McDougall sang solos; Miss Margaret Smart, Mrs. Cecil Searles and Mrs. W. G. McLaren sang as a trio and Miss Elsie Chambers, played a piano solo. Charles Hensley also sang and Mr. Lewis presented a ventriloquist act. Accompanists for the evening were: Misses Lenore Skitch, Elsie Chambers and Mrs. H. Doig.

ALL IS NOT GOLD — Alexis Smith, who appears in Warner Bros.' "Adventures of Mark Twain," models a smart dress suitable for afternoon wear, cocktail parties or don't dress dinner parties. Of gold crepe, the dress has a softness across the front of the skirt caught through the belt at either side. The belt which ties at the front is finished with looped tassels of gold beads. The same gold bead tassels are used at the front closing.

George St. W.A. Elects Officers

Mrs W. G. McLaren was re-elected president of the Women's Association of George Street United Church, at the Christmas meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Board Room. The report of the nominating committee was presented by Mrs. T. Mark.

Rev. Dr. James Semple installed the officers for 1945 as follows: Honorary presidents, Mrs. T. Mark and Miss M. Elliott; past-president, Mrs. W. G. Harris; president, Mrs. W. G. McLaren; first vice-president, Mrs. W. K. McGee; second vice-president, Mrs. F. Horton; recording secretary, Mrs. I. Walker; secretary, Mrs. W. Morris; treasurer, Mrs. A. W. Nelson; press secretary, Mrs. C. H. Elliott. Annual group reports were presented, showing a most successful year.

Rev. Dr. Semple was guest speaker, and asked members to sing the hymn "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks," and he told the "Story of the Shepherds." Mrs. McLaren related the story of the origin of one of the oldest and best loved carols, "Silent Night," and Mrs. Ross Moore played special arrangement of the melody on the piano. Mrs. T. Mark and R. Spicer expressed the appreciation of the members to those taking part in the program.

The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. R. Parnall's group, with Mrs. F. Latimer reading the Christmas story, and Mrs. A. Fitzgerald offering prayer. Letters of thanks for cards and expressions of sympathy were read by Mrs. C. W. McGee. Mrs. E. M. Yelland made an appeal for workers for the Red Cross, and the convener of the Soldiers' boxes, Miss M. Elliott, said that 182 had been sent to members of the congregation.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Rev. Dr. Semple spoke briefly to the group on their duty to the church, and Mrs. McLaren thanked all for their co-operation and support during the year. Rev. Dr. Semple pronounced the benediction.

800 Children To Attend Christmas Party

About 800 youngsters are expected at the gala Christmas party, sponsored by the Citizens' Co-ordinating Committee, Saturday afternoon in the drill hall for children of service personnel, overseas or in Canada.

Included among the entertainment to be provided are moving pictures, a magician, clowns, a trick dog, and Christmas carols, played by the junior Salvation Army Band—all building up to a climax and heralding the appearance of Santa Claus. He will be jolly and laughing as ever, and will have favors for all the children.

Members of the Army, Airforce and Navy auxiliaries will be assisting with the arrangements. Tickets are being given out through Public and Separate schools throughout the city, but pre-school age children are welcome, if accompanied by their mothers. The festivities are scheduled to get under way around 2:30, and a jolly afternoon is promised for all the kiddies.

Mrs. J. G. Wharry Heads St. Andrew's W.A.

Annual reports and the election of the executive for the new year were the principal items of business at the Christmas meeting of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's United Church Tuesday afternoon. In addition, an entertaining musical program was presented.

Mrs. J. G. Wharry was elected president, and the executive is as follows: Honorary President, Mrs. E. W. Young; Past President, Mrs. I. T. Lillico; Vice-Presidents: Mrs. C. M. Scott, Mrs. E. R. Shirley and Mrs. H. Keefer; Treasurer, Mrs. V. Hamilton; Recording Secretary, Mrs. J. Turnbull; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. F. W. K. Harris; Financial Secretary, Mrs. R. Lewis. Mrs. J. R. Marshall read the report of the nominating committee, and Dr. E. W. Young installed the officers.

Mrs. Lillico, retiring president, thanked members for their loyal support during her term of office. Reports were presented by the following: Mrs. Angus Munro, Cradle Roll; Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, visiting; Mrs. E. R. Shirley, Red Cross, for Mrs. C. B. Waite; Mrs. G. Ham, flower committee, for Mrs. R. Lewis; Mrs. James Turnbull, recording secretary; Mrs. V. Hamilton, treasurer.

An appropriate and excellent recital of Christmas music was presented by Mrs. James Goldie. She divided her program into two sections, singing "The New-Born King," "An Old Sacred Lullaby," and "A Christmas Lullaby," in the first part, and "There's' a Song in the Air," "A Star Was His Candle" and "The Song Divine" in the second. Mrs. C. M. Scott moved the vote of thanks to the guest artist.

Miss E. Scott, on behalf of all the members, expressed to Mrs. Lillico the appreciation of the Association for the excellent work as president, and her faithful and efficient service. Mrs. Wharry, presiding for the closing period, asked for continued support, referring to the WA creed, and speaking of the need for a spirit of unity. Mrs. H. Tremaine and her group were in charge of the serving of refreshments.

1,150 Officers, Soldiers Expected Home

OTTAWA, Dec. 6 —(CP).— The first group of 450 Canadian soldiers returning to Canada for 30 days' leave under the new rotation leave scheme are expected to reach their homes during the third week in December, Defense Headquarters announced today

Travelling time is not included in the 30-day period, which begins when the men reach home and ends when they depart.

In addition, return to Canada has beeen expedited for approximately [illegible] officers and other ranks who had been slated to proceed on specific duties and who will also arrive home in time for Christmas to enjoy 30-day leave privileges.

All ranks with five years' satisfactory continous service overseas are entitled to apply for leave to Canada under the rotation scheme. First preference goes to those who have served in operations against the enemy, and service in operational theatres counts double in computing length of service for leave.

A monthly quota is determined by Canadian military headquarters at London, taking into consideration exigencies of the service and shipping facilities. The first quota of 450 consists of 200 from the Mediterranean theatre, 200 from Northwestern Europe and 50 from the United Kingdom. A similar or larger quota is planned for January

Next of kin will be notified of arrivals. The returning men may send a free telegram from port of arrival, and another from the district reception centre announcing time of arrival at home.

Home Defense troops scheduled to go overseas will be given embarkation leave, Navy Minister Macdonald said in the Commons.

Replying to Norman Lockhart (P.C., Lincoln), Mr. Macdonald said he understood the minimum leave was 48 hours at home.

Mr. Macdonald said he would reply tomorrow to a question of T. L. Church (P.C., Toronto Broadview), who asked whether armed forces personnel granted Christmas or New Year's leave would be allowed travelling time besides five days' leave.

GRANTED REPRIEVES — With the hanging postponed at Fort Frances of three men guilty of the "hot stove" murder of Mrs. Viola Jamieson, the case, which attracted wide attention, remains wide open. The men are William Schmidt (Left), Anthony Skrypnyk (Centre) and George Skrypnyk (Right). The fourth man, Eino Tillonen, 19, who took part in the torture, will go to penitentiary for life, the jury having recommended leniency in his case. A last minute reprieve was granted the men, enabling them to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada.

He won three more elections before being defeated in Montreal Westmount-St. Antoine in 1940, at the age of 84. He had lived quietly at his Westmount home since.

Commons Continues

after saying he had tried to obtain a hearing five times and had not been successful.

Armand Choquette (BP.—Stanstead) said the Bloc Populaire party opposed any kind of conscription. The order-in-council was passed for "political expediency" and to satisfy opposing views within the government.

Struck Off

Men were being sent to their death on the battlefield because the government sought to avoid a crisis. If Liberal members supported the government on the confidence motion they would "be kissing the hand of their murderer before he struck the final blow."

Speaker Glen said Mr. Choquette's latter remarks represented a blot on the escutcheon of the House and members assented when he suggested they be struck from the record.

Hon. Dr. H. A. Bruce (PC.—Toronto Parkdale) said the Canadian people would not be satisfied with any "half-hearted and uncertain" conscription measures such as the government proposed but wanted an all-out war effort.

"This is simply one more shameful episode in five long years of eager searching for the line of least resistance," he said.

Mr. King had promised the government would resort to conscription for overseas if the need became imperative.

"However, the Prime Minister prefers to break his pledged word and sacrifice the lives of our Canadian boys on the battlefields of France and Italy rather than lose votes in the Province of Quebec," said Dr. Bruce.

Speaker Glen said the words used contravened the House rules and Dr. Bruce finally agreed to withdraw them and have them expunged from the House record.

Shortly afterwards, Mr. Black made a comment on the government position which Speaker Glen said he understood to be similar to that used by Dr. Bruce. He again asked for withdrawal and Mr. Black acceded.

Mr. Black said Gen. McNaughton might have stayed with his troops overseas instead of leaving them to go into battle without him.

"He came home, was promoted after coming home, and on top of that he treats himself to a cabinet plum worth $12,000 to, if he can be elected, say $16,000 a year.

"That is not McNaughton the soldier, the idol of the army, the idol of Canada. That is McNaughton the politician, the fallen idol, the idol with feet of clay."

Mr. King said he had not interrupted Mr. Black in his references to Gen McNaughton "because I have been considering the source from which his remarks are being made."

Mr. Black said his source would be found quite as reliable and respectable "as some other sources." He could not support the government in its present "makeshift policy."

F. G. Sanderson (L-Perth) said he would support the government with the hope that before the January session begins Gen. McNaughton will be able to send overseas all the reinforcements needed by the men overseas.

Second To None

The government to date has "a record second to none" among all our Allies in this war, Mr. Sanderson said.

The people were war conscious but not in a party sense.

"They want the government to go with the war," he said, "and this government or any which succeeds it should bear that in mind."

The people were not thinking of parties and party advantage. They were thinking of victory and peace. The casualties were heavy and would continue so for a long time to come. The war was far from over. The people of Perth County were "strong for conscription."

Convinced that the measures taken by the government would be carried out by Defence Minister McNaughton and would provide the reinforcements required, he proposed to vote against the opposition amendment and supporting the motion of confidence in the government.

Col. Lapointe said he could not "go back" on the views opposed to compulsory overseas service he had expressed to his people, especially when he was not convinced that the action taken by the government was necessary for winning the war and the security of Canada.

He regretted that because of the wording of the confidence motion asking the House to declare it will assist the government in maintaining a vigorous war effort, he could not vote with the government and thus express his confidence in the leadership Mr. King had given. There was no one else the people he represented would want to see as Prime Minister, but on the other hand they could not forget the breaking of a pledge which to them was sacred

"I hope that the task to which the Prime Minister has devoted his whole life, and the National Unity which he succeeded in realizing in Canada, will not come to an end because of the present issue."

Unity Overseas

There was unity among Canadians fighting at the front and the same spirit should be displayed on the home front.

Clarence Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South) said he felt that former Defence Minister Ralston had been "let down by someone" and was not responsible for the situation which developed. He should not have resigned from the Defence Department but should have remained and made changes.

Mr Gillis said he did not think 16,000 men would be sufficient reinforcements and others would have to be sent.

Harry Leader (LP-Portage La Prairie) said the change in government policy to partial conscription represented a "somersault."

As a Liberal Progressive member he had admired the United States system under which none was exempted from military service if physically fit.

"I want to say that I can vote against the government and intend to do so when the vote is taken, with clear conscience and wishing them luck," he said.

Azellus Denis (L-Montreal St. Denis) said he believed Mr. King could have avoided the situation which now had developed and he regretted that a lack of foresight had resulted in the need to resort to compulsion for overseas. He would vote against the government on the main motion.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King said he had "made no promise to anyone" that this partial conscription order would be the last one brought down by the government.

Mr. Diefenbaker asked the Prime Minister whether at any time during the last week or so he had "given assurance to any group or bloc or member of parliament that this is the last Order in Council that will be brought down by this government?"

Mr. King replied: "May I answer my honorable friend at once. I have made no promise to anyone"

Mr. Diefenbaker retorted:

"That is exactly the point I have been making . The Prime Minister dare not tell the people of Canada that he intends to see that the 42,000 men (drafted infantry potential) are made available for overseas service and that there will be further Orders in Council."

Britain Firm; Opposes Count Sforza

LONDON, Dec. 6 — (CP). — Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons today that Britain was standing firm on her objections to Count Carlo Sforza's proposed appointment as foreign minister of the Italian government.

When Ivor Thomas, Labor, asked whether the government's views were being modified in the light of the United States statement in favor of a hands-off policy in Italy, Mr. Eden replied:

"I can assure you that my answers are revised up to the very last minute."

"I explained the attitude of the British government in my statement of Dec. 1," said Mr. Eden. "The statement subsequently issued by Signor Bonomi in no way modifies the views of His Majesty's government."

Eden said Dec. 1 that British authorities "did not feel Count Sforza would be a particularly happy choice as foreign minister" and accused Sforza of working against the Italian government of Prime Minister Ivanoe Bonomi, who was cooperating with Britain. Bonomi later denied that Sforza had worked against him and said he felt Mr. Eden meant the Badoglio government instead.

"Do you seriously mean to maintain the attitude that Count Sforza has worked against Signor Bonomi when Signor Bonomi says that that is not so?" asked Sir Richard Acland, leader of the Left-wing Commonwealth party.

"I have said what our position is," replied Mr. Eden. "I have nothing to add."

TIRED OF HOME RESTRICTIONS

Wilful Girl Craves Freedom In Maelstrom of a Strange City.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a girl of 18 and I am dissatisfied with my parents and friends and everything and tired of this town, as there is no way in which to entertain myself. So I have decided to go to another town and get a job, but my mother says I am too young to be away from home.

I have been working, but my job didn't pay enough to buy the clothes and things I wanted, so I quit it. I want to go and live my own life like I want it What do you advise?

O. B.

Be Grateful For Home

ANSWER—Well, daughter, if at 18 you can start out and live your own life just as you want it, you will be the first human being who ever has done it. Millions of young girls like you have tried it. They were tired of home restrictions and wanted to be free to come and go as they pleased. They wanted pretty clothes and $25 a bottle perfume to put behind their ears, and to meet strange men and dance and feast and make merry. And they thought if they could just get away from the stuffy little home town and Mother's DON'Ts that a wild and exciting and glamorous life would follow automatically.

But when they tried it, they found out that you can be more lonesome in a big city than you can in the smallest village in which people know you and are interested in you; that if you didn't have enough money to buy finery at home, you won't have enough to even buy food when you have to pay for your own living; that instead of having many dates you won't have any, and that the men you meet will treat you the way they treat any young girl who hasn't a home and a background.

So forget all about your foolish idea of going to the city and being a glamour girl and settle down to making something of your life where you are. You will find plenty to amuse you in your small town if you will try to make an intelligent woman of yourself by reading and studying, instead of trying to be a playgirl.

You will make enough money to buy the pretty clothes you want if you will perfect yourself in whatever line of work you have taken up and be so efficient in it that you can command a good salary. And be thankful that you have a home where you are sure of three square meals a day and a mother to love you and care what you do, and to give you respectability.

Life doesn't give any of us a joyride. We have to work our passage.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — I am a boy of 15 just starting to military school and won't be able to see my girl for a long time, but my father wouldn't even let me go to see her for about an hour after I got home from work. I don't believe that parents understand the problems of adolescent children. Do you?

M. W.

Time Cures Adolescent Love

ANSWER—I am afraid that parents do not understand the problems of their adolescent children as well as they should, and that is a pity for both of them. Fathers, in particular, are prone to forget how they felt when they were going through their first attack of puppy love and can't see why Johnny wants to spend his time hanging around some giggling little school girl.

So Father orders Johnny to keep away from Mamie or Susie and thinks that settles the matter, when, instead of settling it, it just promotes it. Left alone the affair would have died a natural death, but Father's opposition pumps oxygen in it and keeps it alive.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a girl of 14. My parents give me a good home and everything I need, but they won't give me the things a girl of my age wants, such as boy friends, dates, spending money and, most important of all, the love and understanding an adolescent girl needs. When I really try to talk to my mother she won't listen. She always says the same thing: "I'm busy. I haven't time to listen to such foolishness."

I am willing to work a lot around home, but I want the few things I am so cruelly deprived of. I have been asked to meet boys on street corners and go out with them, but I haven't done it as yet. I don't want to do it, but if there is no other way to have boy friends, I will do it. It is parents like mine who are the real cause of juvenile delinquency, and they don't even know it.

ANSWER — How about it mothers? Is this foolish little kitten, who wants so much to be petted at home and has a mother too busy to do it, telling you?

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, December 7

A DAY of astonishing and extraordinary events and developments, with great excitement, commotion and possibly drastic action. There may be a deep spading up, with old fastnesses, roots, and ties, subject to sudden upheaval, of far-reaching effect on the life its enjoyments and good fortune. This could possibly be due to an explosive, thrilling or dramatic cataclysm, either in physical, mental or emotional sense, or in connection with natural causes, like fires, explosions or machinery. With precaution, sound judgment and sane conduct, there is prospect of unforseen benefits, and probably spectacular romantic adventure and festivity.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of exceptional excitement, commotion, agitation or sensational adventure, reaching to the very foundations of life its fortunes, enjoyments and security. It is a catastrophic visitation, of profound, spectacular and dramatic force, devastating and uprooting. There may be separations as well as unions, emotional and spectacular, with celebrations of extraordinary events. There also may be explosions, accidents or other catastrophe calling for sane and balanced conduct in crises. Much of happiness and emotional adventure are also shown, but with discretion and poise.

A child born on this day may have many spectacular talents, thrills and adventures in life. It should be particularly vigilant around machinery, fires, and electrical instruments.

Premier Claims Recruiting Justifies Plea

OTTAWA, Dec. 6.—(CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King stated Tuesday in the Commons that, as President of the Privy Council, he took full responsibility of distribution of 87,000 copies of his recent radio speech by the Wartime Information Board.

"The speech was in its essence an appeal by myself for public support of the recruiting campaign for voluntary enlistments," said Mr. King.

It contained significant information which the public was entitled to have. If the appeal was to be successful it was necessary to give it wide distribution. The distribution of copies was at the instance of the Cabinet Committee on Recruiting and Army Reinforcements. If ever an appeal was justified, that one was.

In the 26 days since it was made 6,297 men had volunteered for general service. Of these, 2,701 were from the home defense troops, and 3,596 from the general public and the reserve army.

"I am informed these are the largest enlistments for any similar period since the outbreak of war," said Mr. King.

A further analysis was indicated when Opposition Leader Graydon asked of Mr. King a breakdown of conversions and enlistments, on the totals given, before and after the conscription order was passed on Nov. 23.

The Prime Minister was amplifying his answer of Monday to a question from Hon. Herbert A. Bruce (P.C., Toronto Parkdale) as to whether an equal number of copies of Hon. J. L. Ralston's speech in the House would be distributed. Mr. King said the public would get the speeches made by Mr. Ralston and himself in the House from the official records and would not approve of any special distribution.

Splendid Cough Syrup Easily Mixed at Home

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.

To get quick relief from a distressing cough, mix this recipe in your own kitchen. Once tried, you'll say it's your favorite cough medicine, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Anyone can do it. No cooking needed. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.)

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its prompt action on throat membranes.

Put the Pinex into a 16 ounce bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make 16 ounces of very efficient medicine, and you get four times as much for your money. It tastes fine and never spoils.

And for quick, satisfying relief, it is splendid. You can feel it penetrating the air passages and taking hold of the cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

McLEAN—POWER—The marriage is announced of Doris May Power, C.W.A.C. of Halifax, Nova Scotia, daughter of Mrs. H. Power and the late Mr. T. Power, Halifax, to S.B.A. Leo James McLean, R.C.-N.V.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. McLean, 76 Sophia street, Peterborough. The wedding took place on August 19th, 1944, in St. Thomas Acquinas Church, Halifax, N.S.

IN MEMORIAM

LEE—In loving memory of our dear son, Donald, who entered into rest December 6th, 1930.

Just when your life was brightest,
Just when your years were best,
You were called from this world of sorrow,
To a home of eternal rest.
—Sadly missed by dad, mother, sister and brothers.

PRUNER—In loving memory of my dear son, Cpl. Earl Pruner, who was killed in Italy Dec. 6th, 1943. Also my dear mother, who passed away Dec. 1st, 1943.

What would I give to clasp their hand
Their happy faces to see
To hear their voice and see their smile
That means so much to me.
—Ever remembered by his mother, Mrs. E. Pruner, sister Alice and Jack.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. T. E. Park and Mr. and Mrs. Sandbach, wish to thank Mayor Hamilton for his kindness in trying to locate Trooper Albert Park in Italy, after the death of his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Park and Mr. and Mrs. Sandbach and families of Fraserville wish to thank attending doctors and nurses of Nicholls Hospital, Col. Wood of Salvation Army for his kind thought and prayer, Rev. Floyd also kind neighbours and friends for flowers sent in the sickness and death of their beloved daughter, Mrs. Muriel Park of Fraserville.

Y.P.U. Raises Mission Quota

Miss M. Emerson presided at the regular meeting of the St. Andrew's Young People's Union, Tuesday evening, when it was announced that the allotment of $40 for the missions had been raised. It was decided to make arrangements to send the allocation immediately to headquarters.

Dr. E. W. Young was named press representative until the end of the year, and he was also asked to write to the Book Room for suitable booklets as a basis for discussion topics in the new year. The election of officers will take place at the next meeting, to be held in the manse, with Misses Marion Chase and Betty Warner in charge of refreshments. Leonard Wall was in charge of the worship service.

Primary Teachers Hold Meeting

About 20 teachers and officers of the primary department of St. James' United Church gathered Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. S. Leggitt, Patterson street, for their Christmas meeting.

Five young teachers, Miss Blanche Draper, Misses May and Beverly Gibson, and Misses Gladys and Jean Lawson, were in charge of the arrangements for the program, and the refreshments served at the close. Members exchanged Christmas gifts, and heard the Christmas story from St. Luke's gospel, read by Mrs. V. Butler, followed by prayer in unison. Miss Flora Sollitt was at the piano for the singing of several Christmas carols.

Included on the program were several contests, conducted by Miss Draper and Miss Helen Moncrief. A letter of thanks and a gift, in recognition of her years of devoted service, were presented to Mrs. Margaret Miller, who enters the hospital Thursday for a slight operation. Mrs. V. Davies, another excellent worker, was unable to be present at the party, through illness.

Home and School Association News

CENTRAL

R. A. Scrutton, teacher of a special boys' class at Queen Mary school, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Central Home and School Association Tuesday evening.

The speaker explained that handicapped and deficient boys were given special training in handicrafts, which enabled them to achieve a place in the world, independently. He said that the training encouraged them to acquire the ability to extend and further their education in other subjects as well.

The Christmas program was arranged and prepared by the teachers, with a number of students taking part. The program was opened by a group of three songs by pupils of Miss M. Brock's class, followed by recitations by two members of Miss L. Esplen's class, Carol Garside and Terry Plewis. The story of the first Christmas was given by Marylin Middleton, and Marylin Wigg played two piano solos. Both are in Miss J. Buck's class. Betty Mather, a student in R. K. McKee's class, played a piano solo.

F. H. Dearborn, the principal, brifely addressed the meeting on the parent and teacher relationship, in regard to the child. Mrs. L. Groombridge, president, was in the chair.

CONFEDERATION

All grades at Confederation School took part in a Christmas concert Tuesday evening, presented at the meeting of the Home and School Association.

From grade two, Bobby Druery recited the "Christmas Story," and a group of children from the same grade also repeated the Christmas story in unison, while Joan Guthrie gave a recitation. "There's Always a Santa Claus" was the title of a dialogue presented by pupils of grade three, and Patsy Weston, also in that grade, gave a recitation. Pupils of grade four gave a Christmas play.

A piano solo by Joan Chamberlain and a dialogue, "Harry's Pockets," were among the numbers given by pupils of grade five. Christine Monk and her mother, Mrs. L. Monk, played a piano duet, and Norman Moffat played a violin solo. Rosemarie McCall of grade six did a tap dance, while members of Mr. Olmsted's room, also in grade six, presented a demonstration of gymnastics.

K. S. Wightman, school inspector, was guest speaker during the business portion, and spoke of the improvements he hoped to see in the school in the near future. He was introduced by Robert Olmsted, and a welcome was extended to the guests by Donald Ross.

Mrs. F. White, vice-president, presided, and a letter from Fred G. Mann was read, asking for support for the Christmas cheer for British Children Fund, and a donation of $5 was voted. An invitation from May's School to attend their Christmas concert next Tuesday evening was accepted, and at the close refreshments were served by Mrs. N. Monks and Mrs. N. Moffat.

QUEEN MARY

Rev. W. A. Filer was guest speaker at the well-attended Christmas meeting of the Queen Mary Home and School Association, Tuesday evening, stressed the importance of "Religious Education" in the home.

The speaker said that religiuos education was not new but comes to the fore because of circumstances of life. Because of war, religious education may have a new place, he explained and read a portion from Sir Richard Livingston's book, "Education for a World Adrift."

Mr. Filer pointed out that those who reject Christian belief will fail to live and keep Christian morals." Juvenile delinquency is not caused so much by the lack of religious edution in the school and in the home," he said.

The Old Testament religion was the religion of home and it was impossible for the teachers to inculcate religion if not taught at home, he said. The speaker paused to read from the Old Testament, and pointed out that the New Testament church was in a home before it was in a church.

"What makes education Christian?" he asked, and went on to say that it was when parents and teachers had a Christian philosophy of life.

Religious education helps a child to grow in a three-fold manner—spiritually, intellectually and physically. Mr. Filer said religion and education should never have been separated. God must have a place in the development of the mind if we are to develop properly, he contended. "The Germans are an example of the development of the mind and body. They forgot the development of the soul."

Mr. Filer said that most people look after the physical development and the stimulating of the mind, but these two are not the whole of any life. There is something precious in every child and that is the spirit. The child must have the development of all three for a well rounded life. We must develop the spirit of reverence too, as secular education is not sufficient to feed the spirit. Reverence for God's word and God's house should be stressed. The teachers cannot be expected to accomplish this themselves without the co-operation of the home.

A delightful feature of the evening were two Christmas numbers sung by a group of children from grades two and three, conducted by Miss V. Robinson, and accompanied by Miss D. Hooey. Mrs. H. V. Dobson was at the piano for community singing of well-known Christmas carols, and the next meeting was announced for January 8 when Dr. R. A. Kelly, M.O.H., will be the guest speaker.

The president, Mrs. James Matthews, thanked the guest speaker and those taking part in the program, and invited everyone to remain for refreshments. The banner for the junior grades was won by Miss Robinson's room, and Miss E. Deyell's room and O. M. Steer's room were tied for the senior grades.

TRIBAL CLASH

CAPE TOWN. — (CP). — The ancient feud between the Tembu and Mcunu tribes in the wild Msinga district of Natal has once more boiled up and been the cause of bloodshed. As so often happens, the trouble started at an inter-tribal wedding where four Mcunus were killed.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

THE MARK OF AN EXPERT

WILLIE HOPPE, the great billiard champion, once said there's no such thing as an easy shot. He explained that if you loafed and failed to concentrate, you might miss any shot, no matter how simple. That could be paraphrased in bridge by saying there's no such thing as an unimportant card. One mark of an expert is his intentness in noting the exact size of every card played. Even the difference between a deuce and a trey can sometimes point the way to successful play.

South explained later that his passing of the 4-Diamonds was because he thought North's bidding showed five hearts, four clubs and four diamonds, whereas North meant to be cue-bidding and asking his partner's slam desires if North showed him control of the first round of the two minors and therefore inferentially control of the top rounds of hearts. West was the boy who muffed the ball, when he doubled the diamonds, as a pass would have meant a licking for North.

With the bidding lessons possible from this hand, who would also expect a keen point of play in it? East led the club K to the A, three hearts following and the spade 10 being sent through to the K. The club J came back to the Q, followed by the 10, giving the defenders their book, whereupon East led the K of the diamonds which West had doubled. North ruffed and led the spade 9. When he came up with the dummy's A, dropping the Q, he was able to make his contract.

West wondered how North decided the spade Q could be dropped, instead of having it win the setting trick on a finesse. To North it was quite simple. He noticed East put the 2 on the first spade lead and the 3 on the next, indicating probable possession of three cards. His other spade could be either the Q or the 5. North decided West was more likely to have any single outstanding card, because at that stage he held one more card than East, so he played his A to catch it.

New Prize Given For Improved School Grounds

A new competition to encourage the improvement of rural school grounds is announced by J. A. Carroll, Director of Agricultural and Horticultural Societies Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. This competition, which is additional to the Province-wide competition for the Carter trophy, [illegible] a township basis, with a [illegible] selecting the school in each [illegible]ship which, during the period September 1, 1944 to August 1[illegible] makes the greatest improveme[illegible] its school grounds.

Provision for this competition was made at a meeting of an inter-departmental committee representing the Departments of Education and Agriculture, under the chairmanship of Mr. Carroll, and the Ontario Horticultural Association is lending its cooperation in the awarding of certificates to the school selected in each township by the school inspectors. A score card was developed at this meeting, and the responsibility of scoring the schools in each township is placed in the hands of the district school inspector. The score card allows points as follows:

General Care: Clean-up, including removal of waste, eradication of weeds, mowing of grass, cultivation of all plants, trimming of trees and pruning of shrubs, and acquisition of equipment for care of above—35 points.

Improvement: Enlargement of grounds, repairs and painting of buildings, fences, flag-pole, pump, walks, grading of grounds and boulevards—35 points.

New Planting: Suitability and arrangement of trees, shrubs, vines, flower beds, lawns and garden—30 points.

Any rural school is eligible for this award of a certificate from the Ontario Horticultural Association, providing sufficient work has been done to justify the award. The results of the judging are to be forwarded to Dr. V. K. Greer, Ontario Department of Education, before October 15, 1945, and arrangements will be made by the district school inspectors.

Legion Cats' Paw Member Claims

HAMILTON, Dec. 6—(CP)—Canadian Legion officials permitted their organization to be used as a "political cat's paw" during the reinforcement and conscription controversy, Hugh Cleaver, Liberal member of parliament for Halton, said in a letter to Legion officials in this area.

The letter was made public today by John Goodwin, secretary of Zone Eight of the Legion. Mr. Goodwin said the "Legion is no person's cat's paw and its members have every right in the world to express their opinion any any subject of such national importance."

WELCOME TO BRITISH LIBERATORS IN GREECE—Grinning British soldiers receive the tribute of a happy throng as they walk through Omonia Square in Athens, Greece. Latest dispatches from Greece bring word of disturbances in Athens between Royalists and the left wing EAM.

WMS Appeals For Offering

HAVELOCK, Dec. 6 — (ENS) — The annual thankoffering service of the W.M.S. of the United Church was held Sunday evening and was conducted by the president, Mrs. G. W. Chiles, who announced that in view of the society being asked to accept a fifteen per cent increase in their allocation, to help war-torn mission areas, she hoped that the offering would be a generous one.

Lantern slides were shown on mission work in Korea depicting the advancement that has been made in that country in the past 50 years, and although the missionaries have been withdrawn owing to hostilities, a sufficiently strong native Christian organization, the outcome of mission work had been left behind. The lecture in connection with the slides was given by A. C. Reid, principal of the high school. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. H. Wing and Mrs. T. J. Gall led in prayer. Mrs. M. Kinnaird closed the service with the benediction.

The morning service was conducted by F. E. Rogers, owing to the illness of Rev. S. A. Kemp, who was supplying the pulpit while the minister Rev. J. W. Wilkinson is in Nicholls Hospital at Peterborough.

Atlantic Record Broken 3 Times

MONTREAL, Dec. 6 — (CP). — A triple smashing of the trans-Atlantic Liberator flight time record for an east-west crossing was announced by the R.A.F. Transport Command today as three Liberators of British Overseas Airways landed at Prestwick, Scotland.

Flying the 3,150 miles from Montreal to Prestwick non-stop, the three senior pilots of B.P.A.C., each carrying a full load of passengers, cargo and mail, made the following take-off to landing times on their regular Atlantic ferry runs:

Capt. Richard Allen, 10 hours 31 minutes.

Capt. S. W A Scott, 10 hours 48 minutes.

The three trips were nearly an hour faster than the previous record for Liberators which have been on the North Atlantic run for 3½ years.

Cat Discharged

Mrs. George Weller Heads Association

WARSAW, Dec. 6—(ENS)—Mrs. Arthur Payne was hostess to the Women's Association, of the United Church, at her home Monday afternoon. Mrs. Snelgrove had charge of the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Stewart Clysdale. Christmas songs were used in opening the meeting.

This being the annual meeting, the reports for the year were read. The treasurer reported a balance of $211.50, and the flower treasurer had a balance of $21.82. It was decided not to do the ceiling of the church basement at this time and to donate $150 to the Church Board.

Rev. E. D. Snelgrove took charge of the election of officers with the following results: President, Mrs. George Weller; 1st vice-president, Mrs. George Taylor; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Stewart Clysdale; secretary, Mrs. John Morgan; assistant secretary, Mrs. George Cooper; treasurer, Mrs. Charlotte Cooper; flower fund treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Edwards; pianist, Mrs. Stewart Clysdale; assistant, Mrs. Roland Payne; auditors, Mrs. William Darling and Mrs. Allen U. Payne.

Rev. Snelgrove closed the meeting with prayer and lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Miss Clara McCracken, Mrs. Jordon Crowe and Mrs. H. G. Digweed.

The Association meets with the W.M.S. on Thursday afternoon in a joint carol service.

Girl 17 Locks Officer In Cell

HAMILTON, Dec. 6 — (CP). — Margaret Meilo, 17, escaped from the women's detention cells at Central Police Station Monday after tricking a policeman whom she locked in the cell in her place. She was being held in connection with an escape from a girls' delinquent institution in Toronto.

The station duty officer was called by the girl, who said she wanted a bench moved in the cell. The policeman entered, and while he was moving the bench, the girl ran out and locked the door.

The officer was freed a few minutes later when his shouts attracted another member of the force. The girl has not yet been found.

Sewing Club To Help With Yuletide Party

HAVELOCK, Dec. 6 — (ENS) — Miss Marie Dafoe, leader of the Belmont Girl's Club, was the hostess for the fifth meeting in their sewing project, "accessories for our bedrooms", when owing to the condition of the roads, only six members were in attendance.

A discussion took place with reference to assisting the school children of their district with their annual Christmas concert and it was decided that the class would assist in every way possible.

The financial report showed about $24 on hand so the matter of an entertainment to raise funds was left until spring.

Wash room accessories were discussed and some of the girls decided to make screens to place around their wash stands. Proper finishing seams, corner edgings for dresser scarves, and bias binding were made.

It was decided to hold another meeting before Christmas and then adjourn until spring.

Anti-Trust Suit Action Gets Underway

By PAUL M. YOST
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 — (AP) — The final phase of the legal battle over the government's anti-trust suit against The Associated Press opens to-day in the United States Supreme Court.

Counsel for the A.P. contend that the civil anti-trust action as it now stands would require the non-profit news co-operative to admit to membership all comers, thus—in violation of the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press—making it a public utility subject to government regulations.

In reply, the government asserts that the A.P. would not be converted into a public utility and freedom of the press would be furthered. It says the anti-trust laws do not affect the editorial policies of the press, but do deal with the regulations of the A.P. and its members to other newspaper enterprises.

The Supreme Court granted a total of three hours for oral arguments on the case, beginning with hearing A.P. counsel probably in mid-afternoon. Justice Department attorneys were to begin their argument late to-day, or Wednesday afternoon.

The A.P. appealed to the high tribunal from a decision by a special three-Judge Federal Court in the southern district of New York.

That court found that the A.P. did not monopolize or dominate the gathering or distribution of news. It ruled, however, that the A.P. should be restrained from observing by-laws under which members might consider the competitive ability of an applicant for membership. The court decreed that if A.P. modified these by-laws, it could continue to provide its news exclusively to A.P. members, to demand the local news of members exclusively for A.P. use, and retain its present contact with The Canadian Press for exchange of news.

(The Canadian Press report is available to the A.P. under an arrangement whereby A.P. news is supplied to members of Canada's non-profit news co-operative.)

General Division Given Star Award

MARMORA, Dec. 6 — (ENS) — The monthly meeting of the Deloro Safety Commmittee was held in the electric shop Monday afternoon with the chairman, C. H. Buskard, presiding.

G. Brooks for the suggestions committee reported the receipt of eight suggestions. For the competitive committee, G. H. Rennie made known that five awards had been made and that the Star was awarded the General Division. For the inspection committee W. M. reported that 28 suggestions had been made A. W. Drew was appointed floating member for December. For the publicity committee J. H. Hemphill touched upon the poster contest which closes on December 15. J. A. Rice for the health and investigation committee reported that eleven had attended the prone pressure practice during the past month.

TORONTO, Dec. 6 — (CP) — Donald (Mickey) McDonald has entered notice of appeal at Osgoode Hall against his conviction and sentence of 15 years in Penitentiary on charges arising out of the theft a year ago of 600 cases of liquor valued at $35,000.

Smith Council Buys Snowplow

The Council of the Township of Smith met at the Court House in Peterborough on Monday, all the members present, with Reeve McIlmoyl presiding.

George Simpson, representing residents of Queen Elizabeth School area, suggested that as J. D. Gallagher had lost his house by fire, his 1944 taxes should be cancelled. On motion one-half, or $17.41, was cancelled.

As the last day for paying taxes in the township is Friday, December 15, it was decided to extend the time to Saturday, December 16th.

For some time the Council has been considering the purchase of snow plowing equipment, and at this meeting an order was placed with the Ford Motor Company for a 3-ton four-wheel drive truck, with snow plow and wing. Due to wartime restrictions it is not expected delivery will be made until late in February or March.

A by-law was passed establishing polling sub-divisions and appointing deputy returning officers and poll clerks, the polling sub-divisions are the same as in former years. The election offfcers are as follows:

Poll No. 1—Allan Milburn and John Stewart.

Poll No. 2—William Telford and Braden Mann.

Poll No. 3—Henry Coons and William Bickell.

Poll No. 4—William Elliott and C. Fitzgerald.

Poll No. 5—William Lane and Wesley Davis.

Poll No. 6—Grattan Nichols and J. W. Blewett.

Poll No. 7—Allan Brown and Leonard Orde.

As the last Monday in December is Christmas Day, the meeting for the nomination of candidates will be held on the previous Friday, or December 22.

The following accounts were approved for payment:

Road accounts, $217.88; N. Douglas, printing voters' lists, $90.00; Dr. J. A. Morgan, salary and account, $308; Provincial Treasurer, insulin account, $4.21; Examiner, notices, $1.54; Township of Westminster, share of relief, $5.28; E. A. Scott, balance salary, $50.00; Treasurer S.S. No. 12, on account levies, $300; G. McIlmoyl, telephone account, $2.65; Ross Harrison, telephone account, 75c; R. S. Northey, rebate dog tax, $4.00.

Council adjourned to meet in the final session on December 16.

British Use Planes In Athens

Spitfires Swoop Over Park Strafe Greek Rebels

By STEPHEN BARBER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 7 —(AP)— British parachute troops and infantry, with the support of planes, tanks, and armored cars and artillery, blasted their way at tommy-gun point from house to house today against the principal centres of E.L.A.S. resistance around the Acropolis.

Although Maj.-Gen. R. M. Scobie announced that progress was being made in clearing the E.L.A.S., the armed auxiliary of the leftist E.A.M. political organization, from the Athens area, the fighting spreading to Thrace, where E.L.A.S. and Greek nationalists clashed.

British Beaufighters crushed the E.L.A.S. mortar positions in a public park east of the Acropolis and across the main Athens Piraeus road where it enters the capital, and field artillery was used to blast out other positions. But snipers' bullet still zipped back and forth down the side streets of the capital in the second day of pitched battle.

Premier George Papandreou, whose government is supported by the British, told correspondents that the E.A.M. was "plunging Greece" into civil war."

Bombers Wreck Hun Industries

LONDON, Dec. 7 (CP)—British and Canadian heavy bombers attacked Germany's prize synthetic oil plant at Merseburg and two railyards with 7,000 tons of bombs last night just a few hours after 1600 American bombers and fighters raided the oil plant and another rail centre in daylight.

Another R.A.F. force bombed Berlin—the 172nd night raid on the enemy capital since the war started.

It was the 18th heavy bombing of the Leuna Refinery which once contributed 50,000 tons of oil a month to the German war machine.

Last night's rail targets were Osnabruck—where Canadian activity was concentrated—and Giessen.)

Sharp battles between the British fighter escort and German interceptors were reported, particularly around Merseburg.

Twenty-one planes, including four Canadian craft, were lost and at least 17 enemy craft were destroyed, an air ministry communique said.

The Luftwaffe stuck to the ground during daylight yesterday and American losses were limited to four bombers and two fighters knocked down by German anti-aircraft fire.

For 72 Hours

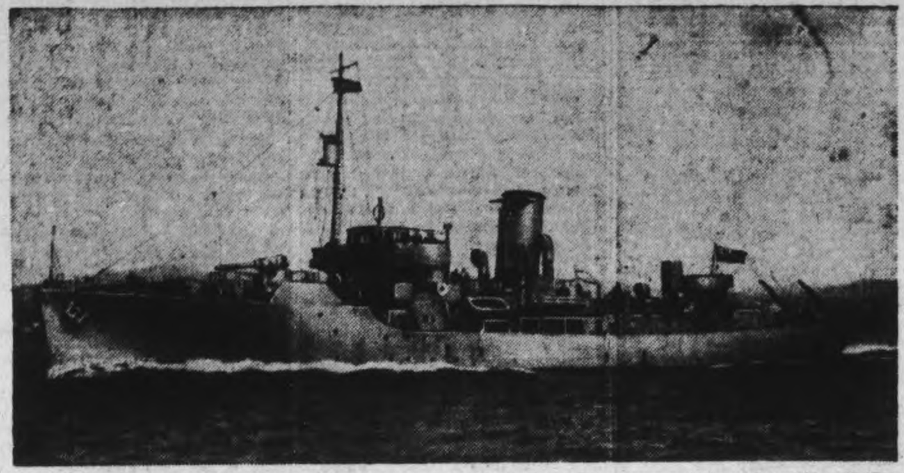
The heavy night assault kept Germany reverberating with bomb blasts for 72 straight hours.

Approximately 14,000 bombers and fighters have participated in coordinated attacks from bases in Britain, Belgium and France since Monday.

The German railroad system—increasingly responsible for supply of armies in the west since diminishing fuel supplies immobilized much German motor transport—has borne the brunt of the mighty offensive.

Allied air chieftains made no effort to conceal their purpose — to trap German military supplies between disrupted rail centres in the heart of Germany and just short of enemy troops at the front.



CORVETTE SINKS—HMCS Shawinigan, a corvette noted for the efficient way in which she has discharged her convoy duties, has been reported sunk, with all the crew lost. Only five bodies were recovered, the Navy Department has announced.

Corvette Sinks, All Crew Lost

OTTAWA, Dec. 7—(CP).—The corvette Shawinigan, one of the sturdy little "work horses" of the Royal Canadian Navy, has been lost in the perilous North Atlantic and her entire complement of seven officers and 83 ratings is dead or missing, Navy Minister Macdonald announced today. Only five bodies, those of ratings, have been recovered and identified. The remainder of the crew, including the captain, Lieut. W. J. Jones of Brooklyn, N.Y., are listed as missing.

The announcement said merely that the Shawinigan went down "while on operational duty in the North Atlantic." It did not say whether the ship met her end through enemy action or weather conditions. Nor did it indicate when the sinking occurred.

The Shawinigan is the ninth corvette and the 19th Canadian warship announced as lost in the war. The last corvette sunk was the Alberni, which went down about three months ago with the loss of 59 of her crew.

Escort Vessel.

The Shawinigan was in the Navy's convoy escort and patrol fleet. Her sea miles totalled more than 150,000 and she had been one of the busiest vessels of her class afloat since she

No Peace Treaty For Some Years

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa, Dec. 7 (CP-Reuter)—Prime Minister Smuts, in a two-hour speech to a union-wide conference of the South African United Party last night, suggested that no peace treaty could be concluded immediately after the war along the lines of the Versailles peace conference.

Comprehensive armistices, however, could be concluded and maintained by the great powers for some time. Time could thus be found for Europe to settle down.

"We shall probably see vast convulsions, now to the left and now to the right in this turmoil and confusion of Europe," Field Marshal Smuts said. "To make peace for a contract under such unprecedented conditions requires more than the wisdom of men, even of such exceptional leadership as the Allied peoples enjoy today....

"To settle Europe in a temper of distraction, hatred, greed and revenge of injured innocence and inferiority complexes which will prevail after the war will be a superhuman task.

"Let the large-scale removal of frontiers and the movement of large populations remain in abeyance while the problem of human salvage is being tackled first with all our resources," he advised.

"The great objective should be to save Europe herself and to prevent her in her utter moral and material exhaustion from entering on a process of decay relatively to other continents which would be an immeasurable calamity not only for Europe, but for human progress and welfare as a whole."

British Deepen Bridgehead Over Lamone River, Italy

ROME, Dec. 7—(AP).—British 8th Army troops have deepened their newly-won bridgehead over the Lamone River southwest of Faenza and all enemy resistance east of the river has been wiped out, Allied Headquarters announced today. Polish troops in the bridgehead captured Brisighella, 10 miles southwest of Faenza, and the important height of Monte San Rinaldo.

Mezzano on the Rimini-Ferrar railway six miles northwest of Ravenna also was captured as victorious British and Canadian units chased scattered German forces back to the Lamone River.

Southwest of Mezzano a second attempted crossing of the Lamone by the 8th Army troops was hurled back.

In this action Allied units fought their way onto the west bank of the stream under cover of night. But when the mist cleared yesterday morning the enemy counter-attacked fiercely, infiltrating into 8th Army positions with the support of self-propelled guns. The Allies were compelled to retire to the east bank.

As 8th Army patrols, with co-operation of Italian patriots, mopped up scattered German parties in the coastal marshes northeast and north of Ravenna, headquarters announced 300 prisoners had been taken during encirclement and occupation of the city.

The encircling move was so swift that the 8th Army intercepted a German battalion runner carrying a withdrawal order and as a result captured an entire enemy company

Allied Advances Are Limited

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 7—(CP Cable)).—The German armies, with shortened supply lines, a much narrower front on the borders of their homeland and the weather on their side, have managed to change the Western front fighting picture until every advance for the seven Allied armies has become a matter of battling ahead mile by mile—often yard by yard.

During the first three months after D-day on June 6 the Allies were able to establish solid footholds both in Northern and Southern France and push out from them, liberating virtually all of France and Belgium and part of Holland.

The second three months started slowly as the British, United States, Canadian and French armies gathered supplies for a new push. But even with the recent winter offensive launched in mid-November Allied advances have been extremely limited.

Sticky Fighting.

The second three months was characterized by the sticky fighting the 1st Canadian Army had to do in Holland, clearing out the Schelde Estuary so the great supply port of Antwerp could be used. The greatest advance anywhere on the Western front was limited to about 80 miles—toward the southern end of the long curving front, from around Nancy to Strasbourg.

The second six months of continental warfare opened yesterday with the Germans entrenched mainly in strong defence positions behind rivers which are in flood at this season. They are relatively close to their sources of supply, although the Allied air forces have been giv-

Chinese Admit Loss Of Tushan

CHUNGKING, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Chinese high command today admitted loss of Tushan, 75 miles southeast of the Burma Road citadel of Kweiyang, amid indications a Japanese offensive was in full swing toward Kunming.

Fall of Kunming wold virtually hamstring the prospective new India-China supply route and deal the U.S. 14th Air Force a crippling blow.

In a special communique the Chinese said Tushan fell the morning of Dec. 5. The Japanese had claimed the town was captured Dec. 2.

Its capture set up the possibility of a two-fold enemy drive northward on Kweiyang and westward to Kunming, 300 miles distant.

Meanwhile it appeared another Japanese column was moving toward Kunming up the Yu River from captured Nanning, former advance base for American fighter planes, which fell to the enemy last week.

The enemy drive up the Yu valley has not yet been mentioned by the Chinese high command. The Chungking newspaper Ta Kung Pao openly accused Chinese military leaders of giving an inaccurate picture of developments.

Huge Planes Hit Plants In Manchuria

Daylight Swoop Surprises Nipponese Forces

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 —(AP)— Superfortresses attacked industrial objectives in Japanese-dominated Manchuria today.

A brief 20th Air Force communique said a large task force of B29s of the 20th Bomber Command "continued the campaign against Japanese war production with a daylight attack today against important industrial objectives in Japanese-dominated Manchuria."

Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the 20th Air Force, in his announcement said further details will be announced later.

(The Japanese radio announced today that "three or four" B29s dropped incendiary bombs on Tokyo Thursday morning (Japanese time), causing "a small fire at one point."

(The broadcast, recorded by the federal communications commission, was heard shortly after the Japanese had reported a raid on Manchuria by the Superforts.

(In an earlier brroadcast Tokyo said B29s had appeared over the Japanese capital, but had departed without dropping bombs.)

The text of the 20th Air Force communique:

A large task force of B29 aircraft of Maj.-Gen. Lemay's 20th Bomber Command continued the campaign against Japanese war production with a daylight attack today against important industrial objectives in Japanese - dominated Manchuria. This announcement was made at the war department by Gen. H. H. Arnold in his capacity of commanding general of the 20th Air Force. Further details will be announced when additional information becomes available.

British Policy In Europe To Be Debated

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Criticism of British foreign policy in western and southern Europe threatened today to force an open challenge of Prime Minister Churchill's government as his supporters marshalled their forces for a fulldress debate tomorrow on intervention in Italy and Greece.

There appeared to be no danger his government would be overthrown. But a three-line whip—the most urgent summons to attend the debate—was sent out against the possibility that Socialist and Labor members of the House might seek a divisional vote.

In diplomatic and parliamentary quarters, it was expected that Mr. Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden might broaden the debate into a detailed review of Britain's basic foreign policy as demonstrated by haps explain the divergence in Allied foreign olicy as demonstrated by the United State's State Depart-

Senate Declines To Rush Approval

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 —(AP)— In a startling upset, the United States Senate declined to act immediately yesterday on President Roosevelt's nominations of four high State Department appointees. They were returned to the foreign relations committee for further study.

The Foreign Relations Committee chairman Tom Connally (Dem.—Tex.) pleaded in vain for prompt approval of the nominations of Joseph C. Grew as Undersecretary of State and of three assistant secretaries—W. L. Clayton, Nelson A. Rockefeller and Archibald MacLeish.

The committee approved the appointments only Tuesday without formal hearings and this fact, together with arguments that little was known to the Senate about the political ideals of some of the appointees, bolstered the move for recommittal.

Hold 22 Miles Along Saar In Steadily Developing Foothold In Hun Territory

German Crew Work Steadily All Night Bolstering Erft River Defences As Americans Drive Nearer City Of Cologne

By JAMES M. LONG—Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Dec. 7—(AP).—American tanks drove within 3½ miles of seared Saarbrucken today in a plunge to the outskirts of Forbach, French rail town and outpost of the Siegfried Line. Artillery of the 3rd Army bombarded the little Pittsburgh of the coal and iron region for the eighth consecutive day, while infantry was cleaning the Germans from the last streets of Sarreguemines, French border town southeast of the Saar capital. Street fighting continued in Saarlautern, second city of the Saar.

German fighting patrols crossed the Maas at several points along the northern part of the Allied front in apparent attempts to take prisoners, a 21st Army Group spokesman said, but instead lost prisoners to alert 1st Canadian Army and British 2nd Army troops.

There was no other major ground action on the northern front.

On the static Roer River front, the Cologne plain for the second successive night was bright with strings of German groundlights, suggesting the enemy was working intensively to prepare defences on the Erft River in anticipation of a forced withdrawal from the swift and swollen Roer.

The Erft flows within eight miles of Cologne. It is 100 feet wide and paralleled by a canal. Along the Roer, the U.S. 1st and 9th Armies were no closer than 22 miles from the ravaged metropolis on the Rhine. Nowhere had the Roer been crossed, but infantry was up to its banks on a wide front.

In some places east of the Roer, 9th Army troops observed the Germans strengthening their positions under cover of smoke. All of Linnich west of the river was in American hands although a few snipers remained.

Action Renewed

Action flared up again on the northern part of the 1st Army front. Lt.Gen. Hodges' troops, who cleared Inden several days ago, struck 1¼ miles toward Pier, about midway between the Roer River citadels of Julich and Duren. Patrols reached Pier's outskirts and in one brief skirmish, 100 Germans were captured. Farther south, the 1st Army consolidated and expanded holding around the captured Hurtgen Forest vilage of Bergstein.

The last bits of Lorraine and Alsace were slipping from the German hands. Already Lt.-Gen. Patton's 3rd Army controls more of the rich Saar Basin than the Germans

Russian Armies On 3 Sides Of Budapest

LONDON, Dec. 7.— (CP).—Red army vanguards sweeping around the southern part of Lake Balaton were wtihin 35 miles of the Austrian frontier to-day as Berlin reported a powerful Russian offensive closing in on Budapest from three sides.

The gravest threat to the beleaguered Hungarian capital came from Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's 3rd Ukraine army units driving up the west bank of the Danube.

The Germans said they had abandoned Ercsi, 13 miles south of Budapest, in the face of the tide of Russian armor which the Soviet war bulletin said yesterday in gains of up to 16 miles overran 50 places, including Racalmas, 28 miles south of the Hungarian capital.

Other units of Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2nd Ukraine army are entrenched on Csepel, the island that splits the Danube for 30 miles south of Budapest, with advance positions six miles from the city's outskirts. Racalmas is four miles from the southern tip of the island and a junction of the two Russian armies appeared imminent.

There was no confirmation, however, of German reports that Soviet troops from Csepel had established a bridgehead on the west bank of the Danube just south of Budapest.

The Russian communique made no mention of the German claims of a renewed offensive from north of Budapest, where Red troops were reported plunging ahead from captured Hatvan, or from the eastern Budapest suburbs where the Soviet army has been checked for some time.

Great Striking Power Built Up In Italy

ROME, Dec. 7 (AP)—The round-the-clock striking power of Italy-based Allied planes which has been in the making for months, was unleashed yesterday for the first time with attacks on targets in five different countries.

A force of up to 500 heavy bombers of the 15th Air Force by daylight hit railyards in Yugoslavia, Hungary and Czechoslovakia.

These raids were followed last night by assaults on industrial targets in Austria by a force of heavies, while fighters and fighter-bombers swept northern Italy in support of ground troops.

Headquarters of the Mediterranean Allied Air Force said 13 enemy planes were destroyed and 19 Allied aircraft were missing.

Violent Quake In Jap Area

WEST BROMWICH, England, Dec. 7 — (CP). — A violent earthquake, believing centring about 5,580 miles from Britain, which shook the earth for six hours, was reported early to-day by J. J. Shaw, veteran seismologist, who described it as "one of the greatest I have ever recorded."

Six hours after the first tremors Shaw said, the "whole earth was still vibrating." The shocks were so violent, he said some of his record equipment was thrown out of gear. He said the earthquake was "probably north in which case the possible areas are the Aleutians, the Kuriles or Japan."

A short time later the Swiss radio said both Zurich and Nurnburg observatories had recorded an "extremely violent earthquake in the direction of Japan."

"In case the quake took place in populated regions the consequences are bound to be catastrophic," the Swiss announcement reported.

Greek Upset May Become Test Case

Big Three May Be Forced To Agree On Some Common Policy

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

It is possible that the Greek imbroglio-coupled with the general question of self - determination among European nations— would be the test case to indicate the strength of unity among the big three—Britain, Russia and the United States.

The politically hot-blooded little Balkan country of Greece therefore becomes a mighty atom. For its universally agreed that the quality of the peace growing out of this war will depend on continued close co-operation of the big three. A rupture of relations most certainly would mean another world conflict.

It's hard to believe that Moscow isn't much concerned over the Greek imbroglio, since the Soviet holds the Balkans to be in its sphere of influence. It's equally hard to believe that Russia isn't deeply interested in seeing communism spread.

Of course, we hear that the communism developing in some countries is of the home-grown variety and is a modification of the Moscow "ism." for instance, Gen. Chou En-Lai, the famous Chinese communist who now is trying to effect and agreement with Gen. Chiang's central government, assured me emphatically in Chungking a while back that Chinese communism had absolutely no connection with Russia.

Well, you can follow your own taste as to whether you use salt with the various appraisals It strikes me as being natural, however, for Moscow to give its blessing to communism in general. In short, the question of whether communism should be given a free run in Europe is a hot potato.

Nobody can stop the revolutions which are developing in Europe. The corollary to that surely must be that the big three will have to agree on some common policy which will preclude any serious split.

To Fight Co-Op Taxation

Farmers Urged To Organize 100 Per Cent.

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—(CP).—The Ontario Federation of Agriculture assembled for perhaps the most important sitting of its convention to-day with such subjects as post-war markets and Canadian agricultural policy down on the agenda for discussion.

G. R. Paterson, Canadian commercial attache at Washington will tell the convention of post-war markets and R. J. Scott, president of the United Farmers' Co-operative Company will discuss the agricultural export policy of the Dominion and how it will affect the farmers in the post-war era.

It will be the second day of the two-day meeting which yesterday heard W. J. Parker, vice-president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture pledge that his organization will "fight to the last ditch" against taxation of prairie grain co-operatives on the same basis as private corporations.

Other speakers heard yesterday included Prof. A. B. MacDonald, national organizer of the Co-operative Union of Canada. He said co-operatives had grown "too powerful for capital to wink an eye at, so they're fighting them," and urged farmers to organize "from the plow handle to Ottawa."

To Restore Racial Freedom

Eisenhower Beams Broadcasts To Germans

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—Religious and racial freedom will be restored to Germany and all Nazi laws and agencies contrary to this principle will be abolished by the Allied military government, the German people were told today in a proclamation broadcast to them in the name of Gen. Eisenhower.

Fourth of a series of broadcasts to Germany to explain the principles under which the A.M.G. will act, the proclamation declared all places of religious worship would be reopened and their claims for restoration of property stolen by the Nazis would be recognized, the office of war information reported.

"It is for you to preserve the sanctity of religious worship by preventing the abuse of this natural right," the German people were told. "You will forfeit it if you allow religious gathering to be misused for political purposes."

Beamed in Germany by Allied transmitters, the broadcast proclamation went on to point out that the Allies intend to purge all Nazis and Nazi influence from the church and church organizations.

Liberals Pick Hepburn House Leader

Former Premier Stormy Petrel May Head Party

TORONTO, Dec. 7. — (CP).— Mitchell F. Hepburn to-day prepared to resume an active role in Ontario political life as House leader of the 16-man Liberal group in the 90-seat Ontario Legislature. The one-time stormy petrel of provincial politics accepted an invitation yesterday from a caucus of Liberal members to become their leader in the Legislature once more.

The invitation was voiced by Harry C. Nixon, Ontario leader of the party, who tendered his resignation and moved that Mr. Hepburn be his successor.

The Provincial leadership remains unchanged for the time being, Mr. Nixon emphasizing in a brief oral statement after the caucus that it was a matter for a provincial convention to settle, adding: "We'll take one step at a time and keep it legal."

Another Liberal source said it was to be expected that a convention will be called early next year, possibly before the end of January, to discuss the Provincial leadership. It was reported that Mr. Hepburn would be a candidate for party leadership but neither he nor other Liberal members would comment.

The Liberal members were enthusiastic about their future under the leadership of Mr. Hepburn who led the party to victory twice in provincial elections—in 1934 and again in 1937. Three cheers and a tiger were heard from the caucus room as the meeting ended and one member kept repeating as he came out: "We're on the road to victory."

Nixon Supports

Aside from confirming his acceptance of the House leadership, Mr. Hepburn himself had no comment.

However Mr. Nixon said he will serve under his old leader "most enthusiastically." After Mr. Hepburn recovered his health it was the unanimous feeling of all the members, "including myself," that he should lead the party in the House.

The return to the House leadership of the 48-year-old member for Elgin marks another phase in his active political career which began in 1926 when he was elected member of the House of Commons for Elgin at the age of 30. He became Ontario Liberal leader in 1930 and entered the Legislature in 1934 as premier. He resigned the premiership in 1942 and early in 1943 resigned his portfolio as provincial treasurer. In the provincial election of 1943 he campaigned as an Independent Liberal.

Through most of his eight years as premier he was a caustic critic of Prime Minister Mackenzie King and there has been speculation in political circles as to whether the breach between them has been healed. However, it was learned that this did not enter into the caucus discussion at any phase.

Actually, the decision to name Mr. Hepburn House leader was reached at a caucus Oct. 10, a few days after he issued a statement indicating his willingness to return to the Liberal fold but it was learned that some members felt the move would be premature then and the final step was delayed until today.

One member described Mr. Nixon's address of resignation to the caucus yesterday as "so manly" that for a while wondered whether we should change."

Now 53, Mr. Nixon is dean of the Ontario Legislature by virtue of his more than 25 years as member for Brant riding. He served as provincial secretary in E. C. Drury's U.F.O. government from 1919 to 1923 and held the same portfolio in Mr. Hepburn's government from 1934 to 1942, resigning one day after his chief in protest against the manner in which Gordon C. Conant succeeded to the premiership. He was named Ontario leader by a provincial Liberal convention in 1943.

A Pimple Covered Face Kills Many a Romance

The lives of many young people are made miserable by the breaking out of pimples, and you probably know of cases where a promising romance has been spoiled by those red, white, festering and pus filled sores on the face.

The trouble is not so much physical pain, but the mental suffering caused by the embarrassing disfigurement which very often makes the sufferer ashamed to go out in company.

The quickest way to get rid of pimples is to improve the general health by a thorough cleansing of the blood.

was commissioned at Levis, Que., three years ago.

Men who served aboard her have been acclaimed for fighting efficiency, for rescue work and attacks on enemy U-boats.

She escorted hundreds of thousands of tons of vital war supplies and shipping to Allied ports. Few ships of her class spent more time at sea during that black period when German submarines were most active in the North Atlantic. She did not lose a single ship under her charge in the last two years.

During a recent working-up program, training officials reported that the Shawinigan showed evidence of "good organization and cooperation which reflect great credit on the men responsible for the high standard of efficiency being maintained."

Most Efficient

The actual action organization of the ship was "most satisfactory," the report continued, adding: "the officers know their ship and competent ratings work well together."

One high-ranking officer said he considered the ship "among the most efficient and best organized of its class."

The Shawinigan was built by George T. Davie and Sons, Ltd., Levis, Que.

The Germans were fighting desperately to contain the bridgehead southwest of Faenza, but British and Polish troops continued their progress, which was eating deep into the vital hinge of the enemy defences.

The Allied 5th Army front showed little change, although slight gains were reported on the right flank and several strong enemy patrols were repulsed with casualties north of San Clemente.

Alleged Assault Case Goes To Jury

The charge against 63-year-old Joseph Nezezon of assault occasioning actual bodily harm to Edward Richer, while riding aboard a C.P.R. train September 3, went to a General Sessions of the Peace Jury this afternoon, after the jury was addressed by Judge S. L. Smoke. Previously, Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry and Defence Counsel W. J. Arthur Fair both addressed the jury.

Mr. Fair rested his case after the last three defence witnesses were called in the morning.

During the morning, medical evidence was given by Dr. J. M. O'Brien, who was called by Mr. Fair to testify in connection with Richer's wound.

Dr. O'Brien indicated he had not seen the soldier's wound, and Richer was called for a careful examination to be made. Dr. O'Brien said he found the wound to be 3 inches long after scarring and healing had taken place, and estimated it had been "upwards of one-half inch deep". Previous evidence by Dr. H. G. Carleton disclosed that examination of the wound while it was fresh was made, and Dr. Carleton told the jury the wound was eight inches in length, and two inches in depth. Doubt was expressed in evidence given this morning, as to whether the wound could have been two inches deep. Cross-examination by Mr. McElderry brought forth the admission from Dr. O'Brien, that a doctor who saw the wound while it was fresh would have a better idea of its extent.

Severe Cut.

Dr. O'Brien was also asked by Mr. Fair about the injury on Nezezon's head, and the doctor replied that in his opinion it was caused by a heavy blunt object. The injury at the time he examined accused, Dr. O'Brien stated, was a severe laceration, 2½ inches in length, in a curved line. Accused was bleeding very profusely, he said.

Earlier in the morning, Don McGillis, a passenger on the train, was called by Mr. Fair and told of how he saw something looking like a rock go hurtling through the air over his shoulder into the washroom where Nezezon had secluded himself. This took place, witness disclosed, after the train had stopped at Peterborough and some passengers had emerged, but the accused had not been taken by the police. McGillis could not identify the person or persons who might have thrown the object, and he was not sure whether the object was a rock or not. It looked something like a rock, however.

Cross-examining the witness, Mr. McElderry attempted to find out whether the missile had been found, but witness said he could not say where it was now.

Mr. McElderry suggested to the witness that the accused man's head would be above the window in the washroom, regardless of whether he was slumped down a little or not, as McGillis had said.

Mr. Fair re-examined the witness and drew forth the statement that the "crowd was mad, at this time." (The people around the station.))

James Paisley, a turnkey at the county jail, was called by Mr. Fair, and he gave some character references to Nezezon, while the accused was a prisoner in the jail.

After making observations as to the mental condition of Nezezon during the past three months, Paisley told the court in essence that the prisoner was quiet and unoffensiv. He was well-behaved, and never at any time gave trouble, he said. With an extensive number of years of service in the armed forces behind him, Paisley admitted that civilians often take quite a lot of "riding" from soldiers or others in uniform, while on trains.

Mr. McElderry called upon Paisley to testify as to the intelligence of Nezezon. Paisley went on record as agreeing to the statement that the accused would be called fairly intelligent, one who knows the nature and quality of what he was doing. As far as could be ascertained, evidence revealed, Nezezon didn't imagine things, while in jail.

Mr. McElderry recalled Edward Richer, and received a negative reply to the question of whether he (Richer) had heard anyone saying anything about "I'll kill this fellow," or whether he had said it himself. Mr. Fair asked, "Could you swear it wasn't said?"

"Oh, no," replied Richer.

U.S. 7th Army troops captured Ostheim, five miles north of Colmar, last city in German hands in Alsace. The foe seemed to be evacuating the district. His men and trucks choked the Rhine bridge at nearby Breisbach. # Climax Near In Parliament

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 — (CP). — The climax of two-weeks' debate on conscription and on reinforcements for the Canadian Army overseas is expected to be reached today when the vote is taken on the government's confidence motion.

As the debate drew to a close, it appeared that Prime Minister Mackenzie King had the support of most of his followers from all sections of the country except Quebec, and that he would obtain a majority on the confidence vote.

Government members of the Commons predicted the majority would range between 30 and 65.

Before the vote is taken on the main motion, members will be asked to vote on a Progressive Conservative amendment calling for conscription of all home defence troops for overseas service, and on an anti-conscriptionist sub - amendment moved by Joseph Jean (L.—Montreal Mercier). The C.C.F. and Social Credit parties also may move sub-amendments, drafted in slightly different form than those which were ruled out of order by the speaker last week.

The lineup on the main motion, so far as it is clear, will be:—

For—all Liberals outside Quebec except two or three out-and-out conscriptionists, perhaps 90; Quebec cabinet ministers and Liberals representing English-speaking constituencies, 10; Social Credit Party, 10; Independents (Fred Rose of Montreal Cartier and Mrs. Dorise Nielsen of North Battleford), 2; an undetermined number of French-speaking Quebec Liberals, perhaps 15; total 127.

Against—Progressive Conservatives, 38; Bloc Populaire 4; Independents, 6; an undetermined number of Quebec French-speaking Liberals, perhaps 30; total 68.

10 C.C.F. Votes

The 10 C.C.F. members have not yet indicated how they will vote. If they vote with the opposition on the basis of the above estimates, the result would be a majority of 49 for the government. If they vote with the government the majority would be 69.

The vote will be taken first on Mr. Jean's sub-amendment and any other sub-amendments presented before the division is called. The Progressive Conservative amendment and any other amendment would be dealt with next and finally the vote would be taken on the main motion."

Following are the texts of the government's motion, the Progressive Conservative amendment and Mr. Jean's sub-amendment.

Moved by Mr. King:—

"That this House will aid the government in its policy of maintaining a vigorous war effort."

Moved by Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House leader:—

"That all the words after the word 'that' to the end of the question be struck out and the following words substituted instead thereof:

"'This House is of the opinion that the government has not made certain of adequate and continuous trained reinforcements by requiring all N.R.M.A. (National Resources Mobilization Act) personnel whether now or hereafter enrolled to serve in any theatre of war and has failed to assure equality of service and sacrifice.'"

Moved by Mr. Jean:—

"That all the words of the amendment after the word "reinforcements' be struck out and the following substituted therefor:—

"'By using to the best advantage the general service personnel in Canada and the volunteers overseas without resorting to conscription for service overseas.'"

On the other hand, even though Antwerp is open, the Allies still face tremendous supply problems on most of the front at a time when weather hinders mobility of transport. Except for the northern section of the front which is relatively inactive, the Allied armies are at least 200 miles from the nearest ports.

"It is winter; the Germans are not beaten," Oliver Lyttelton, Minister of Production, said in the House of Commons yesterday. "We may yet have to face battles sterner and bloodier than any yet fought, and though victory is certain the time of victory is uncertain."

Americans Make Surprise Move On Leyte Isle

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Dec. 7. — (AP).—American cavalrymen, in an amphibious flanking manoeuvre, surprised Japanese forces 10 miles south of the vital enemy-held port of Ormoc on Leyte's west coast as other American forces were breaching the enemy's Palanas line, two miles farther south, it was disclosed today.

Al Dopking, Associated Press war correspondent, in a delayed dispatch written Dec. 5 (Manila Time), said the cavalrymen, riding heavily armed amphibious tractors, came around the southern horn of Leyte on a more than 125-mile three-day trip, the longest ever made by Amtracs under their own power. They knifed into Japanese positions at Tabgas and adjoining Balogo village.

Meanwhile Tokyo radio claimed Japanese paratroopers had landed at four points behind the American lines on Leyte to destroy airfields. The broadcast was unconfirmed by Allied sources.

Gen. MacArthur's communique today noted successes on land, sea and in the air. In ground fighting the 24th Army Corps penetrated the enemy's Palanas River line at a point about 12 miles southeast of Ormoc, Japanese supply port.

Two U.S. columns, shoving northward, reached points south of Balogo on the west coast, and Kang Dagit village farther inland as they breached the enemy line south of Ormoc.

At sea the Japanese line of reinforcement by water through Ormoc Bay has been cut by naval and air forces, the communique announced.

The air arm dealt blows from the Philippines to Timor. Three 1,000-ton Japanese freighters were sunk, one off Bondoc peninsula in southern Luzon, one off Bohol Island in the Philippine archipelago, and a third off the north coast of Flores, between Timor and Java in the Netherlands East Indies.

British Use

(In London a Greek government spokesman said the outbreaks had delayed elections by several months. He predicted that unless "this painful situation is solved immediately Greece will be years in rising out of the chaos cheated by German occupation.")

Gen. Scobie's communique said:

"The process of clearing the Athens-Piraeus area of hostile E.L.A.S. forces is progressing steadily. By nightfall (yesterday) large areas had been freed and were being picketed by Greek and British regular troops.

Little Quieter

"In some cases field artillery had been used to clear E.L.A.S. strongpoints interfering with movement of our troops. Material damage to civilian property was slight.

"Elsewhere in Greece the situation is quieter, although in the Drama area (Thrace) fighting has broken out between the E.L.A.S. and nationalist forces.

"It has been confirmed that a German officer has been captured while commanding a detachment of E.L.A.S. troops.

The planes were sent into action after the resisting Greek forces failed to heed an ultimatum issued by Maj.-Gen. R. M. Scobie, commander of British troops in Greece. The ultimatum expired at midnight.

At 8:15 a.m. the fighter planes dipped low over a park east of Hadrian's Gate and the Temple of Zeus, where E.L.A.S. sniping had been reported strongest . Smoke and flames spurted up from a wooded hillside in the middle of the park.

But after the planes had passed, a steady popping still could be heard from the park.

Shellfire echoed through the city throughout the night as British Sherman tanks, located less than a mile from the centre of the city, fired their 75s at an E.L.A.S. stronghold in the quarter behind the modern stadium.

Papanderou in his press conference described the British role as "not only a friendly service but a duty because the present situation results from the war."

"If we had an army we should not need assistance, but the Greek Army was sacrificed on the altar of liberty," he said. "Therefore we ask in exchange that the Allies help in ensuring the Greek people of freedom.

"Greece will try to organize a regular army as soon as possible, not only to ensure the people's liberty but also to play a part in the common victory of freedom."

He reiterated promises to hold a free plebiscite on the question of Greece's form of government and constitution and free elections.

He flatly denied the Leftist charge that he was attempting to impose a dictatorship.

He said British action in Greece did not constitute intervention but was "help towards the realization of President Roosevelt's great principle of the four freedoms."

Returning to London

With Russia still silent on her position in the controversy, word came out of Moscow that Sir Archimald Clark Kerr, British Ambassawdor to the Soviet, left for London today for consultations. There was some unofficial speculation that the firm tone of British policy in Italy and Greece may have resulted from agreements reached at the Moscow conference between Marshal Stalin and Mr. Churchill on separate spheres of influence in Europe.

But Russia's participation in the controversy soon appeared inevitable, Mr. Eden announced today a debate on Poland will be held in Commons a week from Friday. This will bring out anew the Polish-Russian territorial dispute and the differences between the British-backed Polish government in London and the Soviet-sponsored National Liberation Committee of Lublin.

As far as intervention in liberated countries gripped with political strife is concerned, Mr. Churchill already has pinned his case to the argument that disorder cannot be permitted behind the lines of Allied armies. It is likely, too that he will repeat Britain's pledge to, support free elections in liberated lands just as soon as conditions permit.

WARDEN APPOINTED

The Warden of the county was nominated this morning as the county council's representative on the city committee drafting the General Hospital private bill. Intimations from the city have been to the effect that a clause will be included in the bill authorizing the county to implement its proposed grant of $150,000 to the Hospital Fund.

Alleged Slasher Says In Court Passengers Frightened Him

"I'm an old man, I was minding my own business, and I had no intentions of cutting anyone", declared Joseph Nezezon, 63, of Gatineau Mills, Que., who testified in his own defence through an interpreter Wednesday afternoon, before Judge S. L. Smoke and a General Sessions of the Peace jury.

Roumanian-born, but a resident of Canada for 14 years, Nezezon is charged with assault occasioning bodily harm, in connection with the incident aboard the C.P.R. passenger train early in the morning of September 3, when Edward Richer, 24-year-old member of the armed forces, was slashed in the back of the neck.

Under examination by Defence Counsel W. J. Arthur Fair, the accused gave much testimony which hinged around various incidents that happened either in the coach or just outside of it, which made him frightened. He explained that long stares by some of the people in the coach, and conversation including the words, "I kill this fellow" which took place in the vestibule just outside of the coach, contributed to this fear for his own safety.

When Richer passed by his seat while returning from the washroom or drinking fountain, Nezezon testified the soldier stopped and stared at him, making him more frightened. Showing the court how he held the razor he had taken from his suitcase for his own defence, Nezezon said, in Roumanian, he had shoved him.

In Self-Defence

Questioned by Mr. Fair, witness stated emphatically he did not know at the time he had cut Richer, and that the entire pushing affair was carried out for the sole purpose of self-defence.

After that, Nezezon continued, he had run from the coach, afraid of the rest of the passengers, and locked himself in the men's toilet for the same reason.

In the washroom, he said, he heard noises on the top of the train, as if people were trying to get into the washroom from the roof. The window of the washroom was smashed shortly after, although, he declared, he did not break the window himself, but stood aside to avoid falling glass. Nezezon also declared that he was hit on the head by something, although he could not identify what object had hit him. After the train arrived in Peterborough, and had stopped, some of the passengers got out, he said, and people on the outside of the train began to throw bottles and stones through the broken window.

Produce Razor

Nezezon told the court he dropped the razor when he was hit on the head, and that he has never seen it since. Exhibit One, a dark-handled razor, found by 11-year-old Cecil LaFrance, was shown to the accused, who admitted it looked like the one he owned and was the same size, but that it was not his, because of a nick on the blade. (The young LaFrance boy was called by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, but as he did not understand the procedure of taking an oath, was asked only for a statement. He said he found the razor on a Sunday, while walking on the C.P.R. tracks, during the last month of the school holidays).

Mr. McElderry, in his cross-examination of Nezezon, drew forth the statement that he had been convicted in Hull, Que., in 1938, on a charge of aggravated assault. Previous evidence disclosed Nezezon admitted being in trouble only once in Canada, and that was in connection with a drunk charge, and Defence Counsel Fair recalled the witness later and the court was told the two charges were the same.

Mr. McElderry brought out Exhibit Two, a leather razor case with a missing top portion, and Nezezon admitted it was his. The top, he said, had been lost for a long time.

Mr. McElderry briefly reviewed to the witness the statements made about other passengers in the coach bothering him.

"How did you know they were talking about you?"

"They were standing close to me, and I figured it was me they were talking about."

"Did anyone mention your name, or know you?"

"No!"

Uneasy Feeling

Nezezon under cross-examination admitted it was the voices outside the coach that frightened him, but repeated that people were staring at him. He testified it looked as if he was about to be attacked, so he pushed Richer. After further questioning, Mr. McElderry completed cross-examination.

Earlier in the afternoon, several of the passengers aboard the train the night of the cutting were called to the stand as witnesses.

Cpl. Charles A. Doyle, of the R.C.A.F. Service Police, told the court Nezezon was staring at people, and making faces. He testified the accused grabbed Richer and cut his neck, after which he (Doyle) caught the wounded man and eased him to the floor, and tried to stop the bleeding. A sound of a window being smashed was heard by him about 12 miles out of Peterborough, evidence revealed, and that three Peterborough policemen took charge of the accused when the train arrived in Peterborough.

Mr. Fair asked the witness if he stared at accused after McCann, (James A. McCann, whose evidence was heard in the morning) had made some comment about him (accused) looking frightened.

"I did not. He did not seem frightened. He stared at people coming in or going out."

"Did you make any observations about the nationality of accused?"

"I did not".

The Memorial Centre Agreement

The people of this city have shown that they are anxious to have a Memorial Centre in two unequivocal ways: they have given a large sum of money to help in building it, and they have voted to have the Council put yet another $75,000 of public money in it. We think that they will be interested in the Agreement which exists between the Community Centre Committee and the Corporation of the City of Peterborough, which sets forth the manner in which the Centre is to be governed.

* * *

The purpose of the Centre itself is described as "providing proper facilities for recreation and sports for the children, youth, industrial workers and citizens generally, and a forum for public gatherings", and the first part of the Centre to be built is to be an Arena, for winter sports and for other purposes for which it may be adapted. This is excellent as far as it goes, but we wonder if it goes far enough. It would be unfortunate if the Arena turned out to be both the beginning and end of the Centre. We need an arena, certainly, and it can be used for very large meetings and rallies, circuses and exhibitions as well as for ice hockey. But we need a community hall, too, which would be suitable for concerts, lectures and plays. The Centre Committee and the committee in charge of the building of the new City Hall have tossed the question of this hall between them like a football, and when we last took note of it the City Hall committee was holding the ball. It would be as well to know how matters stand on this point before plans have gone too far. We would also like to know whether the Centre intends to provide a place where exhibitions of pictures can be hung. Exhibitions of good pictures are very popular, and good exhibitions may be had in any Canadian city for a very small charge from the National Gallery. The Examiner is determined that the cultural aspect of recreation shall not be forgotten, for if the Community Centre neglects that aspect, its name will be misleading, and many people who have contributed toward it will feel that they have been deceived as to its real purpose.

* * *

Our attitude toward this matter is influenced by the fact that the agreement provides for a Building Committee which is to see the Arena built, and which shall then cease to exist; we see a danger that the development of the Centre might come to a standstill at that point. After the Arena is built its management will pass into the hands of a Board of Trustees, the seven members of which are to be appointed by the Council. It has been suggested, and we think very rightly, that representatives of labour, war veterans, business, Chamber of Commerce, women's organizations, and industrial management should be among the Trustees. That selection gives a thoroughly representative group. The Trustees, we observe, are empowered to employ such professional assistance as they need. As we have already said in an earlier editorial, the Examiner favours the appointment of a full-time manager at a good salary, whose duty it shall be to run the Centre efficiently, look after all routine matters concerning it, and attract outside entertainments to it for which it is fitted, and which will help to build up its revenue and make it pay. We refer not only to sporting attractions but also circuses, ice carnivals, pageants and travelling exhibitions.

* * *

The Centre can be a wonderful thing for Peterborough, and we think that the agreement governing its future management is an excellent one. But we hope that the word 'recreation' will be understood in its broadest sense, and that the Centre will be as many-sided and as wide in its appeal as possible. Then it will be a true Community Centre and a fitting and vital memorial.

Have You Read CMD 6564?

Probably you have not, but we recommend it to you for solid and heartening Christmas reading. Its full title is Statistics Relating To The War Effort Of The United Kingdom; it is White Paper on the British war effort; and between the lines you read a wonderful story. It makes public for the first time a great amount of authentic information about what the British people have done since the war began, and it records the greatest democratic emergency effort the world has ever known. Anything in the nature of an adequate summary is impossible; the White Paper is in itself a summary of hundreds of reports. But here are a few of the highlights.

Since September, 1940, 22,000,000 men and women have been mobilized for direct war service, either in the forces or in industry. In 1938 there were 384,000 people in the armed forces; in July, 1944, the number was 4,500,000; in addition there are 467,000 women in auxiliary services. In industry there are 610,000 more men and 1,345,000 more women working in munitions and industry than in 1939.

Seven tenths of the total supply of munitions to the British Commonwealth and Empire were produced by the United Kingdom, and one tenth by other Empire countries. The remaining fifth came from the U.S. and of this fraction one-fifth was covered by British cash purchases. For the Royal Navy 722 major vessels of 1,353,961 standard displacement tons, 1,386 Mosquito craft and 3,636 other Naval vessels have been built.

|---|---|
| Artillery equipments (field, moderate and heavy) | 13,512 |
| A.A. equipments (light and heavy) | 21,618 |
| Machine Guns and Submachine Guns | 3,729,921 |
| Rifles | 2,001,949 |
| Tanks | 25,116 |
| Wheeled vehicles for the services | 919,111 |

Aircraft production was as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Total Aircraft | 102,609 |
| Heavy Bombers | 10,018 |
| Medium and Light Bombers | 17,702 |
| Fighters | 38,025 |

The production of heavy Bombers is now 2,889 every six months; fighters are produced at the rate of 940 every six months.

In agriculture, 7,000,000 acres of grass lane have been ploughed which were not previously in production of food, and the growth of wheat, barley and potatoes has been more than doubled; the growth of oats, sugar beet and all types of vegetables has been greatly increased.

As for war damage, 4,500,000 houses have been damaged or destroyed; that is almost one house in every three in the Kingdom. Altogether, 202,000 houses have been totally destroyed and 255,000 have been made uninhabitable. The total casualties of all ranks in the United Kingdom armed forces since the outbreak of war has been 563,112, which figure includes 176,081 killed and 38,175 missing; 29,629 merchant seamen have been lost and 57,298 civilians have been killed (including 23,757 women and 7,250 children) and 78,818 civilians have been injured.

The war, to date, has cost Great Britain £25,000,000,000.

These are but a few groups of figures from a report which is packed with them, and they give only the roughest idea of the magnitude and spirit of the British war effort.

Viscountess Astor Retires

Lady Astor has announced that she will not seek re-election to the British House of Commons. As she was the first woman to be elected to it, and as she has made her presence felt there for several years, this is a matter of general interest.

Lady Astor has presented many excellent ideas to Parliament, usually in a somewhat irritating way. She has been a sturdy advocate of pensions for widows, guardianship for children, improved education for everybody and improved wage scales for industrial workers; she has also sought, without success, to inflict prohibition on Great Britain. She has interested herself in every cause which is of particular importance to women, and if she had been sent to Westminster by the women of England to champion their rights, she could not have done it better.

She has occasionally revealed the feminine tendency to confuse big matters with little ones, and she has nagged the House in season and out about great issues as well as trifles. But she has been a good parliamentarian, and has taken the rough with the smooth, and has earned the thanks of women everywhere for the good that she has done the feminist cause.

The U.S. Must Decide

(By BRUCE HUTCHISON)

BESIDES repudiating isolationism, the recent United States election recorded another fundamental decision. It showed the determination of the American people to depend upon private enterprise for their prosperity after the war. In general, this decision is made beyond question, but in particular, in actual operation, it is far from made. It is easy for the American people to say that they want private enterprise. Are they ready to do the things that must be done if private enterprise is to survive in their country?

The answer that the American people give to this question will determine largely whether private enterprise is to survive in the world at all after the war. When peace comes the people of the United States and Canada will look around at a world where private enterprise is generally dead or in a state of suspended animation. If the United States refuses to sponsor its recovery, private enterprise will die everywhere. Only the United States, with its industrial power, financial strength and huge consuming market, can put private enterprise back on its feet. And if private enterprise is not restored, if the world lapses into state control of all economic processes, then autarchy and economic war will follow and, in due course, military war again. The economic decision which the United States must make, therefore, is one of the great decisions of history.

IF private enterprise is to recover—if, indeed, the world is to recovery any measure of prosperity—the first essential is a restoration of world trade. This necessity is admitted by every nation, including socialistic Russia, and by such enemies of private enterprise as the C.C.F. in Canada. All the United Nations have subscribed, in the lend-lease agreements, to the creation of maximum trade throughout the world. The United States government is preparing for concrete action, by international conference, to carry this ideal into operation.

Much more than the reduction of tariffs is involved, as later articles on this page will show. While these are complicated problems, there is nothing complicated or doubtful about the need of immediate action to forestall economic disaster for the whole world.

When the war ends most nations will be exhausted and poverty-stricken. They will want goods of every sort, from every possible source. There will then exist the first chance to move peacetime goods on a large scale since the collapse of 1929. Moreover, the economic policies, the tariff laws, the exchange systems of all the war-torn nations will be in flux. For nearly twenty years they hardened into autarchy and rigidity. The end of the war will bring the first real chance to revise them basically in favour of trade.

BUT the chance will not last long. Unless courageous remedies are adopted throughout the world there will be only a brief exporting boom as all the hungry nations clamor for goods. They can buy these goods with what remains of their gold, if they have any, or they can get them on credit, or they can be given them for nothing. This process can only go on for a short time and then it will be necessary, if exports are to continue, that the importers find means of paying for them. And they can only pay for them in the end (apart from long-term borrowing) by the export of their own goods.

If this chance is not given them, they will have to revert to self-containment, and in so doing they will have to continue and strengthen their wartime government controls over business. Under such controls private enterprise does not in fact exist. They will mean the extinction of private enterprise wherever they are permanently maintained, however necessary some of them may be temporarily in the post-war reconversion period.

The United States has to realize that this is not an issue and a danger for other countries only. It is as deeply involved in the outcome of this process as anyone. For if the world is compelled, for lack of American leadership, to return to autarchy, then the Untied States, trying itself to live in self-containment, will be compelled to adopt government regulation of its economy.

THE reason for this is obvious. If the world divides itself into a series of training blocs, wherein trade is conducted by bilateral barter deals and where multilateral trade is impossible, then the United States must find its essential imports by dealing with one bloc or another. It would decide to import a certain amount of an essential material and pay for it by exporting a certain amount of another material. All trade would be planned and regulated by the government. Then, inevitably, the government would have to regulate the industries which create exports and require imports. In the end self-containment would mean in the United States, as everywhere else, the end of free enterprise.

But whether the American businessman, who shouts for free enterprise in election times, understands this and will act on it, is not yet clear. It is only clear that, lacking United States leadership in tariff reform in monetary stabilization, in foreign lending, no serious attempt can be made to restore a world of multilateral trade. The United States is so large a part of the world economy now that it can almost write its own ticket shall read "Private enterprise, trade and world prosperity," or "Self-containment, government control and world poverty."

Contemporaries

NOT ENTIRELY FREE

The fact is that America does place "reservations" on free enterprise. We recognize that our economic system is not an end in itself, but a means to the end of full employment and social well-being. We are for free enterprise which attains these goals; and when it doesn't attain them we are for social action which does. That is a substantial "reservation" which American business would do well to acknowledge in all frankness.—Chicago Sun.

Mr. McCormick has decided that what the Republican party needs is a return to the land of its fathers. The party cannot win, he says, until it nominates a Middle Westerner; and the public is left to guess what Middle Westerner Mr. M. has in mind. Thumbing through our dog-eared history books, we find that the last Middle Western candidate put up by the G.O.P. was Alf Landon. Score: F.D.R. 523, Landon 8.—Chicago Sun.

Britons Thrive On Tea and Work

(By SENATOR RUPERT DAVIES)

I WAS in England when war was declared on September 3rd, 1939. I was at a tea party that afternoon, and I saw men called away from that party to receive their instructions with regard to fire-watching that night. That is more than five years ago, and the men of England, Scotland and Wales are still fire-watching. For five long nerve-wracking years they have been fire-watching on the hills and in the church towers, while the younger men have been guarding the shores and preparing for invasion. Today they see the end of the war in sight. I have been in Britain for five days, after an absence of five years. I have already met and talked with many people, and the thing that amazes me most is the spirit of them all. I expected to find old friends aged and somewhat haggard-looking after the five years of war, but I found nothing of the kind. Somehow people do not age in Britain as fast as we do in Canada. Perhaps it is the climate, perhaps it is their way of life, the 11 o'clock coffee and the four o'clock tea. I do not know. I do know, however, that after five years of war I find them cheerful and happy, apparently no older, and accepting the controls and rationing and sacrificing that they have had to endure, with a smile and a cheery word about the future.

I spent the first night of my visit to Britain in the basement kitchen of a well-to-do family, where they were gathered having supper. They were having a great treat that night, sausages, and were overjoyed that they had four chops for dinner the next day and a duck hanging up for Sunday. The only fire in the house was in the basement kitchen, and it was not a large one. The man is in what might be called the luxury trade, which involves considerable travelling about. In peace time he kept three men in the shop, and his wife kept two maids. Today they have no one. Between them they manage to run the shop and the house, and they are enjoying it. They say it is keeping them young, although it is very hard work. They are allowed six gallons of petrol a month for business only. The son is in West Africa with his regiment, in which he enlisted the day war was declared. The son-in-law had just arrived home that night on ten days' leave, after a special course. He has seen service in North Africa, Sicily, and Italy and was in "the D-Day show", as he called it. He has already a string of ribbon on his chest and five service stripes on his sleeve. They told me many things sitting around the kitchen fire that night that opened my eyes, things that do not pass the censor if I put them into this article, but they left no doubt in my mind that the people of Britain have known for five years that there is a war on, in a way which we in Canada have not.

I landed at a British port last Friday, off a cargo ship. I have crossed the ocean many times much more comfortably, but on the whole the accommodation was not bad. The tension at times was somewhat severe but we made good time and being on our own our speed was limited only by the capacity of the ship. We were just ten days from port to port. This port was badly bombed in the early days of the war and I drove through some of the worst of it before leaving. Much of the damage has been repaired, but here and there bare, jagged walls pay grim testimony to the blitz of '41. My driver was glad to give details of the blitz, which at its height must have been terrible. But he did not want to talk about it. He wanted to talk about the war of today and the splendid work that was being done by the Canadians and Americans. "By goom", he said, "those Canadians can fight. They're letting them have it, they are". I mentally raised the tip another five shillings right there. I was feeling in the need of a bit of boosting of Canada. "And the Americans, too", he declared. "We have a lot of them here and they are fine young fellows. Of course", he modified, "they don't dress as smartly as our soldiers nor they don't march as smartly, but they are fine looking, if you know what I mean, sir. We owe a lot to the Americans, we do", he concluded. To hear a typical Englishman bestow such praise upon the Americans, was praise, indeed.

There were 24 of us on the ship's passenger list. We were a mixed bag. There were half a dozen from the OWI at Washington, going over to the London offices. A Canadian editor going to Britain to address about fifty meetings at war plants and other places, with regard to Canada's war production. This is part of the work of the WIB. The same organization has an exhibition over here. At the moment it is in Edinburgh, and is in charge, I am told, of Mrs. Burness, who formerly lived with her husband at the Royal Military College. There was a chief engineer from Liverpool, going home after nineteen months at sea, most of the time with Canadian government ships. He had made several trips to South Africa and back to Canada, with Canadian ships, and had been torpedoed on more than one occasion. He was a fine type of Englishman, the very finest. He came from Jarrow in Northumberland, and I have never met a more thoughtful and courteous gentleman. He had with him a first mate; a young fellow, who had seen a lot of service, and had been both bombed and torpedoed. When he was bombed he lost only 26 passengers out of 500, but he said it was a terrible experience. At first I did not care much for this chap, he had too much to say that was not complimentary about Canada. Later I discovered that he was acting as nursemaid to the six months' old baby of an airman's wife who was terribly sick (for believe me it was some sea) so I changed my opinion. I can forgive almost anything in a man who will voluntarily undertake to look after a six months' old baby at any time, but when he does it on a small cargo ship in a rough sea he becomes heroic in my mind. I saw him in the galley many times making the baby's food, and he told me he had become "a dab hand" at changing him.

And that reminds me—the sea. I will come back to the passengers later. I have crossed the ocean 34 times, but I never knew before that a ship could both roll and pitch at the same time. I know scientists will tell you it cannot be done. Don't you believe them. It can. I know. I am a good sailor, given normal conditions. My berth was crossways of the ships. As I lay in it all one day and night, with my feet in the air one ten seconds and my head in the air the next, with a sort of spiral twist of the stomach in between each roll, I thought of the landlubber who wrote that little hymn which I learned at Sunday school many long years ago.

A little ship was on the sea,
It was a pretty sight;
It sailed along so merrily
And all was calm and bright.

In my misery I determined that if I ever got feeling normal again, I would have that smug and misleading verse expunged from all Sunday school hymn books, and submit a paraphrase which would run something like this:

A little ship was on the sea,
Just why, I cannot tell;
It hopped about from wave to wave,
And made me feel like ——.

Well, you know what I mean. Perhaps the censors of Sunday school hymn books would not accept it, but it relieved my feelings at a time when they needed relieving. However all things come to an end, including storms at sea, and the last four or five days of the trip were very pleasant on comparatively calm waters.

To return to the passengers. On board was a French manufacturer from Valenciennes, who gave me a most instructive talk on the cause of the downfall of France. He and his wife got out of Valenciennes just before the Germans got there. The wife of the manufacturer told me that her husband sent her word to pack two suitcases for him and two for herself and meet him at the station in two hours, not a moment later. She did so, and they fled to Paris. The Germans were then within 15 miles of their home. From Paris he went to Canada, and she went to Spain. Eventually they both flew to Brazil, but on separate planes. From there they came to Montreal and now after more than four years they are going to London, and eventually, they hope to Valenciennes, to try to retrieve their business. Also on board was a woman connected with the International Labor Board, who has been in Ottawa for some months. She told me a most harrowing story of the experience of some little children: I fancy one or two were her own. When the robot bombs became very bad in London these children were evacuated to Hull in Yorkshire. They arrived at the station at 3 in the morning, five of them. There were two girls of 12 and 13, and three little children, all under three. The station was crowded — a seething mass. Before the train came in robots went over and everyone in that vast crowd lay flat on the ground. Eventually the train came in, and there was a mad rush for it, everybody struggling to get away from the new terror. No one paid any attention to the little children. More trains came in and went out with the same result. At four o'clock the station master found the four little children still standing on the station platform. He decided something must be done. The children were to go to Lincoln. There was no train that night for Lincoln, but there was one for Peterborough. So he put them on that and felt they would be at least, out of the danger zone. They arrived at Peterborough eventually, but had nowhere to go. In the same carriage was an army officer. He took the children under his wing, and drove around town trying to get them a place to sleep that night, but was unsuccessful. So he took them to the officers' mess and they put them up for the night there. The next day the officer tried to get the children to Lincoln. For some reason he could not do it. He had to send them to Hull in Yorkshire, from which place they were the next day sent to Lincoln. Verily the little children of Britain, as well as their elders, know that Britain is at war.

I too, found out a few things which I did not know before. In a little journey of 70 miles I changed three times, having to wait at one point for two hours. I went into the still partly blacked-out town to have some dinner. I discovered that hotels in England today provide nothing in the way of conveniences. In the wash rooms there is no soap, no towels, no toilet paper. I was not surprised at this, particularly, but later in the night when I had arrived at my destination, I discovered that the same thing applied to hotel bedroom guests. Britain is at war. Despite these inconveniences the hotels are all crowded, and the bars more than crowded. Even with small whiskeys at 3-1, and a small gin and ginger at 2-5, most bars are two and three deep. There seems lots of money about. After the reception clerk and bar-maid had torn herself away from the bottle counter long enough to register me, but not long enough to show me where my room was, I tried to find it. The ramifications of the passages in these old Georgian hotels are wonderful, however, so I missed it. Later, when the bar had closed, but when those who had ordered before closing time were still sitting around the fire asking to be carried back to Old Virginny in a loud and vigorous choral effort, the young lady volunteered to help me explore Room 29. They must have been tough birds in the days of the Georges. There was, naturally, no central heating in this hotel, but unfortunately the Georgian architect who designed it overlooked the little matter of a fireplace in Room 29. And it was chill November night. I looked at the room and then I looked at my breath, I shivered and I wondered. I realized there had been no heat in this room since George III was king. However, I decided if others could survive it perhaps I could. It was that or go around waking up friends. It was comparatively simple after all. I merely took off my suit. Then I added another suit of underwear, an extra pair of heavy sox, a suit of flannelette pyjamas, a couple of sweaters, and heavy wool dressing gown. I took the sheets off the bed and opened a place between the blankets. I then took a large dose of that horrid medicine so largely manufactured north of the Tweed, and recommended by all the best doctors as a preventative against snake bit and cold rooms, jumped into bed, pulled an elderdown weighing a quarter of a ton up over me, and was aroused next morning by a maid hammering loudly on the door and shouting that it was half past nine. There is nothing like this anti-snake-bite oil. Britain is at war, so I got no breakfast when I crashed the dining room at a quarter to ten; nothing but a cold look. However, I dropped in on a coffee party at eleven, so all was well.

A Bible Message

Now as he walked by the sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and Andrew his brother casting a net into the sea: for they were fishers. And Jesus said unto them, Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men. And straightway they forsook their nets, and followed him....

And they went into Capernaum; and straightway on the sabbath day he entered into the synagogue, and taught....

And forthwith, when they were come out of the synagogue, they entered into the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John. But Simon's wife's mother lay sick of a fever, and anon they tell him of her. And he came and took her by the hand, and lifted her up; and immediately the fever left her, and she ministered unto them. (Mark 1: 16-18, 21, 29-31.)

ATTENTION, MR. MACPHERSON!

Sir,—Why do not the health officers come up to the County Gaol and see the bedbugs that are there and condemn the place. If it were a poor man's home they would evict them and clean it out. As it is here you cannot get out, so you just have to stand it.

PRISONER OF COUNTY GAOL.

Soldiers Expect Canada To Keep Peace

TORONTO, Dec. 7 — (CP). — William Stewart, Canadian Press Correspondent, Tuesday night told the Toronto Police War Veterans' Association of the job of the Canadian forces overseas and said that on their return the men, "who have placed no limits on the sacrifices they made," will expect Canada "to carry on into a durable peace the work they started the hardest way under conditions that offered only slim hopes of success."

Stewart, who served with the fighting Canadians through Sicily, Italy, France and Belgium, was guest of honor at the annual banquet of the Association whose contributions to British war victims have amounted to $150,000.

How the Canadian soldier lives, dresses and fights was related by the 30-year-old veteran correspondent, himself only three weeks from the battlefields and soon to take up his work again in the southwest Pacific area.

This war's Canadian soldiers is a "cheerful, good-humored young man skilled in the profession that would be his last choice in normal times," but he is "inspired by the sense of duty which is the pushing power behind all on the Allied side."

GREETINGS FROM USSR—Raymond Arthur Davies, war correspondent recently returned from Russia, is shown holding a bar of aluminum presented to him by Soviet factory workers. The aluminum was part of huge shipments of war supplies sent to Russia from Canada. On it was engraved the following message: "Greetings to Friendly Canada from USSR, Factories Nos. 95 and 150."

Wants Annexation Questions Settled By Property Owners

Restriction of annexation decision to property owners, as with money bylaws, was proposed by Harold B. Rye Wednesday afternoon to the county council for their recommendation to provincial government. His request was referred to the January sessions of the incoming council.

"Tenants in North Monaghan were allowed to vote our property into the city," Mr. Rye objected. "We could say nothing about it. Our rights as property owners were taken away from us. Some of the tenants frankly admitted that they did not intend to remain in the township. Some of them qualified as municipal voters only a short time before the question came up for decision."

Mr. Rye explained that according to the Municipal Act all persons registered in the municipal voters list were entitled to petition for annexation of part of that municipality to another, and to vote on the question. The voters list comprised both property owners and tenants. I don't think that is fair. I am opposed to it on principle. I don't think it is right. I was going to suggest that the county council take up this question with the local Member (H. R. Scott, M.P.P.) to get it rectified."

"The county council is supposed to be representative of the people. I say 'supposed' advisedly. I have been a member of this council I don't know whether you are living up to your obligations."

Serious View

Warden Anderson interjected: "I think we do."

"Well, they've changed a lot," Mr. Rye replied, laughing as he glanced around the council and up to the Warden's chair where he once sat. Probably that cue for little doubtful tribute pleased the veteran who used to be able to "hand it out,"—and "take it, too."

Resuming the serious tone of his remarks, Mr. Rye reminded the council that on the three money bylaws in the city elections Monday only property owners had the right to vote. What's the difference between a money bylaw, and a question that changes your property from one municipality to another?"

Many property owners were opposed to the transfer, Mr. Rye said, "and I am coming before this council to see if you can get that section of the Act amended for the benefit of the owners of property in other municipalities who may have the same experience."

Mr. Rye had remarked at the outset that he had attended a sitting of the council last June, but too much business was ahead of him and he decided to wait for an opportunity of time. If there was an astringent note in that comment, Reeve P. J. Mather of Otonabee, the township in which the "elder statesman" of the county now resides, quickly brushed it aside. He said the county council should appreciate the fact that a prominent ratepayer "had come here and told us we had appeared to be busily engaged in the county's affairs "It is about time the public was told that we are trying to do the public's business."

Buttons were on the foils of both rapiers in that little exchange of pleasantry, and it seemed that the veteran of other days and other sessions had mildly met his match. It was entirely in good humor.

After H.B.R. had left the chamber, Mrs. Spurway, clerk, read the section of the act, corroborating Mr. Rye's point that municipal electors may petition the Municipal Board for annexation.

Agree On Point

Reeve Mather said he was inclined to agree with Mr. Rye's contention of principle, and moved, seconded by Reeve Norman Lean, that the council ask for a change of the Municipal Act, confining annexation projects to the votes of property owners, and that a copy of the resolution be forwarded to the other county councils in the province for their support.

Reeve Gifford of Ennismore suggested that the question might be left to the 1945 council for consideration at their January sessions. His amendment, seconded by Reeve Jas. Humphries of Asphodel, carried.

Frank C. Paterson

F. C. Paterson, county representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, prefaced his talk to the council with the explanation that he was prepared to make his visit at the June sessions, but the council was then too busy, and he decided to defer the call which he liked to make during some of the sittings during the year.

Mr. Patterson informed the council that much of his time this year had been taken up by questions of military deferment, selective service, military leaves. "I had four callers one morning this week on those kind of questions, and each of them took up about an hour. However, it is a job the Federal Department of Labor asked us to do.

Mr. Paterson said there had been a substantial increase in the number of interviews and meetings this year, relating to the milk weed experiment, collection of milk weed pods, farm labor for the west and for local district work, were some of the affairs of special nature that had required time and considerable driving.

"For the western harvest 218 men went from our locality. Some people

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 — (AP). — Our special agents at the Buffalo Minor League baseball convention report that St. Louis Browns actually had made a deal with the Los Angeles Coast League club in 1942, but Phil Wrigley refused to sell when he learned that it would ruin the other coast clubs....That, according to President Pants Rowland, is why the league is so hot for an amendment that will protect their territory......There's no immediate danger, he says, but that incident proves how easily a major league might move in and pay the circuit only $5,000....Pants admits that the proposal for a third major league is slightly premature, but that he really is serious about the proposal.

Duplicates:

When West High School of Nashville Tenn., opens its basketball season next week, Alfred and Albert Skinner—twins of course—may confuse the customers a trifle.... But that won't be anything new to Al and Al....They started to school the same day, always dress alike, both play the piano and organ, they got their pre-induction notices the same day, took their physicals the same day, were put in the Signal Corps, first at Fort McPherson then at Camp Crowder; both took sick the same day, were sent to an Army hospital the same day, and X-rays disclosed they both had stomach ulcers in exactly the same spot, so they were released from the Army the same day....P.S.: Don't bet on who'll be the high scorer in basketball.

More Buffalo breezes:

The Rumor Dept. has the Reds willing to trade Frank Kelleher if anybody's interested......Also Bill Meyer returning from Newark to manage Kansas City. The Yanks have no comment....Another says Al Vincent, former Buffalo manager and Detroit coach, will boss the Elmira Eastern Leaguers this year.

Four Leagues Seek To Enter Minors

BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 7 — (AP) —For the first time since the start of the Second Great War, minor league baseball to-day appeared to be more expansion-conscious than survival-minded.

As the minors went into their 43rd annual convention, four additional leagues loomed as possible starters next year.

After yesterday's brief opening conclave, when routine committees were appointed, most of the leagues held individual meetings. It developed that the North Carolina State and the Carolina Loop will operate, and Canadian and Indiana State circuits may be formed.

Three Rivers and Quebec, granted permission to withdraw for the duration from the Canadian-American League, may form the nucleus of a new circuit. Albert E. Houghton was named president of the suspended Canadian-American League, succeeding Rev. Harold J. Martin.

The South Atlantic and Texas Loops joined the Canadian-American in deciding to remain idle during 1945.

The Mexican National League, a six-club circuit, made formal application to Judge William G. Bramham for entrance into the National Association.

The naming of Burleigh Grimes as manager of Rochester's International League club by President Sam Breadon of the parent St. Louis Cardinals, was the most important announcement of the day. Grimes piloted Toronto in the same loop last year.

Other managerial announcements were Ival Goodman, Portsmouth, Va., succeeding Jimmy Foxx, pending his release from the Chicago Cubs via waivers, and Bill Harris, Erie, Pa. Foxx may act as a roaming coach for the Cubs among the Chicago farm clubs. Al Vincent was named Detroit Tiger scout.

Negotiations were still brewing for the purchase of the Minneapolis club of the American Association by Rogers Hornsby, former National League batting champion.

President Charles Hurth announced his New Orleans club had ended its working agreement with Brooklyn Dodgers and would become an independent club with Fresco Thompson continuing as the manager.

Thirteen amendments were to be considered in to-day's most important association meeting.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Tomorrow night's senior game in the Ladies' Basketball League at the Y.W.C.A. will settle the question of whether the St. John's team is to open out a still greater lead or find themselves in a first place tie with the Generals. The Saints tangle with C.G.E. who are still gunning for their first win but looking better each time out. Last week they gave the Transports a real battle for the honors especially in the early stages when they scored basket for basket with the champs and if the Electricians play back to that brand of basketball tomorrow night, St. John's will have a job on their hands holding Mary McPherson and her teammates under control. It shapes up like a tidy argument and should provide cage fans with an interesting exhibition. The senior game is second on the card and will be played at 8.45 o'clock. The junior fixture, starting at 7.45 o'clock marks the first appearance of the Quakers who are matched with Normalites. The team from the big cereal plant are an unknown quantity but they have been practicing for some time and they hope to give the Normal School outfit an argument all the way. The twin bill should prove a decided attraction.

Arrangements are completed for the big swim meet which Gord Minty of the local Y.M.C.A. has arranged for the Peterborough pool a week from Saturday. Toronto Central Y swimmers will be down in force for this big event and will bring a crack squad of performers while local swimmers will be seen in action in all the events. As this column mentioned before there will be several features that will make the meet unusual. One will be a demonstration of the new method of resuscitation, using special apparatus that has been built for the occasion. The other will be an exhibition of the new crawl stroke invented by the Central Y's swim coach and used by some of the Toronto swimmers. The Y.W.C.A. Silver Finettes will give their precision swimming routine as another special number on the program. Altogether the meet promises to be decidedly interesting and the seating accommodation of the pool should be taxed to the utmost. Everybody interested in swimming is asked to keep the night of Saturday, December 16 open.

How It Happened

The Oshawa story of the defeat of the Peterborough juniors at the hands of Hamilton in the Motor City last Saturday shows that the Petes were the victims of an unusual bit of bad luck; and incidentally that they lost an opportunity to have won the argument by kicking for singles at one stage when they had the Ambitious City youngsters pushed back deep into their own territory. Here is the Oshawa slant on the battle: "Playing under almost impossible conditions Hamilton Eastwoods and Peterborough closed out the Canadian rugby season at Alexandra Park on Saturday afternoon with the former taking a 7-to-6 decision to win the Ontario Junior title. The game was a sudden-death affair played on neutral grounds by a mutual arrangement. The game was played on a field three inches deep in snow. There were no goal posts or lines to mark the field and the teams compromised by placing poles to mark the goal line—one of these being directly responsible for Hamilton's margin of victory. As was natural the snow and the cold weather were responsible for numerous fumbles by both teams and the ball changed hands at times on almost every plunge. After a scoreless first quarter Hamilton intercepted a Peterborough pass and several plays later kicked to Edger who was rouged. After Peterborough kicked short and Hamilton had made yards twice the Hamilton punter kicked to Edger just at the goal line. In backing up to catch the ball, he tripped over the pole marking the goal line and the ball dribbled out of his arms. Grollo, who came in fast, scooped up the ball for an unconverted touchdown."

It's a moot question what the reaction to the O.M.H.A. amendment, barring junior "B" players from minor hockey after they have participated in more than two O.H.A. games, will be from the puck clubs in the small centres, but from comment expressed so far the O.M.H.A. or the O.H.A. is bound to suffer through the withdrawal of entries from either one series or the other, says Chick Appel in the Stratford Beacon-Herald. The small centres haven't sufficient players for both juvenile and junior "B" hockey, and the consequence, they say, will be the withdrawal from one of the competitions. The original amendment, as submitted by the Stratford Minor Hockey Association, comprising four Stratford teams, and four others and from New Hamburg, Tavistock, Milverton and Mitchell, sought only to bar O.H.A. players from junior "A" up. This was done in order to correct an evil prevalent last winter when juvenile clubs iced teams composed principally of junior "A" players, after their team had been eliminated from the O.H.A. race. Stratford was equally as guilty in this respect as any other club in this respect as any other club, and even had one junior "A" player performing for their midget team.

No Alibis

Says George Campbell, Oshawa sports scribe in regard to that 12 to 1 defeat at the hands of St. Mike's: "It is no use looking for an alibi. Our team, forwards particularly, just weren't and likely aren't good enough. They lacked speed, they even appeared to be short on condition, although why Juniors four weeks after the season opened, should be so short on condition is more than we can say, but nevertheless, we noted at least four of the Oshawa Generals Saturday night who were either trying to catch up or chasing the play, most of the night. When the play reversed, they didn't stop quick and dart back, oh no, they took one of those casual looping circles that is so much easier on tired legs and laboring lungs. They tell us that St. Kitts really have a strong team too but they don't need to tell us about St. Mike's, we've seen them for ourselves and Mr. they've got it! They are real strong in goal, have three defencemen in Thomson, Arundel and Mortson who are good enough for any team and up front they have one line that is sensational and the other is not only good, but they've got a couple of highly-rated stars such as Gravelle of Port Colborne and Samis, a Western product, who were not even dressed on Saturday night here."

* * * * * *

Burleigh Grimes, former manager of the Toronto Leafs and given the axe at the end of last season by that club has lost no time in obtaining another berth. It is announced that Grimes has been appointed pilot of the Rochester Red Wings and will therefore be an important link in the St. Louis Cardinals chain. Grimes led the Leafs to a pennant two seasons ago and was popular with Toronto fans. Now that he has landed another job in the International loop Burleigh will probably take supreme delight in having his Red Wings kick the Toronto club around every time the two outfits meet.

Caps Retain Loop Leadership

By The Canadian Press

Indianapolis Capitals held their leadership of the American Hockey League's Western Division by a 3-2 victory last night over Hershey Bears. Caps hold a two-point lead over Pittsburgh Hornets, who defeated St. Louis Flyers 3-1.

Caps triumph last night at Hershey was their fourth in a row. Bears, who have suffered a series of injuries since the beginning of the season, took their third straight defeat.

A fourth-minute goal by Tony Bukovich started Indianapolis on their way. Bears evened the score toward the close of the first period on a breakaway by Jack Riley for a close-up shot.

Scores by Bill Thomson and Pete Leswick in the second period put Capitals ahead to stay, though Bears made a come-back bid half-way through the final session when a scrimmage play just off the Caps' net gave Lloyd Mohns a chance to score.

At Pittsburgh Howard Mackie opened the scoring for Hornets in the tenth minute of the game. Bob Gracie scored unassisted in the second period. Art Giroux made Flyers' only tally in the final period and with less than two minutes to go Bob Walton broke through the Flyer defence for Hornets' third score.

Montreal Man Best Shot At Camp Borden

CAMP BORDEN, Dec 7 — Tpr. Kenneth A Wright, 19, Montreal, who left Engineering School at McGill University to join the Canadian Armored Corps is the best rifle shot at Camp Borden.

Wright, representing No. 1 CAC, Trained Soldier Regiment, won the Small Arms Limited Challenge Trophy at the GOC's Skill-at-Arms contest commemorating the first Battle of Ypres. His score of 174 was four points ahead of Sgt. P. A. Pupo, an infantryman from A-10 CITC.

The straight shooting troopers of the Armored Corps dominated the competition. The individual Bren gun contest for the John Inglis Shield was won by Tpr. G. Telford of No. 3 Canadian Armored Training Regiment, and the Bren gun hip firing competition was captured by Lieut. D. W. Quittenton of No. 1 Canadian Armored Training Regiment.

Another armored unit, Motor Transport Regiment, won the team contest for rifles and Brens, and the all-round point championship was won by the N.C.O. School, Technical and Schools Wing, CAC, with No. 3 Canadian Armored Training Regiment in second place.

The coaching match was won by Tpr. J. Blechek of No. 3 Canadian Armored Training Regiment, and Sgt. McRae of No. 1 Canadian Armored Training Regiment. Best in the snipers' class and winner of the Capt. J. Boa Trophy was Pte. K. Tomkins, 18, of Oakville, Ont., representing A-10 CITC.

The GOC's invitation match for senior officers finished in a tie between Col. J. F. Scott commandant of A-10 CITC, and Lt.-Col. I. C. Clendinnen, of A-22 CAMCTC, closely followed by Col. F. A. Murphy and Lt.-Col. E. G. Reade, who were also tied.

FORMER BOXER RETURNS FROM DUTY — The story teller is Coast-Guardsman Lew Jenkins, B.M.2-C, former lightweight boxing champion of the world, who has just returned home from invasion duty. The very interested listener is Spar Mary K. Lemin, S.K.3-C, a friend from Lew's home town Dallas, Texas.

TORONTO, Dec. 7 — (CP). — Bigger and better stakes for horsemen entering steeds for the King's Plate running are in prospect as a result of changes in rules governing nominations for the events. In previous years, nominations didn't close until March, just a few weeks before the historic event was run off in Toronto's Woodbine Park, but that's all changed now.

Nominations for next year's race closed last November 14, while on that same day final entries for the 1946 running also were taken. A total of 109 yearlings, some only a few months old, unnamed and untested, were entered for the long term stakes in a precedent-shattering move.

Advantage of the system, as explained by Secretary Palmer Wright of the Ontario Jockey Club, is that the stakes will be built up to a new high by the increased fees which will be paid in by the owners. A fee is paid with the first entry, another is due next November 15, a further fee May 1, 1946, while a final race fee must be paid before the horse can go to the post.

In addition, the O.J.C. will add "not less than $10,000," and possibly more, so the horses will be running for stakes of $17,000 or more in 1946. That compares with $13,000 in purses last spring.

That's going to prove an added incentive to the owners, and create greater interest than ever before among mmebers of the racing fraternity.

Here and there:

Capt. Jim Sutherland of Kingston, Ont., is dickering with Detroit Red Wings to play an exhibition game in the Hall of Fame city. There are plenty of good hockey players in the vicinity to round up a strong team to play Wings, with Syl Apps of Toronto Leaf fame, Desse Smith of Boston Bruins, Edgar Laprade of the Lakehead family, among others....Elmer Montreal Herald) Ferguson is provoked at Habitant fans for heckling Goalie Bill Durnan after New York Rangers slapped seven pucks by him last week. Blaming a loss on a goalie is a New York complex, says Fergie, and isn't worthy of Montrealers. We wonder what the reaction of Long Island and Greenpernt will be to that....Eddie Upthegrove of Toronto has piled up a record of 30 years as a hockey penalty timekeeper in Maple Leaf Gardens and in the old Mutual Street Arena in bygone days.

Canadiens, Leafs Dominate Two Top Spots

By BOB NIELSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Hockey fans across Canada are noting with satisfaction these days the continued grip of Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs on the 1-2 positions in the National League. It's quite a while since they've both been up there at once for any length of time.

There's been a lot of private grumbling by Dominion citizens in the past few years over the fact that pro hockey franchises in Canada were either breaking up or moving south, and also because too many springs saw the Stanley Cup travelling in the same direction.

Considering Canada is the birthplace and breeding ground of the game, the patriots were consoled by the thought that Canadians comprised almost the entire personnel of big-time teams, and were charitable enough not to blame the boys for going where the crowds and money were. But they wanted more of the laurels.

The nation's hockey appetite was partially gratified in the past two seasons, with Leafs ending a seven-year United States reign by taking Stanley Cup honors in 1942-43 and Canadiens making it a one-team show throughout last season. Satiation should be achieved if the two clubs are cup finalists next spring.

The Canadian clubs have a corner on the individual records to date. They boast six of the first 10 in the scoring, with Toe Blake of the Frenchmen at the top. Third and fourth places are held by linemates Elmer Lach and Maurice Richard, and Leafs front linemen Gus Bodnar, Sweeney Schriner, and Lorne Carr claim fifth and share ninth in that order.

Bill Durnan of Canadiens heads the Vezina Trophy race for goal-tending proficiency, 38 goals to 41 for Connie Dion of Detroit, who has played three less games.

The outcome of to-night's game between Red Wings and Rangers at New York will have no effect on the standings. Victory would move the Red Wings to within two points of Toronto. Rangers will be out to widen the margin of a single game over Chicago.

By HYE BOSSIN

The recently-announced partnership between Paul Nathanson, head of Canada's Odeon theatre chain, and J. Arthur Rank, leader of the British film and theatre industry, will have a marked effect on the Canadian theatre field of the future. Odeon of Canada, half of which is now owned by Rank, operates about 100 movie theatres in Canada.

The partners will erect modern theatres in principal cities and towns after the war. Canada will have some 50 new post-war theatres and this enterprise will be welcomed because their construction calls for the employment of more varied crafts than are used in other industries. Also the post-war employment thus created is not concentrated but spread across the Dominion. Britain has taken theatre building into account as a means of providing work for returned veterans and is expected to grant it a priority equal to that of homes.

Second important aspect of the partnership is the wider market created for British films, the producers of which have been trying desperately to get enough playing time to make million dollar productions worth while. British films, it is expected, will be every bit as good as American ones after the war. Publicity offices will be established in Canada that will make British stars household names in the Dominion. British films have improved tremendously and even the Americans recognize this, for they have agreed to distribute many in the USA.

Another sidelight of the deal is that it may do much to solve the vexing problem of films for children. In Britain, Rank, who is a producer as well as a theatre owner, makes special films for children. These are knitted into two-hour programs and shown at weekly matinees with the help of all organizations interested in juvenile welfare. Mary Field, in charge of this program, just visited Canada to study the possibility of making these films with Canadian backgrounds for domestic use.

The partnership is the most interesting development in the Canadian motion picture industry in many years.

At the Minor Baseball Leagues' convention at Buffalo yesterday the International League adopted a resolution of protest against the encroachment of the pro football season on the baseball playing year, with President Frank Shaughnessy urging action by other Leagues to protect the property of baseball clubs from the unfair competition of the gridders.

Rogers Hornsby, veteran of the diamond sport, was reported yesterday to be negotiating for the purchase of the Minneapolis Millers of the American Association from Mike Kelly. The latter had offered the club to Philadelphia Athletics last fall but the deal did not materialize.

A gain of 13.8 per cent in average attendance was registered in the 333 games played by 67 college football teams during the past season in the United States, according to the annual Associated Press survey announced yesterday in New York. Total patronage was 5,554,999, compared with 4,010,722 for 273 games by 57 colleges in the previous year.

The American Baseball Association yesterday renewed the appointment of George W. Trautman as president of the minor league under a new contract for three years.

$10,000 Prize In Miami Open

MIAMI, Fla, Dec. 7 (AP)—Tiny, slightly-elevated greens gave the dead-eye chippers an edge today as a big field started out for the first round of the $10,000 Miami Open golf tournament.

The Miami Springs course where the event was being played for the 21st time is short—6,310 yards—and relatively free of traps, but the greens are a hazard in themselves.

Considerably smaller than average, they are built a foot or two higher than the Fairway—presenting an uncertain target for professionals and amateurs who have no difficulty driving within short-iron range on most holes.

Henry Picard or Johnny Revolta, both artists in their handling of approach clubs, were considered most likely to be hitting the ball straight for the pins.

The two veterans were quoted at 4½-1 in the clubhouse.

The 12-1 odds listed for Steve Warga attracted support for the Miami Airlines radio operator who fired an even-par 280 for 72 holes to win first money last year.

Johnny Bulla, airline pilot from Atlanta, was a 6-1 third choice. The odds-makers fixed 6-1 as the price against Tony Penna and Dutch Harrison.

Rated at 10-1 were Gene Kunes, Frank Walsh and Herman Barron, while Orville White joined Warga in the 12-1 class.

Byron Nelson Favored To Win

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 7.—(AP). —Byron Nelson, top money winner of the year was favored over the field of 132 pros and amateurs today as the 72-hole Oakland open golf tournament got away with $7,-500 in war bonds waiting winners in Sunday's finale.

The Toledo, Ohio, links expert came out of a slump to finish well up in the Portland open two weeks ago and captured the San Francisco open last week-end for the second year in succession.

Sgt. Jim Ferrier from Camp Roberts, who finished the San Francisco open only a stroke behind Nelson will be watched closely.

Other sharp contenders should include such notables as Slammin' Sam Snead of Hot Springs, W. Va., winner of the Portland open; Willie Goggin of White Plains, N.Y., George Fazio of Pine Valley, N.J., and the U.S. open champion Craig Wood, who is rounding into top form.

Germans Claim Attack Foiled

By The Canadian Press

Possibility that Canadian troops were involved in the Lamone River fighting in Italy was raised yesterday by a German communique claim that crossing attempts by Canadian formations were "foiled."

The only official Allied mention of Canadian participation in the new British Army offensive was that the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards of Ottawa had captured Ravenna, five miles inland from the Adriatic Sea, on Monday.

Reports from Allied Headquarters today, however, said British and Polish troops had smashed across the Lamone southwest of Faenza while other troops of the 8th Army —whose nationality was not given— were pushing wesward from Godo, eight miles west of Ravenna and were engaged in heavy fighting on the line of the Lamone River.

William Boss, Canadian Press War Correspondent, reported that while the Dragoons were entering Ravenna other 8th Army troops were having a grim time attempting to force a crossing of the Lamone eight miles to the west.

RE-UNITED—Some people say "it's a small world," but it was big enough to keep these two sisters apart for 22 years until they met in New York recently. They are Mrs. Harold McCarthy, Left, of Glenn Ranch, Cal., and Lieut. Josephine Allen, of the British Auxiliary Territorial Service, currently on assignment in Canada. Mrs. McCarthy, well known in California for her work of entertaining servicemen at her ranch, came in from the sunny state for the re-union. Lieut. Allen is the wife of Maj. Nelson Allen of the British Army.

Mrs. George McIlmoyle of Selwyn spent the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Clysdale.

Mrs A. S. Cleland of Norwood spent the past week visiting friends here. Mrs. Cleland will occupy William McNeely's house for the winter.

A letter was received at Norwood Public school from Manhattan, Kansas, for information about Canada. The teacher in Kansas was Miss Mary E. Johnston, daughter of a former residents, Sara Paget, cousin of Mesdames Forsyth and McDonald.

Mr. and Mrs. Mailand Forsythe and Allan of Peterborough spent the week-end at the Forsyth home.

Mrs. Ron McDonald, Joyce and Jimmie, are visiting at the McDonald home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gratton Bullock of Laing were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cuffe.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Clements visited their son, Basil, in St. Joseph's Hospital. He is improving after his severe accident.

WO. 2 Wellington Lobb, RCAF, who has completed his tour of operations overseas, after 52 flights, and has been with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Lobb on a month's furlough, left Tuesday morning for Toronto to report for further duty.

Shields Berates Two Old Parties

WINNIPEG, Dec. 7 — (CP). — Rev. T. T. Shields of Toronto Tuesday night described Prime Minister Mackenzie King as "anti-British."

"I wonder if Mr. King is seeking revenge — the blood of his rebel grandfather is in his veins and I think he is as anti-British as Cardinal Villeneuve," said the Baptist clergyman in an address at Winnipeg's civic auditorium. "I'm inclined to think that there is such a reaction in this country now that King is on his last lap."

Mr. Shields spoke for three hours and repeated generally charges made in earlier addresses that home defence men selected for overseas service would not be drafted from Quebec province, that the Liberal party is Roman Catholic and the Conservative party would like to be.

Out Of Season

WOODSTOCK, Dec. 7 — (CP).—John Clark, provincial constable, admitted this week having shot a deer out of season, but there was no legal offence involved. He was forced to kill a 200-pound buck after the animal leaped in front of his automobile and suffered a broken back.

Religious Liberty

MAILINES, Dec. 7 — (CP-Reuter)—Had National Socialism triumphed in Belgium it would have entailed the complete suffocation of religious life, said Cardinal Van-Roey, Primate of all Belgium, in an interview here Tuesday. "Now we have regained conditions of religious liberty," he said.

Court Acquits Young Soldier

KINGSTON, Surrey, Eng., Dec. 7.—(CP Cable.)— Sigmn. John Francis Donovan, 20, of Toronto, was acquitted by an assize court jury to-day of a charge of murdering Constance Curtis, 17 year old factory worker, last April, after the defence pleaded mistaken identity.

The naked body of the girl, who had been strangled, was found on waste ground at Camberley, Surrey, April 14. The Crown said she had been criminally assaulted.

Donovan testified that he never had met the girl and that on the night he was alleged to have been at the Fair, he was in bed at camp because his best pair of trousers had been stolen and he was unable to go out.

The clothing thought to have been dropped somewhere on Aylmer street, and firemen would appreciate it if the finder will get in touch with the local Department.

Victory Workers Help Blitz Victims

A letter from the Society of Friends in Toronto, acknowledging a donation of $40 to buy shoes for child victims of the blitz in England, was read at the regular meeting of the Victory Workers, in their rooms, Tuesday afternoon.

Two boxes of quilts and used clothing were reported sent to victims of the fire in the north end of the city. Mrs. W. Benton and Mrs. R. Whalon were named representativse to the Health League, and it was annnounced that Mrs. Whalon would preside at the election of officers at the January meeting. Several Christmas carols were sung, and the serving of refreshments during a social quarter of an hour concluded the meeting.

The Victory Workers have done an amazing work since they organized. Often quilts are made, and donated to them, while others are pieced by private individuals and sent to their rooms at 379½ George street, to be quilted. Although most of the quilts are donated to worthy causes, money received from the sale of some of them is used to carry on the work and buy materials. In addition, approximately $200 was the group's share of the salvage campaigns during the past year. Members are especially proud that one of their number, Mrs. Whalon, has been doing such excellent work in this connection. Small donations of money help to purchase materials for quilt tops, and clothes, made by friends, or members who cannot always attend meetings are used for worthy causes in the city.

Church Groups Unite For Service

"A Canadian Friendship Service" was the theme of the combined Christmas service of the Women's Missionary Society the Helen Roger Auxiliary, the Frances Watt Mission Circle, the O.G.I.T. and the Nettie McKenzie Mission Band, of Knox United Church Wednesday afternoon in the church lecture hall.

The theme was divided in three parts, and the first, "God's Gift to Us", was conducted by Miss Jean Hair, and the responses were sung by the C.G.I.T. group. Part two, "Our Gift of Adoration and Praise" took the form of a candle-lighting service, conducted by Mrs. E. Mesley. Candles were lit by Mrs. I.F. McRae, Mrs. G. Myles, M[illegible] R. Hanscom, Mrs. E. Edwards and Mrs. E. McIlraith. During this section of the service, Miss Mary Morton sang a Polish carol, "Infant Holy, Infant Lowly", and other carols were sung by the members, and the children of the Mission Band sang "Away in a Manger".

Part three, "Our Best Gift—Love", was conducted by Mrs. J. Gerard, assisted by Mrs. H. J. Mahoney, Mrs. R. Laing, Mrs. J. Allen and Miss Summers. Mrs. C. Ross and Mrs. W. Dale presented the offering which was dedicated by Mrs. Gerard. The pianist for the service was Miss Phyllis Kidd and Miss Loretta McDougall was the Song-leader.

At the conclusion of this service the various groups held business meetings. During the Helen Roger Auxiliary's meeting it was reported that letters had been received from the honarary president, Miss Annie Crocker 'and from a former member, Mrs. G. Denike. It was announced that the installation of officers for all women's organizations would be held on Sunday, December 31 at the morning service, and that the annual meeting of the Helen Roger Auxiliary would be held on Monday, January 8 at the home of Mrs. I. F. McRae, 487 Hunter street.

Christmas Fund Gets $100 From Lions Club

For a considerable number of years now, there has been a rising tide of interest and favour, in the operations of groups of men banded together in service clubs, the guage of which has been measured by just how extensive or active they have been in the service they rendered to the community at large.

It necessarily follows that as their activities are extended, so is their influence the more widely felt, and in so doing they become a greater asset to those whom they serve in this manner.

The Lions Club of this city have only been operating for a few years but the results of their endeavours are such as to commend them for the good work so far accomplished which has included the looking [illegible] ter tonsil operations among the families of those not too well situated, beside the health giving project of the supervised wading pool and playground, in addition to which they have supported their Naitonal Fund to aid British child war victims.

Added to this they have also given $100 each year to the special Christmas Fund, being raised by the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, another of which is credited to-day through Jack Armitage their president, and Frank Woolley their treasurer.

An evidence of their community spirit of helpfulness is to be seen in a Bingo game they are holding this next Monday night, December 11th, in the Brock Street Rink, the proceeds of which are all for the services they render to the community, and as such should appeal in quite a favourable manner to the public at large.

Last summer when they held their Carnival, the weatherman was none too kind, reflecting a somewhat poorer return than could normally be expected, hence this endeavour to assist in taking up the slack, besides making it possible to even extend the good they have already done. An innovation being introduced at this time will be what is known as lap cards.

Fife Community Red Cross.

The name of "Red Cross" has ever been associated with acts of goodness for humanity's sake, and in this the Red Cross group of Fife Community have a really good record, their regular deed of helpfulness having been extended on a number of occasions to this fund.

Last Christmas they were well represented in the special donation raised at that time, and now they have come forward with another nice gift of $25 made at a bazaar they held recently, which is listed to-day through Mrs. Max Humphries, which again emphasises how well they uphold the tenets of what the Red Cross stands for.

Fond recollections of Christmas season now but a memory must surely be recalled, when people do deeds of kindness for others at this time in memory of those who have passed on. Some consolation must surely ensue from the knowledge that the happiness that might have prevailed had the one so honored been able to do so in person, is still represented in giving happiness to others now living, who may feel it as a breath from heaven itself.

In such a spirit, a gift of $5.00 is recorded to-day "In loving memory of our daughter Reta" by Mr. and Mrs. E. Butler of Sophia St., and a gift of a similar amount from Royal Arthur Lodge A.F. and A.M. No. 523 completes the days story on behalf of the fund.

Suburban Road Members To Draw $200

Remuneration of the Suburban Area Commission was set at $200 annually for each of the three members by bylaw at the Wednesday afternoon session of the County Council.

The commission had provided their own financial allowance, but a York County court case disclosed that a Suburban Area Commission did not have that authority.

Legislation at the last provincial sessions enables councils to determine commission fees.

It was said that the annual amount of fees up to the present was $200 to each member.

Deputy-reeve Erie Pearson, Smith, suggested $175 but a motion by Reeve Robert Martin and Reeve Gordon Scriver for $200 carried.

D. A. Macivor, county engineer, reported total expenditure to November 15, by the Suburban Area Commission was $41,877.84, and after deducting credits the net outlay was $38,601.97. Expenditure for the year would be around $40,900, with $2,345 to meet needs from November 15 to the end of the year.

Gravelling, stabilization of roads and calcium chloride costs were chief items of expenditure.

The commissioners, M. H. Gainey, A. E. Middleton and John McColl, were present this morning, but reserved their annual review until January.

Magistrate Remands Man With Measles

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., held a short session in the county jail this morning when he visited there for the purpose of remanding a prisoner who is ill.

Ellsworth Scott, former soldier, was to have been sentenced today on a charge of having stolen a pension cheque for $25 from the landlady of his boarding-house but when the case was called it was reported to the court that Scott had developed measles in the interval and was under the doctors care in the county jail.

His Worship decided that the most satisfactory course, under the circumstances was for him to visit the jail and remand the prisoner until next week for sentence.

Austrian Patriots

War–4 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press

DEC. 7, 1940—R.A.F. smashed at Dusseldorf and Netherlands airdromes. Greeks captured Delvino, Albania. President Roosevelt pledged U.S. aid to Greece. German Air Force staged light raids on Britain. Count Cesare Maria de Vecchi resigned as Governor of Italy's Dodecanese Islands.

Bracken Says Election Is Unavoidable

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 — (CP) —John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative Leader, said in a radio address last night that the Liberal Government has lost the confidence of the people and a general election might become unavoidable in the near future.

He said his party had not sought an election but "we have come to a pass in this country where it may become unavoidable. Certainly it must not be postponed beyond the life of this parliament."

Mr. Bracken said the government would have the support in the confidence motion now before the Commons of those in other groups who wished to avoid a general election.

General application of the National Resources Mobilization Act, making all home defence personnel available for overseas service, was the only method that now could be adopted which would give reasonable satisfaction to those in the armed forces.

Unequal Burden.

The government was divided within itself and was responsible for an unequal burden of human sacrifice, the placing of a stigma on French-Canadians and a "lamentable state of disunity."

"Confidence in government policy will never be restored until there is placed in office a government that is determined that this nation will not waste its manpower for political ends or call upon its sons unequally for party gain," he said.

"Such a government, it is now clear, will not be obtained until there is an appeal to the people."

Mr. King held office because of his "political manipulation of the racial problem" which had brought the country to the verge of national disaster.

The Progressive Conservative party stood for Canadian unity but Confederation could not last on a basis of inequity.

"It believes there can be lasting union only when there is an approach to the equal sharing of burdens, and this can only come when every section of the nation accepts as the basic condition of nationhood equal responsibilities or all and equal sacrifices for all in time of war as well as in time of peace," he said.

Sentence Is Postponed In False Alarm Case

Because the Crown could not be represented at this morning's session, due to the presence of Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C. at the General Sessions of the Peace, Laverne Healey, Westcott street, was again remanded when he appeared for sentence on a charge of having turned in a false alarm of fire.

Healey had pleaded guilty to the charge and was to have received his sentence today but Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., said that he would not feel justified in proceeding in the absence of any representative of the Crown. Accordingly he proposed to defer the hearing of evidence and the sentencing of the accused until next week.

His Worship assured John A. Bradshaw who appeared for Healey that he would take into consideration the time the accused had been in jail on remand when he was fixing the sentence.

John Howard Hendren, 20, who had pleaded not guilty to a drunk charge Wednesday morning and had been remanded until today changed his plea to guilty this morning and was fined $10 and costs.

The same penalty was handed out to Bert Howden who also pleaded guilty to a drunk charge.

HOW HE DID IT—Panamanian Actor Antonio Icaza, witness for the prosecution in the Dorsey trial at Hollywood, Calif., demonstrates the hold Film Actor Jon Hall is said to have achieved on Band Leader Tommy Dorsey during the brawl in the Dorsey apartment. Icaza was flown here from Panama to testify.

Dorsey Beats Assault Charges

By FRANK FRAWLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—(AP).—Judge Arthur Crum to-day dismissed the assault charges against Tommy Dorsey, his wife, Pat Dane and their neighbor Allen Smiley growing out of an attack on Jon Hall.

The court said it had been reluctant to take the case from the consideration of the jury but felt that under the state of the record it would be an abuse of its judicial discretion not do do so.

Judge Crum referred to one of the State's principal witnesses, Antonio Icaza, Panamanian actor, as a "fabulous, masterful fabricator of falsehoods, a perjurer pure and simple, demonstrated innumerable times out of his own mouth."

Icaza escaped last night from protective custody, the sheriff's office said, but was re-arrested early to-day and committed to the county jail. He had been kept in custody in a hotel since his return from Panama.

District Attorney Fred N. Howser said Icaza escaped last night from the custody of a District Attorney's investigator but early today returned to the hotel where he is staying. Icaza had been allowed to return here by immigration authorities from Panama for the trial only on condition that he be kept in custody.

He had been arrested last Aug. 21 on a charge of illegal entry into the United States and two days later was released when he agreed to leave the country by the first available boat.

During one period of testimony Icaza repeatedly said "I don't remember" to almost every question. About the fight he said he saw Hall on the floor with Dorsey striking him and that he saw the bandleader hit the actor with a bottle.

Prosecution and defence lawyers argued all day yesterday that the court should dismiss the charges that Dorsey, his wife and Smiley, severely beat and cut Hall at Mrs. Dorsey's 26th birthday party, Aug. 5.

The defence branded the two principal prosecution witnesses, Hall and Icaza, as perjurers whose motives in naming the Dorseys as Hall's assailants were two civil suits aggregating $140,000 for alleged personal damages.

The prosecutor, Edwin Myers, told the court, in joining with defence counsel in a plea to dismiss, that he could not ask the court to believe the testimony of Hall, Icaza and the two other State's witnesses, Miss Jane Churchill, Kansas City singer, and Jesus Castillon, a guitarist.

Ready To Emerge

LONDON, Dec. 7 —(CP) — The German press and radio last night were filled with accounts — including pictures —of the doings of Hitler in what appeared to be a staged prelude for the long-silent and secluded Fuehrer's re-emergence into the limelight.

PLAN TO ORGANIZE

An organization meeting of a branch of the St. John Ambulance Brigade will be held in the Salvation Army auditorium Friday at 8 p.m. The provincial commissioner of the St. John Ambulance Association, Dr. Bell, is expected to be present.

Flier Goes in For Hair-Raising Flight Perishes In Crash Of Bomber At Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Dec. 7.—(AP).—An RCAF student pilot crashed to his death Wednesday after a hair-raising, mad flight in a large twin-engine bomber stolen from a nearby air base.

For four and a half hours the apparently crazed airman dived on Vancouver and villages to the south, endangering countless lives, before crashing on Tilbury Island, in the south arm of the Fraser river.

In wild, screaming dives he swooped on airdromes, roads and other points where airmen and civilians were gathered, missing people and parked aircraft by inches.

Fighter planes, with pilots instructed not to shoot, took to the air in an attempt to induce the student to land, but he paid no attention.

Finally he spun the aircraft in a half roll at 1,000 feet and dived downwards at terrific speed into the ground.

Western Air Command officials said that the mad flight was entirely unauthorized and that the pilot was alone. The plane went through what flying men termed "impossible manoeuvres." Again and again it roared over airports near Vancouver and shot earthward in racing power dives. Airmen watched open-mouthed as it cleared by inches parked aircraft, hangars, buildings and persons standing on the ground.

Name of the airman will be released when next-of-in have been notified.

Council Favors Appointing County Assessor

With only four county assessors appointed under the legislation set up by the Ontario government, municipal department officials have been so discouraged they felt like "throwing up their hands," Reeve P. J. Mather told the county council this morning.

"I think a county assessor would pay for himself twice over," Mr. Mather said. "I am not afraid to say with the help we're getting from the Ontario government, one mill for education and another mill for general purposes.

Under the present tax system a lot of costs are falling upon property. I don't think it is fair. Some men can put all their money in bonds at 3 per cent, and are not taxed for social services. I think there should be a basis of taxing the earning power of the individual and not property."

Reeve Ferguson said he believed the county assessor plan with a card filing system would be well worth while. Lakefield was the only municipality in the county which had adopted the card record plan. Description of every property in the municipality is set out in detail on these cards.

Reeve M. H. Johnston moved a recommendation to the 1945 council to consider the "advisability of appointing a county assessor under the provisions of the Assessment Act. Deputy-Reeve Archibald seconded it and the council unanimously voted for it.

A resolution by Reeves McIlmoyl and Curtin requested the clerk to write a letter of congratulation to Cameron Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Clark of Smith, on his success in winning the provincial public speaking contest at the convention of the Young Farm People of Ontario in Toronto this week.

Building Bylaw Must Be Observed

Malcolm McIntyre, assistant building inspector, reported to the council Tuesday, 121 inspections during November. Three notices were issued; work was begun without notices in four instances, but permits were taken out later.

For the present, it was stated, warnings are being given to those who begin work without first having obtained permits from City Engineer Parsons. The temper of the council is that official forbearance has been extended far enough, and that prosecution for flouting the building bylaw in the permit particular should begin.

Wooden shingles were removed by order from three buildings for the the reason asbestos paper was not used.

Bible Class Has Christmas Party

A class party was held Tuesday night when Miss Jessie Martin, the teacher, entertained thirty-nine members of the Excelsior Bible class of St. James' United church, in the Green Room at the Y.W.C.A.

After the devotional opening, led by Miss Lilyan Huggins, a delightful musical program, arranged by Olive Searles, was enjoyed and included: A vocal solo, Miss Joan Miller; piano solo, Miss Elsie Chambers; vocal solo, Miss Hazel McLaren; reading, Miss Gladys Langton.

A happy feature of the evening was the presentation to the retiring president, Miss Olive Morley, by Miss Martin, and to the teacher, Miss Martin, by Mrs. Elmer Williamson from the class.

A Christmas tree was unloaded and an exchange of gifts made among the members, with Miss Langton as Santa Claus, concluding the festive occasion.

Refreshments were served by Miss Martin.

HOME ON FURLOUGH—Able Seaman Jack Martell, who has been serving on a frigate, has been spending a furlough at his home, 21 Cricket Place. A former employee of the Nashua Paper Company, he has seen a good deal of action since he enlisted two years ago.

Cameron Clark First In Competition

Twice within four years honors have been brought back by members of the Clark family, R.R. 2, Peterborough, from the Ontario Rural Oratorical contests in Toronto.

Cameron Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Clark, took first place in the provincial competition against four other entrants. His speech, "Building a New World for the Post War Period" which won him first place in November at the Farm Young People's Club, kept him in top place in Toronto.

Four years ago, his brother Bruce, took first place in the provincial competition. Cameron Clark is 18 years old.

To Issue Report On Pacific Military Case

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 — (CP). — Defence headquarters is reliably understood to be considering issuing a statement on the findings of Lt.-Gen. E. W. Samson who recently returned from the Pacific coast where he investigated reports that Pacific command officers had given interviews expressing their doubts in continuance of the voluntary system of enlistments for overseas.

After reports of Pacific command officers' interviews appeared, Defence Minister McNaughton commissioned Gen. Samson — a former overseas corps commander — to investigate.

Even while Gen. Samson was on his way to the coast, military circles here expressed doubts that any public action would be taken against the officers, but it was widely suggested they would be given stern reprimands.

Shelves Trade Till War Won

LONDON, Dec. 7—(CP)—Breaking into the House of Commons debate on export trade after several members had voiced concern that the United States was getting the jump on Britain, Production Minister Oliver Lyttleton warned that with perhaps the bloodiest battles of the war yet to be fought, the government post-war trade policy could not be formed, much less expressed.

"We may yet have to face battles sterner and bloodier than we have yet fought and although victory is certain, the time of victory is uncertain," he declared.

Impressions that Britain could start now to improve exports substantially were "false," he added, and "would mean delay in victory and with it the loss of tens of thousands of men who are the flower of the country and to them we look to be the fathers of our future."

He promised some change-overs from war production and release of some war workers to civilian jobs next year but warned "we must not relax the tension—every hour lost now may mean another hour of war."

Counsel For AP Resents Use Of F.B.I. Agents

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(AP).—The Associated Press will renew its fight in the United States Supreme Court against the government anti-trust suit which it says threatens to saddle the A.P. with government controls "from now on."

John T. Cahill, A.P. counsel, told the court at the opening of argument on the case, these controls in fact already are in effect.

As an example, he cited the use of Federal Dept. "investigations." Mr. Cahill said the Justice Department "loosed" 26 of them to interview A.P. members who were considering an application for membership by the Chicago Sun.

The A.P. members, Mr. Cahill declared, "resented" this use of F.B.I. agents and voted to reject the Sun's application. Then, he said, the Justice Department promptly filed the anti-trust suit with the aim of compelling admission of the Sun to A.P. membership.

The A.P. appealed from a decision of a Federal district court of New York that it must amend its membership by-laws so that the competitive effect of an applicant for membership would not be taken into consideration. Mr. Cahill argued that the Lower Court's decision made the A.P. subject to government control.

Supreme Court Justice Jackson disqualified himself from consideration of the case, but gave no reason. He was attorney-general at the time the complaint against the A.P. was prepared in the Justice Department.

Two On Trial For Murder

FELTHAM, England, Dec. 7 (AP)—An American parachute trooper and an 18-year-old British strip-tease dancer were committed for trial on Jan. 9 at the Old Bailey, London, on charges of murdering a taxicab driver. The trial is to be the first of an American soldier under British civil law.

Karl Gustav Holten, 22, of Cambridge, Mass., and Elizabeth Marina Jones are the defendants. They were arrested after the body of George Edward Heath, 34, was found in a ditch outside London.

Commission Probes Annuities' Taxation

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 — (CP). — The Royal Commission recently established by Finance Minister Ilsley to inquire into the taxation of annuities, pensions and other similar payments to individuals, has invited a number of organizations to submit briefs, but would welcome submissions from any other recognized organization in Canada, Mr. Justice W. C. Ives, chairman of the commission, said today in an interview.

Mr. Justice Ives, a member of the Supreme Court of Alberta, said that the commission was ready to start to work and would deal first with taxation and annuities and pensions. The second question, that of the impact of income taxes and succession duties on family corporations, would be considered later.

"My children are protected with all the Vitamins and Minerals they need"

What a comfort for a mother to be able to say that! She just follows the simple rule of serving 3 average-good meals a day and Ovaltine night and morning.

Authorities say 3 out of 4 people are under-par—undernourished—for lack of enough Vitamins and Minerals. But experts agree with 3 average-good meals a day and Ovaltine you are getting all the extra vitamins and minerals you can profitably use—except Vitamin C which is plentiful in fruit juices.

Ovaltine is recognized not only as a rich source of vitamins and minerals but, equally important, as a well-balanced dietary food supplement prescribed by doctors the world over for those who are thin, nervous or under-par.

So don't worry about vitamins and minerals. Rely on Ovaltine to give you all the extra ones you can use—in addition to its other well-known benefits. Just follow this recipe for better health—

JUST FOR WOMEN

By CONNIE NICHOLSON (Society Editor of The Examiner)

Winter's just around the corner, this spell of thaw notwithstanding and women are thinking of getting their semi-annual permanent for the cold weather. The holiday season means a rush at the hairdressers, but regardless of the day for the appointment, it's always time to get the hair in condition, so it will take a firm yet soft, and lasting curl.

Hair that is dry, lacking in elasticity, or with split brittle ends, cannot be expected to take a good permanent. At least two weeks before getting the permananet, begin a few simple home treatments. If the hair is dry, give it two or three oil shampoos. Warm four tablespoonsful of good mineral or vegetable oil, and, parting the hair in sections, apply the oil with absorbent cotton to the scalp, along the length of each part. Rub the oil thoroughly on the ends of the hair, and then wring out a bath towel in hot water and wrap around the head.

In spite of the appearance of a Hindu mystic which this process produces, heat on the oil and the towel spread the oil and soften the hair. After about 20 minutes remove the towel ,and shampoo the hair with pure castile shampoo, making sure that every vestige of oil has been washed away, since it tends to cloud its appearance. Rinse the hair thoroughly, gradually cooling the last rinse by adding cold water, to avoid the danger of catching cold.

Between shampoos, keep the hair glossy, clean and healthy by 100 nightly brushings with a good, stiff bristled hair brush, brushing upwards and outwards. Remember to make sure that the brush sweeps the scalp as well as the hair, thus stimulating and enlivening the hair. It's said that either extreme hair condition, too oily or too dry, can be cured repeated brushing and proper Shampooing. Always keep brushes sweet and clean and free from dust by frequent washing in warm water and soapy suds, to which one teaspoon of ammonia has been added.

Clean Carpets.

Colder weather presents a double problem in the care of rugs, since the family generally manages to track in quite a bit of snow, as well as disagreeable, stubborn sand. The usual wear and tear and the added danger of moths or sharp furniture legs, are also ever-present, and with the scarcity of good rugs, it behooves Mrs. Housewife to cast an appraising eye over her carpets, and embark on a save-the-rug campaign.

Until she has trained her family, to take off their overshoes before coming inside, she is under difficulties, unless a small scatter rug is placed in front of the door, so that goloshes can be removed and placed to one side. The usual dust and dirt which accumulates should be removed each day by a thorough sweeping, or the use of the carpet sweeper. At least once a week, all household rugs should be given a "going-over" with the vacuum cleaner, using long, firm strokes that don't stir up too much dust, but still clean the rug.

Here are a few hints for cleaning and brightening carpets. Slightly moistened bran, sifted evenly over the carpet, and swept in the usual way, cleans, while raising very little dust, as to wet tea leaves, spread evenly and swept as usual. A broom dipped in cold salted water will not only keep down dust, but will also freshen the carpet. Always remember to sweep the way of the nap, since to brush against it roughens the surface, and tends to force the dust and dirt into the carpet, instead of out of it.

A small bottle of eucalpytus is an invaluable first- aid cleaner for furniture covers, as well as rugs. Just pour a few drops on a clean cloth and wipe the soiled spot with a light circular motion. If ink is spilled on the carpet, cover it immediately with salt, scooping up the salt as it soaks up the ink, and repeating the process until the salt comes off clean. Then put a final coating over the spot, and leave overnight. Grease spots disappear if covered immediately with flour or whiting, and swept up the next day. Repeat the process, for good measure, and rub the spot with turpentine.

Fashions In Furs.

Nippy weather always brings the thought of soft, luxurious furs to mind and lucky women who will be buying a new collar neckpiece or coat should remember that Dame Fashion favors the short-haired furs this season. They drape beautifully and have a soft roomy appearance. Rich browns, inky glossy blacks and smooth grays are heading the popularity polls, and beaver, Alaska seal, mink, Persian lamb, squirrel, and muskrat, as well as Hudson seal and several types of rabbit are favorites.

For Gleaming Pearls.

The cleaning properties of bran are many fold, and it is excellent as a sure cleaner fo. discolored pearls. Just place them in hot water in which bran has been boiled with a little cream of tartar. Rub the pearls gently once or twice betweens the hands, and let them remain in the bran solution till the water is cool. Rinse thoroughly in lukewarm water, and let dry. For best results, place them in sawdust, or on white paper in a dark place, while they are drying, and they'll come out gleaming like new.

BEAUTY VERSUS INTELLIGENCE

The Intelligent Woman Is Meticulous In Keeping Herself Feminine and Lovely.

A GIRL ASKS: "Do men admire highly intelligent women?" The answer is yes, and no. Abstractly men admire brilliant women, but personally the majority of them prefer their feminine brains scrambled for their breakfast dish. What's outside of a girl's head is more alluring to them than what's inside of it, and no hostess would attempt to interest a youth in a maiden by telling him how clever and witty she was. She would devote all of her sales talk to ballyhooing her looks.

That a Kappa Gamma key is no help in unlocking the door to her own little home of which every girl dreams is abundantly proven by the fact that the marriage ratio is lower among college women than among others of their sex. Yet no one will deny that the more sense a woman has, the easier she is to get along with, and the better wife and mother she makes.

This seeming contradiction in men's tastes and what they pick out for wives, may be explained in several ways. One is that the average man is still a victim to the age-old theory that the proper position for a wife is on her knees. She must always look up to her husband. She must regard him as a second solomon. She must take all of her opinions from him and have no mind of her own whatever. It is the fear men have of their wives being superior to them that provides husbands for the Dumb Doras.

Brains Under a Pretty Hat

Another reason why men take their admiration of women of superior intelligence vicariously, so to speak, is because they don't want to be kept on their tiptoes all the time matching wits with a feminine wisecracker. "There is nothing I enjoy more than an hour's talk with a brilliant woman," said a man to me once, "but God forbid that I should be married to one! When I come home at night I want to hear that the baby has cut a tooth, not to argue about our foreign policy with a wife who knows more about it than I do."

But while few men pick out their wives for their brains, all husbands expect their wives to be possessed of almost supernatural intelligence and to be all around geniuses who are experts in every line of human endeavor. Every man expects his wife to be as good a cook as a French chef and to be able to run a home without running up bills, though this requires the skill of a sleight of hand performer.

He expects his wife to be a financial wizard who can make every penny grow into dollars, though the geniuses who can turn this trick are not workng in kitchens for their board and clothes. They are drawing down big salaries in banks

He expects his wife to be a doctor, a trained nurse, a social secretary, a press agent for him, a diplomat who makes friends and opens doors for him and who rubs his fur the right way and walks high, wide and handsome around his peculiarities and prejudices; but he never suspects her of being the brainy one of the family. He thinks he is IT.

Oh, yes, men admire women of superior intelligence, especially when they keep their brains under their hats

Mr. and Mrs. E. Liddell, 603 Armour Road, have announced the engagement of their youngest daughter, Ruth Liddell, to Albert Le Gros, son of Mrs. H. Le Gros, 354 Water street. The wedding will take place in St. John's Anglican Church on December 16.

'SAY WHEN'
Liquid Dispenser
For measuring and pouring liquids from bottles—when dispensing and serving liquids
Fits all standard size bottles and decanters. A light push of the plunger delivers an even amount of liquid every time. Seals bottle airtight and acts as a cork.
'Say When' Jiggers are in use in government laboratories and hospitals for dispensing liquids out of half and gallon size containers, where small quantities are desired and where it is difficult to pour from large bottles. In some instances 'Say When' dispensers are used dispensing diluted sulphuric and citric acids.
All materials used in 'Say When' dispensers are plastic, which will withstand various acids, including all types of fruit and food acids as well as liquors and wines.

So-Ed Course Ends

The So-Ed course for this season was concluded at the Y.W.C.A. Wednesday evening, with a successful social hour following the regular periods. A short and peppy singsong, in the recreation room, led by Quirt McKinney, was followed by folk dancing, led by Rev. George Kelly, of Lakefield.

Later, members were invited to the Green Room, where refreshments were served from a table attractively and appropriately arranged for the Christmas season. A miniature Santa Claus, complete with reindeer and sled, centred the table, and was flanked by tall lighted red candles in silver holders. Mrs. Q. McKinney and Mrs. M. Holt poured coffee from the large silver urns, set at either end, and lunch was served by members of the recreation group. Miss O. Johnston was in charge of the arrangements.

Helen M. Booth Married To Lakefield Man

A wedding of interest took place in All Saints' Anglican Church recently, when Helen Mary Booth, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Booth, Western avenue, became the bride of Elwood Everett Reynolds, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Reynolds of Lakefield. Rev. W. A. Filer officiated, and the church was decorated with white 'mums for the occasion. Mrs. A. Logan was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bridge wore a gown of white sheer, trimmed with white silk braid, with a full skirt. Her veil of white net fell from a Sweetheart halo, and she carried a bouquet of red roses. She was attended by Miss Margaret Boate, as maid of honor, in a gown of blue silk net over satin. Her headdress of pink and blue flowers held a matching blue veil which fell to her shoulders, and she carried a bouquet of white and pink 'mums. Elwood Stone was best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, and later Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds left for a short wedding trip. For travelling, the bride chose a black silk velvet dress, with moss green coat, and silver fox fur. On their return, they will make their home at 99 Aylmer street.

WVS Seeks Homes For Soldiers

The Women's Voluntary Services Committee, which for several years past has been in charge of finding homes for soldiers to visit at Christmas, is making preparations for December 25 now. It is hoped that all hostesses will have handed in their names and the number they want by December 20. The same thing will be done for New Year's too.

Last year 150 boys, most of whom came from widely separated points in Eastern and Western Canada, were entertained in Peterborough homes, where they were made welcome. Hostesses wishing to assist the Hospitality Service are asked to telephone 9377.

Elect Officers For WMS Group

Mrs. James Spencer, Stewart street was hostess for the Christmas meeting and election of officers for Group F of the Women's Missionary Society of George Street United Church. Mrs. W. H. Morton presided for the election of officers.

Mrs. R. C. Boulter was re-elected as group leader, and the other members of the executive are as follows: Assistant leader, Mrs. V. Boorman; secretary, Mrs. Frank Barrett; treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Hales; temperance secretary, Mrs. J. Fanning; Christian stewardship, Mrs. J. Spencer; pianists, Mrs. H. S. Powers and Mrs. H. Girven; press secretary, Mrs. H. Powers; telephone committee, Mrs. W. Pogue and Mrs. A. Bradshaw; sick and visiting committee, Mrs. L. Gray and Mrs. E. Cox; Herald for Trinidad, Mrs. V. Boorman.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. F. Horton, who presented a Christmas message. Miss Elizabeth Milburn entertained with two guitar solos while Mrs. V. Boorman and Mrs. C. Elliott were in charge of the devotional period, and the roll call was answered with gems on "Christmas." Mrs. J. W. Hales moved the vote of thanks to those taking part in the program, and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Otonabee IODE Donates $200

Several large donations, totalling $200 were voted to various funds and groups at the regular meeting of the Otonabee Chapter, I.O.D.E., Wednesday afternoon in the Y.W.C.A. One hundred dollars was voted to the British War Victims Fund, $50 to the Memorial Community Centre, $25 to the Kinsmen's Milk for Britain Fund, and $25 to be divided between Apsley and Whitney schools.

A nominating committee, Mrs. B. Hall, Mrs. F. L. Robinson and Mrs. McConkey, was named to present a slate of officers at the next meeting. About $109 worth of new clothing, and some good used clothing, was packed in a bale at the close of the meeting, to be sent to headquarters at Hamilton.

Vesper Service For CGIT Groups

Approximately 45,000 Canadian girls in training will participate in the Christmas Vesper Service, this year, on December 17, in Protestant churches across Canada. Plans are already under way for this event which forms the closest link the local C.G.I.T. has with the whole movement.

Sponsored by the National Girls' Work Board of the Religious Education Council of Canada, the vesper service has a two-fold purpose: to provide an opportunity for girls to share in worship, using a candle-lighting service especially prepared for the occasion; and to support the C.G.I.T. movement, by making possible the work of a national secretary, since offerings taken at the service are the only source of support for the National Girls' Work Board.

The Board was organized during the First World War, to provide a church centred program for ten age girls. Through its work in Christian education and its camping program, the C.G.I.T. has achieved influence and a great many members. It is still up-to-the minute, however, in anticipating and filling the needs of ten age girls, the latest project along this line being the "Senior Quiz," designed to fill the demand of girls of today for something to think and talk about, and something to do.

The aim of the Ontario Girls' Work Board is a vesper service in every community, conducted by C.G.I.T. groups as part of the planned Christmas program of the Protestant churches, with all congregations participating. Two Peterborough C.G.I.T. groups from Knox United and Mark Street United churches, will be observing the vesper service on December 17, in the evening.

Yule Meeting Held Jointly

The Bridgenorth Women's Missionary Society and Women's Association enjoyed a joint Christmas meeting on Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. J. Johnston, president of the W.M.S. The election of W.M.S. officers for 1945 was conducted, and annual reports presented, showing that the allocation for the year had been met.

Rev. H. H. Mutton presided for the election and installation of officers, which resulted as follows: President, Mrs. James Johnston; vice-president, Mrs. W. J. Robinson; treasurer, Mrs. A. Edmison; secretary, Mrs. Markess Fowler; Peace and Temperance secretary, Mrs. R. Pettersone; Community Friendship, Mrs. Clayton Telford and Mrs. A. Edmison; Missionary Monthly, Mrs. W. J. Telford; Supply secretary, Mrs. Ella Nicholls; Christian Stewardship, Mrs. W. Nicholls; Press, Mrs. J. Johnston; Mission Band, Mrs. A. Edmison; Quarterly Board, Mrs. W. J. Robinson.

Mrs. J. Johnston presided, and led in the devotional and singing of Christmas carols. Miss L. Udy read the Christmas story from St. Luke's Gospel, and Mrs. Johnston led in prayer. During the social half-hour which followed the adjourning of the meeting, the hostess served refreshments.

St. Paul's Aid Sponsors Tea

An excellence attendance of guests marked the Christmas tea and bazaar sponsored by the south end group of the Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Wednesday afternoon in the Sunday school room. Receiving the guests were Mrs. A. Milby, leader of the group, Mrs. A. A. McIntyre, president of the Ladies' Aid, and Mrs. Samuel Johnston. Rev. Mr. Johnston opened the tea with prayer.

Individual tables, each centred with a lighted red candle, were placed around the main tea table, which was tastefully arranged with a cutwork cloth, and centred with a rose bowl of red roses, flanked by lighted red tapers set in silver candelabra. Pouring tea were Mrs. A. McLeish, Mrs. W. Young, and Mrs. F. Haggart, Sr., Mrs. E. Simmons and Mrs. L. Monk were in charge of the tea table, assisted by Mrs. F. Leach, Mrs. B. Taylor, Mrs. P. Elliott, Mrs. G. MacMillan and Mrs. J. Walker.

Tables for the bazaar, were well-filled with novelties, home cooking and various articles. In charge of the home cooking table were Mrs. J. Mackness and Mrs. T. Kay, while Mrs. G. Pearson and Mrs. J. Stevenson supervised the display of vegetables and other cooking needs. The fancy goods and novelties were in charge of the following members, Mrs. F. Haggart, Mrs. R. Richardson, Mrs. G. Armstrong, and Miss F. Rosenburgh.

Mrs. T. V. Whittington was in charge of the arrangements for an enjoyable musical program. Soloist was Mrs. George Jackson, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. W. D. Taylor, and piano duets were played by Misses Marjorie Laing and Lorraine Derry. Mrs. W. Anderson was treasurer.

Members Re-elect W.A. Executive

The entire executive of the Women's Association of Trinity United Church was returned to office for another year, at the Christmas and annual meeting of the association, Tuesday afternoon in the church parlors.

Members of the executive who were installed included: Honorary president, Mrs. G. Easton; president, Mrs. N. D. Seaton; first vice-president, Mrs. P. W. Fisk; second vice-present Miss Mabel Clarry; third vice-president, Mrs. F. C. Paterson; secretary, Mrs. A. Boorne; treasurer, Miss E. Morrow; flower convener, Mrs. F. T. Rappe.

Various conveners' reports showed that a most successful year had been enjoyed, and special interest was directed toward the work done for war charities. Capt. J. L. Hodgson gave the Christmas message. The Christmas theme was carried throughout the decorations in the candle-lighted room, and in the refreshments served at the close of the meeting by the group in charge, Group E.

NO CURE FOR BABY'S COLDS
. . . But You Can Help Nature To Fight Them Off
Medical Science denies there is any such thing as a cure for colds—only Nature herself can do it. So when baby's sniffles, or stuffy breathing warn you of a cold's presence—cooperate at once with Nature.
See that baby is kept warm, gets plenty of sleep and take extra care that the bowels are thoroughly cleared of harmful wastes which drag down vitality and resistance. To do this without upsetting baby's whole system and further weakening it, try Baby's Own Tablets—easily crushed to a powder, if desired. Mild, yet act promptly in getting rid of the irritating materials that make baby restless and feverish . . . and in this way they encourage restful sleep. Used with confidence by thousands of Mothers for over 40 years, too, for teething fevers, constipation, and other simple baby ailments. No "sleepy" stuff—no dulling effect. Get a box of Baby's Own Tablets today. Only 25¢. If they fail to help, call your physician at once.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP

Our main course nowadays often can't be as dressed up as we would like but what of it, there's always dessert. The meal that winds up in a burst of glamor is practically certain of success. Of course desserts too, present problems. Time is one and limited supplies another but the following recipes will help in solving both problems.

Baked Orange Blossoms

4 oranges, ½ cup chopped seeded raisins, 1 cup corn flakes, ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, few grains salt, 2 tablespoons melted butter. Shape blossoms. Mix raisins, corn flakes, ¼ cup sugar, cinnamon, salt, butter and pile into centre of each blossom. Place in a shallow baking dish, sprinkle with remaining sugar and bake in a hot oven 400 degrees F. for 12 minutes. Serve at once, preferably in the baking dish.

Prune Fluff

1⅓ cups sieved cooked prunes, 1⅓ tablespoons of lemon juice, few grains of salt, 2 egg whites, ¼ cup sugar, chocolate cookies, soft custard sauce. Combine prunes, lemon juice and salt. Beat egg white stiff and gradually add sugar, beating constantly. Fold into prune mixture. Line serving dish with cookies. Pile prune mixture into dish. Serve with a custard sauce made with the yolks of the eggs.

Hurry-up Plum Pudding

1½ cups quick cooking oats, ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¾ teaspoon nutmeg, ¾ cup seedless raisins, 2 cups boiling water, 1 egg, ½ cup chopped walnut meats, orange sauce. Combine oats, sugar, salt, spices, raisins, water. Bring to boiling point while stirring. Place over boiling water, cover and cook 10 minutes. Beat egg, add oat mixture and nut meats. Serve hot with orange sauce.

AID FOR TEACHERS

LUSAKA — (CP). — There is increased interest in girls' education in Northern Rhodesia, where, to supplement the work of women teachers, more than 300 helpers are employed. These are largely the wives of teachers who, after short courses, are employed part-time to teach girls.

TWINKLE-TOE WHIMSIES — With Christmas just around the corner and many a male shopper looking for hints, let us suggest to him these pretty rosettes and buckles composed of glittering sequins, beads and bright ribbon, ready to slip onto a pair of mules and give the girl twinkle-toes. No fitting problem involved, quite proper though personal.—By Prunella Wood.

Specialties for the Invited

By MARY MOORE

For our house chicken salad from leftover chicken is just idle talk, but I can dream can't I?

If by some freak there was ever any chicken left after we had one roasted, some ice box raider would polish it off before midnight so chicken salad is just a recipe for you. But I know good chicken salad when I taste it—and I made up this present one for a bridge club collation for a friend of mine.

Now French Dressing is the marinade you use, and if we want to become notable for our cooking here in Canada we have to observe these little preparatory refinements.

I'm going to stress these peculiarly French methods for a while because I fear we deserve the indirect condemnation levelled at us by popular Canadian columnist who dared his readers to deny we were without a national dish, or a national reputation for good cookery.

I've been raging silently over it ever since I read that. Now I'm over my rage and up in arms. If we can't create our own, we can study cookery under the masters.

ANDRE'S CHICKEN SALAD

(Six servings) One and one-half cups chicken (or 1 cup chicken and ½ cup either cubed roast pork or roast veal), 1 cup finely chopped celery (or ½ cup celery and ½ cup chopped olives). 1-3 cup French Dressing (for marinade), ½ cup mayonnaise, ¼ cup blanched almonds are optional. Dice choice pieces of white and dark chicken meat. Marinade in the French Dressing for one hour in refrigerator. Drain off marinade as well as possible and mix prepared chicken with remaining ingredients. Serve on well-cupped lettuce leaves. This is nice garnished with cress, and accompanied by a spiced fruit such as pear or peach.

BLACK WALNUT SPONGE CAKE

(This recipe requires potato flour.) Six eggs—yolks and whites separated, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind ½ cup potato flour, ½ cup black walnuts, chopped and mixed with half of the sifted flour. To the well beaten egg yolks add the salt, sift in the sugar (which should be fine granulated or could be powdered sugar) slowly, beating constantly. Add lemon juce and rind. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Sift the flour six times, and ½ to nuts, and fold remainder in lightly; add floured nuts with folding motion Bake in ungreased angel food pan at 320 deg. Fahr. for about one hour. Let drop from pan. Dust with powdered sugar when cold.

DRIED BEEF SCRAMBLE

One cup dried beef cut small. 2 tablespoons fat, 1 cup tomato pulp, 1 cup grated medium cheese, 3 eggs, beaten, dash of paprika, dash of mustard, 8 slices hot buttered toast. Melt fat, add the prepared beef and other ingredients, cook slowly, stirring, until very hot and slightly thickened—about 6 minutes. Serve hot on toast or in patty shells. A good late snack for Christmas Eve.

This Week's Best Wartime Recipe

Contributed By Mary Moore Readers

Dear Mary Moore: To suit me you do not print half enough fish recipes. We eat fish twice a week because we like it so well, and I strongly suspect that you are of English beef-eating stock, to whom fish is not a must. For a while print some fish recipes you can recommend, will you? In return I'll start off by sending you one of my indispensables—Kedgeree.

◆ ◆ ◆

(Contributed by Lauchlan Miles)

One cup cooked rice, 4 hard-cooked eggs, minced or sliced, 1 cup cooked flaked fish (this may be canned salmon or leftover boiled or baked fish of any kind), ½ cup melted fat, 1½ teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon cayenne. Have the rice hot, then stir all together, over direct heat until very hot, and serve at once. This amount will serve 6 generously, or 10 if 2 or 3 vegetables accompany it.

Remember to send some good ways for baked fish.—L. M.

Well, and me a fish eater of long repute! At every opportunity I order lobster, frogs' legs, crumbed soft shell crabs, broiled salmon, especially Gaspe, and oysters on the half shell, both raw and Delmonico are my favorite weakness. Maybe it's because I want to save all the fish for myself that I don't share my recipes enough! I'll reform. Thanks for the Kedgeree.

Births Marriages In Memoriam Card of Thanks Deaths

BIRTH

GLEDHILL—Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Gledhill (nee Janet Herd), 71 Unsworth Ave., Toronto, wish to announce the birth of their son, Thomas Edwin at Burnside General Hospital, Toronto, Wednesday, December 6th, 1944, brother for Janet Millicent.

HERD—Mr. and Mrs. William Herd, Jr. (nee Eleanor Gregory), 139 Manor Rd. E., Toronto, wish to announce the birth of their son, Richard Kelly, at Grace Hospital, Toronto, Tuesday, November 28th, 1944.

LOWES—At Grace Hospital, Ottawa, on November 16th, 1944, to Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Lowes, a brother for Patsy and Glenn.

IN MEMORIAM

WELCH—In loving memory of Charles Welch, who died December 7th, 1943.

Dearer to me than words can tell,
The one I lost and loved so well;
I do not forget him, I never intend
I think of him daily, and will to the end.
Wherever I am, or whatever I do,
Always, dear husband, I'm thinking of you.
—Ever remembered by his wife.

BLACK—In fond and loving remembrance of our dear mother, Helen Taylor Black, who passed away December 7th, 1938. Ever remembered, Helen, Bruce and family.

McARTHUR—In loving memory of our dear little daughter Marie Joan McArthur, who passed away December 7th, 1943.

God sent a little angel
To cheer us for awhile;
Who with her baby sweetness
Did our lonely hearts beguile.
She tarried just a little while,
God could not spare her long;
He needed little Marie
To swell the angel throng.
Then He called her back to him,
He'll shield her from all pain;
There was an angel missing,
So He took her back again.
Days of sadness will come o'er us
When our hearts are all "unrest"
Can we say, tho' hearts are breaking,
Jesus did it for the best.
—Sadly missed by mother and daddy.

MASON—In loving memory of Christy Mason, who was killed in England, December 7th, 1940.

In England, in a soldier's grave
Lies our dear son among the brave.
He never shunned his country's call,
But gladly gave his life, his all,
He died the helpless to defend
A faithful soldier's noble end.
—Ever remembered by mother and father, Betty and Jack.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Girven and son, J. E. Girven, wish to express their thanks and appreciation to their many friends and relatives, also Rev. Dr. Semple of George St. United Church for flowers, fruit, letters and cards, sent to Mr. Girven while he was in the Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gallagher and family, wish to extend their deepest sincerity and thanks, to the many friends and neighbors, who so generously responded and showed such immense kindness through their loss by fire, also the De Laval employees, and the attending ministers, the George St. and Fairview Women's Associations; Queen Elizabeth Home and School, and the care and sympathy of the nurses at Nicholls Hospital.

Mr. Arthur Barrett wishes to thank sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, attending doctor, repair and shipping dept. and Fellowship Assn. of the Quaker Oats Co., also kind friends and neighbours for flowers sent in the sickness and bereavement of my beloved wife, Mrs. Arthur Barrett.

Alleged Slasher Says

the jury he arrived in the coach after it had reached this city, and found the soldier (Richer), lying on his back, his neck on a towel, and considerable blood on the floor.

Examines Wound

"Just above the collar of his shirt, there was an incised wound, about eight inches in length and two inches in depth, and he was suffering shock, he was pale and his pulse was weak."

Dr. Carleton anwered Mr. McElderry's questions by testifying it was a very severe cut, and certainly caused bodily harm.

Mr. Fair asked Dr. Carleton if he had treated the accused, who had a head injury. The doctor said he had, and that he found a bad bruise, which later had stitches in it. He admitted it could have been caused by a rock. Mr. McElderry re-examined the witness, and received an affirmative answer to his question of whether the injury on Nezezon's head could be caused by poking it through a window.

Police Take Charge

Gordon Trennum, Peterborough city police constable, told of how he handcuffed Nezezon outside the washroom in the coach, after a brief struggle, in which the accused "squirmed more than anything else, because he didn't want the handcuffs". He heard, testimony revealed, from outside sources, that a stone had been thrown through the window. P. C. Percy Sexsmith told of taking Nezezon to the police station.

In firm statements to the jury. Mrs. Lorraine Johnson, of the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F., said Nezezon was staring at everyone, and she thought it very unnatural. She saw the accused grab Richer, and screamed, which was the first disturbance of any kind in the coach. In a detailed explanation of why she couldn't remember various details Mr. Fair asked her for, she was cut short by Judge Smoke, who advised evidence was wanted, and not speeches. Soldiers do not tease civilians on the trains, she said, adding she was a passenger on trains often.

L./Cpl. F. J. Quinn, a passenger and member of the Provost Corps., said when Nezezon went into the washroom, he opened the window next to it, looked out, heard glass breaking and saw accused poke his head through.

Mr. Fair: "Did you hear cursing and swearing and charges about accused being a foreigner?"

"No!"

James C. Shannon, a conductor on the train, said there is a lot of trouble with troops on the train, and that they get pretty gay sometimes. But, he added, civilians are just as bad! On his trip through the coach prior to the accident, he said he noticed no trouble of any kind.

Bill Mekker, co-worker of Nezezon's in Quebec, was called by Mr. Fair for brief character comments about accused. Nezezon is not one for looking for trouble, he said. The case is continuing.

Annexation Question

thought they should not go, but we had a call from the Dominion Government for help to save the big grain crop, and I think it was perfectly right that many were able to go from Ontario. Some of the boys came back with less money than they took with them on leaving here. Rainy weather was an adverse factor to them. One man told me his boy arrived back with $300 in his pocket.

In trying to get help for our own farmers we had wonderful co-operation from Lieutenant-Colonel Turnbull of the local Training Centre. We had fifty young men on call, and they did a good job. G. A. Gillespie helped a great deal, especially in distributing the men. We had 135 from local industries. Some of them put in up to fifteen afternoons in the harvest. It all helped."

Mr. Paterson discussed postwar markets, agricultural trends, and eventual return to commercial competition with the essential requirement of quality products to hold the position Canada has been establishing during the war years and their circumstances.

HALIFAXES USED

LONDON — (CP). — It can be disclosed now that aircraft which dropped jeeps and six-pounder guns in Normandy on D-Day were Halifaxes.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

DON'T UNDER-ESTIMATE

MANY BRIDGE players make the same mistake the Japs did when they pulled their sneak attack on us three years ago today. They under-estimate their opponents. And the punishment they take as a result is comparable in a mimic mild way to the terrific licking the Japs are going to receive for thinking they could get away with their perfidy against such an opponent as Uncle Sam.

If West had given South credit for having the kind of hand which he himself would have required to make that club bid at the level of three, he might have restrained himself from that costly double. But he reckoned he could get two tricks each in the minor suits which South had bid, plus one or two with his spade honors—and his own partner had bid the fourth suit, hearts.

It should have occurred to him that, with his own side bidding both majors, South probably had considerable length in the minors, and that North would have a chance to choose for trump the one he preferred, with possibly shortage in the other. But he didn't, and as a consequence presented more than the rubber game to South, on a gameless deal, for an extra trick was scored.

The heart 10 lead fell to the A, and South shot back the heart K to make West ruff, which he did with the club 5. Back came the spade K, which was trumped, the club A dropping the Q, the diamond A and then the diamond 2 to the Q. West then laid down his club K and fired back a spade, which was ruffed. The diamond 3 was ruffed in dummy to set up the rest of the suit, and the club 9 ruffed a heart return, the hand being completed then with the last three established diamonds.

School Board Discusses New Insurance

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 7—(ENS)—The Lakefield Public School Board met in the council chambers with Chairman E. H. Northey, Trustees R. Bullock, Rev. S. A. R. Wood, M. Kingdon, W. Whetung and W. Frankish present.

The resignation of Rev. Mr. Wood from the Board was received, with regret.

S. J. Charlton introduced E. Evans, a representative of A. E. Wilson and Co. who explained their compensation insurance policy. After January 1, 1945, if a workman is injured while at work, his employer must report this to the Workmen's Compensation Board and if he is off work more than seven days he must receive two-thirds of his salary, all medical attention required and hospitalization. So for their own protection Mr. Evans advised the Board to purchase the compensation insurance.

It was moved by Rev. Mr. Wood that the board recommend the purchase of the compensation insurance from Lloyds of London through A. E. Wilson and Co. for employees of the Public school and that the High school board be asked to purchase a joint policy with the Public school.

Principal E. Sloane reported attendance for the month of November of 250 pupils, 89.48 per cent of perfect attendance. A number of the students were out with chicken pox, scarlet fever and colds.

The question of new seats was again brought up by the principal as John Wray now has 54 pupils in his room and is having trouble with the seating capacity. It was considered inadvisable to purchase wartimes seats and the old ones will be renovated again.

Trustees Whetung and Frankish moved that $50 be paid to leasee of the rink for use by the Public school.

Discuss Health

The health supervision of the school was discussed and it was moved by R. Bullock and S. A. R. Wood that the board place on record the request that the Public school board for 1945 consider the advisability of engaging a nurse for regular part-time supervision of the health of the pupils of the Public school.

Trustees Kingdon and Whetung moved that the truant officer W. Adamson be paid a bonus of $15.

Accounts were passed as follows: T. W. Chaplin, $3; Bell Telephone, $5.02; Lakefield Hydro, $31.43; T. C. Yonge, $1.70; E. J. Millage, $38.46; F. J. Norish, $1; S. J. Charlton, $28.50; L. Boat and Mfg. Co., $4.50. Total $149.41.

EATS PRIZE — The young owner of the prize-winning billygoat would like to take the blue ribbon home to show the neighbors, but "Bill" has other ideas. He's of the opinion that those Pinehurst pet show rosettes make good eating.

More Reinforcements

TORONTO, Dec. 7—(CP)—Chief Constable D. C. Draper, addressing the Toronto Police War Veteran's Association Tuesday, called for "institution of a system of military service in this country which will provide a full and constant flow of trained reinforcements to support our army in the field."

6,297 Recruits Since Nov. 8

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 — (CP). — Two statements were made Tuesday on the number of enlistments for overseas army service in recent weeks. But neither contained clues as to the effect the volunteer recruitment would have on the 16,000 home defence troops authorized by Order-in-Council to be sent overseas.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the Commons that since his November 8 radio appeal for continuance of the voluntary system of overseas recruiting, 6,297 men had gone active. Of these 2,701 were from the Home Defence troops and 3,596 from the general public and the Reserve Army.

Defence Headquarters announced that more than 2,000 Homes Defence troops went active from November 18 to December 2, while enlistments from the public and from the Reserve Army during the same period totalled 1,900.

Neither announcement indicated how many of the volunteers mentioned were in the trained infantry category needed immediately in the overseas reinforcement stream.

Capt. Sam Patte Wounded Overseas

Capt. Sam Patte of Peterborough, fighting with the Canadian Artillery in the 8th Army in Italy has been wounded, according to official word from Ottawa, received by his mother, Mrs. J. Patte, Water street.

No particulars have been given as to when or how the young Peterborough officer was wounded.

Capt Patte enlisted soon after the beginning of the war and won his commission from the ranks. He was overseas for a long time and was home for several months on compassionate leave, last year. He had been with the Canadians in Italy for many months and saw much action there.

Price Violators Pay $10,600 In Fines

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.—(CP).—Six violators of the Prices Board sugar regulations were collectively fined $10,600 plus costs yesterday after pleading guilty before Judge Rene Theberge.

John Ahern, K.C., special prosecutor for the Prices Board, stated that the firm and individuals were part of a black market in which approximately 1,000,000 pounds of sugar were used illegally.

William Bloomberg, operating under the name of Peer's Beverage of Canada, received the largest fine of $4,000.

Surprised When Syntona Gave Long-Sought Relief

Describes Tortures of Severe Rheumatic Pains and Sleep Disturbed by Kidneys. Had No Energy.

Every man or woman in Peterborough and vicinity who suffers from backache, sore joints and painful muscles; every person whose sleep is disturbed, should follow the example of other citizens who have taken Syntona and got grand relief. Here is another of the REALTIES of what Syntona can do for you, as reported by Mr. Alfred Stevenson, well known farmer at Freeman, Ont.

MR. ALFRED STEVENSON

"I had rheumatic pains so bad, I couldn't put on my own shoes or take them off. When I lay down I had to have my legs lifted and a pillow put under them so I could rest comfortably. I was troubled somewhat with constipation and my kidneys disturbed my sleep quite often at night. I felt all used up and everything I tried to do seemed so hard.

"I have only taken four bottles of Syntona, and already I feel so much better I can hardly believe it. My joints are so much looser, I can dress myself with ease and I have more energy than I've had in years. I get more sleep now because my kidneys do not call me up."

All who suffer are cordially invited to call at Elliott's Drug Store, and find out for themselves about Syntona. See how it may help you too. (Advt.)

CHURCHILL WINS BATTLE IN COMMONS

King Wins Confidence Vote Carries 143 to 70 Pleads For Canadian Unity

Conservative Total Conscription Motion Defeated 170 To 44
Vigorous War Policy Gets Strong Support

By JAMES McCOO—Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 8—(CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King's Federal administration today had the assurance of a Commons majority that it would support the maintenance of a "vigorous war effort," including the Order-in-Council authorizing Defence Minister McNaughton to send 16,000 home defence army men overseas.

The Government received a vote of confidence early this morning as the final event of a 13-day special House sitting which began November 22. The vote was 143 for the motion moved by the Prime Minister and 70 against.

The motion declared the House would support the Government in maintaining a vigorous war effort.

During its brisk session yesterday, the House also voted down two amendments, and upheld Speaker J. A. Glen in declaring two other amendments out of order. One C.C.F. amendment was accepted by the House.

The debate concluded with an impassioned appeal by Mr. King for support of the forces overseas and unity in the Dominion.

A Fine Record.

During the last five years no nation had a finer war effort than Canada and it was desired to maintain that effort, said Mr. King. Only to that effort did the resolution before the House relate. He was not asking for any vote of confidence on the government's policies generally.

The vigorous war policy could not be maintained without House support. Anyone that shared his knowledge of the seriousness of the situation at the moment—"a seriousness that can scarcely be imagined"—would want the House support in continuing the war effort.

Pledges of no conscription for overseas he had made with other leaders at the start of the war were addressed to all the country and not to one province. In 1942 he had pledged, after the government had been released from past pledges, to take any course necessary in support of the cause for which Canadiens were fighting.

Canada was fortunate the need had not arisen earlier, but now, to ensure against any possible lack of reinforcements, he felt that he was keeping faith with the House of Commons, the people of Canada and the fighting men in the army over-

Surprise Move Splits Japanese Armies

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Dec. 8 — (AP). — Veteran U.S. 77th Divisin troops from Guam, daringly put ashore by the navy to the rear of more than 25,000 trapped Japanese, rolled rapidly north today toward the enemy's west Leyte reinforcement port of Ormoc, less than three miles away.

The surprise landing Thursday in Ormoc harbor, under the guns of 7th Fleet destroyers and swarms of fighter planes, cut in half the heavily-defended Yamashita defence line.

This bold penetration of the Philippines inland seas to west Leyte, caught enemy strategists unaware. At the hour of landing a 13-ship enemy reinforcements convoy bound for Ormoc was spotted and it was wiped out, together with the 4,000 troops and equipment aboard, during the day by fighter planes.

The Leyte campaign, stalemated for more than a month by storms and Japanese reinforcements after swift conquest of its eastern side, roared into high gear on the third anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Chinese Retake Town Of Tushan

CHUNGKING, Dec. 8 — (AP). — Chinese field dispatches reported today that counter-attacking Chinese troops have recaptured Tushan, important railroad town 75 miles southeast of Kweiyang in Kweichow province.

There was no immediate confirmation from the Chinese high command, but earlier a special communique announced Chinese troops had "whittled down" Japanese forces fleeing southward from Sanho, 31 miles northeast of Tushan.

This war bulletin said the Chinese had pushed on 12 miles after recapturing Sanho Thursday. Fleeing Japanese troops were reported intercepted northeast of Lipo, 90 miles southeast of Kweiyang, which is the capital of Kweichow and Burma Road strongpoint.

The Chinese had expressed hope their counter-assaults might result in a few days in the recapture of Tushan, which the Japanese seized in an offensive mounting a two-fold threat to Kweiyang and Kunming.

Loss of Kunming by the Chinese would cut the prospective new China-India supply route. Other Japanese units were reported driving up the Yu River Valley from captured Nanning in another thrust apparently aimed at Kunming, 225 miles distant.

700 Casualties Back In Canada

HALIFAX, Dec. 8—(CP).—On her first voyage of mercy as a hospital ship, Canada's newly-converted liner Letitia arrived in this port today with more than 700 casualties from the fighting fronts and training fields overseas.

Second largest hospital ship in operation, the Letitia brought the greatest contingent of casualties to reach Canada together since the start of the war. The battlegrounds of Italy and Western Europe were heavily represented among the returning men, and there were also veterans of the air and sea wars.

Though it was the Lititia's maiden arrival here as a hospital craft, she returned to this port as an old acquaintance. In peacetime she flew the flag of the Cunard-White Star Line as a passenger liner.

Britain-U.S. In Agreement Over Greek, Italian Issues

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—(AP)—The Earl of Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, said today that the United States and British governments had achieved "understanding" on the Greek and Italian political issues. He spoke to reporters after a conference with State Secretary Stettinius at the United States State Department.

He did not define "understanding" or say whether there now is agreement between Washington and London on future handling of political issues in Italy and Greece.

Meeting reporters outside Mr. Stettinius' office, Lord Halifax said he believed the result of the current clash of views would be to strengthen the unity of Britain and the United States by making both sides be more careful hereafter to consult on every issue of common interest.

"I dont think we need be unduly excited about what has happened," Lord Halifax said.

"The note now should be one of substantial understanding in the certainty that it will be the purpose of the two Governments to consult together on all future occasions and to share their friendly counsel at all times."

The United States has declared itself in favor of freedom of choice by the Greek and Italian people of their respective Governments. It opposed Britain's veto of Count Carlo Sforza as Premier or Foreign Minister in Italy, but its policy declaration regarding Greece did not indicate whether it objected to use of British troops there.

Lord Halifax, who said he thought Prime Minister Churchill's speech in the House of Commons to-day stated the facts on Greece as Britain sees them, said the Greek situation boils down to this:

"It is a choice whether the Greek people are to have a free hand in selecting their government through free elections or whether it is to be anarchy or minority coup d'etat in Greece. I don't myself favor anarchy or a coup d'etat."

Thunderous Din As Vote Announced

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 8 — (CP). — Members of parliament acted like schoolboys at a graduation day when the momentous session on overseas conscription ended early this morning. When tha confidence vote was announced — 143 to 70 in favor of the government — some members tore order papers into strips and flung them into the air.

The last tense moments of the vote had been relieved when George Cruickshank, Liberal member for Fraser Valley in British Columbia — rose to signify his intention of voting for the government motion. He had opposed the government policy and had asked for all-out conscription.

He rose to his feet with a broad grin and before surprise government supporters could give him the traditional welcoming round of desk thumping, he thumped his own desk and shouted: "Cruickshank, voting for the government."

When the vote was announced there was a thunderous din of applause and crowded galleries stood to watch the scene on the floor of the chamber. Defence Minister McNaughton, sitting with his wife in one gallery, turned to her with a broad smile and nodded his head vigorously.

Col. J. L. Ralston, former defence minister, remained serious-faced during the clamor.

Renewed desk thumping greeted Prime Minister Mackenzie King as he rose smiling to move adjournment of the House.

Then as Speaker J. A. Glen was about to doff his black three-cornered hat to join his little procession of officialdom to his rooms, Ross Macdonald, Liberal member for Brantford, started to sing "God Save the King." The entire assembly, galleries included, joined in the singing.

At the last notes, government supporters and members of all parties gathered around the Prime Minister to congratulate him on the success of his motion. All smiles, Mr. King was heard thanking members of the C.C.F. and Social Credit party for their support.

Patton Army 8 Miles Into Germany

Great Saar Valley Rich Coal Region Crippled By Allies

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Dec. 8 — (AP). — Lt.-Gen. Patton hammered home his attack today 1½ miles into the Siegfried Line and eight miles deep in Germany's Saar Valley while his 3rd Army Long Toms and howitzers ripped to pieces its capital of Saarbrucken from three miles away. The campaign was a month old today and already had invalidated the rich coal region which supplies the German army with 10 per cent of its iron and steel.

The British-Canadian front in Holland was quiet. Floods from breached dikes covered 30 square miles and the northern half of the "island" between the Neder Rhine and Waal.

Infantry broadened their foothold across the Saar, merging three original crossings into two strong bridgeheads at Saarlautern and Dillingen along a stretch where the whole east bank is built solidly with one little war industry steel town after another. A cavalry squadron extended its lines inside Forbach, French rail town 3½ miles southwest of Saarbrucken.

Back in the heavily-wooded hills behind the factory towns which the American assault has turned into battlegrounds are the great collieries and coke ovens, whose 16,500,000 tons annual output have been forging the metal for much of Hitler's fighting machine.

Americans penetrated into the Pachtener Buckwald, woods northwest of Saarlautern, after cutting the railroad to Merzig in a penetration of the stout Siegfried Line. The drive appeared to be gaining momentum.

Saarbrucken, Saar capital of 135,000, was suffering the fate of the ghost city of Aachen. For the ninth consecutive day, 3rd Army 105s and

Tokyo Admits Japan Struck By Quake

By The Canadian Press

Radio Tokyo admitted today that an earthquake yesterday caused a tidal wave which covered houses with water, started a landslide and damaged buildings.

After almost a day of denials of major damage, the Japanese agency Domei admitted that Tokyo was shaken and that a tidal wave inundated houses.

The Domei dispatch, intercepted by the federal communications commission, said:

"The siesmic centre of the earthquake which hit the Tokyo district yesterday afternoon was in the Sea of Enshu.

"The districts affected by the earthquake which hit the Tokyo district yesterday afternoon was in the Sea of Enshu.

"The districts affected by the earthquake include Hammatsu, Shizuka, Nagano and their vicinities, where some damage was caused to dwellings.

Say Damage Slight

"In Shizuoka prefecture (roughly 125 miles southwest of Tokyo) tidal waves caused some houses to be inundated, while in Nagoya damage was slight, with only window panes being broken.

"In general, the damage was slight with practically no damage caused to our production facilities," Domei said.

No mention was made of damage sustained by shipping.

Domei's identification of the cities in which there was damage indicated that the tremor had affected not only the southeastern coastal area but also had run in a northerly diagonal to the city of Nagano on the west coast of Honshu.

In addition to Nagano, the cities of Shizuoka and Hammatsu on the southeast coast had suffered some damage, according to Domei, which added that in Nagoya—one of Japan's major cities — "damage was slight with only window panes being broken."

Premier Says Britain Acted To Keep Gangsters From Seizing Greek Reins

Denies Any Agreements With U.S. Broken
Count Sforza Not Trusted
Given Vote Of Confidence, 279 To 30

LONDON, Dec. 8—(CP).—In fighting mood today, Prime Minister Churchill defended Britain's intervention in Greece and Italy—and won a resounding 279-30 vote of confidence from the House of Commons. The 70-year-old leader received his ninth vote of confidence after declaring that Britain had acted in Greece only to avert gangster rule. He stood by the British Government's opposition to Count Carlo Sforza, whom the United States has supported in the Italian Government crisis.

His ire aroused by bitter, Left-wing denunciation of his stand, Mr. Churchill himself demanded the vote of confidence as justification for continuance of his policy.

The House gave him that support. He said such action would mean that Britain "will persist in this policy of clearing Athens and the Athens regions of all those who are rebels to the constituted authority in Greece."

But he made it abundantly clear that the policy was not designed for Greece alone; that Britain stood committed to the right of a people to choose their government in free election, but that it would not tolerate a "gang of men from the mountains" overthrowing constitutional authority by violence.

Simultaneously with the vote of confidence, the Earl of Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, announced in Washington that the British and United States Governments had achieved an understanding on the Greek and Italian issues — without defining the "understanding" further.

Fighting between Left-wing forces and British troops was continuing in Athens even as Mr. Churchill spoke.

The Prime Minister stood pat on British troops' intervention in Belgium, also. He said the troops under orders of Gen. Eisenhower patrolled the streets of Brussels and prevented November putsch to destroy the Pierlot goverment and "Gen. Eisenhower's decisions were absolutely right."

Mr. Churchill spoke after Seymour Cocks, Labor, opened an attack on the government's foreign policy with a demand for assurance that British troops both in Greece and other liberated countries would not be used to "disarm friends of democracy."

Moves Amendment

The Labor member moved an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne "that this House regrets that the King's speech contained no assurance that British troops would not be used to disarm the friends of democracy in Greece and other parts of Europe or to suppress popular movements which had valorously assisted in the defeat of the enemy, and upon whose success we must rely on for future, friendly co-operation in Europe."

"If what is called in this amendment the action of the friends of democracy," said Mr. Churchill scornfully, "is to be interpreted as a carefully planned coup d'etat by murder and by the iron rule of ruffians seeking to climb into the seats of power without a vote ever having been cast in their favor—if that is to masquerade as democracy, I think the House will be united in condemning it as a mockery."

Spokesmen for a left wing Labor faction—in one of the bitterest of wartime attacks on the government—declared Britain stood in danger of losing the friendship of the

Soviet Legions Drive Wedge West Of Danube

MOSCOW, Dec. 8 (AP) — The heavily-armored right wing of the Russian 3rd Ukraine Army was reported little more than 15 miles from Budapest today in the fiercely sustained drive to cut off the Hungarian capital from Austrian communications.

Field dispatches said the forces of Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin were pounding a big wedge in the enemy's flank west of the Danube, but resistance by the enemy, reinforced by troops rushed from Vienna, increased as the battle surged toward Budapest.

Szekesfehervar, junction of six rail lines 36 miles southwest of Budapest, was temporarily by-passed by the Russians in their accelerated drive up the Danube's bank.

The Soviet supreme command was still silent on what operations Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2nd Ukraine Army may be undertaking to seal off Budapest from the northeast, but he and Tolbukhin appeared certain to co-ordinate closely their assaults to complete investment of Hungary's greatest city.

Taking prisoners at the rate of 2,000 a day Tolbukhin also widened his grip along the Drava River within 70 miles of the Croatian capital of Zagreb, through which German divisions in the Balkans hope to escape into Austria.

Superforts Hit Bonin Islands

SAIUAN, Marianas Islands, Dec. 8 — (AP). — Saipan-based Superfortresses put Japan's Bonin Islands on their bombing schedule to-day with a raid on Iwo Jima, likely take-off point for 10 enemy bombers which hit the B29 base here yesterday.

The B29's flew 750 miles to raid Iwo Jima, a frequent target for the blows by U.S. Liberators. Use of the bigger craft indicated a stepped-up offensive to knock out the threats to Saipan and clear the bombing route to Tokyo.

First announcement of the raid came from Washington.

One Superfortress was destroyed and two others damaged in the Wednesday raid by twin-engined Mitsubishis which dropped a few bombs on Saipan, and then swept lpow in strafing runs.

Some Superfortress airmen back from the fifth and sixth raids on the Japanese capital on Thursday night and early Friday morning told of finding Tokyo so brilliantly lighted "it was just like flying over New York."

Battle of Cologne Plain To Be Fierce

Eisenhower Matches Wits With One Of Germany's Best Generals

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The Allies still have before them what's likely to be the toughest engagement of the war—the battle of Cologne plain.

At best it's bound to be a ferocious and bloody business, for Gen. Eisenhower's aim is the annihilation of Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's army—not the mere capture of territory. There's no soft way of saying that wars are won by killing men—and the Germans don't sell their lives cheaply.

We are witnessing a great matching of wits between Gen. Eisenhower and one of the best military brains of Germany. Eisenhower's tactics have compelled Von Rundstedt to commit the bulk of his forces to the defence of the Cologne plain which shields the Ruhr—heart of Hitler's war industries. That plain not only is key to the main routes to Berlin but its wide open spaces provide an amphitheatre in which the Allied Commander can get at his enemy.

Sure the Nazi leader has been able to see the trend of affairs, but he hasn't been able to control the trend He has had to to follow along

Having labeled the Cologne sector as the vital one, Eisenhower has put tremendous pressure on other stratgic points throughout the length of the German battleline, thus tempting Von Rundstedt to shift troops from the Cologne front to other hard-pressed areas. And when the German has refused to accept the challenge, the Allied Commander has sent his armies surging up the Rhine in the far south, and right to the edge of the Saar, which is one of the half dozen biggest coal mining and industrial areas of Continental Europe and affords a natural corridor to the middle Rhine.

The position today is that Von Rundstedt is faced with not one but two major threats — before Cologne and in the Saar. The menace to the Saar has been obvious but the German has refused to change horses in mid-stream—in fact he couldn't make the shift at this late date without inviting quick disaster. So he has clung tenaciously to his advanced positions along the Roer river, the main shield of the Cologne plain

Von Rundstedt's program has been costing him 9,000 ,casualties a day all told in the various sectors. Despite the comparative lull recently in the crucial northern end of the front it hasn't been time wasted.

News Disputes Denied

Allied Papers Agree On Freedom Of Press

LONDON, Dec. 8.—(CP-Reuter.)—C. J. Chancellor, general manager of Reuter News Agency, in a statement to World's Press News, British newspaper trade journal, said yesterday he was quite satisfied there is no dispute between the British and American press or between the British and American governments on the issue of news freedom.

World's Press News approached him on the question because of the repercussions provoked in the United States by a statement in the Economist, Britain's leading economic journal, on the question of news freedom.

The Economist, in a attack last Friday on the press freedom campaign conducted by Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, suggested his program might allow United States news agencies "to dominate the world."

Mr. Chancellor said: "Reuters and the United States are in complete accord about the principle of honesty and truth in international news and the vital importance of non-discriminatory rates and free access to news at its source."

Mr. Chancellor added that he had the greatest admiration for the lead taken by Mr. Cooper in the crusade and that Reuters would work hand in hand with the Associated Press in forwarding the principles in which both news agencies believed.

Japs Leaving Ledo Road

Allied Advance Too Late To Save Key City

NEW DEHLI, India, Dec. 8—(AP)—Japanese withdrawals in Burma are on such a large scale that it appeared today the Ledo route to China would be cleared possibly within a week or 10 days, but it was increasingly likely that it would be too late.

Already the Japanese in China are in positions to threaten Kunming, which is a huge airline hub and the only really effective terminus for the Burma Road.

The Japanese retreat in Burma, coupled with the advances in China, pointed to the reframing of the entire Japanese plan of defence.

A summary of the best information available here indicates:

1. A fighting Japanese withdrawal from northern Burma with a clean-up possible before the next monsoon in April.

2. If Burma is cleared, the Japanese probably will withdraw from Thailand (Siam) because it then would be difficult to defend.

3. They would continue to defend Indo-China, Malaya, Singapore and Sumatra.

4. They probably will attempt to take Kunming with the aim of locking the back door to their continental defence position.

The whole thing fits in with what observers here believe is the new Japanese defensive strategy that would indicate eventual abandonment of all their southwest Pacific conquests that do not contribute to continental defence.

Reckless Driving Case Is Given To Jury

A reckless driving charge against Eugene Schlenkirt, of Detroit, Mich. went to a General Sessions of the Peace Jury this afternoon after Judge S. L. Smoke's address to the jury members had been heard. Previously Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., and Defence Counsel J. F. Strickland, K.C., both addressed the jury.

The 34-year-old American-born war-worker was charged with reckless driving in connection with an automobile accident which took place Labor Day, Sept. 4, 1944, on the Warsaw Road. A 1941 Desota sedan driven by Schlenkirt on that date went into the ditch several miles from Peterborough, and Mrs. Felix Courneya lost her life, together with injuries to other passengers in the car.

Called to the box in his own defence, Schlenkirt told the jury he was travelling no more than 40 miles per hour. An obstacle of some kind came into contact with his right front wheel of his car, he testified, and he received a severe bump on the head from some portion of the section of the car in which he was sitting. Schlenkirt said he could not remember any of the details following this until he regained his senses, and found himself under the car, in the ditch.

He was assisted in getting out from under the car by passengers from two other vehicles that arrived on the immediate scene of the accident. Trying to help as much as possible in giving aid to other injured passengers in his car, he was badly hurt himself, and was forced to sit down in the ditch.

3 Weeks In Hospital.

He was confined to a hospital for three weeks, he said, and in answer to a question, gave some details about the injuries he received.

Cross-examined by Mr. McElderry, Schlenkirt in a firm clear voice admitted he did not see anything on the road which might have been the obstacle that hit the wheel of his car, subsequently forcing it from the road.

The witness also told Mr. McElderry that sometime between 11 o'clock in the morning of the accident day, and one o'clock in the afternoon, he had consumed four glasses of ale. After this, he testified he had something to eat. (The accident took place after 5:30 in the afternoon.)

"I had no gin or whiskey to drink that day."

He said he was not speeding, and he had no realization there was any kind of danger about.

Extent of Inquiries

Second defence witness was Dr. J. M. O'Brien, who saw the accused in St. Joseph's Hospital at seven o'clock in the evening. Dr. O'Brien told the court the extent of Schlenkirt's injuries, which included severe burns on his back and shoulder, injury to the left side of his head, shock, and a suspected slight concussion of the brain. Accused also suffered cuts and bruises. Dr. O'Brien testified that with the injuries he had sustained, it is unlikely accused could remember all the details of the accident. The doctor said he found no evidence that the accused had been drinking, or any intoxication at all.

Previous testimony revealed witnesses at the scene of the accident had seen Schlenkirt fall down several times after being taken from under the auto. Dr. O'Brien was asked if this was caused by the injuries he had received, as other witnesses had offered, and he replied. "Decidedly."

Earlier in the morning, Crown Attorney McElderry called upon Dr. H. G. Carleton, coroner, for testimony.

He told of what he saw upon arriving at the accident scene, of seeing the body of Mrs. Courneya lying close to the fence, and also gave the causes of Mrs. Courneya's death to be a fractured neck.

Bert Jewell, an employee of the Canada Packers, told of how he had attended the supper at Douro and left that village at approximately 20 minutes to six o'clock.

The driver of his own automobile, Jewell testified he passed the car driven by the accused on the hill, and that in his opinion, it was travelling at a rate of approximately 60 miles an hour. After he learned the car had gone into the ditch, he returned to the scene, giving all the assistance he could to the injured. With the assistance of others, he released Schlenkirt from under the car. The witness said he did not come close enough to the accused to smell his breath. However, he could smell liquor at the scene, he said.

Cross-examined by Mr. Strickland, Jewell said Schlenkirt seemed to be badly injured.

Jack Foskett, also of Canada Packers and another passenger in the Jewell car, told of how he sat in the centre of the back seat, and when the car passed him, "going over 50 miles an hour," he had turned his head, and saw the auto in the ditch. This witness also testified he had smelled no liquor on the accused.

Opposing the government on the final division on the confidence motion were the Progressive Conservative party; the Quebec Bloc Populaire group; Quebec Independents; 25 Quebec Liberals; one Independent, A. W. Neill of Comox-Alberni, British Columbia; Harry Leader, a Liberal-Progressive of Portage La Prairie, Man., and E. O. Bertrand of Prescott, Ont.

The opposition vote thus included Progressive Conservatives who supported total conscription and other members opposed to the limited conscription imposed by the government.

Vote at 1 a.m.

Mr. King had a majority within his own party in the final vote, which came at 1 a.m. He had said previously that he would not seek to carry on unless he had adequate support from his own followers in the House.

Members of the Senate, who also assembled in Ottawa on Nov. 22, completed their sitting on Wednesday. The House resumes on Jan. 31, 1945.

The government's strength was indicated in House divisions yesterday afternoon. Votes indicated sufficient government members backed it to exceed any combined opposition.

The tensity which has marked the "crisis session" continued in evidence, however. Members displayed little of the good spirits often in evidence when a vote is about to be taken and they usually sing while waiting silently, but after the final vote early this morning government supporters cheered wildly.

An amendment moved by Joseph Jean (L—Montreal Mercier) brought out the Anti-conscription votes as it suggested the government continue the voluntary method of obtaining men for overseas. Liberal members voting in support of this amendment numbered 40, 38 being from Quebec.

Others were E. O. Leger, member for the New Brunswick constituency of Kent and E. O. Bertrand, member for the Ontario Prescott riding. The amendment was defeated by 168 votes to 43.

4 Quebec Votes

Four Quebec cabinet ministers voted with the government—Justice Minister St. Laurent, Fisheries Minister Bertrand, War Services Minister LaFleche and Welfare Minister Claxton. Dr. R. Leduc of Wright, a French-speaking member, and two English - speaking members from Quebec, Douglas Abbott of St. Antoine-Westmount and F. P. Whitman of Montreal Mount Royal, also supported the government.

Works Minister Fournier, member for Hull, Que., was not in the House during the Jean amendment vote but was there to vote against the Progressive Conservative "total conscription" amendment, which was defeated 170 to 44.

Four Liberals voted in support of the Progressive Conservative amendment which would make all 68,000 home defence troops available for service anywhere. The Liberals supporting this amendment were Flt. Lt. James Sinclair (Vancouver North), Robert Gladstone (Wellington South), George Cruickshank (Fraser Valley) and Harry Leader (Portage La Prairie).

The C.C.F. group supported the Progressive Conservative amendment, but the Social Credit group was divided.

The Social Crediters voted with the C.C.F. members when the latter appealed a ruling by Speaker J. A. Glen declaring out of order an amendment calling for the mobilization of wealth and resources as well as manpower and the elimination of distinctions between draftees and general service men. The Speaker was upheld by 176 votes to 20. It was the second C.C.F. amendment ruled out during the session.

Already the great blast furnaces of Dillingen, Volkingen, Neunkirchen and Saarbrucken, now are as good as useless to Germany. They drew their iron ore almost entirely from French Lorraine, which now is virtually completely in Allied hands.

The two greatest steel plants in the whole Saar Valley are located in the eastern Saarbrucken suburb of Brebach and the western suburb of Burbach.

While the Germans sacrificed their rich little arsenal valley of 1,000,000 population, hundreds of thousands of whom are skilled iron-mongers and coal miners, there were continued evidences of German withdrawal on both vital flanks, along the Upper Rhine and the middle Roer opposite Cologne.

To the north, the Germans again cloaked their movements on the east bank of the Roer with smoke-screens on the U.S. 9th Army front. First army patrols pushed to the bank of the flooded Roer beyond the Hurtgen Forest village of Bergstein.

County Council Honors Isaac Anderson

HAVELOCK, Dec. 8 (ENS) — Eighty persons comprising county council members and their friends attended the Warden's Banquet for the County of Peterborough held in St. John's Anglican church at Havelock on Thursday evening.

The menu consisted of roast venison steaks in tomato sauce, this being the result of Warden Anderson's hunting trip. During the evening Warden Anderson was presented with a wrist watch, by A. Archibald, deputy-reeve of North Monaghan, and an address was read by Reeve Rork Ferguson of Norwood. He paid tribute to the way in which he had carried out his duties as warden to the council and the county.

In replying Warden Anderson said that his election to the Warden's chair made the fifth time for a reeve of Belmont to hold that office, the first warden being Peter Pearce, who held the office for two years, 1863 and 1864, before there was any village of Havelock. Following him a Mr. Brown was elected, then W. E. Griffith and F. D. Breckenridge.

Reeve E. D. Seeney of Havelock said that Belmont should be proud of their warden, and he was proud to be the reeve of a village situated in township of Belmont which was represented by so capable a man as Warden Isaac Anderson. He thought the township would be well advised to keep him in county council as long as possible.

Community Support

Rev. W. J. Lennox of Campbellford spoke briefly, stressing the need for leadership at this time.

Future Co-operation.

Mayor James Hamilton of Peterborough congratulated the County Council on the good work they were doing and stated he had been associated with them in their work for many years. He had been helped this year to a great extent by the Warden. Mayor Hamilton said there were extra difficulties to meet in wartime, and it was his sincere wish the war would be over soon, so that Councils could do what they would like to do for city and county. To the Warden he extended his appreciation for the work he had done in the county.

Harold Scott, M.P.P., paid tribute to the Warden's work, and said that he had discussed certain plans with him for the post-war period, and he hoped the township would return Warden Anderson to the County Council next year so that he might have his assistance to bring these plans into being.

Good Work.

Acting County Solicitor F. D. Kerr, K.C., first gave the gathering a message from his colleague, E. A. Peck, who sent his regrets at being unable to be present. He congratulated Warden Anderson on the splendid contribution he had made to the welfare of the community, county and city of Peterborough, also that it was gratifying to note the harmony that existed between city and county.

Dr. H. G. Carleton, of Peterborough, M.O.H. for Belmont and Methuen, and medical officer for the Old People's Home at Lakefield, described the work being done in the village and praised the Warden for his efforts since he had been serving on County Council.

Further Tribute

Reeve Rork Ferguson, Norwood, applauded Mr. Anderson's work and declared it was a wonderful experience especially for a young man to be in the county council, as it gave a man a broader outlook on life.

Reeve P. J. Mather of Otonabee said that he wished to express his appreciation of Warden Anderson's work, that he had displayed special qualities of leadership, broad vision and sportsmanship. He also said that Warden Anderson did not seek the office of warden, it had been given to him by his colleagues in recognition of services rendered.

F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative spoke briefly and W. A. Anderson of Otonabee, a veteran of many years of municipal and other election battles, recalled events which transpired when his father and grandfather had held the office of warden, and Rev. Mr. Lennox closed with prayer.

Flt. Sgt. J. Crowe Lies In Dutch Cemetery

Richard Crowe, RR 2, Lakefield, has been notified that his son, Flt.-Sgt. James Franklin Karl Crowe, who was killed in July, 1943, is buried in a cemetery at Nordivijk, Holland.

This word was forwarded by officials of the RCAF who had previously notified the family that the flier's body had been recovered from the sea July 8, 1943, according to a German report.

The young air gunner was born at McCracken's Landing and had grown up in Lakefield. Prior to joining the RCAF he worked at the service station of Percy Edwards at the corner of Burnham and Hunter streets.

Greeks just as England lost the American Colonies in the revolutionary war.

An Evil Genius

Mr. Cocks demanded assurance that British troops both in Greece and other liberated countries would not be used to "disarm friends of democracy." He assailed the British Ambassador in Greece, Reginald Leeper, as "the evil genius of modern Greece"—a remark he later withdrew—and called King George of Greece a dictator and a "Hohenzollern prince."

Mr. Churchill said that as long ago as the Quebec conference he had told President Roosevelt that the "E.A.M. and Communist extremists would attempt to seize the city of Athens and crush all forces but their own" after the Germans were expelled from Greece.

The E.L.A.S., he said, were "mutineers to the orders of the supreme commander of the Mediterranean under whom all guerillas have undertaken to serve."

One Labor member charged that Mr. Churchill once supported Mussolini, and others bringing in the name of Spain's Gen. Franco.

Swinging at the mention of Mussolini, the prime minister replied tartly:

"In 1928 I certainly did support him in the sense of making speeches to say that it was a very good thing that Italy was not plunged into Bolshevism."

Mr. Churchill stated that "the last thing that represents democracy is mob law, with bands of gangs armed with deadly weapons forcing their way into great cities, seizing police stations and key points of government endeavoring to introduce a totalitarian regime and clamoring to shoot everyone who is politically inconvenient, as part of a purge of those who are said to have collaborated with the Germans during the occupation."

"When countries are liberated," he said, "it does not follow that those who receive our weapons should use them to engross to themselves by murder and bloodshed powers and traditions many countries had slowly developed and to which the great majority of their people were firmly attached."

Mr. Churchill said he trusted "the mass of the people in almost every crisis," but that he wanted first "to make sure that it is the people, not a gang of men from the mountains or countryside who think by violence they can overturn constituted authority, in some cases ancient parliaments, governments and states."

Of Greece, he said, because the Government "did not allow the gangsters heavily armed to descend from the mountains and install themselves with all the bloody terror and vigor in power, the Government was accused of not being friends of democracy."

"I repulse that claim," said Mr. Churchill, amid cheers.

In Belgium, he said there was to be a coup in November to overthrow the Pierlot Government which he described as "the only constitutional link with the past." British troops patrolled the streets under orders of Gen. Eisenhower, Mr. Churchill said, and added:

"I consider that Gen. Eisenhower's decisions were absolutely right."

Appeal Court Sustains Verdict

A recent judgment of Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in the local police court has been confirmed by the Ontario Court of Appeal. The court composed of Chief Justice Robertson and Mr. Justice Gillanders and Mr. Justice Roach, dismissed an appeal in writing by George E. Sharpe against his conviction by Magistrate Langley on September 19, 1944, on a charge of atempted abortion, for which four months definite and two months indefinite were imposed.

CGE Surgery Excels In Aid For Christmas

There is a greatness in rendering a service to others of the human family, that nothing else in the world can equal, and when one's whole avocation is spent in the midst of this type of endeavor, it might, if it were allowed to do so, become just ordinary routine, with the vision of their own potentiality for greatness sinking to a common level.

When however, those who are engaged in such work, go out of their way from the ordinary call of duty to do some good for others much farther afield, it not only demonstrates that they have not lost this vision, but are also keenly awake as to their opportunities for rendering a service for others. There is no pecuniary return, except that inward satisfaction which in a sense is worth more than anything money can purchase.

The staff of the Surgery at the Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd. made up of Miss Mary Grier, Mrs. Helen Meredith and Miss Linden Reed, find many opportunities for helpfulness in their everyday ministrations to employees requiring them in the plant, from which they branched out to do a real service in assisting to give happiness to the victims of enemy air raid and robot bomb attacks on the people of Britain, through the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund.

Through the sale of tickets on a pair of blankets they raised the grand sum of $108.72, which is credited in their name today, and was not very far from doubling the amount they gave to the fund about one year ago. The draw was made by J. E. Girven and resulted in the prize going to Perry Kitchen, who says he never won a prize in such an event before.

This trio of women are to be heartily congratulated on the results of their effort, every cent of which will go to assist the people in Britain.

Bearing a name so closely associated with the lovely story of Christmas, it would seem an appropriate occasion for a group of people associated together in a fraternity, to do something to help carry the true significance it bears, to children who at the moment have no home.

The Star of Bethlehem L.O.B.A. No. 650 held a draw for a basket of groceries donated by the members, and a goose paid for from their exchequer, from which they realized the sum of $35 credited in their name today, duplicating an almost identical effort just about this same time last year.

This successful effort was under the convenership of Mrs. Mabel Wood of Aylmer street, and when the draw was made last Saturday night at the bingo games held in the Orange Hall, the 1st prize of a goose was won by Mrs. Fisher, 173 Park street, and the basket of groceries went to Mrs. Olan of R.R. No. 2, Millbrook.

The Dorcas committee of the afternoon branch of the W.A. of St John's church have quite an obligation to their own work which is purely to assist in Missions. So their contribution of $6 is something extra, and might almost be said to be an extension of missionary endeavor, in which the bread cast upon the waters by the poorer folk in Britain to sustain the work of Christianity in this country in its early days, is going back to them in time of need

Cattle Prices Higher

TORONTO, Dec. 8 — (CP). — Cattle prices were 15 to 25 cents higher on better quality steers and heifers with common kinds slow and steady in trade on the livestock market here this week. Calves were strong with lambs steady and sheep 50 cents cwt. higher. Hogs gained 10 cents cwt.

Left from last week were 2,300 head of cattle, mostly cows and boners. While decent killers moved readily this week there was a large accumulation of cows and plainer steers and heifers that could not be cleared by the week-end. There were sufficient cows in the market at the close to ensure a two week supply for killers without any fresh arrivals. Top for weighty steers was $12.60 for a small lot with other steers from $12.50 downward to $10. Butcher steers and heifers were $8.50 to $11 with a few at $11.25. A few boners were sold at $6 to $7.50. Butcher cows were $7 to $9 with canners and cutters $5 to $6.50. Bulls sold from $5.50 to $8.50. Fed yearlings were $11.50 to $13.50. Stockers moved slowly at $6.50 to $9.50 with good stock calves and some feeding steers up to $10. Milkers and springers were unchanged at $130 to $150 for tops.

Top calves were strong at $14.50 to $15.50 with some up to $16. Common lights and heavies sold downward to $7. Grassers were mostly $8.

A light fresh run of lambs and a few hundred carried over was cleared at steady prices. Good ewes and wethers were $12.50 to $13, bucks $11.50 to $12 and culls $5.50 to $10.50. A few loads of plain lambs were sent to Buffalo. Sheep were strong at $1.50-$5.50 according to quality.

Hogs gained 10 cents to close $17.75-$17.85 grade A and $17.35-$17.45 B1. Sows were $13 to $13.26 dressed. The hog supply was light.

1st Canadian Corps Back In Action

ROME, Dec. 8 — (CP). — Allied headquarters today disclosed the 1st Canadian Corps, commanded by Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes of Victoria, B.C., is back in action on the British 8th Army front in Italy.

The Corps scored a break-through of the enemy lines between the Lamone and Montone Rivers after three days of fierce fighting which resulted in the encirclement and fall of Ravenna Monday, it was announced.

Forest Costs $1,010 In Last Year

The county spent $1,010 on its forest in East Peterborough last year, W. A. Anderson, chairman since the acquisition of the property in 1938, reported to the county council Thursday afternoon.

The county has acquired 4,640 acres in Belmont and Dummer townships at an investment cost of approximately $5,000, including taxes on some additional lots that were bought to "square" the area. Original price of the land was at $1.15 an acre, but that rate was reduced to $1.07 in subsequent additions.

"We have spent $872 on a survey of the property, because there were no lines to guide your committee when we took charge of the land bought from the Ontario government," Mr. Anderson explained. "We have spent $600 on fencing, $2,300 on roads, $500 on building, $350 on trees.

In all the actual cost of the county forest to date has been $10,617. We have about 14,000 feet of lumber there. In fact we have $1,100 worth of material on hand."

Mr. Anderson read the items of the cost account for 1944, and related that the scarcity of labor had continued to prevent the committee from proceeding with work that had been in the project state for two or three years. He also mentioned that the forest was bought just the year before the outbreak of the war, and that the committee had to submit to extraordinary conditions while trying to make some headway of improvement without undue costs to the ratepayers of the county.

Transport Trees

Transporting trees from Orono last spring cost $133. The number of trees was larger than ever before and the haulage cost was $75 more, previously other expenses were brush cutting, stone blasting, and the work on the foundation of a barn for the property, including labor at $211.80, labor on roads 58.65; taking out basement $128.35; planing of lumber $111.34; tile for a well $15.55; nails $15; explosive for blowing out boulders in the basement and on the roads $27; cement $57 plus $14; and so on.

"There has always been some urging to take out more timber now when prices are favorable," Mr. Anderson said, "but I have felt that the returns will be better later on when the trees have made more growth.

"Although we have been carrying on through the five years of war, and we have all realized that the winning of this war is our first duty, and that available money should be used for that purpose, there is a great difference in the county's forest now and when the committee took it over in 1938. We ran twenty-eight miles of survey lines. You have to know the property you have bought. We have built five to six miles of road on which you can drive a car, in second gear anyway.

Watch Expenses

"Fences have been erected, more property bought, but we have tried not to let the people's money go too freely there. Some day that forest is going to be looked on as an investment, and we have wanted to wind it up so that it would be well worth the money to the county. Keeping that thought in mind, you have to watch the expense.

"A lot of land in the forest is not productive, but there is a fair growth on some of it. The government forester says the forest is not too well stocked with young trees, and that means there will be work to be done in years ahead.

"I feel strongly that the great majority of the young pine should be left there a long time. Growth counts when it gets to size. The county is in the position of being able to hold it until you can get for the timber the best value it can attain."

British 8th Advances Two Miles

Visibility Limited By Heavy Fog River Up 3 Feet

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, Dec. 8 — (AP). — British and Polish troops of the British 8th Army, driving steadily ahead through rain, mud and fog, have continued to enlarge their Lamone River bridgehead southwest of Faenza, and have captured Castel Raniero, Olmatello and Pieura, Allied headquarters said today.

Screened by a morning fog which limited visibility to 100 yards, 8th Army men enlarged the bridgehead to a depth of more than two miles with capture of the three points.

But the 8th Army's weather luck broke as a steady rain caused the Lamone River to rise three feet.

A ridge 1,000 yards beyond Castel Raniero was cleared of the enemy and an Allied force was within half a mile of the next water barrier—the Senio River.

Deepening the bridgehead had completely outflanked the enemy stronghold of Faneza, and the early fall of that town on the main Bologna Road seemed certain.

North of Ravenna, 8th Army patrols found the Germans trying to establish a defensive line in the marshland near the south shores of a big lagoon called the Valli Di Commachio.

Polish troops repulsed an enemy attempt in force to recapture Mount San Rinaldo. On the Allied 5th Army front, an Indian division advanced to occupy Mount Bitella and other hill features.

Razor Wielder Found Guilty

Joseph Nezezon, 63, of Gatineau Mills, Quebec, was found guilty of assault occasioning actual bodily harm Thursday afternoon, by a 12-man General Sessions of the Peace jury which returned its verdict with recommendation of mercy after one hour and 14 minutes of deliberation. Judge S. L. Smoke, in accepting the jury's verdict, reserved sentence.

The Roumanian-born defendant was charged following an incident aboard a C.P.R. passenger train No. 34 early in the morning of September 4, 1944, when Edward Richer, 24-year-old member of the armed forces, received a slash in the back of the neck with a razor. He spent more than nine days in the hospital following the cutting.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry in addressing the jury, told them the two main things for them to remember were: Was there an assault made and did it occasion actual bodily harm?

Defence Counsel W. J. Arthur Fair reminded the jury of the testimony given on the stand by Nezezon, which indicated he had been frightened by various incidents in the coach and just outside of it, and that he had been acting always only in the interests of his own defence.

The jurymen were: William Downer, M. Draper, Bruce Scott, Frank Blackburn, Robert Williams, W J. Barrie, Ray Fitzgerald, Herbert R. Deck, John S. Donley, Clayton Breckenridge, Robert Gamble, and George Dormer.

In presenting the verdict to the court, W. J. Barrie, foreman, told the Judge the jury had a rider to their verdict.

Judge Smoke told him, any plea or recommendation for mercy would be acceptable but he did not want to hear anything else regarding the case. At this point W. J. A. Fair suggested the jury probably meant that they had a recommendation for mercy. On being asked if this was the case, the foreman of the jury said "Yes," then proceeded to read the "rider." "We feel there was provocation. . . ." He did not get any further because Judge Smoke stated he would give consideration to this plea when he passed sentence.

Outline Given Of Needs Of Citizenship

ROSENEATH, Dec. 8 — (ENS). — Miss Mary Masters, a speaker from the department of Women's Institutes Toronto, addressed the local branch of the W.I. Thursday at the regular meeting of the society.

Miss Masters' subject was "Citizenship." she defined citizenship as being a member of a group of people acting together to form a government designated to give equal opportunities to all people within the group. This, she said, was Democracy. A community she said, was a group drawn together by common needs and interests. Canada she said, was a neighborhood within a community that makes up a world.

Five basic needs were required, she declared, for good citizenship: A job for economic security; a job that will provide a good home with protection from an unkind world outside; for food and clothing; a job to which one is best suited, with ample remuneration to provide a four-square life. There is a need for hobbies, preferably a creative hobby, for the secret of happiness lies in a creative urge; a need for a friend, for congenial companionship. A cause, which inspires us to do our best work; and a religion of the individuals own choosing are needed to give one a good life within.

Strongest Influence.

Home, said Miss Masters is the key tone of the building of the arch of good citizenship. In the home, the child learns to carry his own load. Training a child to shoulder his share of responsibility, to teach him there are lanes of society to be observed in home and community and teaching him to respect the rights and privileges of others when done in the home, will make it much easier to develop a good citizen.

The school requires the full cooperation between parent and teacher, she said. Of the church, Miss Masters questioned whether it was filling the place in the lives of people as it once did. Growing young people in church and Sunday School have not been given enough jobs to keep them there, opinioned the speaker.

Community Work.

Of the place of the W. I. in the world of to-day and to-morrow, she asserted through training in the home to active life in the community there must develop the idea in a post-war world of a community drawn together by common needs and interests.

The local W.I. unit must raise the standards of community life. Canadian women, she said, are setting the pace for other countries..

The speaker was introduced by the president, Mrs. Frank Brown, and thanked by Mrs. E. Waldie. Mrs. C. Grigg and Mrs. A. Nill, on invitation of the president, commented briefly on the address. The meeting was held in the town hall and Mrs. Clark Sandercock was hostess.

The secretary-treasurer, Mrs. E. Timlin, reported $38.39 in the treasury and the miniature silver cup to be presented to Gordon Ferguson, winner of the third prize and the W.I. trophy at the autumn public speaking competition, was on view. It was decided to invite him to attend the January meeting, deliver the prize winning speech and receive the cup.

It was decided also to make a donation of $5 to the Christmas Cheer Fund for British children and to remember the ill and aged in the community at Christmas with cards or the season's dainties. Rev. R. C. White will be guest speaker at the January meeting and Mrs. A. Halstead and Mrs. B. Thackeray comprise a program committee.

Articles of sewing handed in included 12 slips and 9 pairs of bloomers for girls, 13 pairs boys pyjamas and several pairs of mitts. These will be forwarded to the rehabilitation project sponsored by the S.A. at Cobourg.

Children Perform.

The program was in charge of Mrs. E. Waldie and Mrs. J. L. Timlin. Junior public school pupils came in after four and presented numbers as follows: A song, 'Bring Back My Kitty to Me,' by Barbara and Mark Skuce; song, 'Jolly Old Saint Nick,' by Carold McMillan and Mary Halstead. Grant and Garth Waldie, George Linton and Beverly Robins sang a motion song, 'Underneath the Spreading Chestnut Tree,' and Grant Waldie played a piano solo.

From a lighted Christmas tree the committee assisted by Mrs. Frank Nichol distributed the gifts. Christmas carols were sung, led by Mrs. E. Timlin and Mrs. J. L. Timlin.

The hostess served refreshments and was tendered a vote of thanks on motion of Mrs. J. L. Timlin.

Toronto Boy Given Five-Day Sentence

COBOURG, Dec. 8.— (ENS). — Leonard Lawson, Toronto youth, was sentenced to five days in jail dating back to his arrest when he pleaded guilty to vagrancy Thursday. Magistrate R. B. Baxter told him to get back to Toronto at once and to his job. The boy lives with his mother. He was picked up on December 2 at Brighton while in company with Russell Whetter of Toronto, the latter youth being charged later with theft of a bicycle.

Woman Hears Nephew Lost On Shawinigan

A nephew of Mrs. G. J. Browne, 488 Murray street, was a member of the crew of HMCS Shawinigan, which has sunk with all of the crew reported lost.

Signalman Donald T. C. McDougall, only son of Mr. and Mrs. William McDougall of Toronto, has visited his aunt here frequently. In August when he had his last leave, he was married to Miss Brenda Trotter of Lindsay. He has been in the Navy since 1941 and was a veteran of many actions. A sister, Jean, also survives.

Pupils' Eyes Tested

COBOURG, Dec. 8. — (ENS).— Every child in Cobourg's three primary schools, the west end and central public schools and the separate, had his eyes tested in connection with the free eye examination given under the auspices of the Coboung Kinsmen Club. A report on the eye tests will be given at a later meeting of the club. Except for one serious case in which neither parents, child or teachers were aware of the child's condition, most of the children's eyes were in satisfactory shape.

TORONTO, Dec. 8—(CP). —Among 3,000 rental inquiries handled by the Toronto Prices Board office in November was this amazing letter from a tenant: "I have had a swell flat for the past four years with a wonderful landlord. The rent is far below its value the way coal, repairs and such have increased. The law forbids me paying more, but I have decided to help these good people pay their coal bill. I trust I am not getting them or myself into trouble, as every rent day I feel like a chisler."

Y.P.U. Hears Lecture On Famous Picture

ROSENEATH, Dec. 8 (ENS) — Rev. R. C. White was guest speaker at the mid-week meeting of the Y.P.U., speaking on famous pictures, the artists, and showing prints of the pictures.

They included: Flight of the Geese; Several water colors of Bermuda; Winter and Autumn; Madonna and Child; The Angelus; Head of Jesus; Dutch Windmill; Blue Boy; and Close of Day The Angelus said Mr. White sold in 1859 for $500, and not long ago it was sold for $100,000.

President Douglas Coyle was in charge of the meeting held in the town hall. It was decided to make a donation of $8 to the M. and M. fund; to invite the Edgar Buttars, president of the Y.P.U. of the Cobourg Presbytery to visit the society at a date to be named later; and to cancel the mid-week meetings until aftr Christmas.

Seek To Curtail Unlicensed Legal Practicers

COBOURG, Dec. 8.— (ENS).— One proposal which will be discussed at the meeting here on Monday of District 6 of the Ontario Federation of County and District Law Associations is that of encroachments by unlicensed practitioners. It has been accordingly suggested that an attempt be made to bring about an amendment to the Solicitors' Act with that thought in mind.

By the term, "unlicensed practitioners," the lawyers refer to those who, although not lawyers, prepare deeds, wills and so on. It is claimed that many of the public have found to their sorrow, that the lack of legal experience of some who have done this work, has resulted in legal troubles and financial loss.

In asking for a monopoly on such work, the lawyers have something to offer to the public in return, apart from expert legal service, and that is expressed in another proposal which may be made at the meeting next week. It is pointed out that the legal profession, like any other profession, occasionally has one who disregards the ethics of his calling and sometimes goes so far as to misuse funds of his client. To offset this loss, the suggestion will be considered that the legal profession make a levy on all its members to set up a fund which would re-imburse any client who had suffered a loss in such a manner.

Some of the old benchers may revolt in horror from a further proposal, that of advertising the legal professon to the public. It is proposed that a public relations department be set up to sell the legal profession to the public. Sales promotion is evident now in almost every successful business and the lawyers see no reason why their own profession should not avail itself of its benefits.

Another proposal which is expected to give plenty of food for thought, is that of protective insurance for lawyers. As an example of how this would affect the lawyer, if a lawyer, through pressure of business, inadvertently forgot to renew a mortgage or some agreement, he would be protected from an irate client who might be inclined to sue for damages. The client would also be protected.

The Sickness Of Europe

Friedrich Neitzsche, the nineteenth century philosopher, foresaw the twentieth century as a period of ceaseless war and revolution; his prophecy should be borne in mind by those who find themselves amazed by the present upheavals in European countries which the Allies have freed from German domination. The sickness of Europe took a long time to develop, and it will not be cured by a single, sudden stroke. In Greece, in France, in Belgium, in Yugoslavia and in Italy we see civil strife in its many forms, and it should not surprise us; these countries were engaged in civil war before the greater war began, and they are taking up the internecine fight where they abandoned it.

• • •

When the Allies set about the gigantic task of freeing Europe from German domination they armed partisan forces in each country, enabling those forces to carry on a guerilla war with the Germans. But now the partisans still have weapons and ammunition which they got from the Allies, and they are using them to impose their will upon the nation as a whole. The partisans were not merely patriots; they were patriots who were bound together by a common political belief—usually some form of Communism. Having helped to drive the Germans out, they now seek to set up Communist governments in their own countries. In Greece, on Sunday last, an attempt was made to oust the Papandreou government and establish Communism by a coup d'etat. British occupation forces intervened, and the British, speaking through Mr. Churchill, have announced their intention of intervening as often and as forcefully as may be necessary to prevent any such violent action.

The Pierlot government in Belgium and General de Gaulle in France have faced similar crises; they must deal with groups of Leftists who are armed, who have fought bravely for the freedom of their country, and who now want to take possession of the government of their country. But it was established by the Atlantic Charter that countries freed from Axis domination should choose their governments by popular vote. They may choose communism, they may choose republicanism, they may choose monarchy—but they must choose by ballot and not by force of arms in the hands of any single faction.

The opinion has been expressed in some quarters that Russia will resent opposition to Communist groups in liberated countries. How far this is true depends on Russia's good faith in dissolving the Comintern. We are inclined to believe that Russia was entirely honest in that action, and means to set out now on a long period of national development, without interference in other countries apart from necessary diplomatic relations. Russia probably does not like to see Communism suppressed in any country, any more than we like to see a democratic and parliamentary government suppressed in any country, but we doubt if Russia would raise a finger to help the Communists in Greece or in Belgium; France and Yugoslavia may be a different matter, but if Russia wants a strong France in postwar Europe she probably knows that the Popular Front could not guarantee it.

Meanwhile Britain makes no bones of interfering in Greece or in Italy, in any matter which appears to threaten the peace. Britain is intent on curing the disease of Europe if possible, and she knows that civil war can only prolong agonies which have already reduced Europe to desperate poverty and starvation.

The Gestapo never really got to first base with the Dutch. You can't give a hot-foot to a fellow who wears wooden shoes.

Books As Ambassadors

A great part of what we know about countries other than our own we learn from books, and a surprising quantity of this knowledge is acquired during childhood. For this reason the Books Across The Sea organization are doing all that can be done to encourage the exchange of books for young readers between Britain and the United States. If the American and British children of today are to be friendly adults tomorrow, they should know as much about each other as possible, and good juvenile books will help to bring this about.

The British section of Books Across The Sea has as its president T. S. Eliot, one of the greatest living poets, and an American who has lived for many years in England. Mr. Eliot stresses the work which books can do, with the help of schools and teachers, to draw together the two countries in which he is chiefly interested. The most obvious means of doing this is to encourage the use of plenty of good books in teaching history and geography.

The American and British sections of the Books Across The Sea organization are also working together to establish friendships with groups of people among our allies, and to help nations which are temporarily famished for books in their own languages. The establishment of book exchanges is one method which is being used to help fill these gaps.

For centuries books have been ambassadors of thought and goodwill travelling between one country and another. Unfortunately they do not travel as freely as ambassadors should, and in some countries, Canada among them, the tax on books is so heavy that it almost appears that the governments are hostile toward the free exchange of ideas. But books are doing their part now to point the way to peace, and may do much to preserve it.

A Word For P. G. Wodehouse

It is not likely that Pelham Grenville Wodehouse will ever regain his great popularity as a writer of comic fiction. The publicity which he has received during the war has put a shadow on his reputation which will stay there. Wodehouse was at his home in France when the Germans invaded, and he was interned in Berlin at the Adlon Hotel—as luxurious a prison as could be imagined. He was persuaded by the Germans to give five talks about his internment on the radio, and these talks were broadcast to England. The talks were the cause of his downfall.

But we should like to point out that Wodehouse had a choice of giving these talks or suffering the consequences, not only to himself but to his wife, who was with him. He said nothing in the talks which praised the Nazis; they were general talks without much political implication. Was Wodehouse expected to burst into a fierce denunciation of Nazism in a German radio station? Let it be remembered that Wodehouse is past middle-age, and such heroics demand a price which an elderly author cannot pay—and live. And again let us remember that Wodehouse had to protect his wife.

Several Canadian newspapers have not hesitated to condemn Wodehouse in the bitterest terms; he was not heroic, and they have no pity for anyone who is not a hero. Doubtless Wodehouse was weak and foolish in what he did, but how many of his critics can honestly say that they would have been any better if they had found themselves in his position?

Wodehouse has given a vast amount of pleasure to the world. Mr. Mulliner, the ingenious Ukridge, Bertie Wooster and the invaluable Jeeves—these are his creations and millions of people have laughed over them. In an hour of trial he proved to be less than a hero. Need we judge him harshly for a trick of fate which showed him in his least engaging aspect?

NOTE AND COMMENT

It has been estimated that American women use enough lipstick every year to paint 40,000 barns. But who wants a barn painted 'Lightning Pink' or 'Passionate Purple'?

"Ducks, Cows and Jackasses Once Roamed City Streets" says a headline in a Toronto paper, thereby leaving itself wide open to any paragrapher who cares to comment on the disappearance of the ducks and cows.

In Halifax a few women have been handing out white feathers to men who are not in uniform; they have even given these pretty tokens to merchant seamen who have been torpedoed several times. These patriotic ladies have perhaps forgotten that all the services now have branches for women. The best thing that could happen would be for some strong-minded man to hand the white feather right back to them.

Responsibility Of The General Staff

(By GRANT DEXTER)

OTTAWA: If the present sitting of Parliament was more than a special conscription session much would be heard about what is commonly spoken of on Parliament Hill as "the breakdown of the General Staff."

Public interest has been focussed first on the conscription issue and, second, upon the fate of the Government. While these points remained in doubt, the members of all parties appear to have decided against raising other and, by contrast, much less important issues. There has been a feeling that nothing should be done to distract or confuse the public mind.

But now that conscription has been adopted and the Government is reasonably assured of a good majority, there is a strong tendency to sort out the information laid before Parliament since November 22, and to attempt to bring about administrative changes which, on the evidence, are long overdue. Among these lesser questions, the most important has to do with the efficiency of the general staff.

THE evidence as it now stands in Hansard—chiefly in the Ralston resignation correspondence and the speeches of Mr. King and Mr. Ralston — clearly indicates that there was a breakdown or failure in the general staff in 1944. As a result of this failure this country was plunged without warning into the conscription crisis. The crisis not only caught the Government entirely unprepared — indeed convinced that all was well with the army—but was so urgent that there was no time for remedial measures. And as everyone concedes the sincerity of the generals, the only possible conclusion is that although it was their job to administer the Canadian army, at home and overseas, they were profoundly ignorant of vital facts.

The key to this aspect of the conscription crisis will be found in Mr. King's letter to Mr. Ralston of November 3 (the resignation correspondence). Mr. King plainly could not grasp the urgency of the need of reinforcements. He was dubious of Mr. Ralston's case. In this letter he explained why. The war committee of the cabinet, of which Mr. King is the chairman, had invariably summoned the chiefs of the general staff to discuss all important increases in the size of the army. On every occasion the general staff had asserted, without qualification, that the army could be supported by the voluntary system. Mr. King said assurances were given to the Government by the general staff in the first week of August, 1944, that additional military commitments then under consideration would not adversely affect the reinforcement position.

"I have never agreed," Mr. King wrote, "to a single increase in our military commitments without first asking, and receiving, assurances that the additional commitment would not jeopardize our capacity to provide needed reinforcements."

IN his reply, Mr. Ralston pointed out that whatever the general staff had said, he, personally, had never excluded conscription. Both in public and in cabinet he had always said that conscription might be necessary. Mr. King, later on, agreed that this was true of Mr. Ralston. But the Prime Minister over and over again drove home the point that the general staff had always been positive and dogmatic in its opinion that the voluntary system would suffice. In his letter of November 10, Mr. King said assurances had been specifically given at the time (August) by the chief of the general staff to the war committee of the cabinet that the reinforcement position was satisfactory. "The assurance sought and given had direct reference to the state of the reinforcement pool." Mr. King went on to point out that at the Quebec conference in September the cabinet had conferred with the general staff and not a word had been said about a shortage of reinforcements.

MR. Ralston countered this point by saying that the Quebec conference was concerned only with the Pacific war. But Mr. King returned to his point. Was it not common sense that if there was a critical shortage of reinforcements, the general staff would tell the Government about it—whether or no there was an item of this kind on the conference agenda? Why keep the Government in the dark? Was this not a matter of the most vital importance—far transcending the plans of a future campaign in the Pacific—not only to the Government but to the country? Why would the generals bottle up within their own breasts a problem which would plunge the country into the most serious political crisis? Why do so when they were powerless to solve it?

IN his speech of November 27, Mr. King returned to this point. He retold the facts as to the war cabinet consultation with the general staff on August 7. "The Government," he said, "was given the most direct assurance at that time by the chief of staff that there was no need for considering the question of additional reinforcements for overseas by compulsion." Mr. King repeated his earlier statement that the Government had always consulted the military experts with respect to reinforcements. The general staff invariably had declared there was no danger of a failure of the voluntary system. "Along with the rest of my colleagues, I have accepted these representations in the best of faith."

Mr. Ralston, who followed Mr. King in the debate, did his best to defend the general staff. But, as will be shown in a later article, Mr. Ralston's speech was the most damning indictment of the generals. Indeed, it was Mr. Ralston's speech, rather than Mr. King's, which shocked members of the House of Commons, irrespective of party. For, while Mr. Ralston sought only to defend the general staff, his narrative of events from August onward proved that the critical shortage in reinforcements was discovered not by the generals but by himself—the minister, and a civilian. Mr. Ralston sincerely regretted that he had not found out the facts much earlier than he did.

HE CAN'T BEAR IT

The sergeant looked as if he was about to blow up at any moment. Drawing a deep breath, he shouted at the raw recruit:—

"I can bear it when you turn to the right when I say left; I can bear it when you turn up on parade with half your tunic buttons undone; I don't even mind very much when you drop your rifle but——"

He glared for a moment at the cowering culprit and added:—

"But, for the love of Mike, will you please stop saying 'Sorry, my dear.'"

What Is Known About the King?

(FROM THE NAVY—LONDON)

TAKE King George VI, take his career, his achievements, his greater and smaller triumphs. What do most of his people know about them? They know the circumstances in which he ascended the Throne and they watched the manner in which he did it. They will not forget the sympathy and admiration which they felt for him. They know that ever since he has done his job well and truly and simply without any "circusing about." They know that he has an athletic figure, that he always looks the part, and that he has won one of the great triumphs that a man of indomitable resolution can win by overcoming a stammer and turning himself, when occasion serves, into a broadcaster of genuine worth.

But do they remember that the King, when he was quite a young man, served as a very humble and self-denying junior officer in the Fleet, and that he went through the Battle of Jutland (the greatest sea battle in history) as a lieutenant at action stations in one of the gun turrets of a battleship and was closely engaged? There has perhaps been no King of this country since Henry V who took so active a part in battle or shared so entirely the discomforts and the perils of his forces.

Do they remember that as a young man King George VI played at Wimbledon in the doubles lawn tennis championships and came near enough to victory This, of course, is a trivial event, but it becomes remarkable when the player is the King. That he is almost as good a game shot as his father and used to ride well to hounds is less remarkable and not so near to the general life of all his subjects. That he is, without being able to take any trouble about it, a good golfer is perhaps more in general sympathy and in line with the common life which, like the bombs that fell on them both, covers Buckingham Palace and the homes, larger or smaller, in which we all live.

Here, then, are some ordinary reflections on a King who is also a man, and a man who happens, by accident, to be a king. Heaven forbid that any King of Britain should be smirched by the popular acclaim that greets a film star, a winning jockey or a champion heavyweight! But reticence may surely be carried too far.

Exchange of Notes

(LEAGUE OF NATIONS NEWS)

Prime Minister Churchill sent the following letter to Viscount Cecil of Chelwood on the occasion of his 80th birthday (September 14), 1944:

10 Downing Street, Whitehall.

My dear Bob,—Many happy returns of your eightieth birthday. It must be a satisfaction to you to see that the great causes of international peace and justice for which you have so faithfully pleaded are now being triumphantly vindicated by the sword.

This war could easily have been prevented if the League of Nations had been used with courage and loyalty by the associated nations. Even in 1935 and 1936 there was a chance, by making an armed Grand Alliance under the aegis of the League, to hold in subjection the rising furies in Germany or at the very least to enter into armed conflict on terms far more favourable than those eventually forced upon us. We tried our best, and though the road has been one of tragedy and terror, the opportunity will surely be offered again to mankind to guard themselves at least for a few generations from such frightful experiences.

You may be sure that I shall act in accordance with the spirit and principles of the League, but clothing those principles with the necessary authority.

You are entitled to mellow reflections even while the storm still rages. Accept my very best wishes.—Yours very sincerely,

WINSTON S. CHURCHILL.

Lord Cecil replied:

Chelwood Gate, Haywards Heath, Sussex.

My dear Winston,—Thank you very much indeed for your letter. It is extremely kind of you to have thought of your old friend in the midst of your tremendous responsibilities. I deeply appreciate it.

What you say about the League is, I think, quite true. The Governments had agreed to the Covenant without taking it seriously. To them any genuine attempt to apply its provisions against the threatened storm was "midsummer madness." You always saw the realities of the situation. There is a passage in one of your earlier books on the last war in which you visualize a League acting with force against an aggressor. But most people persisted in trusting to vague aspirations for peace. However, largely through you, we have been given another chance and I hope we may be wiser. All depends on whether the Peoples can be made to understand the plain truth of the future and are not led away to put their faith only in social and economic reforms. — Again thanks, Yours ever

CECIL.

Intelligent War Memorials

Throughout the nation, cities are planning to pay tribute to those who have served and given their lives in the armed services by creating living and useful memorials.

Peoria, Illinois, has proposed a civic auditorium as a worthwhile living memorial. Cincinnati's planning commission feels it is better to have one central and useful memorial such as libraries, auditoriums and community centers, than neighbourhood memorials such as the statuary type rather common as memorials after the first World War.

The Wheeling Planning Commission is giving careful thought to similar proposals and the News-Register is gratified to note that the commission has in mind something that is both useful and lasting.

Even in the conception of a war memorial, common sense must not be overlooked. This newspaper is impressed by an observation in the Municipal Review of Canada which alludes to a war memorial which the city of Peterborough, Ontario, has adopted. It reads as follows:

City of Peterborough, Ont., has decided that its war memorial will be in the form of a community center, at a cost of approximately $275,000. In thus commemorating the services of its sons and daughters in this war, Peterborough has shown sound judgment—for certainly in the construction of parks, playgrounds, public swimming pools, community halls, civic centers, auditoriums or any other form of public amenity, and dedicating them to those who died fighting our battles, a fuller appreciation of their sacrifices for the future of mankind will be shown. In the last war most community memorials took the form of statues of stone and bronze, and without taking away any of the glory embodied in these emblems of "the common man's sacrifice" in the Great War of 1914-18, it is more in keeping with the new spirit of man and his desires that this World War of 1944 — and those who sacrifice their lives in it—should be commemorated in things that give greater pleasure and happiness to the many."—Wheeling (W.Va.) News Register.

Increasing Concern Over Taxes

Increasing concern has been manifest for some time among industrialists, financiers and other competent economic analysts over the lack of assurance of a prudent but decisive policy of post-war tax adjustment. Authoritative voices have pointed to the urgent need of a free flow of funds for both capital and current expenditure to facilitate the vigorous recovery of the national economy in the immediate post-war period.

Despite emphatic pleas for affirmation now of a policy of progressive reduction of taxes on business after the war, to assist business to plan with reasonable prospect of tax-free financial resources, no definite pronouncement has been forthcoming. Only partial and relatively minor, temporary adjustments have been made or promised. As a result, the concern over taxation has been deepened and an atmosphere of disturbed uncertainty has been created over the ability of business, untrammeled and on its own, to meet the post-war challenge as vigorously as it might.

This sober uneasiness was reflected here yesterday in the presidential address of Col. A. A. Magee, K.C., C.B.E., at the annual meeting of Barclay's Bank (Canada). Indeed, he went so far as to see discouragement of early hopes of reduction of taxation in the extensive legislation providing for heavy outlay on re-establishment and welfare of veterans, social security and reconstruction. But he warned nevertheless that the present tax system and level of taxation, however necessary they are to support the war effort, "definitely retard the employment-creating investment of new capital, and curb private enterprise and individual effort."

It has become abundantly clear that Canada will have need after the war of the best brains and utmost efforts of all sections of the population, working in unison, to achieve the high levels of activity, progress, employment and security toward which the people have set their sights. It is equally obvious that these aspirations cannot be fully achieved, if at all, under restrictions such as that to which Col. Magee has shrewdly drawn attention.—Montreal Gazette.

A Bible Message

Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases; who redeemeth thy life from destruction; who crowneth thee with lovingkindness and tender mercies. (Ps. 103: 2-4.)

But now thus saith the Lord that created thee, O Jacob, and he that formed thee, O Israel, Fear not: for I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name; thou art mine.

When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee: when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee. For I am the Lord thy God, the Holy One of Israel, thy Saviour....

Fear not: for I am with thee. (Isa. 43: 1-3, 5.)

As the mountains are round about Jerusalem, so the Lord is round about his people from henceforth even for ever. (Ps. 125: 2.)

The businessman had been going through his accounts.

"Did you send a bill to Mr. Brown?" he asked his son.

"Yes, Dad," came the reply.

"And did you put on an extra five shillings before you sent it?"

"Yes, Dad. I added five shillings and twopence-halfpenny."

"What's the odd twopence-halfpenny for?"

"Oh, to cover our postage when we reply to his letter complaining of overcharge."

THE JUDGE'S MOVE

Firmly brushing aside the possibility that the Court of Chancery might some day be asked to approve of crossword puzzles or bezique as an educational instrument, Mr. Justice Vaisey decided that a legacy for the establishment of a chess tournament for the youth of Portsmouth was a valid charitable trust.

Those profound experts who sometimes plead for a bigger board to make a harder game should remember this judicial compliment. They might introduce the Judge as a new piece. His place has long been neglected, and his move might be decided by international conference.—Manchester Guardian.

MERELY VOTING IS NOT ENOUGH

"Every student at Assumption College voted in a mock civic election, which is pointed to as an example for adult citizens."

But not the full example. Because in a democracy, and contrary to a too-common impression, mere voting is not enough. The ward-heeler votes. The cheapest sort of politician votes, and even the gangster. What is required, therefore, of the good citizen with a real faith in democracy, is that in addition to voting he must strive in a practical way to make as sure as possible that he is voting for the right people and the right things.

This, we fear, is not stressed often enough. And certainly it isn't practiced.—Ottawa Journal.

Police Estimate Speed Of Car At Over 50 m.p.h.

Provincial Constable Price Morris told a General Sessions of the Peace Jury and His Honor Judge S. L. Smoke Thursday afternoon that the 1941 Desoto sedan which went into the ditch on the Warsaw Road, Labor Day, 1944, in an accident in which Mrs. Felix Courneya lost her life, was travelling at an estimated speed of more than 50 miles an hour before it left the road. Eugene Schlenkirt is charged with reckless driving, and he is being defended by J. P. Strickland, K.C.

P.C. Morris based his estimation on "observations made at the scene of the accident" and past experiences in dealing with auto accidents. He said traffic on the Warsaw Road at this time was "extremely heavy," which might have been caused by several Labor Day celebrations, including the well-known "Annual Douro Doings."

Pete McGillen and Louis Parks, photographers, were called by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry to identify a number of photos taken at and around the scene of the accident. James W. Pierce, Ontario Land Surveyor, was called to the stand to identify a plan he made of the accident scene, and to be questioned about technical details in connection with the plan. Twelve of the photos were recorded as the first twelve exhibits, and Mr. Pierce's plan was entered as Exhibit Thirteen.

Mr. McElderry addressed the jury before hearing of evidence began, and explained some of the details of the case to the members.

The accident occurred, he said, close to six o'clock, on the Warsaw Road about three or four miles from Peterborough. The car carrying several passengers, was going away from Peterborough, and the actual accident took place at the foot of a "long, sweeping curve." The car went down the hill, to a point beyond the curve, was not able to straighten out again, and went into the ditch. Mrs. Courneya, who is some relation to the accused, was killed; some other passengers in the car were injured.

The Legitimate Stage Is Coming Back To America

By J. H. GRAY

The living drama, the legitimate stage, is coming back. All across the continent road companies are on the move bringing stage shows to areas which have not seen live actors, not paid ones, since before the talkies came in. What is more, these excursions into the hinterlands are making money for the excursioners. Crowds flock to the theatres and pay stiff prices to be entertained by live actors. We wouldn't be surprised if the stage is now enjoying its greatest boom in history.

As to the causes which brought this to pass, we leave that to the experts. Let them haggle over whether this means a revival of interest in the spoken or live-acted drama or whether it is but another manifestation of the war boom and the current epidemic of itchy-fingered spenders. Our one purpose here is to direct the attention of the experts to the part which the people of Toronto have had in the revival of the drama. Unlike most cities on this continent, Toronto never gave up. The rest of the country may have been seduced by the talkies, but Toronto was not. Once each week the Toronto Repertory company put on its benefit performance. Just as regularly through the years it has attracted crowds which would have filled any three of Toronto's largest movies, with enough of an overflow to stage a medium-sized riot at Queen's Park.

It is true, of course, that this weekly performance at Maple Leaf Gardens is not billed as drama. They call it rassling, a modern refinement of the old sport of wrestling achieved by the simple process of discarding all rules. Though it gets reviewed on the sports pages, it is drama nonetheless. It is drama with real, live actors, and it is first-class entertainment to boot. There is action, a mere soupcon of suspense, there are expressions of anguish, of pain, of indignation, of fear, of hatred. What is more, these actors are so skilled in their calling that, while the audience of 8,000 or 10,000 knows that it is only a scene from a well-rehearsed play they are watching, they cheer and applaud with the enthusiasm equalled only by opera-lovers.

The shows are staged in a ring in the centre of the Garden. The casting is superb. One actor is always handsome or young or on the small side. The other is always ugly or aging or very large. All the actors are fat. Each villain has a mean routine that is all his own. One is a nose-twister, another is an eye-scratcher or gouger. Still another is an instep-crasher or a finger-twister.

The use of these foul tactics draws the outraged protests from the crowds. The victim is urged to retaliate and he does so with a meanness of his own devising, such as kicking his tormentor out of the ring onto the concrete floor of the arena and then jumping on him.

The play is usually staged in four acts. The first three have the purpose of putting the audience on edge for the fourth. The John Barrymore of the Toronto Repertory company is a character billed as "Whipper Billy" Watson. The final act, in which Mr. Watson defeats the challenger from the United States, is something of an anti-climax. There is too much straight wrestling and too little play-acting. Hence it is dull and rather boring. This was the only flaw we could find in an otherwise well-balanced performance.

The comedy touch is provided by a third man on the stage. In wrestling matches he would be the referee but in the Toronto dramatic performances he is the straight man or foil for the actors. During brief intervals, while the actors recover their breath, he engages in a clever pantomime in which he imitates a wrestling referee rebuking a wrestler for breaking the rules. One of the straight men, showing a fine feeling for his part in the drama, managed on several occasions to get himself tangled up with the actors and his antics in trying to extricate himself provided the best comedy turn of the evening.

Of the thousands who attend, few indeed show any real concern with whether the hero or the villain wins. They get their suspense from trying to anticipate what will happen next, and to whom. Some of them become quite expert in predicting the course of the act and howl with glee when the act conforms with their predictions.

Here, Toronto has come up with a new wrinkle in stage plays. It has introduced audience participation. When an actor gets tossed off the stage the ladies in the front row are permitted to kick his teeth in if the urge impels them, which it often seems to do. Toronto, in addition to saving the drama for posterity, has revitalized it almost beyond recognition. Hurrah for Toronto!

18-Year-Olds In U.S.A. Sent To Front

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP) — Eighteen-year-old soldiers are now being sent to the battle fronts because of "urgent military requirements," the United States Army disclosed today.

The Undersecretary of War, Robert Patterson, said at a news conference that the army has departed from its policy of not sending men under 19 years overseas for infantry or armored force duty. He gave these reasons:

The tempo of operations has been stepped up greatly.

The bulk of the army is in action, and accordingly, the need for replacements has increased.

The supply of replacements from the pool of men 19 and over has decreased because the percentage of inductees in that age group has fallen off.

His discussion of the use of 18-year-olds came shortly after he had reported in a weekly war review that United States Army casualties since the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor now total 474,898. Referring to the unprecedented scale of battle on the Western front, Mr. Patterson said:

Suffer "Severe Casualties"

"We are suffering severe casualties and are facing the grim prospect of more to come

"The enemy, however, is suffering even more."

To some extent, the effectives lost through casualties are replaced by the return to duty of wounded men. Of 268,099 army men wounded since the United States entered the war, 126,440 have gone back to duty. This does not mean that all of them were able to return to the firing front. A great many are used only behind the lines or within the United States.

The army casualty total, covering reports made through Nov. 22, was an increase of 13,840 in one week. The figure covers casualties on all fronts, but by far the largest number, presumably, were on the Western front.

The navy total now stands at 77,120, giving an overall figure for all services—the army, navy, marines and coast guard—of 552,018.

Mr. Patterson said that how long the present policy for use of 18-year-olds continues "depends entirely on the course of the war."

He explained that in general a man is about 18 years and eight months old by the time he sees combat because the average period of training after induction at 18 years is about eight months.

"No individual is permitted to combat until adequate individual tests and physical examinations have confirmed the state of his training and his fitness for the hardships of battle," he said.

Braves Suffer First Defeat

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que., Dec. 8 — (CP). — Valleyfield Braves suffered their first defeat in eight starts when they came up against the Shawinigan Falls Cataracts last night with the Cataracts walking off with a 3-0 interprovincial hockey league victory. Valleyfield's hold on first place was not shaken, but the Cataracts leaped into a second-place tie with Lachine Rapids.

Larry Laframboise started the scoring in the first period breaking away from a Valleyfield rush while Ossie Carnegie was serving a penalty. Three minutes later, Laframboise and Lajoie combined to make the play that put Bisson in a scoring position, sending the Cataracts ahead 2-0. In the second period Lupien snatched a smart pass from Mel Williamson and beat Lascelles with a near shot.

A fight developed in the third period and Bisson, Cadieux and Gibbons drew majors. Thiffault, the Shawinigan goaler, traded blows with Gibbons and a minor penalty shot was awarded to Valleyfield, but Leo Brennan missed the shot.

Sgt. Norman Bruton Dies In Holland

TORONTO, Dec. 8 —(ENS)—Sgt. Norman K. Bruton, 31, RCA, has been officially reported to have died of wounds received the same day, somewhere in Holland, according to information received by his mother, Mrs. Lillian Bruton, Orono.

Sgt Bruton had been overseas a little over three years, having enlisted at Peterborough with the Anti-Tank Regiment of the RCA, in June 1940. After training in Lindsay and Debert, N.S., he went overseas in October, 1941, where he received advanced training until June of this year. Soon after D-Day he went to France with his regiment. In August Sgt. Bruton was wounded slightly but returned to the front line after a few days and was fighting with the Canadians through Western Europe until the day of his death.

A brother, FO. Cecil Bruton, R.C.A.F. has been missing after air operations over enemy territory on August 13, 1943, and has been officially presumed dead. Sgt. Bruton was born and educated in Orono, and was a softball enthusiast. He is also survived by his widow, the former Joan Parsons of Sussex, Eng., and two sisters and three brothers.

Farmer Needs Protection After The War

TORONTO, Dec. 7—(CP).—R. J. Scott, president of the United Farmers' Co-operative Company told the Ontario Federation of Agriculture to-day that a post-war return to the old system of free, competitive marketing would put the farmer "back in the rut" and urged the need for national and international planning to take up the production surpluses of the world.

He said he hoped the farmers did not cherish a secret hope to return to the pre-1939 days because "I am pretty sure many of the big corporations want us to do just that. We must realize the need for an international disciplinary body in this regard."

Mr. Scott was one of three speakers as the Federation's eight annual convention went into its second and last day. G. R. Paterons, commercial attache at Washington and J. A. Carroll, secretary of the Ontario Agricultural Societies, were also heard.

Mr. Paterson told the convention the "old problem of finance" was one of the greatest to be solved and declared though it was recognized that if a country was to export it must import, that one half the world could not pay for what it wanted.

"Unless a solution is found for this," he said, "the surplus problem may prove incapable of being solved in a way he would like to see it."

The Canadian commercial attache gave the farmer-delegates three objectives at which to shoot:

1. Maintenance and improvement of quality.
2. A goal to aim for in the export markets of the world.
3. Continuity of supply.

"HOOSIERS" ADD "ALL STARS" TO STRING — Fort Wayne, Ind., is still shouting the praises of its world champion Zollners, who ended the four-year reign of the "All-Stars" in the Herald-American fifth annual basketball classic at Chicago, Ill., and so are the 21,372 fans who howled and cheered the 48-38 victory. Photo shows Bud Jeannette of Ft. Wayne, reaching for ball, as "All Star" Bob Dille, Vaporaiso, Del Loranger, West Michigan, and Stan Patrick of Illinois, crowd Bud. Charles Shipp is helping Bud.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Mary McPherson's C.G.E. team who have played two games in the senior division of the Ladies' Basketball League at the Y.W.C.A., made them both close and yet are still seeking a win, hope to pull off a victory this evening when they clash with the leading St. John's team, in the second half of the weekly double-header. A win for the C.G.E. would materially tighten up the race while a Saints' victory would give last year's senior runners-up a commanding lead for they have already won two games without a loss. These two teams have always staged interesting battles and while fortune has favored the Saints in most occasions during the past couple of seasons they have always had to work all the way to keep in front. The junior game which opens the program will see the Quakers, new entry in the loop this season make their debut with a game against the Normal School, commencing at 7.45 o'clock. Normals have broken even so far and will be gunning for a win tonight to stay close on the heels of the leading Y Grads while of course the Quakers will be just as anxious to start their campaign with a victory. The result should be a snappy junior game.

Clarence Davern's Cougars are due to make their debut in the Y.M.C.A. House League Saturday night when they meet Roy Johnston's Tigers in the second game of the week-end card. The Cougars have rounded up a good team with the following players: Clarence Davern, captain, W. Turner, Don McTavish, H. Kelly, D. Whittaker, C. Monkman, D. Payne, D. Head, Art Turner and W. Andrews, and they should make things interesting for the rest of the outfits. In the 7.30 o'clock game on the Saturday night bill Gordon Johnston's Lions who are out in front in the league race with two straight wins will take on Bill Kemp's Trojans. That means that Ray Routley's Panthers will have a bye this week. The schedule after Saturday night's games will be as follows: Saturday December 16, Trojans vs. Tigers; 8.15, Panthers vs. Cougars; Wednesday December 20, Panthers vs. Tigers, 8.15 Lions vs. Cougars; Wednesday December 27, Trojans vs. Cougars. The league, contrary to early season predictions, is shaping up into a good loop and the games played so far have been decidedly interesting in spite of the loss of a lot of player strength since last season. At the conclusion of the House League, the City League will be organized to carry on basketball after the Christmas holidays.

"Shag" Going Strong

Frank Shaughnessy, who used Ottawa as one of the stepping stones to Canadian athletic prominence in another era, is back for another three-year term as president of the International Baseball League, says Billy Westwick in the Ottawa Journal sport column. Baseball star and manager of Ottawa baseball teams and coach of football and hockey squads, "Shag" has made himself solid as a minor league executive with introduction of a playoff system that saved several of the minor baseball loops from bankruptcy in the depression era. In reality that playoff system, present used in the International and most of the other minor leagues, is nothing more than the National League hockey set-up. But it was "Shag" who emphasized the possibilities of the scheme and eventually sold it to baseball men, and he's been solidly entrenched ever since. Now comes word that Shaughnessy may not have stopped climbing as a baseball executive. The International League job is his for another three-year term, but some signficance is attached to a clause in his new contract which will permit him to cut loose at any time he figures he can better himself. Latest report is that "Shag" may be heading for the presidency of the National Baseball League. At any rate he is being prominently mentioned as a possible successor to Ford Frick, who in turn is among those mooted for the post of baseball commissioner left vacant by the death of Judge Landis.

"Thanks to the initiative of President Joe Samain and Secretary Don Lee the personnel of the Belleville Men's Softball League sat down around a common banquet table with the executive heads of the game last night," Ken Colling reports in the Belleville sport sheet. "It was a unique event in the annals of the game, simply because none of its like had ever been attempted here before. It is to be hoped last night's gathering will be the father of many such to follow. Of course there was the conventional eulogizing of personages, but aside from this was the fact it was a players' common meeting ground at which President Samain stressed the fact he hoped similar interest would be demonstrated in attendance at the next annual meeting. Honors were bestowed upon the SACO "Marines" and Columbian Squires, Belleville's two O.A.S.A. finalists of 1944. The Marines walked off with two trophies and two sets of crests, while the Squire juniors garnered in crests for their efforts in bringing to Belleville an Eastern Ontario junior crown. Softball notables were on hand from Kingston and Tweed to add prowess to the occasion."

Rookes Going Good

"After the week-end showings of Billy Cupolo and Ken Smith, each playing exceptional roles in putting Bruins across against Leafs, one has to wonder if Detroit manager Jack Adams was not a bit premature in declaring his ace right winger, Ted Lindsay, the rookie of the year," Bill Gaynon opines in his Niagara Falls Gazette sport commentary. "There's no denying the worth of this fine youngster, who was a standout with St. Mike's last year, but the way Smitty and our own Billy have been going, it might be well to withhold any predictions on the next Calder trophy holder. We thought Smith was exceptional last winter when Oshawa staged the final O.H.A. series with St. Catharines, and many very shrewd hockey men called him over the sensational Bill Ezinicki, who was picked up by Leafs, but is in the army now. Cupolo missed two campaigns, but both manager Art Ross and scout Hal Cotton never gave up on him and he seems to be justifying such confidence by checking in with some very opportune goals this campaign."

Detroit Red Wings improved their standing in the N.H.L. race last night by a 3 to 2 victory in New York in a game that according to the stories had the spectators yawning. After the two teams had split a pair of goals in the first period Jack Adams' athletes took the lead with quick goals by Liscombe and Bruneteau and then threw up an unshakable defence in front of young Harry Lumley, former Owen Sound goalie, who was in the nets for the Wings. It was not broken until well into the third period when Grant Warwick managed to slip through and fire New York's second goal. In spite of the Rangers' lowly position nearly 14,000 fans packed into Madison Square Gardens which is a fair commentary on the kind of business the cash-and-carry circuit, in spite of a paucity of star material, is doing this season. Every city reports bigger attendance and the campaign promises to be one of the most lucrative in the history of the loop.

The Pirates are a farm club of the Pittsburg club....Sweeney Schriner, injured Toronto winger, was due to leave hospital today but is not expected to get back into the ball game until Christmas at least....Wilf Fields, Canadien defence player has been loaned to the Chicago Black Hawks....The Flying Frenchmen are in the fortunate position of being strong enough to head the loop and still be able to lend players and keep a goalie like Bibeault in reserve.

Old Timers Are Shut Out By Empress Team

Chris Graham's Empress team lengthened their lead in the Men's City League last night at Duffus Alleys when they shutout the Old Timers 6 to 0. Bud Weese led the attack with a smashing 806, while three of his teammates bettered the 700 mark.

Biggest upset of the evening was scored when the Ramblers dropped Harold Freeman's team 6-0 to send the latter outfit into a third-place tie with Outlaws. Jack Wade's team took a 6-0 sweep from the Soldiers and it landed them into the third-place tie.

Cleanrites and Sunocos recovered from their last week's slump to gain 4-2 victories over Ken Graham's Empress and Canada Packers. Fashion-Craft received a rude jolt from the fast-travelling Plazas in their 4-2 loss. Westclox who finished in the bottom spot last season are now in eighth place and coming strong, defeating Ed Riley's Big V 4 to 2.

Les McIntosh led the high single brigade with 346 and was followed by F. Martin 344, W. Martin 341, J. Watson 334, A. Caccavella 332, W. Weese 315, G. Walton 313, W. Boon 308, H. Freeman 305, N. Routley 304, D. Abraham 303.

To Fine Clubs Taking School Boys 43rd Minors' Ball Convention Plans

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sport Writer

BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 8.—(AP).—Post-war planning, with special emphasis on the encouragement of schoolboy baseball, promised to highlight to-day's activities as the minors wound up their 43rd annual convention, after adopting seven of 13 proposed amendments yesterday.

A report of the major-minor committee on post-war planning, formed last February at the request of the late Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis, will come up for action.

The committee recommended appointment of touring talent teams to spread the diamond gospel and circulation of rule books and movies on the game's fundamentals. If this idea is agreed upon by the majors, it will be operated in conjunction with State High School Athletic Associations.

A $500 fine on clubs signing boys still eligible for High school ball was also recommended.

Among other ideas were the formation of clinics for improvement of umpiring, elimination of payment of bonuses to free agents with substitution of a payment of 10 per cent of the sales price to players assigned to a high club, establishment of a promotional department with a full time director, and recodifying the playing rules.

Also coming up was a resolution of J. Kemp Bartlett, secretary of Baltimore's International League Club, that a committee be formed to meet with football owners to erase overlapping schedules of the two sports.

Most important of the amendments adopted, all of which must be concurred in by the major leagues dealt with the draft and territorial problems.

The agreement on $10,000 for a class AA players, an increase of only 33 1-3 per cent instead of the original 100 per cent, was felt by observers to be a conciliatory gesture to the majors.

However, passing of an amendment giving the minors the right to buy the franchise of any invading major league club clearly stated the minor league's intention to protect their territory.

President William G. Bramham was authorized to appoint a new major-minor agreement. The present pact was automatically extended to Jan. 12, 1946, by the death of Commissioner Landis.

Detroit Clips Rangers 3-2

By The Canadian Press

It would be interesting to know how much Lester Patrick and Frank Boucher would give to have Bryan Hextall back with their New York Rangers this year.

It was just another near miss for the dogged but ineffectual Blueshirts last night as they lost a second bid for their third victory of the season by bowing 3-2 to Detroit's Red Wings at Madison Square Garden.

The defeat marked the second successive one-goal reverse and the third in eight losses for the New Yorkers, who despite their unimpressive record are probably a 50 per cent improvement over the sorry crew which won only six of 50 games last year.

In many cases this season, the difference between victory and defeat might have been provided by the hard-skating Hextall, a perennial 20-goal man in his N.H.L. career. The Grenfell, Sask., native was prevented by Selective Service regulations from leaving his farm to give the Rangers a hand this fall.

Red Wings won in conventional fashion last night, scoring two quick goals early in the second and then throwing up a tight defence to make it easy for young Harry Lumley in his debut in the Detroit net.

Carl Liscombe and Mud Bruneteau fired the decisive shots after Red Wings' Murray Armstrong and Rangers' venerable Ott Heller had established a 1-1 deadlock with first-period goals.

TORONTO, Dec. 8. — (CP). — Staunch Montreal Canadiens can derive little cheer from the slightly pessimistic prophecy of Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson that the Habitants may win the title this year, but they will have a tougher time doing it....Canadiens aren't as strong as last season, while clubs like Toronto and Detroit are stronger, and Fergie says darkly the league race "isn't the set-up it seemed at the start of the season"....However, that won't discourage the brave bleacherites much.

Nevermore:

From the Toronto Star's Andy Lytle comes a plaint that artistry in stick-handling and team-play is a thing of the dear bygone days—slain by the new rules. The wizards of the blades and the educated stick are being eased out none too gently by the ganging scrambles that characterize the new type of hockey, until even the defencemen can look as good as the forwards when they mosey up the ice. Andy has a suspicion that the rules were changed, not to improve the game, but to disguise the gradual war-time deterioration of the national pastime.

Incidentally:

Chalk up another mark for the Buffalo Athletic Association in Calgary. The public-spirited group of former professionals has opened a new outdoor skating and hockey rink and modern clubrooms in their expanding program to help out the youngsters in the Alberta centre. Peewee and midget hockey is growing by leaps and bounds under the Association's guidance....Joe Lamb of Sussex, N.B., veteran of numerous N.H.L. campaigns with Montreal, Ottawa, Boston, New York and St. Louis N.H.L. squads, is a Major overseas now....The hunters made another attempt in Nova Scotia to have their sport made legal for Sundays but they are still out of luck. The Lunenburg Fish and Game Association turned down a motion to have the Provincial Government put Sabbath shooting on the up-and-up....Clint Benedict, famed goalie of past Montreal Maroon teams is a gas main inspector in Ottawa now....Flat Walsh, his successor, is a successful businessman in Kingston, Ont.

Courteau Leads Reds In Victory

By The Canadian Press.

Providence Reds, paced by Paul Courteau, last night won a 4-2 victory over Indianapolis Capitals, Western Division leaders in the American Hockey League. Defeat of Capitals for the third successive time on Providence ice put Reds within four points of second-place Hershey Bears in the Eastern Division.

Courteau opened the scoring for Providence in the second minute of the game, but Capitals tied the score four minutes later with a goal by veteran Johnny Sorrell.

Midway in the second period Courteau again put Reds ahead. In the final minute of the session Tony Bukovich drove in a tying goal and Jack Lavoie came back to put Providence one up. In the 19th minute of the third period Courteau increased their lead with his third score of the game.

ASHTON, Idaho, Dec. 8 — (AP). — State Hatchery Assistant Roscoe Hix says a fisherman caught a 14 1-2-pound trout in Henry's Lake where the limit is 15 pounds plus one fish. He hopefully cast again and pulled out a 16 1-2-pounder for a total catch of 31 pounds — all legal.

Honey Produce Drops

TORONTO, Dec. 8 — (CP) — Estimated honey production in Ontario for 1944 is 26 per cent below 1943, G. F. Townsend, Provincial Apiarist, told members of the Ontario Beekeepers' Association yesterday. Chief cause of the decrease he said, was the weather. A total of 15,034,000 pounds of honey was produced this year by 203,000 colonies of bees.

LET THE HUN BEWARE!—These two men, typical of the snipers of the Canadian Army, on the Western front and in Italy, both have had many duels with the keen-eyed sharpshooters of the German Army. Italy is a snipers' paradise, and photograph on the Left shows L.-Cpl. Alan Darling, Brockville, snuggled down into natural cover, drawing a bead on a Nazi several hundreds yards away. Picture on Right is that of L.-Cpl. M. Pelletier, Montreal, who has totalled at least 27 enemy kills. He is shown here scanning the opposite hill in Italy for that movement which means the enemy. Then he gets to work with deadly aim. (Canadian Army Overseas Photo)

Union Presents Post-War Plans

TORONTO, Dec. 8 — Copies of a new booklet on postwar plans for full employment entitled, "To Win The Peace" have been placed in the hands of all Federal and Provincial Ministers and Members of Parliament by the Canadian Headquarters of the United Electrican Workers (CIO) here.

In 18 points the union's program, described as "a plan for Canadian prosperity in the postwar", sets forth suggestions for legislation and control in every aspect of employment, production and income. A continuation of wartime controls, plans for public works, housing, tax revision, and veterans' rehabilitation are features of the plan.

Viewed as the keystone of success is cooperation of labour, industry and agriculture in the postwar with representatives of these groups participating in the operation of the Ministry of Reconstruction "in the interests of an expanding civilian economy which will guarantee to all who wish to work, jobs, opportunities for advancement, minimum wages at levels commensurate with health and decency, a rising living standard, shorter work hours, and the expansion of cultural activities and opportunities for leisure time."

The union sees the necessity of building 250,000 homes per year for low wage earners, and declares rural electrification to be of major importance in bettering living standards and opening a new home market. Protection of smaller employers through revision of the tax structure and exemption of personal income taxes to a level of $1200 single and $1800 married is advocated.

Equal rights for war workers and servicemen in employment is taken as a basic principle with extended rehabilitation privileges and higher pension grants considered of utmost importance.

The program as at present prepared, state union officers, is designed for presentation to government bodies and a further elaboration of its points will be made in materials to be issued to community leaders and all important civic bodies.

The first settlement by white men in Australia was on the site of modern Sydney in 1788.

"NERVES" SHE CALLED IT

Losing interest—losing friends—she never went out any more—always too tired. "Nerves," she thought — but it was her kidneys, the filters of her blood, that needed attention. Delay meant danger. She took Dodd's Kidney Pills at once. The improved action of her kidneys helped to clear away blood impurities and excess acids. Fatigue, headache, backache, lack of energy, disappeared. 117

Herve Brunelle (Champlain) Says Conservatives Cause Discord

OTTAWA, Dec. 8—(CP)—W. C. Macdonald (L-Halifax), former parliamentary assistant to the minister of national defence, said today in the Commons he approved the government's action in passing an order-in-council authorizing the sending overseas of 16,000 men.

He said he accepted the assurances of Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Defence Minister McNaughton on steps taken to meet the need of reinforcement overseas.

When the House voted confidence in the government it ensured reinforcements. He said he felt that if the opposition was concerned only with reinforcements it would drop its amendment to the government motion asking support of a "vigorous war effort."

The Progressive Conservatives' amendment asks for total conscription with all draftees made available for service anywhere.

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House Leader, interjected that there appeared to be divisions of opinion on policy on the government side, even within the cabinet.

Herve Brunelle (L-Champlain) said it was an irony that at the start of the session Mr. Graydon should ask for calmness when his party "after five years of strenuous political effort in and out of this House" had been making conscription a political issue. There were elements in the Progressive Conservative party which delighted in discord and turmoil. They called for total war but "total war for youth only."

Mr. Brunelle said he believed Canada had attempted too much, particularly in the infantry.

Former Defence Minister Ralston knew that remustering of soldiers for the infantry had been going on for some time. That should have warned him something was wrong. Had there been no home defence army Col. Ralston would have found some other way to meet the difficulty.

He considered "efforts made to spoil the voluntary system most blameworthy."

Quebec Does Well

"In spite of what has been said the Province of Quebec has done well in this war," said Mr. Brunelle, "very much better than was expected if we consider what happened in 1917."

The campaign of hatred against Quebec was carried on by certain Canadians who were "very well taught by the Conservative party." They sought to stir up race against race and province against province and made conscription a political issue for that purpose.

The attitude of the people of Quebec towards war and conscription was the result of the activities of the Conservative party and its friends, the Nationalists. It was not due to the Liberal party.

Mr. Brunelle said he could not vote confidence in the government because he had given his word of honor to his people to oppose conscription. He could not have confidence in some ministers still in the cabinet who were all-out for conscription. He had the greatest confidence in the Prime Minister and was sorry to have to vote against him.

She Forgives Him

GLAMORGAN, Wales, Dec. 8 — (CP-Reuter). — William Gordon Francis Jones, 35, bank clerk, who used coal oil to set his wife's nightdress on fire while she was asleep, was sentenced here yesterday to three years' penal servitude after she told the court, "I am still anxious to live with him and I forgive him for what he did that night."

Socialism Would Not Benefit Labor

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 8—(CP)—Ontario Labor Minister Charles Daley yesterday told members of the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association at their annual meeting here that labor would not stand to gain by the adoption of socialism in Canada.

Current legislation protects the workers while a program of social security is being organized to guarantee full employment, Mr. Daley said.

"If we can supply full employment for workers in the postwar era there should be no adoption of any system which destroys initiative or enterprise."

Adolf Receives

LONDON, Dec. 8 — (CP) — The Berlin radio said to-day Adolf Hitler received Franz Szalasi, Hungarina chief of state, Dec. 4, at an unspecified retreat, discussing with him "political, military and economic collaborations between Germany and the Hungarian nation, united under the revolutionary Hungarist movement."

Eleven of The Examiner's staff of 43 became members of the Quarter Century Club on its inauguration at a most successful Christmas party held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club on Thursday night. Members of the club were presented by H. L. Garner, general manager, with beautiful Bulova wrist watches.

Dean of the veterans was Fred Craig, of the editorial department, who started work with the Examiner in January 1906, having previously worked for a year and a half with the Peterborough Review, and other veterans honored were Harry Theobald of editorial staff who started in September 1906; George Johnson who started March 1907, Albert Stanley, March 1908, "Jock" Anderson, June 1910, John Wyllie, June 1911, Stroyan Leith, October 1912, Maurice Dunkley, March 1913, Harold H. McLean, June 1913, Fred Scates, July 1916 and Robert Pearse, November 1918, of the mechanical staff. In all they have served 364 years.

The Program

L. P. McGillen was the chairman of the evening, and in attendance were all members of the Examiner and CHEX staffs and their wives, also Arthur Davies, general manager of the Kingston Whig-Standard and Mrs. Davies.

The program, planned by the employees, consisted of solos by Jean Stenton and John Anderson; a vocal quartette, Jean Stenton, Phyllis Robinson, Connie Nicholson and Mildred Holden; a comic skit "Earl Carroll's Follies" presented by El Jones, Harry McLay, George Bouck, Marnie Patterson and Noel Eason of CHEX and a mystery skit by Audrey Oliver, Eileen Schoales, Connie Nicholson, Phyllis Robinson and Jean Stenton, which was a "take-off" on many members of the staff.

Following the program dancing and cards were enjoyed.

Maurice Dunkley, on behalf of the Quarter Century Club and employees thanked Mr. Garner for the party and Mildred Holden and Albert Stanley on behalf of the employees presented a bouquet of mauve mums to Mrs. Garner, and a leather billfold set to Mr. Garner.

As a souvenir of the party the management presented to everyone a cup and saucer of English bone china.

The committee in charge were Robert Baker, chairman, Fred Scates, Harry McLay, Audrey Oliver, Eileen Schoales and Peter McGillen.

Jack Marshall provided music for dancing, and also contributed much to the program with clever stunts, and special dance numbers.

Wallet Stolen In Liquor Store

Mrs. Sam Calladine, Edgewater Boulevard reported to the police this morning that her wallet containing $32, her registration card and other articles had been stolen from her purse in the Government liquor store.

Mrs. Calladine said that she had laid her purse down on the counter while making out an order and that when she went to pay for her purchase she discovered that her wallet was gone.

Another customer who had been standing near Mrs. Calladine was taken to the police station for questioning but was allowed to go when the police were satisfied that he had had nothing to do with the disappearance of the purse and its contents.

Police Intercept 13-Year-Old Girl

At the request of the Peterborough police department Toronto police held a thirteen-year-old local girl who was about to board the Detroit train at Toronto Thursday night.

Morris McFee, 103 Hunter street, reported to the police last evening that his daughter Teresa was missing. He said that the girl's half-brother had arrived yesterday morning from Detroit for a brief visit and that the girl had accompanied him to the station to see him off and had not returned.

Sergt. Gordon T. Puffer who was on duty telephoned the Toronto police to watch the Detroit trains and latter received word from Toronto that the girl had been taken in charge.

Police Raid Plaza Billiards

City and provincial police staged a raid on Plaza Billiards, Charlotte street, shortly after 11 o'clock Thursday night and as a result of pinball machine and punch board were seized.

William Ward, Waterford street, was arrested on a charge of keeping a common gaming house and eight men found by the police in the basement of the place will be summonsed as "found ins."

Corporal Tomlinson and Constable Leggatt of the anti-gambling squad of the provincial police and Chief John Thompson, Inspector James F. Reid Detective John Stevenson and Constable Andre Dalton and Ernest Beatty of the city police department participated in the raid.

In police court this morning Ward was charged before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., with keeping a common gaming house and pleaded not guilty. He asked for an adjournment.

Magistrate Langley remanded the accused for a week on cash bail of $250 but intimated that as the provincial police could not be here until December 19 it was probable that there would be a further remand until that date.

Defeat Amendment

TORONTO, Dec. 8.—(CP).—The Ontario Beekeepers' Association in convention here yesterday defeated a motion to ask the Prices Board to permit equalization of the ceiling price of No. 1 unpasteurized white honey with that of No. 1 pasteurized.

At the same time the Association upheld a resolution of the Middlesex Beekeepers' Association against compulsory pasteurization of honey.

Main Street Topics

CLEARING STREETS

Groups of citizens collected in the downtown area this morning to watch the city's new snow loader in operation on the streets. The huge machine takes the snow from the streets up a long section, resembling an escalator in appearance. It also works with amazing speed and it is expected to help the labor shortage materially.

STEALING PENCILS

A new type of sneak thieving is reported by Liquor Vendor Joseph Dunkerley who says that the Ontario Government liquor store here has been plagued by an epidemic of pencil-stealing. Pencils tied to the desks by cords are furnished for the benefit of customers and these have been disappearing at a rapid rate. Eighteen were missing at the end of the day's operations last Saturday. Patrons break the cord and carry off the pencils.

SMALL BLAZE.

A small fire in the Board of Works incinerator after ten o'clock Thursday evening brought out firemen from the local department, but only slight damage was done to the doors. The blaze originated in some garbage.

Airmen Using Flares To Find Convoys

WITH THE RAF COASTAL COMMAND IN BRITAIN, Dec. 8—(CP Cable).—Aircraft of the RAF coastal command are using flares to find German convoys seeking to sneak along the Netherlands coast at night.

It was permitted to disclose Thursday that fierce battles, made possible by a new RAF flare-dropping technique, take place between strongly escorted convoys and "shipwrecking" Wellington bombers and Beaufighters.

The attacks have been so effective the Germans have gradually increased the ratio of escort ships from one for each merchant ship to five to one.

Top scorer and senior flight commander of one Wellington squadron is Sqdn. Ldr. H. G. Keiller, 28, of Mitchell, Ont., between Dieppe and Heligoland he propably sank six E-boats, including four in one attack, four merchant ships, originally composed of Canadians, now consists almost entirely of RAF personnel.

Each squadron has a 'flaremaster' and, as a result of his observations and adjustments, flares can be dropped with complete certainly of success.

Belmont Couple Observe Golden Wedding

HAVELOCK, Dec. 8 — (ENS) — Marking their golden wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel G. Quackenbush of McGill Settlement were the guests of honor at a family dinner party and presentation at the home of their son, Sgt. Raymond Quackenbush of Havelock on Tuesday when eighteen guests were present.

On behalf of the family, their daughter, Mrs. Jack Cameron of Toronto made the presentation to them of an Alladin lamp and purse of money.

Mr. Quackenbush, who is 75, was born in Seymour township the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Quackenbush. Mrs. Quackenbush is 68, and before her marriage was Matilda Jane Henderson, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henderson of Marmora township.

Belmont Residents

Mr. Quackenbush has followed farming as an ocupation all his life and following their marriage the couple took up residence in Belmont township. Both are active and enjoying good health but Mr. Quackenbush has retired from the heavy duties of farm life, these being taken over by his son Orval who resides wit'i them. The couple have nine children, thirty-eight grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Only three of their immediate family were able to attend the celebration. They were two daughters and one son, Mrs. Jack Cameron of Toronto and Mrs. Alex McArthur and Orval Quackenbush of Belmont township. Other guests were: their son-in-law, Jack Cameron and granddaughter, Marily Cameron of Toronto; Mrs. James Gallagher of Newark, N.Y., a granddaughter and four grandsons, Kenneth, Douglas, Dale and Pte. Claude McArthur, all of Belmont township the latter having recently returned from active service in France where he lost his left leg in action at Falaise.

Not Present

The members of the family who were unable to be present are: three sons, Sgt. Raymond Quackenbush at whose home the event took place has been recently transferred from New Brunswick to Western Canada, where he is on special duty; George Quackenbush of Buffalo, N.Y. and Frank Quackenbush of Fort Edwards, N.Y.; three daughters, Mrs. Fred Weatherup (Beatrice) of Norham, Mrs. Edward Dulmage (Agnes) of Newark, N.Y., and Mrs. William Etu of Fort Edwards, N.Y.

Havelock May Be Given Movie Theatre

HAVELOCK, Dec. 8 — (ENS) — communication was read at the December meeting of the town council from Michael Carlton, Wingham, stating that the Frank Carlton Production Co. was interested in opening a picture theatre in this district and Havelock had been chosen as a possible location, and they were anxious to obtain the council's views on this matter. They planned to open a theatre in any one of many prospective towns before the end of January, and as minor renovating might be necessary to any building they would lease, they asked that an enclosed questionnaire be filled in and promptly returned.

The clerk was instructed to complete the questionnaire and return it.

A letter was read from the Board of Education stating that they were interested in buying a lot for a school garden, and would appreciate a price on Lot. No. 298 on Donald street. As this lot is in the residential part of the village the council decided not to sell it for that purpose.

Annual Concert

W. M. Patterson, principal of the public school requested the use of the town hall on Thursday evening, December 21, for the public school annual Christmas concert. The request was granted.

On motion by Councillors Sanderson and Martin E. Fennell was requested to prepare a deed to B. W. Squire of Norwood in connection with the property of the F. J. Squire, according to the approved plan, with the understanding that Mr. Squire re-imburse the council.

On a motion of Councillors Martin and Leeson the clerk was instructed to look up the tax sales act and if necessary have E. Fennell draw up a deed for the municipality in connection with the sale of the McTavish block to J. Gay of Campbellford.

Ask Lower Rental

Graydon Harris and Harry Ferguson were a deputation from the local I.O.O.F. Order who are sponsoring a dance in the town hall each week, requesting a lower rental rate, as the proceeds were being allowed to accumulate to finance a banquet for the returned soldiers on cessation of hostilities. The council took no action in the matter.

The following accounts were passed: W. J. Akins, salary and telephone $87.50; Ration Board, October expenses $35.42; M. Puffer, telephone and postage $7.80; Foley Estate $8; Rae Williams, direct relief $8; W. G. Barrie, wood $130; Department of Health, insulin $1.52; E. D. Chiles $9.19; County rate $3,000; H. Tinney, work $5.60; C. W. Coon, grading and snowploughing $16.80; L. R. Sanderson, wood $36; W. Davies and Son, trucking $21; A. E. Hogg, Norwood, sand $1.80.

Reached Valley Month Late In Italy Drive

LONDON, Dec. 8—(CP-Reuter)—For the most part, in recent weeks, the Allied armies have just been "slogging on" in Italy because the Allied command deliberately embarked on these slow operations when it was realized the British 8th Army had gained entry into the Po valley a month too late.

The 8th Army, of which the Canadian Corps is a part, breached the Gothic Line in the Adriatic sector early in September, but Field Marshal Albert von Kesselring soon managed to stabilize his defences by hurling in everything available to seal off the gap.

However, field dispatches at the time said smashing of the Gothic Line, which Kesselring expected to hold three weeks, was one of the most amazing feats of the war. The British 8th Army, with the Canadian Corps playing its part, smashed it in two days.

Rimini, which ought to have fallen within 10 days of the start of the Adriatic offensive, fell after four weeks. This time lag and the earlier rains made the Allied command change its tactics.

The present operations, though lacking in sensational developments, are highly important. Of the limited forces in Italy the safe maximum is daily in the line, pressing the enemy back steadily and methodically, giving him no respite to refit and reorganize.

At no time since their entry into Italy have the Allies had any but a slight superiority in numbers, though their superiority in the air and in tanks and guns has been unquestionable. The Germans have, however, had all the advantages of ground and weather.

Snow On Walks Must Be Cleared

MILLBROOK, Dec. 8 — (ENS) — Millbrook municipal council met this week, Reeve H. D. Bigelow presiding, and all members present. The clerk read the following communications:

From the Canadian Underwriters' Association re earthquake damage and its relation to fires; from the Navy League of Canada asking for a donation; from the county roads' superintendent re cost of snowplowing and rules governing same; from the War Assets' Corporation with prices on trailer home and pump.

It was moved by Powel-Olan that the first two letters be received.

Harrington-Ball moved that the county snow plow be used on Tupper street from C.N.R. track to King street; from the King street bridge to Allen's hill; and south on the gravel road to the corporation limits.

New fire fighting apparatus was discussed at length, and it was moved by Councillors Ball and Olan that the council and firemen visit the village of Newcastle to inspect their new equipment.

It was moved by Powell-Olan that the old Russell Mill property be sold to L. H. Winslow for $10 plus the cost of securing deed for same.

The ratepayers are to be reminded of the snow removal bylaw, which states that snow must be removed from sidewalks within twenty-four hours after storm ceases. If not so removed, the council will have it done and the cost will be charged to the owner of the property. This bylaw is to be strictly enforced.

The following accounts were presented and on motion of Councillors Ball and Olan were ordered paid:

Hydro, street lights, halls, Red Cross rooms, $71.59; Harry Whyte, caretaker, $9; H. Whyte, extras, $10.30; Mrs. H. White, assistant, $9; J. J. Kellett, constable, $12; Percy Buck, special constable, $3; Gordon Davidson, special constable, $3; Coulter Bros., account, $8.26; J. J. Clarke, Division Court expenses, $20; J. W. Hutchinson, D.C. expenses, $20; W. A. Reid, $38.78; L. H. Gray, $17.25; Department of Health, insulin, $3.85; School Board, balance school levy, $324.01; collector, 3 per cent discount on taxes, $369.50; collector, frontage tax on tall hall, playground, $30.65; D. Dunlop, culverts and snow, $19.55.

No Colored Cheese To Be Released

TORONTO, Dec. 8 — (CP). — S. L. Joss of Belleville, Secretary of the Ontario Cheese Producers Association, said in an interview here today that the rescinding of orders restricting the manufacture of cheddar cheese in Ontario and Quebec won't bring small or colored cheese to the domestic market because of a prices board regulations governing prices.

The rescinding order was announced in Ottawa today.

"It does not meant a thing so far as making small or colored cheese is concerned," said Mr. Joss. "Under the prices board ceiling regulations no premium can be obtained, so production will continue as at present."

Mrs. H. B. Peters Elected Head

NORWOOD, Dec. 8 — (ENS).—The December meeting of the Red Cross War Workers group, of which Mrs. H. Ford is leader, was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. B. Peters. During the afternoon two large quilts and two crib quilts were completed. One of these was done for a member to give additional funds to the group.

Mrs. H. Ford resigned as leader having filled the position since April, 1942. She thanked them for their co-operation and expressed her pleasure at working with them. Mrs. R. Nevins took the chair for the election of a group leader, Mrs. H. B. Peters.

Donations included a crib quilt top, lining and batt by Mrs. Edgar Buck, a parcel of pieces and a large batt by Mrs. W. Preston, a large batt by Mrs. Ward, and a large and small lining by Mrs. H. Ford, and Mrs. Douglas Baker donated a quilt top.

Mrs W. N. Hagerman and Mrs. W. Preston turned in work for the sewing convener, Mrs. E. Patterson, four boys' undervests. The January meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. F. Baldock. Mrs. H. J. Ford received the work for the year 1944 and reported that 15 meetings were held during the year with an average attendance of nine members.

Work for the local Red Cross included: 5 baby's vests with crocheting, 2 night gowns, 9 baby bonnets, 5 baby jackets, 6 pairs of bootees, 5 pairs of baby mitts, 1 pair of baby pullovers, 5 pairs of gloves, 4 pairs of socks, 1 afghan, 4 boys' undervests. 66 quilts were completed during the year, 59 for the Red Cross and the others for friends of the group. 102 quilts were completed from April, 1942, to December, 1944, and 20 quilts were completed previous to that, making a total of 122 quilts.

A collection of $7.50 for the Prisoner of War Fund was turned in to the Red Cross. Balance on hand $14.06. Afternoon tea was served by the hostess, asisted by Mrs. J. Marks and Mrs. H. Ford.

ALLIES HOLD BRIDGEHEADS ON SAAR—The U.S. Third Army assault forces have made several crossings of the Saar River and are consolidating these bridgeheads near Saarlautern (1). Saarbrucken, greatest industrial city of Germany's Saar basin, is reported ablaze. A front 40 miles wide has been established inside Germany. Strategists call attention to the increasing danger to southwestern Germany's defences as the push from Maguanau (2) toward Karlsruhe continues. This 7th Army drive northward along the Rhine, were it to break through opposite Karlsruhe, would turn the Siegfried Line on the right bank of the Rhine from the Swiss border to Karlsruhe and might outflank the central sector as far north as Luxembourg.

U.S. Endorses Statement By Winston Churchill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—(AP)—State Secretary Stettinius put the United States on record as favoring complete freedom of political action for the people of Greece.

He formally endorsed a declaration by Prime Minister Churchill Tuesday that the people of Greece should have complete freedom to form a government either of the Right or of the Left.

But Mr. Stettinius deliberately refrained from endorsing another statement by the British Prime Minister dealing with the use of British troops to prevent formation of what Churchill called a "Communist dictatorship in Greece."

Earlier this week the U.S. State Department protested Britain's intervention in the formation of a new Italian government. The British action had vetoed Count Carlo Sforza as a candidate for either Premier or Foreign Minister of a new regime at Rome.

At his news conference today Mr. Stettinius handed reporters this statement:

"I was interested to note that in his statement on the Greek situation on December 5 Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons 'Our position, as I have said, is extremely clear. Whether the Greek people form themselves into a monarchy or republic is for their decision. Whether they form a government of the Right or Left is for their decision. These are entirely matters for them'.

"With this statement I am in full agreement. It is also our earnest hope that the people and authorities of Greece and our British allies will work together in rebuilding that ravished country."

To Use Aussies In West Pacific

MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, the Philippines, Dec. 8—(AP) Gen Sir Thomas A. Blamey, commander in chief of Allied ground forces in the Southwest Pacific, after conferring with Gen. MacArthur for the first time in the Philippines, told the press today that Australian forces will be used in current campaigns in the West Pacific.

Gen. Blamey said that campaign plans involving the use of Australians posed an immense shipping problem which would have to be solved in proper relation to the needs of the European theatre.

Gen. Blamey said it was incorrect to speak of "mopping up" the thousands of Japanese who have been by-passed in the Allies' northward advance. He said that these Japanese are well contained and are not in a position to influence the progress of the war but that it was a problem for the future.

DOROTHY DIX

COUPLE LACK COMPANIONSHIP
Cultivate Your Neighbors, Be a Good Mixer And You'll Have Friends Galore.

◆ ◆ ◆

DEAR MISS DIX—We have been married over ten years and are unhappy and bored because we do not have any friends at all. Other people around us seem to be popular, but we are never invited anywhere and it is getting on our nerves. Please tell us what to do.

DESPONDENT.

World Hungry for Friendship

ANSWER—In a world where there are so many lonely people who are starving for affection and companionship, it must be your own fault if you have no friends. Something must be wrong with your way of life, and the first thing for you to do is to study that objectively and try to see what is wrong with it.

Are you, by any chance, one of the married couples who are so absorbed in each other that you have never had any room in your lives for anyone else? I have known a few such husbands and wives. They lived to themselves. They were interested in no one but themselves. They never even knew the names of their neighbors. They belonged to no clubs. They had no social contact with the people they worked among or with whom they did business. Naturally they had no friends because nobody knew them.

If you and your husband have been one of these self-centered couples, it explains why you are left to flock by yourself, because nobody is going to take the trouble to dig two human clams out of their shells. No one is going to run after you and thrust their attentions upon you. You have to meet people at least half way and show some desire to know them before they make an effort to know you.

So, if you want to have friends, you must show yourself friendly and begin cultivating the people about you. My first suggestion would be that you move out of the neighborhood in which you live and where you have already gotten the reputation of being stand-offish and take a fresh start among strangers.

Then break the crust with which you have surrounded yourself and begin being neighborly. Don't make your house a castle in which you immure yourself and shut everyone else out. Buy a big doormat with WELCOME on it, and use it. Take a part in all the neighborhood activities. Join the local country club. Join the church. Get on committees. Give little parties. Smile when the neighbors' dogs dig up your flower beds and give their children cookies. In a word, be a mixer.

All the world is hungry for friendship and there is no trouble in making friends if you will only make the effort.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young girl and find myself in love with two men whom I have known for year and who are now in the service. Both think I am waiting for them. They are entirely opposite types, yet I find each equally attractive to me as a future mate.

How can I make a decision without injury to one? But, most important, how can I make the right choice for myself?

ELECTRA.

ANSWER — That's easy. When a girl can't tell which one of two men she cares the most for, it is plain as the nose on her face that she doesn't love either one well enough to marry him. If she does shut her eyes and make a blind choice, or if she takes the one who has the most persuasive line, she is sure to wish by the time the honeymoon is over that she had married the other one.

So my earnest advice to you, Electra, is to wait until Mr. Right comes along. Then you won't have to wonder which of two or three or four boy friends attract you most. You will know that he is the only one for you.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a secretary and considered a very efficient one, but, being human, I occasionally make mistakes, and whenever I do my boss takes me over his knee and spanks me. I am getting to be a nervous wreck over this. What shall I do about it?

JEAN.

ANSWER—Well, the obvious thing seems to be to quit your present job and find a boss who doesn't take such drastic methods of correcting your spelling. But if you can take the punishment, the spanking plan of educating a secretary will certainly turn you out one whose price will be above rubies.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday December 9

SUDDEN, AMAZING and exciting events continue, with unforeseen developments relating to business and financial affairs but with major emphasis on purely personal, domestic social or romantic affairs, in which hasty readjustments with travel, change, new ties, employments and environs are destined to have a drastic and deep seated effect upon the life. With this surprising about face of affairs there may also be stubborn obstacles, difficult situations and frustrations to compose, before any real progress and satisfaction are forthcoming. Clever or subtle tactics of finesse may best break opposition.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of swift moving events, with much of an uprooting or devastating nature in which the business as well as intimate relations may be profoundly moved. There may be sudden change, travel, broken ties, new contacts and adventures of a spectacular or thrilling nature. The romantic life seems to hold the limelight, and there are signs of frustrations, imposition, or stubborn resistance from those not favorable to desired plans. These may best be placated by amiable and affable approach rather than quarrels, impetuosity and emotionalism. Keep poised and discreet for happiness.

A child born on this day may have much ingenuity, independence and originality, and may meet stubborn obstacles in its private as well as business life, through its clever and determined methods.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

One of our recipes for to-day is a most unusual one. You can make this in two different ways, either use ice cream when available or make your own filling, using the following recipe.

Frozen Pie Filling

2 eggs, ½ cup granulated sugar, ½ cup light corn syrup, 1 cup coffee cream, 1 cup milk, 1-3 cup lime juice, 1 teaspoon grated lime peel. Beat eggs until lemon colored, add sugar gradually to egg until mixture is thick. Add remaining ingredients in order listed above. Freeze with temperature control at coldest position. When frozen, remove to bowl and whip until light and creamy. Now fill the crust which is made as follows: 1½ cups graham cracker crumbs, 1-3 cup of powdered sugar, ¼ cup of butter. Blend crumbs with butter and sugar, line a small pie pan with ¾ of the crumb mixture and chill thoroughly. Fill crust with the lime filling, cover with remaining crumbs and freeze until firm. Garnish with any kind of fruit.

Peanut Corn Muffins

1 cup flour, 1 cup cornmeal, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ cup melted shortening, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1 cup milk. Sift together flour, corn meal, baking powder and salt. Beat egg, then add milk and shortening. Add to dry ingredients, stirring just enough to moisten. Add ½ cup chopped peanuts or 1-3 cup peanut butter to the batter. Fill greased muffin pans 2-3 full. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) 25 minutes. Serve piping hot.

Corn Bread Ring With Creamed Vegetables

Follow above recipe before the peanuts are added, substituting bacon dripping for shortening, adding 2 tablespoons crisp bacon (chopped) and ¼ cup of chopped onions. Bake in greased ring mold in hot oven (400 degrees) for 30 minutes. Fill with any kind of creamed vegetables.

LUMBER FOR BRITAIN

For the occasion, the bride chose a brown suit, matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Ellsworth Lerch, of Grove City, was her only attendant, and Ellsworth Lerch was best man. After the ceremony, the wedding party was entertained at the home of the groom's" mother. Mr. and Mrs. Burnett will make their home with his mother in Grove City, where he is employed in the office of the Cooper-Bessemer Corporation.

W.M.S. Re-elects Old Executive

Mrs. B. Frederick was hostess Thursday afternoon for the December meeting of Group E of the Women's Missionary Society of George Street United Church, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. Borland, Dublin street.

The complete executive of officers was re-elected by acclamation for another year of service. Guest speaker was Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, who gave the Christmas story, "How Mary Came to Bethlehem" and Mrs. L. Groombridge, guest soloist, sang "Bless This House."

Mrs. E. H. Brown opened the meeting with a poem, "The Watchword," and Mrs. H. McMillan and Mrs. C. Ruth were in charge of the devotional period. Mrs. E. Wand and Mrs. Scott Wildman moved the vote of thanks to the hostess and those assisting with the program, and refreshments were served during a social hour at the close of the meeting.

62 Women Help Fix Voters' List

The biggest undertaking by the W.V.S. during November was the assistance given the City Clerk in addressing the cards for the voters' list, it was reported at the monthly meeting Wednesday evening. Mrs. C. Crowe, who has charge of the emergency committee, reported that 62 women had worked a total of 157 hours in getting out these 3,500 cards and helping with the voters' lists.

Miss G. Cox reported that during the month 30 men and three C.W.A.C.'s had been entertained in Peterborough homes, through arrangements made by her hospitality committee. There were also two dances for which 80 junior hostesses and five senior hostesses were provided. A house party for ten boys was arranged and there have been four bingos with 155 junior hostesses in attendance and 19 seniors. Arrangements also are under way for the Christmas hospitality and hostesses who would like to help may call 9377.

War Savings Stamps to the total of $57.75 have been sold by the Miss Canada Girls under the leadership of Mrs. G. Matthews and the camp library is continuing to be manned two nights a week by members of Miss G. Fowler's committee. The Clerical committee under Mrs. H. Rehill gave nine hours of service at the Armouries, 10 hours of A.R.P. work and two hours for the Citizens' committee. Mrs. J. Londerville reported that a total of 370 hours had been put in at the canteen by 61 girls of her committee.

Bazaar Raises $104 For W.A.

CAVAN, Dec. 8—(ENS).—The WA of Cavan United Church held a bazaar on Wednesday afternoon in the basement of the church, and a hot supper was served.

The well-filled table of fancy work, aprons and knitted wear, presided over by Mrs. Albert Tinney and Mrs. F. Freemantle, was the centre of attraction during the afternoon, and the many dainty and useful articles found ready buyers. Mrs. H. Snider and Mrs. Ray Syer were in charge of a table of home-made baking, vegetables, fowl and eggs.

Mrs. H. Keegan and Mrs. Herbert Snider were appointed to buy the meat and arrange for hot potatoes for the supper. The attractively-set tables were in charge of Mrs. Melville Carr, Mrs. Norman Braithwaite and Mrs. Milton Carr and Mrs. H. Gardiner. Mrs. Leslie Pritchard and the Misses Mary Richards, Jean Gillis and Wilda Armitage assisted with the serving.

Proceeds for the bazaar and supper amounted to $104.

300 Boxes Packed For Canada's Army

Over 300 boxes, filled with sweets, cigarettes, a piece of Christmas cake, and many other useful articles will soon be on their way to spread Christmas cheer to boys serving in Canada's Army within her borders. About 25 women, members of the Peterborough Active Army Auxiliary were on the job on Thursday afternoon in St. John's Parish Hall, busily filling, tieing, sealing and addressing these bundles of good cheer. The contents are approximately the same as the boxes which were recently packed for overseas, and each contains the special Christmas card of the City Council, as well as a greeting card from the Auxiliary. If the over 200 letters of thanks already received from boys who have gotten their boxes are any proof, the Auxiliary can expect many more from grateful soldiers who were remembered so royally.

Trinity Band Re-elects Head

Mrs. A. Malby was re-elected as president of the Trinity Baby Band, at the annual election of officers conducted at the Christmas meeting on Wednesday. Mrs. H. T. Rehill presided for the election, and in her remarks explained to the members the position of the Baby Band, in regard to the W.M.S.

Members of the 1945 executive are as follows: Honorary presidents, Mrs. S. Carver, Mrs. G. S. Easton; preident, Mrs. A. Malby; first vice-president, Mrs. N. Elliott; second vice-president, Mrs. W. R. Philp; recording and press secretary, Mrs. D. Hamilton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. O. Smith; treasurer, Mrs. J. Perry; program convener, Mrs. V. Skitch; layette convener, Mrs. H. Gray; sewing convener, Mrs. J. Krough; knitting convener, Mrs. C. Spearin; telephone committee, Mrs. R. Woodcock, Mrs. D. White and Mrs. M. Latimer; pianist, Mrs. H. Gray.

Mrs. M. Louden, 201 Brock street, was hostess for the meeting. During the devotional period, led by Mrs. Malby, the Christmas story was read from the Bible by Mrs. H. Gray, and Mrs. S. Carver, an honorary president, read a story "The Least Place for the Greatest", and some Christmas poem and children's stories. Mr. A. H. Radford played and sang a lovely group of Christmas songs.

Mrs. J. Perry and Mrs. J. Turnbull were appointed as representatives to the Health League of Canada. It was reported that two layettes had been donated to the Save the Children Fund, and a cash donation had been made to the China and India Relief Fund of the W.M.S. At the close of the meeting, the social committee served refreshments.

I.O.D.E. Chapter Helps War Funds

More than $300 in donations, with $200 to be given directly to war funds, were announced at the regular meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E., Thursday evening at the Y.W.C.A.

The donations are as follows: Endowment Fund, $36.20; Miss Gordon Memorial Fund, $5; Provincial Bursary, $5; Educational Relief, $2; Lucy Morrison Memorial Fund, $5; Blanket Fund, $50; Sailors and Minesweepers, $25; Prisoners of War Fund, $50; Navy League, $10; Polish Relief, $50; British War Victims Fund, $100

Miss D. Burgess, welfare convener, reported that assistance had been given to a family and to two children. She is also in charge of arrangements so that each soldier in the Training Centre hospital will be remembered at Christmas. Mrs. I. H. Keefer, educational secretary, has arranged for each pupil of the adopted school to be remembered at Christmas, and more equipment has been taken to the school.

Sixty-five pairs of boys' pants, made by a member, Mrs. W. C. McCreery, and 6 sweaters, were reported as forwarded to headquarters by Mrs Steggles, war convener. Mrs. N. H. Hamley, assisted by members of the Chapter, will be responsible for the dance for soldiers from the Training Centre at the Y.W.C.A. on Monday evening, December 11.

RCAF Auxiliary Slate Returned

The entire executive of the Peterborough Women's Auxiliary to the Airforce was returned for a fourth year in office, at the election of officers at their regular meeting, Thursday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. Members felt that when the officers worked so well together, they should continue in office, if they would accept.

Members of the executive are as follows: President, Mrs. George E. Graham; first-vice-president, Mrs. G. H. Roper; second vice-president, Mrs. F. E. Johnston; treasurer, Mrs. R. B. Harle; recording secretary, Mrs. C. H. McWilliams. Conveners are: Wool, Mrs. S. Harris; visiting, Mrs. W. M. Robinson and Mrs. Scott Wildman; social, Mrs. C. R. Banks; special collection, Mrs. H. C. Jay; cigarettes, Mrs. W. J. Moorhead. The press secretary will be named at the next meeting.

The allocation of $75 a month, given to Mrs. Moorhead to carry on her work of sending cigarettes and candy to boys overseas, has been increased to $100 a month. Because of the difficulty of obtaining candy for boys who do not smoke, Mrs. Moorhead reported that boxes had been packed instead, and sent to them. Mrs. Jay, in charge of the special collection, said that four boxes had been sent to boys in Canada, and a spray of flowers had been sent to a bereaved member. A request for the names of Airforce boys serving in Canada or overseas was again expressed, and relatives of Airforce personnel were asked to contact a member of the executive. Over 350 boxes have already been sent overseas, and almost 300 will be sent to Airforce boys and girls in Canada.

Sixteen members of the Auxiliary will be assisting at the Citizens' Co-ordinating Committee Christmas party at the drill hall Saturday afternoon, and will be on duty in the ice cream booth. Mrs. S. Harris, wool convener, said that 112 pairs of sox were now on hand. Mrs. Graham presided.

Many Women Not Registered As Joint Owners

"Interest in the civic elections last Monday was far greater than for any similar election in the past fourteen years," was the comment today of E. A. Outram, city clerk.

"In fact interest was at such fever pitch among those favoring and opposing the bylaws, particularly the hospital bylaw, throughout most of the day that at times things were quite uncomfortable for the city clerk and his staff," continued Mr. Outram. "At stages the heat was really on. Most of this was caused by persons going to the polls expecting to have an owner vote on the bylaws and finding that they were not down on the voters' list as an owner and therefore had no vote on the bylaws.

"We tried to explain the reason for this to those who telephoned us and hundreds did telephone—but under the pressure at which we were working and the keen disappointment of these inquirers, I doubt if we got our message across to all. Some voters even returned to the polling places and showed their deeds, proving that they were part owner of the property on which they desired to qualify as owner-voter, but of course that did not help them.

"I believe, however, that a full explanation is due to these voters. The explanation is this: As clerk I am responsible for preparing the voters' list but in preparing the list I am bound to use only the information supplied on the assessment roll. Therefore, if a voter is not entered on the assesment roll as an owner I cannot enter that person on the voters' list as an owner. Those who qualify as owners of property should assure themselves that they are assessed as owners when the assessors make their annual rounds.

"In regard to the voters' list used in Monaghan ward, that is the annexed portion, at the election, the situation was different," continued Mr. Outram. "Because the city assessor had not completed his assessment work in that area, I had no assessment roll from which to prepare a voters' list. On the order of the Ontario Municipal Board, therefore, I used the last revised voters' list of the township, prepared by Bruce Johnston. This list, too, was prepared with care, and its completion was advertised several times. Extra copies of this list were run off weeks ago and distributed in the annexed portion of the township. I did receive some requests for correction and these changes were made when the proper evidence was produced."

The clerk said that on election day his staff worked in shifts throughout the day giving election information. "Under the avalanche of calls I think we did a good job," he said, "anyway we did the best we could."

German V-Bomb Levels Pub

LONDON, Dec. 8—(CP)—Crashing down recently in a busy urban street in southern England, a Nazi V-bomb killed and injured a number of persons, levelled a pub, wrecked several buildings and damaged a store.

The explosion blew to bits jeeps and trucks parked near a hotel, blasted a taxicab and killed its occupants, and scattered debris over a wide area. Two women walking in the street were blown to pieces.

European Countries Offer Christians Field For Work

HAVELOCK, Dec. 8—(ENS)—The program at the December meeting of the local Home and School Association was a combination of health and Yuletide items, with the president, Mrs. W. Woodbeck, presiding.

Rev. J. Davey of Knox Presbyterian Church was guest speaker taking "Christmas" at his theme. He first spoke on the aims of the Home and School Association and wished the local organization success in all its undertakings. He said: "If Christianity is Christmas then Christmas is Christianity. There can be no true worship without the proper relationship to God."

He dealt with the traditional Yuletide festivities in England with their holly and mistletoe decorations and then speaking of the Christ Child's birth he asked if members could find the Baby Saviour in Havelock and in reply quoted a portion from St. Matthew: "For I was hungered and ye gave me meat, naked and ye clothed me, and inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren ye have done it unto me." Mr. Davey then spoke of the tremendous task of feeding and clothing the people of the liberated countries of Europe and reminded his hearer that God had spared them and their homes and it was their duty to rebuild civilization and there could be no other foundation but the Babe of Bethlehem.

Musical Program

A medley of songs was sung by the following girls from Principal Patterson's room accompanied at the piano by Mrs. C. Couch, Beverley Bennett, Helen Anderson, Donna Rowat, Margaret Hubble, Joan Quinn and Elaine Graham. Mrs. Goheen's pupils also sang a number of songs with Muriel Smith, Lois McKay and Beulah Chase, in costume taking solo parts in "We Three Kings of Orient Are". This room also put on a health play entitled, "S.S. Health."

A reading "How to Prevent a Cold" was given by Mrs. G. Kennedy; a vocal duet, "Gifts," was sung by Dora Ketchen and Ruth Wilkinson acompanied by Mrs. W. M. Platt.

Owing to the holiday season the next meeting will be held on January 9 and the treasurer reported $55.81 on hand.

On motion by Mrs. C. Taylor and Mrs. F. McKay a donation of $5 was made to the Peterborough British War Victims Fund.

Mrs. H. Hoard resigned as health convener and Mrs. W. Nobes was elected to that office.

Mrs. Goheen's room won the shield for having the largest number of parents at the meeting.

In connection with the membership drive for which a prize of $2 goes to the room which obtains the largest number of members for the association, a motion was made by Mrs. G. Kennedy and Mrs. H. Hoard that Mrs. Goheen's room be included in the competition.

Prior to Mrs. Goheen taking over this room there had been a motion on the books barring this room from taking part and some of the members thought that the children were losing interest and thought the first motion unfair as a different group of children were there now.

Buckhorn Group Made 39 Quilts

BUCKHORN, Dec. 8—The annual meeting of the Buckhorn War Workers was held in the True Blue hall. All committee conveners reported on the year's work and reports revealed a year of much activity. Mrs. David Montgomery, the knitting convener, reported 43 pairs of service socks completed and many other knitted articles furnished by the I.O.D.E. In the absence of Mrs. A. Fulton, the quilting convener, Mrs. R. Montgomery reported 39 quilts completed of which 30 were sent to the I.O.D.E.

During the year several bales were packed for the I.O.D.E. and included in these bales were 30 quilts, 22 pairs of socks, 3 pairs of seaman's socks, 1 tuck-in sweater, 2 pairs of gloves, 6 nightgowns, 47 napkins, 6 baby wrappers, 2 knit suits for babies, 4 pairs of baby socks, and 12 utility bags.

It was also announced that through the efforts of the Peterborough Coffee Club and especially Chris Hughes tickets were sold on a crochet bedspread were sold which netted the war workers $120. This sum aided the women in looking after the district boys serving overseas and furnished them with 300 cigarettes a month and 25 Christmas boxes.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Charles Jones; vice-president, Mrs. W. Ziroff; secretary, Mrs. S. Wood; treasurer, Mrs. A. A. Smith; gift fund treasurer, Mrs. Grant Gillespie. The conveners of the various committees were all re-elected.

Mrs. R. Frankish Heads Zion Church W.A.

KEENE, Dec. 8 (ENS)—The Women's Association of Zion United church met at the home of Mrs. C. Kindred Wednesday, with Mrs. Frankish in charge of a Christmas program.

Mrs. E. Robinson read how Christmas was spent "At Sea"; Mrs. J. Jackson "In England"; Mrs. W. Anderson "In Sweden"; Mrs. G. Murray "In Spain"; Mrs. R. Frankish "In Russia"; Mrs. T. Beatty "Christmas Bill of Fare"; and the Scripture lesson by Mrs. W. Crane. Rev. G. Murray presided at the election of officers.

Mrs. G. Robinson, the president, presided for the business when the report of the year was submitted which showed much had been done and that a good balance was on hand with an increased contribution to missions. Votes of thanks were given to the 1944 executive and to the minister and his wife for leadership given.

Officers for 1944 are: Past president, Mrs. E. Robinson; president, Mrs. R. Frankish; vice-president, Mrs. R. Jackson; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. L. Crane; Missionary, Mrs. Murray and Mrs. T. Beatty; Social, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Kindred; Quilting, Mrs. Rutherford and Mrs. Anderson; Flower asd Visiting Mrs. Crane, Mrs. E. Dixon and Mrs. J. Manley. A hearty vote of thanks was given to Miss Marion Beatty, the secretary-treasurer for the past few years, also to Mrs. C. Kindred, the hostess, for the dainty lunch.

TESTIFIES — Charging that any one opposing the New Deal is subjected to persecution, Miss Vivian Kellems, Connecticut war manufacturer, declared that German Count Frederick von Zedlitz, her correspondent in Argentina, is "no more Nazi than I'm a New Dealer." Miss Kellems testified before a sub-committee of the Senate post-office committee investigating censorship leakages from her correspondence with the count.

Obituaries

LOUIS GIARDINO.

The funeral of Louis Giardino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Giardino, who passed away while in Brantford at the age of twenty-three years, took place from the residence, 502 Parnell street, Thursday morning to the Church of the Sacred Heart. The casket was flag-draped, and Rt. Rev. Monsignor J. J. O'Brien, pastor of the Church, offered requiem mass, and Rev. V. G. McFadden of Downeyville and Rev. John Coughlin were present in the sanctuary.

The many beautiful spiritual and floral tokens and messages of sympathy received at the home paid silent tribute of the esteem enjoyed by the young man, who had been a member of the Sacred Heart Church all his life, and acted as an altar boy for many years. He had formerly joined the 4th Anti-Tank Battery January 18, 1941, and was the beloved husband of Bernice Lynch, whom he married in November, 1942.

Interment was made in St. Peter's Cemetery. Hon. Capt. F. M. Grant conducted the graveside services, assisted by Rev. J. C. Moloney, and the last farewell to this member of the Canadian Army was given with the sounding of the Last Post over his grave.

Pall-bearers were Joseph Cacavella, Frank McCormack, Charles Wheeler, Maurice Cacavella, Rocco Decarlo, and Thomas Cupoli.

Noticed among the out-of-town friends who attended the funeral were Pte. Oswald Clarke of Camp Borden, Mrs. Joseph Wheeler and Charles Wheeler of Collingwood and Rocco Decarlo of Kingston.

MRS. WILLIAM FITZGERALD

One of the largest funerals ever held from the Sacred Heart church Thursday was that of Mrs. William Fitzgerald, a resident of Otonabee all her life until four years ago. The solemn requiem mass was sung by her son, Rev. Herbert Fitzgerald, of Kearney, and Rev. Gregory Wolff acted as deacon; Rev. James Collins as sub-deacon; Rev. John Coughlin, incense bearer; Rev. F. A. Marrocco, master of ceremonies, and Rt. Rev. John MacDonald gave final absolution.

Hundreds of people attended the service and a guard of honor, made up of boys of different grades in the Sacred Heart school formed outside the church as the body arrived for service and departed for the cemetery. S.S. No. 8, St. Joseph's Separate schoo, Otonabee ,was closed for the day.

Present in the sanctuary were: Rt. Rev. Monsignor J. J. O'Brien, Rt. Rev. Monsignor F. J. O'Sullivan, Rev. Fr. Fitzgerald of St Peter's, Rev. P. J. Lynch of Trout Creek; Rev. Kevin Corkery of Peterborlugh; Rev. V. J. Gillogly, Ennismore; Rev. James Walsh, Kinmount; Rev. Charles Kay, Lindsay; Rev. Joseph Lynch, Immaculate Conception church; Rev. J. J. McCarthy, Douro; Rev. C. J. Carroll, Norwood; Rev. Leo Rishea, Wooler; Rev. J. Maloney, Huntsville; Rev. J. Killen, Immaculate Conception; Rev. C. J. Begley, Grafton; Rev. James Greenan, Immaculate Conception; Rev. J. T. Finn, St. Peter's; Rev. J. V. Corkery; Rev. K. Malane, St. Peter's; Rev Edward Walsh, Parry Sound; Rev. V. G. McFadden, Doneyville; Rev. Joseph Collins, Campbellford; Rev. S. Coffey; Rev. J. J. Garvey, Hastings; Dean McAuley, Lindsay, and Dean Ferguson, Warkworth.

Rt. Rev. Monsignor J. J. O'Brien conducted the services at the graveside, assisted by Rev. Herbert Fitzgerald, Rev. Leo Rishea, Rev. P. J. Lynch, Dean J. V. McAuley, Rev. C. J. Begley.

Pallbearers were Thomas Heffernan of Douro, Thomas Heffernan, Leo Fitzgerald, Frank Heffernan, Thomas Fitzgerald, and Thomas Heffernan, of Otonabee, all nephews.

Relatives and friends were present from Norwood, Hastings, Campbellford, Douro, Ennismore, Downeyville, Beaverton and Windsor.

Monaghan Seventh In Assessment Rating

North Monaghan descend from third to seventh position in the assessment rating of the county municipalities when the suburban annexation becomes effective at the turn of the year.

Reeve Melville Johnston mentionde the loss of estate prior to the adjournment of the December sessions at noon today.

"Annexation is going to take between $600,000 and $700,000 of our assessment," Mr. Johnston said. "I am sorry that next year there will be only one representative at this desk. I don't know how it will be, but whoever is elected reeve of our township for next year will be sitting alone at this Monaghan desk. I hope you will all remember North Monaghan as it used to be, and be fair. Our township is dropping from third to seventh place. Don't tramp on us too much. We have a thousand of population to begin with, and I expect there will be continued residential development on the outskirts of the city. Building has been active this year. I feel sure that as this growth continues our assessment will increase with this development outside the city area."

Warden Isaac Anderson declared the council adjourned, thanking the members for the support they had given throughout the year. He expressed the hope that the members would be returned at the January elections, and that the county administration this year would commend the members to their ratepayers.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

COUNT SEVERAL WAYS

COUNTING UP the resultant tricks if you play the hand some certain way, and it works, is not enough for the thorough declarer. He also counts up to see how many he has available by some other process, or if the first way doesn't work. He may find that there are three or four different ways to essay his contract, and he selects his course according to both plus and minus points—what he stands to gain and lose by each method.

North: ♠ 10 7 ♥ K 8 4 ♦ K J 10 7 2 ♣ A K 2

South: ♠ K J 5 ♥ A Q 6 ♦ A 6 ♣ J 9 6 4 3

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♣ | Pass | 1 ♦ | Pass |
| 1 NT | Pass | 3 NT | |

After some thorough counting up, South was able to give this a fast play, because he knew exactly what his chosen order of events was. The main fundamental of his plan was that he must not let East get the lead to come through spades after the 10 won the lead of the 6. Caring not if West won a trick, as he would then still have spades stopped, he went first after the maximum possible under those circumstances.

Instead of the dangerous finesse of diamonds toward East, he led the dummy's J and, when East played low, let it ride. Next he led to his diamond A, back to the dummy with the heart K, and played the diamond K, hoping it would fell the Q, but it didn't.

He now was sure to make his contract, but had still an additional way to try for extra tricks. That was by playing the club A and K. If the Q had been doubleton, he could have picked up three extra tricks in that suit. When it did not drop, however, he merely ran the rest of his tricks for game with two more hearts, making a total of nine, and then gave up the last four, knowing he had applied the soundest and safest method throughout.

IN MEMORIAM

GABLE—In loving memory of mother.
Oft and oft our thoughts do wander
To the grave not far away
Where we laid our dear mother
Just two years ago to-day.
—Ever remembered by her son and daughter-in-law. Walter and Isabell.

FRENCH— In loving memory of John Alfred French who passed away December 8th, 1943.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear,
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him near.
—Fondly remembered by wife and children.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. George Rutherford, wishes to thank the attending doctors, nurses of Nicholls Hospital, friends, relatives and all those who called or sent cards during his recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Burns and family of Albert St., wish to thank their many friends and neighbours, the Rev. Mr. Filer, nursing staff of Nicholls Hospital and the attending doctors, for kindness shown to Mr. Burns during his recent illness.

December 8th, 1869... Timothy Eaton, young new Canadian from the North of Ireland opens dry goods shop at south-west corner of Yonge and Queen Streets, Toronto. Insignificant little place. Nothing unusual about stock of velvets, dress materials, jackets, bonnets. No window dressing. But before the day's out, Toronto knows something unique's been started. ONE PRICE ONLY ... PRICES IN PLAIN FIGURES ... GOODS SATISFACTORY OR MONEY REFUNDED—it's dream-stuff to these Mid-Victorian shoppers in their tight gloves and many petticoats. They're accustomed to having to put up with an unsatisfactory purchase. Accustomed to prices in code and the devious practice of "dickering." Accustomed to the shock of quarterly bills after three months of blind shopping. Timothy Eaton's bid for business has all the dramatic elements of surprise, daring and fine human relationships. Here's a merchant who puts himself on the side of the customer ... it's the passing from old to modern times in Toronto store-keeping.

- Timothy Eaton understood people. It was his happy destiny to serve succeeding multitudes. He lived to see his small dry goods business spread out and interwoven with all the primary human interests of food, clothing, home-making, recreation, employment and industry. He saw others adopt his institution of shorter hours and weekly half-holiday for his store workers. He was called the father of the Early Closing Movement ... Eaton presidents who've followed after him have held fast to his business and humanitarian principles.

December 8th, 1944... Canada and EATON'S have grown up together. For a department store comes very close to the community. Across the Dominion, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, are Eaton centres of supply and service. We record proudly that of the 32,000 men and women employed in these Stores, Factories, Mail Order and Distributing Warehouses, 5170 have served or are still serving in the Navy, Army and Air Force.

- Seventy-five years of serving the public in one of the most favoured lands on the face of the globe! Serving through peace and wars, through prosperity and depressions. EATON'S greets the war-scarred future with a sense of high opportunity and mighty responsibility.

Allied Units Hit Ormoc On 3 Sides

Planes Cripple Jap Ships Crowded With Men

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Dec. 9—(AP).—Storming the outskirts of the port city of Ormoc, the recently landed U.S. 77th Division broadened the coastal centre of two mantraps on West Leyte today and a frontline dispatch told of bewildered Japanese fleeing in disregard of orders to stand or die.

In the main, however, there was bitter enemy resistance.

The U.S. 6th Army, going all-out to wind up the central Philippines campaign, was on the move in all sectors, converging from three directions on Ormoc.

Naval patrols were maintained in the Camotes Sea in an effort to choke off the last trickle of enemy shipments to that gravely menaced reinforcement base Today's communique disclosed the patrols sank six loaded small vessels and set a seventh ablaze.

Far out over the Philippines from Luzon to Mindanao, American planes hunted down other enemy ships, sinking a 9,000-ton transport and destroying or damaging 14 small freighters in operations just reported.

The 77th, veterans of Guam, drove north for two miles from the point of Thursday's amphibious landing to seize the former U.S. army base of camps down on the edge of Ormoc.

Five miles south of the 77th's beachhead, the northbound 7th division swept beyond Palanas to seize Balogo and inland high ground north of the Tabgas river. Atop a hill in the 7th's sector, Al Dopking, Associated Press war correspondent, saw trapped Japanese run first toward the 77th's beachhead, recoil under fire back toward the 7th which also blasted them and sent them scurrying into wild mountain country.

To the northeast, other Americans from conquered East Leyte were disclosed today to be within six miles of the west coast after capturing the mountain pass at Mahonag.

In addition to the tight squeeze being clamped on the south end of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita's severed defence line, a larger trap north of Ormoc was narrowed.

The 32nd division, moving south from Carigara Bay, wiped out bypassed enemy pockets, then inched forward along the rugged corridor beyond the Leyte river which forks south of Limon. The Japanese Air Force, whose nine-hour attack on the American convoy after the 77th's landing was a demonstration of the enemy's still-potent striking power, kept pounding away at shipping in Leyte Gulf.

The raid on the East Side of Leyte, where Gen. MacArthur's invasion forces landed Oct 20, cost the enemy 14 planes and five more were shot down over West Leyte, headquarters said today. Japan has lost more than 1,000 planes in the Leyte campaign.

Cut Hydro Costs

TORONTO, Dec. 9. — (CP).—Mayor Conboy forecast a permanent 10 per cent reduction in Hydro bills of domestic consumers in Toronto and a six per cent reduction for commercial and industrial users. The mayor said the new rates would become effective the first of the year.

Veterans Only

LONDON, Dec. 9—(CP).—Sir Andrew Cunningham, First Sea Lord, told this story. A little minesweeper worked diligently day and night in the foulest weather of the Channel. At last, as dusk fell her lamp winked out this signal: "All clear. Channel now safe for 'straight stripers' (pre-war members of the Royal Navy)."

Believe Japan Hard Hit By Earthquake

By The Canadian Press.

Japan's populous war industry centres of Osaka and Nayoga suffered factory damage and casualties in Thursday's earthquake which jolted seismograph needles all over the world, the Japanese admitted to-day

The 'quake, dismissed by Tokyo first as minor, damaged homes and factories in the Southern Honshu Island war centres while a tidal wave inundated homes and caused landslides in the Shizuoka area, some 80 miles south-west of Tokyo.

Domei Agency said in a broadcast picked up by the Federal Communications Commission that "on the whole," however, damage was light.

"The quake was severe," Domei said, "but losses were limited to buildings damaged in one area, and on the whole not much damage was done."

The area was the Tokai district, which includes Nagoya, with a population of 1,328,000, centre of Japan's aviation industry before the war. Osaka, where factory damage was reported by Domei, is a city of 3,252,000, an important rail, shipping and manufacturing hub.

The only indication of casualties was given in the announcement that "a number of persons suffered light or severe casualties" in the Hamamatsu and Shimizu areas.

No word was forthcoming as to whether Tokyo was damaged, but North American seismologists said the capital must have been jarred by the tremor which they compared in intensity to the devastating Japanese quake of 1923 which killed nearly 100,000.

Sections reported hardest hit form an arc 80 to 160 miles from Tokyo, generally south-west of the capital. The seismic centre was in the Sea of Enshu, on the east side of Honshu, the main Japanese island.

Domei said precautions already taken against air raids served in good stead.

Reds Tighten Huge Vise On Budapest

Hungarian Troops Surrendering In Great Numbers

LONDON, Dec. 9—(CP-Reuter)—The Germans have lost the town of Vacs, 15 miles northeast of Budapest, "after hard fighting," the German Trans-Ocean Agency reported today.

Asserting the Rusians had thrown in fresh reinforcements in the battle for Budapest, Transocean said German lines "had to be taken back several miles east of the capital."

"From their penetration north of Budapest," the news agency said, "the Soviets increased their pressure southwards of Budapest, at the same time attacking toward the north."

The broadcast said the Russians were not attemping to cross the Danube at Vacs, but had turned south.

Previously Berlin had announced that Russians slashing westward from captured Hatvan had captured the railroad town of Aszod, 15 miles northeast of Budapest, and were threatening Vacs.

Capture of Vacs would seal off Budapest from the north. The town stands on the big bend of the Danube where the river turns west toward Vienna.

The hard-driving Russian armies were closing in on Budapest like a vise amid Moscow reports told of wholesale defections by Hungarians from the defending forces.

The city already was under heavy pressure from Russian forces on the west bank of the Danube less than 13 miles south of the city.

Berlin also said units of the 2nd and 3rd Ukraine armies had linked up on the west bank of the Danube at Ercst, 13 miles south of Budapest, following a crossing by Malinovsky's troops from Csepel, the narrow island that splits the Danube for 30 miles south of the capital.

A supplementry communique stressed that Hungarian units fighting with the Nazi defenders of Budapest and western Hungary were giving up in great numbers in the face of a situation their commanders acknowledged was "hopeless".

A midnight Soviet bulletin said an entire Hungarian infantry regiment comprising 29 officers and 1,390 men surrendered, as a unit on the Danube front. The bulletin said 1,500 Germans and Hungarians were killed yesterday on the front west of the Danube.

In that area Moscow said Tol-

Major Battle Looming Outside Athens

By STEPHEN BARBER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ATHENS, Dec. 9 — (AP). — Twenty per cent of Athens has been cleared of E.L.A.S. detachments. British spokesmen said today, but heavy new concentrations of the Leftist militia were reported north of the capital after a march from the provinces.

The E.L.A.S. within the city were reported to consist of about 250 "death or glory" members of inner Communist cells. There are about 26 of these cells, each with its own headquarters, scattered over the capital and suburbs.

These die-hards were still sniping in the uncleared sections of the city, often at extreme range.

A force estimated at between 800 and 1,200 men was said to be besieging a Green mountain brigade stationed in a barracks to the northeast. Heavy sniping fire was reported.

The 2nd and 13th E.L.A.S. Divisions drew up last night to the village of Hassia, northwest of the capital on the road between the port of Piraeus and Elevsis. A British ambulance driver was killed yesterday on the Athens-Piraeus road and his vehicle captured.

One E.L.A.S. battalion is known to be equipped with 75-mm. guns. During yesterday's fighting the Leftist forces employed mortars against British tanks.

(The Cairo radio said last night word had been received from Athens that a member of the Leftist E.A.M. had met a Greek government representative to discuss cessation of fighting.)

On the island of Crete, where a German garrison remains, the two major guerilla forces—the E.L.A.S. and the E.O.K. — are reported to have agreed on common measures to avoid civil war. Certain nationalists make up the E.O.K.

In Athens, the residence of Princess Helen of Greece — the aunt of King George — was attacked and damaged yesterday by a small E.L.A.S. detachment.

Americans Ready To Hurdle Roer River Barrier Repulse Counter-Attacks

Huns' Last Alsatian Stand Cracking Fighter-Bombers Busy Blasting Path For Advancing Infantry

By JAMES M. LONG—Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Dec. 9—(AP).—U.S. 3rd Army troops fought house-to-house in the eastern part of Saareguemines today after a new forcing of the Saar. The 3rd Army was beating against eight Saar valley steel towns smouldering from fighter-bomber attacks, and field guns ripped the provincial capital city of Saarbrucken, but Allied Supreme Headquarters had no confirmation of reports that the city's outskirts had been reached.

North of Saarlautern their comrades repulsed a strong German counter-attack and then seized 12 more pill-boxes in the Siegfried Line.

Farther south the enemy's last Alsatian stand was cracking up, and dive-bombers gouged at the Neuf Brishach escape bridge over the Rhine near Colmar.

On the northern flank of the long Allied front, both sides maintained thunderous artillery fire, but a relative lull in ground activity suggested that U.S. 1st and 9th Armies were gathering strength to smash the last German hopes of holding along the flooded Roer River before Cologne.

(The German communique today asserted the Julich garrison had fought its way back to the Roer's east bank.)

No activity was reported from the extreme northern flank where snow was swirling down on shivering soldiers of the 1st Canadian and British 2nd Armies.

The 35th infantry carved out the new crossings of the Saar, and today was fighting through the streets of Sarreguemines, eight miles southeast of Saarbrucken, and extending a bridgehead south of the city to a mile. Suarreinsming on the east bank just southeast of Sarreguemines was captured.

The 26th Division edging northward along the east bank of the Saar had almost joined the 35th, but also was meeting stout opposition. It reduced five pill-boxes, presumably part of the old Maginot defences.

The Germans in Dillingen three miles northwest of Saarlautern counter-attacked with 600 infantrymen and 11 tanks, but were knocked back by the 90th Infantry Division. The enemy quit the town after a close-quarter battle.

The wedge into the Siegfried Line was not appreciably deepened, however, in the face of such stubborn resistance.

Papers Clamor For Meeting Of Big Three

By JOHN A. PARRIS, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 9—(AP)—Sections of the British press, agreeing that Britain barely had escaped being plunged into political crisis, today charged that Prime Minister Churchill's speech on Greece did nothing to relieve public anxiety about the lack of a unified political strategy among the Allies.

The Times of London maintained that the still-troubled situation "supplies good reason" for the earliest practicable meeting of the Big Three.

Most of the press, with the conspicuous exception of the Daily Worker, agreed that Mr. Churchill made "a good speech" but they found nothing in it to give hope for an early solution of the Greek crisis.

The Daily Herald stated "the fact still remains that he (Mr. Churchill) is apt, by his utterances, to create the impression that he is biased in favour of regimes of the right."

The News Chronicle asserted Mr. Churchill's speech did nothing to show he "fully appreciates the part played, in the fight against Nazism by the resistance forces in Europe," and contended there was a growing belief that Britain was "not whole-

Canadian Makes Daring Patrol

By WILLIAM BOSS
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN THE ADRIATIC, Dec. 9 —(CP Cable)—While German and 8th Army troops continuously exchanged artillery and mortar packets over the Lamore River Thursday the larger part of the Canadian activity was confined to detailed reconnaissance.

Numerous sorties went out at points between Mezzano, seven miles northwest of Ravenna, and the river bank east of Albereto, 13 miles southwest of Ravenna, to ascertain the enemy positions and strength.

The most spectacular was a one-man patrol over the Ravenna-Bologna railway bridge across the Lamore. It was carried out by Pte. Charles Chandler of Sydney, N.S., after a volunteer had been asked for out of two battalions to crawl over and reconnoitre the locality.

With every eye pinned on him and all weapons in the sector covering the far dike prepared to give covering fire, Chandler crept across. While standing and peering over the parapet, he was seen to fall, rolling down 40 feet to a ledge at the base

Voluntary Enlistments Up During Hectic Five Weeks

OTTAWA, Dec. 9—(CP).—Figures issued by the Defence Department last night showed that voluntary enlistments into the army from all sources totalled 1,097 for the week ending November 4—the day before Defence Minister McNaughton made his first appeal for continuance of the voluntary system of recruiting—and totalled 1,082 for the next week ending November 11.

Both Gen. McNaughton and Prime Minister Mackenzie King issued appeals November 6 and November 8 and in successive weeks there was an increase in voluntary enlistments which totalled 1,306 for the week ending November 18, 1,860 for the week ending November 26, and 2,246 for the week ending December 2.

A table showed that in the five weeks ending September 30, before the Cabinet crisis developed, the weekly average enlistment total was 1,224 compared with a 1,105 weekly average for the four weeks ending October 26—10 days after Col. J. L. Ralston had returned from overseas and reported the reinforcement situation to the Cabinet.

Huns Retreat From Faenza

ROME, Dec. 9.—(AP).— British 8th Army troops, rapidly completing the encirclement of Faenza, have captured San Prospero, on the west bank of the Lamone river, 1½ miles due west of the Bologna-Rimini highway stronghold.

Capture of San Prospero represented an advance of approximately three miles from Pideura, around which Allied Headquarters to-day described the fighting as "particularly bitter."

German troops already had been reported pulling back west of Faenza toward the next large highway centre of Imola, eight miles from Faenza and 19 from the Po Valley prize city of Bologna.

Elsewhere on the front activity yesterday was confined to patrol operations, Headquarters said.

The withdrawing Germans were putting up stiff resistance in an attempt to prevent the outflanking movement of Faenza.

Highlanders Raid Hun Outpost

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN HOLLAND, Dec. 9 — (CP. Cable). — A small Canadian infantry force Thursday night beat up a German defence post east of the Nijmegen Salient, killing an estimated 27 Germans, capturing one and wounding between 35 and 50.

The raid, carried out by a company from an eastern Canada Highland battalion, took the infantrymen about half a mile into no man's land and was supported by field artillery, mortars and machine-guns.

Canadian casualties were considerably fewer than the German.

Maj. Ed. Nockname Hudson of Moose Jaw, Sask., led the attack which was the first real punch the Canadians have thrown at the Germans since the latter moved into this sector in mid-November.

The defence post, consisting of houses and fortified trenches, has been a thorn in the Canadians' side and the results of the raid were described as highly satisfactory.

Routine patrol activity was reported from other parts of the 1st Canadian Army front.

Tokyo Radio Reports Mainland Bombed

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9 — (AP). — American planes raided Tokyo and the inland sea area today, (Japanese time), the Japanese announced.

The Japanese reported one B29 flew over the capital and "dropped a few incendiaries." A second B29 flew over the capital seven hours later, but "was not able to drop bombs or incendiaries," said the broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission.

The second sortie over the Japanese capital was followed an hour later by an hour-long raid "on the Seto Naikai (Japanese designation for the inland sea) coastal area."

There was no indication by Tokyo on how many planes were involved in the Seto Naikai action. The Japanese made no report of damage.

Labor Facing Showdown

Churchill Confidence Vote Splits Party

LONDON, Dec. 9 — (AP). — A showdown brewed to-day in the minority Labor Party as an aftermath of the 281-to-32 vote of confidence by the House of Commons in Prime Minister Churchill's policy in the liberated countries.

In the balolting yesterday Mr. Churchill won solid support from his own Conservative Party and from Labor members serving in the Coalition Government as ministers or parliamentary private secretaries, but only one Labor rank and file member—Ivor Thomas— voted for the Government.

Labor members in the Government may demand a vote of confidence from their own party, which is opening a conference on Monday. A resolution was being drafted for the conference outlining the party's attitude toward liberated countries.

One bloc was known to be drafting a new demand that the Government send a representative to Athens immediately to make a special investigation of the Greek crisis for the House.

A report was heard in the Commons Lobby that Richard Law, the Minister of tSate, would be sent to Greece to try to straighten out the political situation.

The breakdown of those who supported the Government was 229 Conservatives, 23 Laborites, 10 Liberal Nationalists, and nine Independents.

Germans Won't Get Allied Supplies

Haughty Prussians Demanded Succour From Allies After Armistice

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Gen. Eisenhower has rendered the German people a great service in warning them to safeguard their resources against the scorched-earth policy of the retreating Nazi army, since they can't count on food, fuel or clothing from the Allied military government.

The General points out that our aid "will primarily go to the population of the countries which have been ravaged and plundered by the German armies." That's a fair notice which not only should help the German public, but should preclude any such misapprehension and anger as existed in Germany after the last war, when the Allies were expected to pour supplies into the country the moment the armistice was effective.

I went into the Rhineland with the British army of occupation and it was this day (Dec. 9), 1918, that we took up our position in the great city of Cologne, towards which Allied forces at this moment are driving again. We war correspondents shortly were received by the Burgomaster—a high and mighty, square-headed Prussian.

The Burgomaster demanded in angry gutturals:

"Why have not the Allies sent us food and clothing? I will not be responsible for the attitude of my people towards your troops if we don't get supplies immediately."

It was a clear threat of an uprising by the Germans against the armies of occupation. Having uttered it, his highness glowered about the table and awaited his answer. His glance fell on me, and I got up.

"Mr. Burgomaster," I said, "the answer is that the Allies are too much occupied with trying to bring relief to the suffering peoples in the areas of Belgium and France devastated by the German armies."

The burgomaster's face flamed crimson and he shot back:

"That's not true! There has been no such devastation!"

"Mr. Burgomaster," your scribe retorted, "I'm telling you that I've just come from a devastated zone where there are long lines of refugees. People are dropping dead from hunger and privation."

His excellency was fit to be tied; and looked like a man about to have a stroke. He opened his mouth to speak, but just then his secretary whispered in his ear, and the burgomaster didn't say it.

Well, that was the situation at war's end in 1918. The Germans not only expected to be fed and clothed by the Allies but some of them demanded it.

Seeks Communist Aid

Chiang Relaxes Attitude On Military

CHUNGKING, Dec. 9 (AP) — Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek has agreed in principle to the participation of the Communists in the National government and in the direction of China's military affairs, it was authoritatively reported today.

This agreement, following upon recent government changes—particularly the appointment of Foreign Minister T. V. Soong to the additional post of Acting Premier— is the most important development which could have occurred in the present critical phase of Chinese history.

The Communists, it is believed, if properly equipped would be able to launch successful diversionary offensives in North China.

It was expected here that Gen. Chou En-Lai, Communist delegate, who recently returned to Yenan from Chungking, would be back shortly for implementation of any conclusive understanding that may be reached.

The Communists originally sought a formal agreement for the establishment of a Coalition government and joint direction of the Chinese armies.

Chinese Force Jap Retreat Near Tushan

CHUNGKING, Dec. 9—(AP). — The railroad town of Shangssu, 18 miles south of newly-recaptured Tushan, was regained last night in the Chinese campaign to clear Kweichow Province of the Japanese, the Chinese high command announced today.

"The Tushan sector now has been cleared of enemy remnants and pursuing operations to the south are continuing," the high command communique said.

Shangssu lies 82 miles southeast of Kweiyang, the provincial capital, and less than five miles from the border of Kwangsi Province, from which enemy columns thrust into Kweichow toward Kweiyang and the Burma Road centre of Kunming. Most of the invaders already have been ousted by reinforced Chinese divisions.

Gen. Chen Cheng, new Chinese War Minister, announced today that the retreating enemy was being pursued in the area of Liming (Dawn) Pass, northeast of the Kwangsi border town of Liuchai, after being routed from Tushan.

Tushan, only 75 miles southeast of Kweiyang, had been enveloped by the Japanese in their drive along the Kwangsi-Kweichow railroad. Liuchai is 40 miles from Tushan.

Chungking newspapers issued extras telling of the victorious Chinese counter-attacks and predicting the Japanese would be driven from Kweichow.

A Chinese military spokesman cautioned that "the situation still is serious and we should not be too optimistic."

Euchre Club Elects Executive For 1945

INDIAN RIVER, Dec. 9 (ENS)— Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Davidson were hosts to the Indian River Euchre Club Wednesday evening. Nine tables of progressive euchre were played with the women's first prize going to Mrs. W. Brealey and the men's prize being won by Mrs. W. Torpey. A delightful lunch was served by the hostess.

At the close of the evening an executive was elected, Mrs. Charles Elmhirst being chosen as president; Mrs. Philip Greenby as secretary-treasurer, and Mesdames Gus Torpey, T. P. Davidsan and W. Brealey as a committee to act with the above officers and direct the club's activities.

This is the third in a series of progressive euchre parties to be held during the coming winter, the proceeds from which will be used for war purposes. The collection taken on Wednesday evening amounted to $11.

bukhin's forces smashed ahead 11 miles and captured the rail station of Kisceri and Csosz village, nine miles south of Szekesfehervar, great road and rail junction between Budapest and the northern end of Lake Balaton.

Soviet forces were poised all along the eastern and southern shores of the lake, while in the corridor between lower Balaton and the Yugoslavian border, 3rd Army units advanced closest to the Austrian frontier. Moscow said 30 localities were captured against heavy German counter-attacks in the area and officially placed the Red Army within 41 miles of the Austrian border and less than 110 miles from Vienna.

Unofficial front dispatches had reported Russian armored vanguards fanning out in this sector to within 35 miles of the border.

YMCA Services Educating Chinese Youth

The Y.M.C.A. in China is doing much to ensure that the youth of the country receives an education, in spite of the constantly increasing pressure of the Japanese advance, declared J. Hartley Fowler, World Service secretary for the Y.M.C.A. in Canada, who addressed the Kiwanis Club, Friday.

Hardships have failed to daunt the aggressive spirit of the Y.M.C.A. workers in China, he outlined. One of their finest centres had been built at Canton, and when the Japanese moved in it was burned to the ground. The secretaries, most of them Chinese, immediately moved 100 miles north and built again at Kukong. Their building grew and they had a staff of 102 and a budget of 1½ million dollars.

The enemy has now reached Kukong and the Y.M.C.A. is once more on the move. They are serving some 36,000 students, to give them an education and they will continue to go with the Chinese. There are 400 Chinese secretaries, trained by a small number of Canadian and American "Y" secretaries, serving with Chinese troops wherever they go.

Keep Fighting

"The secretaries who return say the Chinese are being driven back," Mr. Fowler said, "but they will keep on fighting. They have confidence in their leaders and the Y.M.C.A. is trying to keep alive international good will and train the youth of the country to handle the problems of post war years."

The speaker gave a brief sketch of the beginning of work in China. When it was first begun it was violently opposed in the Boxer Rebellion and the Chinese tried to evict all foreigners. When this died down, the Y.M.C.A. sent in famous scientist secretaries to lecture to the students and break down prejudice, he reported. The result was that the "Y" grew and prior to the war every large city from Hong Kong to Mukden had large centres. Since the war, 20 of the large centres have been captured or destroyed and eight new ones have begun in Unoccupied China, Mr. Fowler declared.

"Canada and the United States have done more than any other country to spread Y.M.C.A. work throughout the world. There are "Ys" in 68 countries and of these 32 were fostered by World Services," he declared.

Sforza Claims Large Support

ROME, Dec. 9 (AP) — Count Carlo Sforza declared today he abandoned a pledge given the Allies to support Marshal Pietro Badoglio because the former Premier was unable "to revive a military spirit" and because under his regime a new form of Fascism was being created in Italy.

In an interview, Sforza, who is vigorously opposed by Britain for any prominent place in a new Italian government, said he had given the pledge "in order to overcome certain oppositions raised from abroad to my return to Italy."

Commenting on Prime Minister Churchill's statements in the House of Commons yesterday, Sforza asserted, "it was my sacred duty to oppose Badoglio, which I did, not with 'intrigues' but with an open fight during which all the nation was with me"

Haliburton Teacher Goes To Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 9.— (ENS).— Robert E. Sutton of Haliburton, was named to the Lakefield High school staff at the meeting of the High school board this week. He succeeds J. W. Hamilton who resigned, and on a motion of Trustees A. H. Clark and F. S. Coyle, Mr. Sutton will receive $1,800 a year.

Mr. Coyle and Mr. Clark also moved that the Board recommend purchase of compensation insurance from Lloyds of London, through A. E. Wilson & Co. for employees of the High School Board. The policy is to read jointly with the Public School Board.

The report of the Finance committee recommended payment of the following accounts:

T. W. Chaplin, postage, $3; Green Lantern Shop, subscriptions, $5.50; Globe and Mail, advertising, $4.59; T. C. Yonge, express paid, $3.47; L.P.S. Board, long distance tel. calls, $2.00; Central Garage, battery, etc., $13.40; Central Scientific Co. I. equipment, $6.74. Total, $38.70.

Urge Deliverymen To Use Sleighs

The co-operation of the bread and milk men has been sought by the Peterborough Humane Society in having the delivery vehicles change from wheels to sleighs and the society reports that in every case the milk men have co-operated but in several instances the bread men have refused to comply.

The society reported seeing horses forced to draw bread wagons up hills in the heavy snow of last week while sleighs stood idle in the company's yard.

It was also reported that several dogs had been struck by cars, some were killed outright while others had to be destroyed.

A case of a farmer starving his cattle was reported to the society and at present an investigation is being made.

During the past month 58 cats and 30 dogs were destroyed.

Bandsman Faces Manslaughter

COBOURG, Dec. 9 (ENS) — Arrested Friday at Camp Borden for Cobourg police, Bandsman Frederick Poole of Toronto, member of the A-11 Machine Gun Training Centre Band of Camp Borden, was brought back to Cobourg Friday night by Chief of Police W. J. Carey on a charge of manslaughter. He was remanded until Monday.

The charge was laid in connection with the death of 32-year-old Herbert Ross Johnson of Toronto, member of the same band. It is said that Johnson and Poole were involved in an altercation here on October 28 at the time when the band was in Cobourg for the Victory Loan campaign. Johnson had to leave the band ranks during the program that afternoon and during the night was rushed to Christie Street Hospital in Toronto where he died at one a.m. the following day. Poole is 55 years of age.

Seven Cases Heard In Bancroft Court

BANCROFT, Dec. 9.— (ENS).— Police court was held in the Community Hall Wednesday afternoon with Magistrate J. L. Lloyd presiding over seven cases.

Howard Hotsler of Herman, was convicted on a charge of careless driving and assessed $5 and costs and Archie Kehoe of lower Faraday was found guilty of failing to have a light on a horse-drawn vehicle after dark and was assessed $1 and costs.

Royce Seymour of Bancroft was sentenced to three months in the county jail at Belleville on a charge of vagrancy when he refused to accept steady employment and Manley and Telford White of L'Amble each were assessed $10 and costs on breaches of the L.C.A. Iner Rutledge of Bancroft was assessed $25 and costs on a breach of the L.C.A.

Four local juveniles were arraigned in court, three facing three charges each of breaking, entering and theft and one with charges of theft all were found guilty and His Worship enlarged the case for judgment in six months time.

Canada Exports One-third Of Farm Products

Against a dinner-dance background at the annual banquet of the Peterborough District Jersey Breeders' Association at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club last night, Clifford Graham, director of agricultural representatives with the Ontario Department of Agriculture, stressed fundamentals of the industry in the approaching period of gradual return to the conditions of peace

Some of the basic factors Mr. Graham emphasized were soil fertility, organization, direction of rural youth in the responsibility of leadership which will inevitably devolve to them, sustained quality of product, the essential importance of export markets. The serious note of the evening rested with the guest speaker. Jack Marshall was in charge of the dinner entertainment, community singing, and various fun producing stunts, including an octette by a group whose birthdays fall within the first two weeks of this month. Reeve Melville Johnston seemed to be the keynoter in their several choruses, including "Auld Lang Syne," and his contribution invited the observation that his North Monaghan ratepayers do not elect him as the head of their Council for any vocal merit.

Mr. Marshall also introduced his orange stunt to about 15 couples, called at random from the assembly. One of the performers was Vern Campbell. Then when Mr. Marshall and Mr. Graham had finished their contributions to the program, the tables were cleared away for dancing to the music of Leahy Brothers' Orchestra, rounding out an evening which everyone enjoyed.

Lorne Reynolds, president of the association, was chairman, and Sam Staples stole the song leader's job from both Mr. Marshall and "Doc" Cook, Jersey Breeders field man.

Mr. Graham was introduced by Gordon Staples. Alderman W. J. Ovens represented Mayor Hamilton and the Kiwanis Club, Bruce Sargent was the Lions Club representative, Jack Stewart for the Y's Men, Dr. Harold Worton for the Kinsmen, and Frank C. Paterson for Rotary.

In Emergent Market.

"At present we are in a 'war needs' market," Mr. Graham said. "We can sell everything we can produce. The products of one in every three acres in Canada will be exported this year. As far as this country is concerned agricultural production must continue on an export basis.

"We know our agricultural capabilities, that we can produce the foodstuffs wanted and asked for by other countries. Canada is not only sending her share of the food supplies required for URNRA, but some other countries in that international organization are making their purchases in Canada.

"The farmers of Canada and of Ontario are being complimented for the great job they have been doing. They have increased their agricultural production by 40 to 50 per cent with a decline of 23 per cent in farm labor."

After the war, Mr. Graham continued, trade will return to the usual channels of commerce from which all sentiment will vanish. Quality alone will count. In planning for the future, the immediate responsibility is the winning of the war, "but if we fail to make plans for the future, are we playing fair with the young men and women who have been helping to win the war? We must make plans in a completely democratic manner to serve all our people and not a minority. And in that planning there must be plenty of room for the individual. We must keep our programs and our projects so arranged that they will afford plenty of opportunity for the individual, in order that all will feel that they have a real part to play and that they are sharers in the success that may be attained."

"When we cease manufacturing guns and bullets, we know that we shall still need the ammunition of peace. In that respect our soils and their fertility become the basis of everything else, and it is most opportune that now, when we are beginning to look to the future, we should consider our soil."

Sample of Soils.

In one county credited with 675,000 acres of tillable land, 35 per cent was found at a proper level of fertility, 40 per cent needed major or minor restoring, and 25 per cent was fit only for being returned to reforestation. With the prospect of thousands of men returning from the war, steps should be taken now to do what was necessary to see that the land is fit and productive for those men who will work it.

In the maintenance of quality for the post-war competitive markets, Mr. Graham said that farm organizations could play a highly important part, and eventually the job depended on the individual organization and member. 'There is likely to be a period of transition when we may not see a great deal of difference from the present. For the stage beyond that, we cannot place too much emphasis on our various organizations, including our young folk."

Organizations help to affect public opinion, and public opinion in turn helps to shape policy. Farm organizations for all their purposes depend on the strength of the county unit. "It is a matter of setting up an organization to fit a need, and having the machinery to do the job. That means having the personnel. Great changes will take place in re-organization after the war, and agriculture must be represented by strong organizations and leadership."

Mr. Graham mentioned the recently organized County Agricultural Committee in Peterborough, and declared that it was not simply a matter of forming another organization, but to undertake an important job, to inquire into agricultural needs, and assist Government in the shaping of practical agricultural policy.

Chaleinge to Youth.

Mr. Graham closed with a plea to encourage youth to prepare for the place which it must assume in the future and for its planning. "If in all our planning we do not make a place for youth, how can we expect them to take hold? We must give them leadership and help them setup junior organizations.

This is a time of challenge to our young folk themselves. "This is your basic training, to use a military term. It comes through your various organizations. Our farm young people are going to have an opportunity during Christmas week of meeting at Kemptville, of discussing matters directly affecting your work and yourselves."

County Council Praises Road Engineer

"The best report since I came here four years ago," was the tribute of Reeve P. J. Mather to D. A. Maciver, county engineer, on his review of the county road operations up to November 15th at Friday morning's session of the county council.

Total expenditure on the county road system for ten and a half months was $50,345, "leaving $2,000 to carry us to the end of the year," Mr. Maciver said. "There are still accounts to come in, and it appears that we shall have an over-expenditure due to the gravelling program which we found necessary."

The gravelling cost of 68 cents a cubic yard, including allowances for mechanical equipment depreciation surprised Reeve Gifford of Ennismore who quoted county and district contract prices all the way from 75 cents to $1.10 a cubic yard. Mr. Maciver's quotation apparently seemed so low that Mr. Gifford asked for confirmation of the average cost, by requesting the Engineer to repeat the price.

"Some of the municipalities must be taking a terrific trimming," Mr. Gifford commented, presumably referring to work done in township road improvement.

Mr. Maciver outlined a county road program, several features of which were the development of feeders to provincial highways in the county, instead of roads paralleling the highways; and also the improvement of roads connecting the villages.

Connect Villages

"I never was in favor of roads running parallel to the highways, especially comparatively near them," Reeve Mather said. "I also like the idea of connecting the villages. I am glad we have an engineer who has a plan and is working to it. I may say frankly that Otonabee has received a fair share of the county road improvement, and I think that everyone will feel reassured of receiving the same treatment when the plan extends to their municipalities."

Reeve Johnston said "Mr. Maciver ought to be complimented on his road stabilization plan."

A feature of the stabilized road is that its type of rebuilding becomes a base for whatever permanent surfacing may be undertaken, and also should be considered preparatory to any post war road improvement which the government may assist.

And in the hectic five weeks ending December 2, the average weekly enlistment figure was 1,518.

The actual total enlistments for this crucial period totalled 7,591, made up of 4,284 from the general public, 2,800 from home defence draftee ranks and 507 from the home guard reserve army.

A study of draftee conversions since September showed that the weekly average figure was 322 for the five weeks ending September 30, compared to a 198 average for the four weeks ending October 28, and a 560 average for the five weeks ending December 2.

A glance at the actual weekly draftee enlistment figures in the five weeks endin December 2 showed a progressive increase from 151 for the week ending November 4 to 1,330 for the week ending December 2.

The departmental announcement said enlistments in the week ended December 2 were made up of 849 enlistments from the general public, 67 from the Reserve Army, and 1,330 "conversions' from the Home Defence Army.

Obituary

MRS. FRANK M. PECK

The funeral of the late Mrs. Frank Peck, formerly of Peterborough, was held recently in California, Missouri, following her death from a heart attack. Although she had been ailing for some months, her death was sudden.

Two sister and a brother are living in Peterborough. They are Mrs. Albert Wray, 708 Elcome Cresent, Miss Mary Ellis, 708 Elcome Crescent, and James Ellis, Mark street.

Mrs. Peck, formerly Kate E. Ellis (Lily), was born in Manilla, Ontario, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ellis, in 1872. She was married in 1891 to Frank Peck, son of Gilbert Peck, at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church in Peterborough by Rev. A. MacWilliams.

Surviving are her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Hazel Carpenter, and Mrs Robert Strahan, who were born in Peterborough, and Mrs. Robert Fisher, Waterloo, N.Y.; and two sons, Ralph and Ray of California. Two other brothers, William T. Ellis and J. Howard Ellis of Mt. Clemens, Mich., also survive.

sault on the 95th Division near Saarlautern were scattered by artillery. German guns from Siegfried positions continued to hammer at the 90th and 95th Divisions.

The U.S. 7th Army had driven within 4½ miles of the German border, prying loose the last German hold on north-eastern Lorraine, and was making progress against stiffening enemy resistance.

The 7th gouged deeper into the heavily-wooded Eifel Pass just south of the fortress town of Bitche, and closed up to the Rhine north of Strasbourg with the capture of Gambsheim.

French 1st Army troops pouring out of Bonhomme Pass reached Beenwihr, widening a wedge driven without four miles of Colmar from the northwest. The Germans were fighting desperate rear guard battle there to hold open the escape road to the Neuf Brisach bridge.

Farther south, French units mopped up all the Thur Valley northwest of Mulhouse except for a three-mile stretch between St. Amarin and Thann.

The U.S. 1st Army held on to three newly-won heights, one along a spur overlooking the Roer east of Bergstein, and two about a mile east of Grosshau, against German counter-attacks.

While the Allied tactical air forces were pounding the German front lines and supply routes with more than 1,500 sorties yesterday, the Germans struck back with a strong force of planes. Ninth Army lines particularly were bombed and strafed.

Missing Automobile Recovered By Owner

After Norman Sanderson had reported to the police Friday afternoon that his car had been stolen from the corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, Sanderson noticed two men driving the stolen machine and gave chase in another car.

He overhauled the vehicle at Sherbrooke and George streets and stopped it. Sergt. Gordon T. Puffer arrived and arrested the two occupants, William Robbins, 26, and his brother, Mervin Robbins, 18, of Bancroft.

Mervin Robbins was charged before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C with theft of the use of the Sanderson car and was remanded until Monday.

The accused pleaded not guilty to two charges of stealing clothing and on those counts was also remanded until Monday.

The elder brother, William, pleaded guilty to having liquor in a place other than a residence and was fined $25 and $2.50 costs or a month in jail.

Charles Fleetwood pleaded guilty as a third offender to a drunk charge and was sentenced to three months in the county jail.

Fred Hedges, 20, Aylmer street, pleaded guilty to being drunk and was fined $10 and costs.

Does Good

The Daily Mail, asserted the debate had done "a great deal of good," said, nevertheless, it would never have been necessary "if our foreign policy had not been conducted during the past few years, and more especially in the last few months, in a quite unnecessary fog of secrecy."

The Times asserted the debate should have been "the means of extricating British policy from a disastrous predicament in which . . . British forces have become involved."

"Britain," the Times said, "cannot afford to be committed to one side of a civil war, possibly to the reconquest of the country, and thereafter to the indefinite maintenance of unstable equilibrium at the expense not merely of Communists but of some of the most progressive Democratic elements in Greek life."

In a front-page editorial under the caption, "a disgraceful speech," the Communist Daily Worker bitterly attacked Mr. Churchill's speech as "provocative, reckless and irresponsible."

It charged Britain was "committed to the conquest of Greece" and "to the military subjugation of one of the United Nations."

Replying to criticism of British foreign policy abroad the Weekly Economist today said:

"Russian criticism of intervention do not come well from the creators of the Lublin committee, and the American assumption of lofty moral superiority . . . sit equally badly on the sponsors of Darlan."

just up from the river level. At the point where he had stood a second before a German potato-masher grenade exploded. As Brens and medium guns on the Canadian side opened up, another came through the air. Chandler saw it, too, in time, moved a few yards away and escaped with slight shrapnel scratches.

Under fire now from both sides, he crawled back across the bridge and down the dike on the 8th Army side where chums of his platoon, disregarding the showering mortars, waited with arms extended and cigarets in their hands to welcome him. After a trip back to regimental headquarters to deliver his report, Chandler returned to the line, the talk of the front.

6th Division Prepares For Overseas

OTTAWA, Dec. 9 (CP)—Posting of Maj.-Gen Hardy Ganong, 54, of St. Stephen, N.B., former commander of the 6th Canadian division of home defence draftees, to Newfoundland command, the reorganization and reduction in size of the 6th Division were announced yesterday by Defence Headquarters.

Gen. Ganong will replace Maj.-Gen. P. E. Leclerc, 51, who is retiring to civilian life as sales executive of a Montreal flour mill.

Reorganization of the 6th Division follows the passage of an Order-in-Council last month making 16,000 home defence troops available for service overseas. Units of the division, including home defence troops, were among forces sent to Kiska in 1943.

The divisional reorganization is in line with the government's conscription policy, under which experienced infantry troops have been withdrawn and sent to concentration areas in eastern Canada. It was announced earlier that Atlantic Command would be disbanded and its responsibilities turned over to military districts at Quebec, Saint John, N.B., and Halifax.

Many Draftees

Reports that Pacific Command, to which the 6th Division is attached, soon would revert to its pre-war status of a military district were apparently premature, since yesterday's headquarters announcement said no "immediate" change was contemplated.

The 6th Division includes a large number of draftees, many of whom already have been withdrawn and dispatched to Eastern Canada. Yesterday's announcement said some of the division's infantry battalions, "together with several other unbrigaded battalions" serving in other parts of Canada will be sent overseas as reinforcements. The division was originally formed in August, 1941.

Personnel suitable for employment overseas as infantry and in excess of the numbers needed to complete the strengths of the reinforcing battalions are being separately remustered and retrained as potential infantry reinforcements where they previously have received training in other arms.

Men medically unfit for service in overseas infantry units will be employed in infantry battalions, coast and arti-aircraft artillery units of the other arms and services retained for employment in Canada Those in lower categories, the announcement said, will be employed in home defence establishments, headquarters, depots, etc.

Home Religious Training Develops Useful Citizens

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Dec. 10, is Gen. 1:27, 28; 2:18; Matt. 19:4-6; Luke 10:38-42; Eph. 6:14; II Tim. 1:3-6, the Golden Text being John 15:17, "These things I command you, that ye may love one another.")

"So God created man in His own image...Male and female created He them.

"And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth."

Thus was created the family, man, wife and children, and in Matthew 18 Jesus answered the Pharisees who tempted Him by asking Him about the sacredness of marriage by saying, "Have ye not read, that He which made them at the beginning made them male and female.

"And said, For this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife, and they twain shall be one flesh?

'Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let no man put asunder."

Jesus' Answer to Divorce

This is Jesus' answer to the subject of divorce. Man and woman should wed in love, rear children in the "fear of the Lord," and live for one another and their offspring. These are the people who form the solid background of any nation. They make the kind of homes in which children develop in security and happiness, with the best hope of growing into fine and useful men and women.

There is no exaggerating the importance of the influence of such a home, or its far-reaching effect on generations of children.

One such home was often honored by visits from Jesus. We do not know of the father and mother in this home. They may have been dead, but the three people who inhabited it—Mary, Martha and their brother Lazarus—were friends of His. They lived in the little town of Bethany, near Jerusalem.

"Now it came to pass" that Jesus visited this home after His talk with the lawyer to whom He told the story of the Good Samaritan. Martha was the sort of person who is "cumbered about much serving." She evidently worried about her household duties and considered them more important than anything else in the world. Mary, on the contrary, may have been just as good a housekeeper, but her ears and eyes were wide open to more spiritual things.

On this occasion Mary sat at Jesus' feet listening to His talk, but Martha came to Him, saying, "Lord, dost Thou not care that my sister hath let me to serve alone? bid her therefore that she help me."

Jesus answered, "Martha, Martha, thou are careful and troubled about many things:

"But one thing is needful; and Mary hath chosen that good part, which shall not be taken away from her."

We do not know if Martha took Jesus' word to heart and came to realize that it is just as bad to make too much of one's work and neglect higher things, as it is to concentrate on spiritual things alone and neglect one's job.

Paul Writes Ephesians

Writing to the Ephesians when he was a prisoner in Rome, Paul wrote: "Children obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right.

"Honor thy father and mother." To learn to obey is the first task of the young child. With the tiny child this must at first be blind obedience; but as the child develops understanding it can be explained why he must obey those in charge of the home and who are older and wiser than he. To be a good citizen of a community it is necessary for a human being to be trained in obedience in early life.

"And ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord."

Parents should be kind and understanding; not aggravating their children unduly, but living in happy harmony with them. Their influence and example are the most important part of a child's character building.

This home influence is illustrated by St. Paul in his letter to Timothy, a favorite disciple and co-worker of him with whom he had parted in tears.

"When I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and thy mother Eunice, and I am persuaded that in thee also."

This home background of spiritual, God-fearing women accounted, it seemed to Paul, for Timothy, the fine, earnest young man he loved.

The Power of Thought

By REV. E. R. JAMES

If any man have not the Spirit of Christ he is none of his.—Romans 8:9.

With an enthusiastic cry the Nazi shouts: "If any man have not the spirit of Hitler he is none of his." The Nazi knows that a thought is immensely powerful; that an idea entering a man's mind will produce certain results. Strangely enough a modern writer reminds us "that we may match bullets with bullets but finally ideas must be matched by ideas."

Nineteen centuries ao a Jew, St. Paul of Tarsus, a Roman citizen, taught a heart shaking truth that Jesus Christ, the Carpenter of Nazareth, is truly the Son of God in a mysterious sense of the word. The man who accepts Jesus as the Lord Christ will be filled with His Spirit. That Spirit will be seen by the fruits of love, joy, peace, long suffering and humility in the lives of His followers. In a word the Spirit of Jesus Christ will transform and changeth characters of men and women.

Jesus Christ came into this world to teach men a new idea of God. The Jews believed that Jehovah is the one living God. This was graven in their minds with the idea that He loved to see His people in suffering and unhappiness. They emphasized this thought by their teaching and practice of Sabbath observance. The Sabbath was to be a day of strict rest, freedom from labor of any kind whatsoever. Over and over again the Lord Christ healed the sick and suffering on the Sabbath Day. The Pharisees charged Him with breaking the Sabbath and they hated Him with the bitterest hatred—common among intensely religious people in every age—and He increased that hatred by teaching that "The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath." The Pharisees clearly saw that this idea would finally overthrow their strict Sabbath laws.

As the religious teachers listened to this and other radical ideas about Jehovah they hated Him still more intensely. Finally they delivered Him to Pontius Pilate and forced him to order His crucifixion. He died, was buried and the third day He rose from the dead and ascended to Heaven. Before His ascension He told His Apostles to shortly expect an outpouring of His Spirit, Who would guide them into all truth. In due time His Spirit descended and the disciples were changed men. In their lives they revealed the character of the Christ, Who claimed to be truly "the express image of God." "He that hath seen He hath seen the Father" is His tremendous claim.

Do you desire to be like God? Let His Spirit enter into your heart and mind. Obey that inward Voice, which is the Voice of God and His Christ. You will discover His power to enable you to overcome your besetting sin to grow like God.

In startling contrast to Nazism the Lord Christ has the deepest respect for the individual and will not force Himself into your life. He stands and knocks at the door of your heart. If you open He will reveal Himself to you. Your mind will be fascinated by His loveliness; His purity; His goodness so that you will cry: "Lord, I am not worthy; but, come, Lord Jesus

HIS SERVANTS WILL SEE HIS FACE AND HIS NAME SHALL BE IN THEIR FOREHEADS.

Missionary Life Described At Talk

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 9(ENS) — A program of interest was presented in St. John the Baptist Parish Hall when Mrs. S. H. Shepherd of the "Grove" gave a talk on missionary work among the Indians and Eskimos at Aklavik, of the Diocese of the Arctic, illustrating her talk with colored lantern slides.

Mrs. Shepherd wore a native costume of reindeer and caribou skins trimmed with bands of embroidery.

Aklavik is in the extreme north western corner of Canada, near the mouth of the Mackenzie, and though apparently a small settlement is the metropolis of the north. Here are stationed police, traders and missionaries, and a settlement of Indians. The Eskimos live farther north on the shores of the Arctic Ocean, where they hunt and fish.

"The missionary must go to him, but after he becomes a Christian he goes to the church to worship and to take part in all its activities. The Eskimo and Indian have no money but he willingly offers his labor and each year at a special thanksgiving service brings to the church a gift of rat skins—his harvest. These people have implicit faith in God and His goodness. They never complain even in times of bereavement and hardship, 'God knows best' they say," according to the speaker.

She said there are two missions at Aklavik, one Roman Catholic and one Anglican. Each consists of a Cathedral, hospital store house and a large boarding school for Indian and Eskimo children, and a house for missionary and his family in the Anglican mission. They have several helpers, teachers, nurses, preachers, a doctor and in summer a dentist. The brightest of the native youth are trained to become helpers and there are already graduate nurses and native preachers who are a wonderful help in stimulating social activities.

Organize Groups

Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd organized a W.A. for the women, Boy Scouts, Guides and Brownies for the boys and girls. They have entertainments, especially at Christmas time, when the people gather in from great distances to take part in the church services and to make their communion.

Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd have lived for fourteen years in or near Aklavik and know all their congregation by name. They love them whole heartedly, and the people respond as children would. They are very easy to love and work for, Mrs. Shepherd said.

The missionaries are cut off from the outside most of the year, but they are served with supplies yearly by boat and with mail four times yearly by plane.

The life span of the northern natives is not long. They are subject to T.B. and have frequent epidemics and the older people die. Last year there were 36 deaths in Aklavik from 'flu.

The country where the missions are built is flat. It is lashed by the Arctic winds and on more than one occasion, in times of the annual storms, all the buildings have been washed into the sea, the speaker declared. Mr and Mrs. Shepherd are in Lakefield on a year's furlough, then they hope to return to the north country.

Miss F. Atwood led in prayer for missions and for the men of the # Church's Nativity Pageant Draws Thousands of People

By JEAN THOMPSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Dec. 9—(CP)—There must be something remarkable about a nativity play that attracts thousands to its series of presentations annually in an old downtown church. Almost a tradition in the Church of the Holy Trinity, Toronto, "The Christmas Story" was so eagerly anticipated this year that 7,000 tickets for 10 performances were distributed in four days.

It has taken a hold on the seasonal activities of many who go year after year to see the story of the birth of Christ performed in the actual words of the gospel, episodes being linked together by the narration of excerpts from the New Testament story of the nativity and associated events.

The Biblical narrative of the nativity permits elaborate pageantry and costuming. Added to all this is the exquisite incidental organ music and the singing of traditional and modern carols by a gallery choir.

From the opening scene of the Annunciation the audience is held by the sheer beauty of the production. The drama of 2,000 years ago unfolds in richness and magnetic power through the succeeding scenes of the shepherds and their flocks, the adoration at the manger throne, the visit of the three kings, the fury of King Herod and the final tableau of the presentation in the temple.

Its power of attraction lies perhaps in the singleness of purpose which inspires every detail of the whole production. The effectiveness of lighting, gorgeousness of costume, rhythm of movement, intonation of lines and interweaving of carol music and narrative are designed with one end in view, the creation of an act of worship. Over all is the atmosphere of devotion.

Sincerity A Keynote

"The atmosphere created by the eagerness and sincerity of 65 voluntary players and helpers depends to a marked degree upon the strength of the performance of the principals, particularly the Virgin Mary; she is the pivotal character," said Patricia Frank who has produced the pageant annually for the last six years.

She is proud of the fact that since "The Christmas Story" was begun in St. Martin-in-the-Fields, London, by her father, Rev. Pat McCormick, in 1928, there has been no break in annual presentations. Interrupted in England by the war, the old Toronto church, now nearly 100 years old, has kept the tradition unbroken.

The 20th century production in a church of a Bible story makes an interesting comparison with the beginings of drama in England. In medieval times to instruct those who could not read, the church presented dramatized stories of the Bible known as miracle plays, first within the church and later in the churchyard.

Mrs. Frank believes that Biblical dramatization such as "The Christmas Story" impresses itself more vividly on children's minds than reading alone does. And adults have said that the gathering of the incidents of the four gospels into one consecutive story makes the development of the nativity more manifest.

"The purpose of the pageant is to give something to the people, not just instruction, but belief, for the whole of the nativity story is at once so simple and so strong," said Mrs. Frank. "It is heart-breaking to have to turn so many people away because the supply of tickets is limited. Another year we may have to put on more performances and have two choirs."

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Christ in the Home

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Gen. 1:27, 28; 2:18; Matt. 19:4-6; Luke 10:38-42; Eph. 6:1-4; II Tim. 1:3-6.

God created man and woman and gave them domination over "the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing."

Jesus said, 'For this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife and they twain shall be one flesh."

Jesus visited at the home of Mary and Martha; Mary listened to His words, Martha was worried about household matters, for which Jesus reproved her.

"Children obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right. Honour your father and mother," admonished St. Paul.
GOLDEN TEXT—John 15:17.

What Strength Has Germany?

The war on the Western Front has now become a slugging-match between Germany and the Allies, with a decided advantage for our side in almost every respect. But the German strength is still far from inconsiderable. An authoritative source estimates that the Reich has, all told, approximately six million men in service. Of this number about a million and a half are in formations such as battle-groups and independent tank battalions. About another half million men are on garrison and line of communications duty. Another million can be raised, and is being raised now, by scraping every available worker, semi-invalid, old man and schoolboy into service; this motley million is now being trained as quickly as possible, and understandably their training is far from thorough; they are mere cannon-fodder.

It is believed that Germany has less than 300 regular divisions in being, and the remaining three million men are in these. Not all of them are available for action. Perhaps thirty of these divisions are tied down in Latvia, another twenty must stay in Norway, and a further fifteen must be kept in Yugoslavia. There are actually between 130 and 140 divisions available for fighting on the Eastern Front, thirty on the Italian Front, and the remaining seventy face our forces on the Western Front. Germany may have another ten divisions in training. It must be understood, of course, that these figures are approximations only, but they are the best approximations available.

* * *

Obviously Germany still has formidable numbers of fighting men, but we cannot imagine that all these men are of the first, or even of the second, quality. They are having trouble in getting ammunition where they want it when they want it, but so, we must remember, are the Allies, who have complained of a shortage of shells. Germany is a long way for being at her last gasp, either for men or munitions.

* * *

As for German morale, discussion is mere waste of time. Over and over again during the past eighteen months, the Allied press has blithely foreseen a crack-up in German endurance, and it has failed to happen. We simply must recognize the fact that the Germans are fighting with a tenacity and a fury which shows no real sign of a break. They cannot endure forever, but there is no good reason known to the Allies why they should not endure for several months yet. Prime Minister Churchill has warned us more than once since the setting-in of Autumn that the war is far from its end, and Prime Minister King has spoken with the greatest seriousness to the House of Commons within the past week about the nature of the fight in which our troops are engaged. The Germans mean to stick to their guns until they are completely overwhelmed.

* * *

When that will be, no sensible person dares to predict. It seems clear that the determination of the Germans not to give in is greater now than it was during the final months of the First Great War. They tasted the bitterness of defeat after that war, and the memory keeps their spines stiff now. Whatever means of terrorism are used to keep German troops fighting, they are remarkably successful, and there is no plan for our forces except to match and exceed them in doggedness and will to win.

"People are not qualified for self-government", says the Victoria Times, "until private citizens feel equal to the highest officials". Canada must be all right, then; the feeling of superiority to the elected government is very common here.

A Word About Black Markets

From time to time the newspapers publish items about the prosecution of black market operators; recently this paper recorded the trial of six men who were engaged in a Montreal firm which had apparently bought and used illegally 1,000,000 pounds of sugar.

We should like to know why it is that the general public is told that sugar is in short supply when there appears to be a million pounds of the stuff available to one crooked firm. We cannot believe that it is very hard to buy black market sugar, or there would not be such a big trade in it, and such enormous quantities could not change hands. The average citizen is rationed—not severely, but strictly—but there is enough sugar in the country for large underhand transactions. The question which we ask is this: is the sugar shortage genuine or is it, for some reason, simulated?

The same question might be asked about gasoline. It has been said, on what authority we do not know, that as much gasoline is sold illegally in Canada as is sold legally. That may be an exaggeration, but anyone who keeps his eyes open knows that a good deal of bootleg gas is being used. If this gasoline is in the country, why not make it available to everybody on a fair basis, and stop penalizing the law-observing citizen. Why talk of a shortage of gasoline, when so much of it is sold on the quiet?

There is one more thing which troubles us. We cannot recall any instance in which the importer or wholesaler who sold the sugar or the gasoline to the illegal user was punished for doing so. Gasoline and sugar do not appear out of thin air. They have to be bought, in the first instance, from somebody who should have kept the commodities for legal distribution. Why not trace the background of these illegal goods, establishing a genealogy of the crime, and punish everybody connected with it?

If there are shortages in the country which demand rationing, let us enforce it thoroughly and punish everybody connected with the black market. And if the shortages are factitious, let us stop pretending and make the goods available to honest men as well as to crooks.

No Glamorous Spies?

Every nation has a spy system; if the nation happens to be our own we speak of it as 'intelligence' or 'secret service', but when it belongs to another nation we use the good, plain word 'spy'. Spies are peculiar people who, for small pay, take great risks. If a spy is caught, he is shot; he need not expect the nation which employs him to make any attempt to save his skin. He is utterly on his own as long as he is working.

In the past women have worked as spies, as well as men, and some of them have been outstanding in their odd profession. During the last war the Dutch-Javanese dancer, Mata Hari, was very efficient for a time. She used her undoubted charms to attract officers and diplomats who knew valuable secrets, or who had access to secrets, and when the time seemed ripe she extracted the secrets from them. At last she was caught and died in front of a firing squad, as many a spy has done before and since.

The head of the American Federal Bureau of Investigation, Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, says that he has not heard of any counterpart of Mata Hari in this war. There have been women spies, of course, but they are small fry. The tradition of the beautiful, exquisitely dressed and undressed, irresistible female spy has apparently been broken. What effect this will have on the espionage movies and novels of the future, we dread to contemplate

NOTE AND COMMENT

A man in Omaha has swallowed one of his cuff-links. Probably while laughing up his sleeve.

In Australia, we understand, homework for children has been abolished because it has caused mental and physical breakdown of so many parents.

A lexicographer says that the English language is growing at the rate of 3,000 words a year. One of the latest which we have seen is 'misunderstatement', which by combining 'misstatement' and 'understatement' produces a mess which is certain to become a favourite in government and pamphlet-writing circles.

The report that Goering is now wearing a toga has led many papers to say that he is crazy. We think that the explanation may be found in the old rhyme:

A man down in the Amazon
Put nighties of his gramma's on;
The fact was that
He was too fat
To get his own pyjamas on.

Diary Of Early Winter

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Every autumn I spend at least one Sunday in attentive nursing of my furnace; when the wind is in a certain quarter it refuses to burn properly, and it is only by adjusting the draughts every five minutes or so, feeding it special coal with a teaspoon, and fanning its bottom door that I can coax it to keep alive, and give a trifle of heat. This usually happens on a Sunday because the furnace knows that I will be home then, and that I will have a lot of work to do, and that it can thus be sure of giving the maximum of annoyance. It is useless to tell me that a furnace is not human; I know that. A furnace is a devil, with a deep knowledge of the human spirit, and a malignant desire to push that spirit to the farthest reaches of endurance. If the United Nations could agree, I should be glad to take Hitler as my furnace man for a few years after the war; that would teach him what vexation and humiliation could be....Went to bed leaving all draughts on, and the furnace almost dead; woke in the middle of the night, after dreaming that I was in hell. The wind had changed and the fire was roaring merrily.

◇ ◇ ◇

MONDAY: To the Blood Donor's Clinic this morning, and was amazed to receive the Order of the Round Bronze Button as a recognition of my services; I must wire this news to my brother Fairchild, who has the Imperial Order of the Bucket of Blood, which permits him to wear a gold top hat on Sundays; he is one of the most amazing bleeders in Ontario—spouts like a whale at the mere sight of an empty bottle. When the war is over I fully expect that he will have to keep on with his regular phlebotomies, or he will become engorged, and burst....To the movies this evening, and tortured myself with a film called "Between Two Worlds" which proved to be a Hollywood version of the old favourite of the amateur stage, "Outward Bound." Hollywood ruined it by giving away the secret at the beginning, and then dragging the agony out for one hour and forty minutes by the theatre clock. It was my misfortune to sit in front of a girl who had brought her pet mule—slightly disguised as a young man—with her, and the mule kicked the back of my seat painfully all through the film. People ought to be charged double price for bringing mules. The mule enjoyed the show, though, and I imagine Hollywood designed it to appeal to the mule trade.

◇ ◇ ◇

TUESDAY: A friend of mine asked me today when Indian Summer was; he says that he has optimistic acquaintances who insist that any break in the winter, even a February thaw, is Indian Summer. I told him that after November 11, Saint Martin's day, a warm day is not Indian Summer but a freak of nature. In the course of gaining this information I discovered that St. Martin is the patron saint of drinkers and good fellows. I am a keen amateur of hagiology, which means the study of saints, and not the study of hags, as some of my friends appear to think (though in special cases the two can be combined). If the L.C.B.O. had any sense of the picturesque, and was not merely a money-grubbing and booze-watering monopoly, it would put a handsome image of St. Martin on the front of all its stores. Then it would be possible to say, 'I have been visiting Saint Martin,' instead of 'I've been to the In and Out Shop,' and the whole tone of conversation would be raised a notch. But all the friendly saints have been driven out of our lives, and we are poorer for their going.

◇ ◇ ◇

WEDNESDAY: Was somewhat alarmed today when no less than three lawyers visited me, and accused me of referring to them in a recent issue of this Diary. One of them announced that he had come to bore me full of holes, and produced a brace and bit and a bung-starter from his overcoat pocket, in a business-like and menacing manner. Luckily I was able to start an argument among the three as to which was the true victim, and escaped under the cover of the ensuing oratory. But I should like to make this clear: any resemblance between people whom I meet in the course of my daily duties and living human beings is purely coincidental....This is not the first time that people have menaced me for fancied allusions to themselves. There are a great many people who are convinced that the whole world has its eye on them, and it is futile to assure them that their privacy is unchallenged. That I, who can scarcely remember my own name, much less anyone else's, should be accused of writing a gossip column, is a great joke.

◇ ◇ ◇

THURSDAY: A gentleman dropped in to tell me of the birth of his third grandchild—a boy. I gave him a congratulatory cigarette; if it had been a girl I would have let him take a few puffs at my pipe. We discussed the fact that most babies are born at night, during hours when the maximum of inconvenience is assured for physician, relatives and mother. We reached no conclusion, except that babies were perverse creatures, hiding sly and cantankerous natures under bland and amiable exteriors....A heavy fall of snow today, which means that all the talk about anti-freeze and ski-wax which died down last March will begin to buzz again....This evening I made a fine wood fire, and sat by it, reading Emily Carr's new book "The House Of All Sorts," about her adventures as landlady of an apartment block in Victoria, B.C. She pursued this grim trade for twenty years, and in all that time she never learned how to control her furnace. My heart ached for her. She finally gave up when one of her tenants punched her in the face. I have never punched a landlady, though many a landlady has looked as though she would like to punch me.

◇ ◇ ◇

FRIDAY: I am growing heartily sick of seeing children of tender years occupying seats on buses while their elders stand; very often these children are with their mothers, who have paid no fare for them. Democracy is doubtless a splendid thing, but I wonder why it goes hand in hand with bad manners? Bad manners spring from stupidity, rather than from an evil spirit; surely democracies, with their stress on general education, should be the most mannerly places in the world, but they are not. In Russia, a totalitarian state with all the evils of a totalitarian state, children are taught manners in regular classes in school. But in Canada we cannot do this, because it might imply that the children learned no manners at home, which, though true, is something which we do not care to recognize. Perhaps this is why Russia expects to outshine us in the postwar world: she is ready to face nasty facts, and we are not.

◇ ◇ ◇

SATURDAY: The Metropolitan Opera broadcasts began this afternoon, with Wagner's "Die Walkure." Wagnerian opera isn't much fun unless you can see it, and anyway "Die Walkure" isn't my idea of a jolly Saturday afternoon entertainment, so I went out and shoveled some snow. I like opera, on the whole, but I don't like Wagner, except "Die Meistersinger," and "The Flying Dutchman," which is not done very often....As a tireless student of English prose I am a keen reader of advertisements, and this evening I found this sweetly solemn thought in an ad for a trust company: "There are innumerable difficulties presented to the untutored mind by the Dominion Succession Duty Act and those of the Provinces." Could that be put better? It could not! We are all 'untutored' these days in matters concerning taxes; only a few Magi at Ottawa seem to understand thoroughly what is going on. Perhaps it is time that the rest of us found out....For the taxpayers postwar song I recommend "Tutor me daddy, eight to the bar."

POST-WAR WORLD —By Goldberg

Britain At War

(By SENATOR RUPERT DAVIES)

IF there is one part of Britain which one might expect to find affected but little by the fact that Britain is at war, it is rural North Wales. South Wales with its enormous docks and its coal mines and iron foundries is, everyone knows not only one of the busiest parts of Great Britain, but has also suffered severely from enemy action. North Wales, at least that part which lies inland, and has no large towns worth bombing, and no factories of any consequence, has nevertheless felt the war in its own way, and felt it severely, but not disastrously. I spent an hour this afternoon, talking to some of the members of the Home Guard in the little village near which I am visiting for a few days. They told me that during that period when they were expecting invasion their duties were very strenuous. For two years the two sergeants in charge of the village company were up three and four nights every week until four o'clock in the morning; the one, being the postmaster, found those particular nights very hard, as he had to be in the P.O. at five to receive the early morning mail thrown off the train on its way from Shrewsbury to the coast. Another old "Guard" of 69 told me that he was on duty two nights a week all night, and till ten the other nights. They had to watch the river bridge, the railway bridge and the telephone exchange, as well as do patrol duty. "But", I said, "you never had any bombing away over here in the west". "Indeed, we did", he replied, "Many and many a night". He told me of the different places where bombs had dropped. I was amazed. The knowledge which the Germans had of rural Britain was astonishing; for judging from the places where bombs were dropped they were undoubtedly trying to hit a Welsh railway junction. This particular junction which separates the trains for the west and the south sits out in fields by itself. There is no town, not even a small village. Yet they came within half a mile of it one time when the blitz was at its worst. Every pane of glass was broken in an old black and white Tudor mansion a mile away, and the veteran guard told me that the crash jarred him badly standing on the step of his cottage ten miles away.

◇ ◇ ◇

EVEN in this part of rural Wales there are soldiers nearly everywhere. Camps are scattered throughout the countryside wherever it is felt convenient. I went out to visit one of them the other day. It was in the process of being dismantled to be shipped to other parts. It consisted of many large buildings, all corrugated iron. It was situated in the grounds of an old mansion, which is gradually falling into decay. The mansion was of as much interest to me as the remnants of the large military camp. It belonged to a family famous in Welsh history both ancient and modern, a family which numbers among its ancestors the old Prince of Wales, Brochwel Ysgythroc, and a famous knight who was knighted on the field of Agincourt in 1415. This estate, of which the old mansion is the centre, has been in the one family for over 350 years. The owner, a colonel in the last war, died recently, and his son, captured by the Germans at Dunkirk, and still a prisoner of war, has decided to sell his vast estate. It was a pathetic sight to see this fine old mansion with its coat of arms chiselled in stone over the front of the porte cochere, falling into a state of pitable disrepair. It was built entirely of freestone, after the design of the Prince regent's pavilion at Brighton. The window in the Great Hall ran from the ground to the roof, and the dining-room would seat 50 comfortably. A few years ago the glory of this fine old mansion was revived for a night, when the Hunt Ball was held there. Otherwise it has been unoccupied for 20 years. When the estate is sold it will probably be wrecked. For who can keep up such places in these days of heavy taxation? The nineteenth century is past.

◇ ◇ ◇

I COME back to the same old theme—the spirit of the people. The more I see of it the prouder I am that I am a Britisher. One never hears a grumble of any kind. A farmer called to see me this morning. He was collecting for the "Welcome Home" Fund for the boys from this Postal District. It is planned by the people to give each one a present of £10. And there are seventy of them. I asked this farmer how the farmers were faring. "We cannot complain", he said. "All prices are controlled. Wages are high but we get a subsidy on wheat, and several other farm products, and we are doing alright". I was glad to hear this, for I know this man and I know that he works very hard, and I knew that he needs several hands, and his experience with Italian prisoners had not been a happy one. Help from Italian prisoners—and I see a lot of them about — is a doubtful help indeed, in many, many cases. One hears of the odd one or two who are really useful. But by the time the farmer loses time to go to meet the bus at nine o'clock, perhaps two miles away, and drives the men back to catch it again at 5, he does not get much help. The man told me the Italian prisoners are fussy. They want to quit half an hour before time to start for the bus in order to get nicely cleaned up.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE farmers are very well treated with regard to petrol, and one hears some talk of abuses, but on the whole I think it is fairly used. Farmers need cars to get to town for market and other business. Horses are almost useless on the roads today. Owing to the scarcity of labor and also of tar the roads in this county have not been sprayed and chippings spread for five years. As a result they are as smooth as glass and thus damp weather particularly slippery. It is very mild here, much like our April (it is November 25th) and there has been a lot of rain lately. Horses cannot keep their feet on the roads without difficulty. I saw two big timber horses down on their knees a few days ago. Then, too, the convoys on the main roads are a difficulty when one is driving a horse. These convoys are sometimes miles long. Britain is at war.

◇ ◇ ◇

AS in Canada so over here, women are doing men's work. I saw six of them the other day unloading a lot of waste material from an open freight car. They were shovelling it out and spreading it over low land near the station here. They were husky women, all young, and they were handling shovels like experienced navvies. Of course, one sees women porters everywhere, and all the guards on the trains are old men, called back into service. Train services have been cut, but the cuts have helped the small villages, because trains stop at them now, which formerly never gave them a nod. I met a man in naval uniform down in the village the other day. Just back from Canada after eighteen months on cargo vessels. Torpedoed twice, and shows with pride the clipping from a Halifax paper of the "rugged Welshman" who refused to leave his ship and brought her safely in next day.

◇ ◇ ◇

EVERYWHERE one goes one meets soldiers, sailors and airmen. There is a big American camp some 15 or 20 miles away. The Americans seem to like Welsh hospitality, for they come in bus loads to the towns, and spend their money lavishly. The other day on my way through a village ten miles off I stopped at a country pub to talk with the mother of a young chap who was trained at the Norman Rogers airport, and who came out to see me occasionally. He is now back here, busy on operational flights every night. "Three pals went out to Canada together," said his mother. "The other two have gone," she said looking wistfully out of the window, "but the lad is alright so far, and I'm keeping my fingers crossed."

RATIONING is very strict over here, but I hear no complaining. I brought a little food with me, but not much. I did not find out until I was almost sailing that I could have brought in 25 lbs. but not more than 5 lbs. of any one product. All, of course, for my own use. I got a temporary ration card as soon as I arrived. It was good for 72 hours. Two days after my arrival here in Wales, I had to get another, also an identity card. My Canadian registration card was taken from me when I sailed. So we hitched up a green Welsh pony which I had bought and drove seven miles over the hills to the county town. The pony had a tender mouth and a sore shoulder. One usually discovers these things after the purchase is completed. However, we got along alright. I know Welsh ponies of old. I have ridden many of them. They all need careful watching. They've forgotten more tricks than an English pony ever heard of. I think it's the gipsy in them. But it all adds to the joy of living. Maybe I am prejudiced, but the joy of living is, in my opinion, never richer than when riding or driving along a hillside lane with the wind and the rain in your face. As the Welsh gipsy woman with the poetic soul who was stricken with blindness, once said, "What does it matter if there's a wind on the hillside." I was waited on in the Food Office by Mrs. Geraint Goodwin, the widow of an author of great promise, who although cut off in his forties has left us three fine novels. Later I wanted to buy a coal scuttle, but I found they are one of the things that "are not made any more." So I bought a galvanized iron bucket instead. I am going to London on Monday and have been notified by the hotel management to bring my ration book with me.

◇ ◇ ◇

ONE of the problems created by the war, so far as Wales is concerned, seems to be the increase in drinking among the young people. So bad was it alleged to be that a committee of inquiry was set up. The committee claim that the increase in drinking among young people is due in considerable measure to a change in convention. High wages, a shortage of other commodities on which to spend money, and in some cases the presence of troops, were regarded as contributory factors. There is no doubt that drinking is very prevalent over here, although I have not seen any young people drinking. The pub is still the workingman's club, and from my own personal observation it seems to be the popular club of all sorts and conditions of men besides workingmen. There have been letters and articles in the daily and weekly press discussing the question. The drink problem has always been insoluble, and I am afraid it always will be. The high price of beer and spirits seems to be no check at all. One man told me the reason the price was so high here, was that they were shipping so much to Canada. The Chief Constable of Caernarvonshire feels that the problem calls for more practical measures on the part of the churches. 'Twas ever thus, the responsibility of someone else.

I WAS taken far back into Canada's past yesterday afternoon, by one of Wales' most distinguished noblemen, with whom I was having tea. He was most interested in Canada, and its war work, which he termed as "magnificent." This noble lord, whose castle dates back to the 13th century, and which is today occupied for the most part by a girls' school, told me an interesting story of his first visit to Canada in 1885. He and the late Lord Minto, started out as young men to see America. They went across the States to San Francisco. Took a boat there for Vancouver Island. Went up the island and crossed to the mainland. There they bought some ponies and wended their way through the passes of the Rockies to somewhere near Banff, where they met the Canadian Pacific Railway engineers heading west. "I shall never forget," he said, "the joy of getting into clean sheets and a comfortable bed in the car of the chief engineer Mr. Rogers. After six weeks of sleeping on the ground it was a real treat." They took the train near Banff, and came to Ontario. They had breakfast with the Lieutenant-Governor Sir John Beverley Robinson and Mrs. Robinson. Mrs. Robinson was very surprised to find that the young man was a son of an old friend, who had a distinguished career in the Crimean War. (The word distinguished is my own.) From Toronto the young men went to Ottawa "to visit my mother's cousin who was then Governor-General." (the Marquis of Lansdowne.) It was a most interesting story of a period a decade before I first saw Canada, when according to my informant, Toronto was quite a small place, and there was but a few houses where Vancouver stands today. The Earl, a descendant of Clive of India, has lived a long useful life tinged with sadness. His eldest son was killed leading his men at the Battle of the Marne; his second son, sole surviving heir, lost his life last spring when his plane crashed while on an operational flight. Although well over 80 the nobleman is active on many war committees, and busy with his duties of Lord-Lieutenant of an English county. War is a great leveller. The great and the humble are rationed alike. There are no delicacies for tea either in the cottager's kitchen or in the Earl's beautiful panelled study, heated only with an open fireplace—a fireplace withal with an historic coat of arms emblazoned on its fire-back. There was no fire in the dining-room—"all the central heating we can manage with our coal ration is needed for the girls' school." Britain is at war.

The editor of this column will welcome extracts from letters from boys serving or any other information concerning them.

By JEAN STENTON

A member of the outfit which designates themselves "Orphans of the Storms," C.S.M. Sam Calladine of Peterborough is one of this group of Engineers, who have served in tough spots all across Italy and with men who have been drawn from every part of Canada.

Although the Engineers are not front line troops, they often work under exactly the same circumstances, but without the weapons to fight back. Of all their difficult assignments, the one the Engineers recalls most vividly, is that of supplying water to 260,000 people in Florence when the power house was damaged by shells and German demolition columns.

Water was drawn by electrically driven pumps from wells east of the city, and some of these had been damaged. From there it was carried westward to a pumping station and across a weir to the northern bank. Mains then formed a great arc around the city. But the pumping station was operated by turbines dependent upon the flow of water over the weir. The Germans had blown up a sluice gate and until this could be repaired, it was useless to start in on the shambles.

"The miners moved up ahead of the infantry and were billeted in the Florentine School of Art. The next day, defying rifle and machine-gun fire from the opposite bank, they erected a temporary wooden sluice gate. But that night a British Division moved up, and finding the bridges blown, decided to cross via the weir. To do this, they had to blast the sluice gate.

Work Destroyed

"The Canadians looked on grimly convinced that if the weir was used as a bridge, German shells would fall round the vital pumping station. They did, and about 30 shells landed in the immediate vicinity, one of them narrowly grazing the building and causing slight damage.

"In daylight, the weir became a highway for refugees, some women and children so weak from terror that they could scarcely climb the southern bank. The miners returned to the work of building a metal sluice gate and repairing pumps at the water source."

While they were engaged on this bit of work, a provost rushed up with the news that a boat was crossing the river despite prohibition on traffic to the southern bank. Fighting was not their job, but the Engineers had two Bren and Tommy guns, and in a few minutes the boat was sunk.

Within a short time the Engineers had the pumping station in operation, only to discover a great hole which could not be repaired, in a 24-inch pipeline across the stream. After passing through the bullet swept No Man's Land several times, searching for the city's chief engineer, a plug was obtained and the repair made.

The section of Engineers doing this job were hard rock miners from Canada's northlands, forming a section of One Canadian Drilling Company. C.S.M. Calladine wrote Major John Thompson of Peterborough is now in command of his section. The previous Major had been shot by snipers. His wife, Mrs. Calladine and baby, live at 446 Wolsley street.

Training Centre Moved

A-27 Canadian Reconnaissance Training Centre, previously established at Dundurn Military Camp in Central Saskatchewan, has been moved to Camp Borden. This is in line with the previously-announced policy of consolidating training centres.

F.O. TOM LaPLANTE

The names of Iceland and Greenland ought to be reversed in the opinion of P.O. Tom LaPlante, son of Mrs. Ethel LaPlante, 293 Westcott street, who is now stationed in Iceland with the R.C.A.F. In a letter written the middle of November, he gives an enthusiastic description of the country.

"I spent a few days in Greenland recently and where they get the name from, I don't know. It's all ice and snow with a temperature between 20 and 30 degrees below zero, and I was never so glad to leave any place.

"You'll probably be as surprised as I was when I first saw Reykjavik. It is as modern as any of our cities with smart houses, apartments, stores, two modern hospitals and a lovely university. There's absolutely nothing you can't buy, but of course you pay quite a bit."

Well Cared For

For entertainment, there are modern dance halls, with good orchestras, the officer explained. More important, he said the girls of Iceland are attractive and several of them can speak English. Generally, however, the people speak only Icelandic, which sometimes bothers the fliers.

The weather had not been too cold and PO. LaPlante expressed his delight with his quarters. He is at an all-Canadian station and there are four men billetted to a hut. Each hut has a sitting room, in front and a bedroom behind, along with a private bathroom which includes a shower.

"The Mess too is very nice. The food has been grand so far and we have a big dance in the officers mess every Thursday night. Between 50 and 75 girls come out from town so it is not nearly as bad as people back home might imagine. Some poor fellows though, have been stuck up here for two or three years without any leave at all. They're all ground crew and I really feel sorry for them."

Formerly employed in the Tool design at Genelco, PO. LaPlante enlisted in September 1942 and is now serving in the Coastal Command. A brother, Johnny LaPlante in the Navy, has been overseas 2½ years.

LIEUT. LETA SANDERS

Lieut. Leta Sanders serving at a Canadian Hospital in England, reassures parents about the care which wounded Canadian men are receiving overseas. In a letter to Miss Thirza Hicks of Havelock, she emphasized this point.

"I wish the mothers of the boys realized how well they are being cared for. They are well fed and I have never seen food any better, even in civilian hospitals. Sometimes we don't have time to do all the little things for them that we would like to, but the essential things, they do get."

The nurse declared that they are the best patients she has seen and she enjoys teasing them occasionally. She told them that there was two feet of snow outside the hospital and almost had her boys believing it, in spite of the fact that the grass is as green as in summer.

Lieut. Sanders said that she was being kept busy. Their last convoy was a big one and the patients seemed to be worse than the earlier ones.

"I am on night duty in an officer's ward, she wrote," and am not very fond of the night work, but this is the Army and they don't usually ask you what you prefer."

In spite of that, the Nursing sister said she felt she was lucky for she had a comfortable bed, good food, steam heat and a good bath tub. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sanders of Havelock and was the first nurse from this district to enlist for active service.

Stations Closing

A number of the R.C.A.F. stations in Ontario are being closed in the next few weeks following the final graduations a few days ago. The Port Stanley Marine section of the R.C.A.F. Bombing and Gunnery school at Fingal is being discontinued; the R.C.A.F. wireless school at Guelph, which has been operating since May 1940 is being turned back to the Ontario Agricultural College, January 12; and No. 4 Air Observers School at Crumlin will no longer function. The installations are being taken over by the Army for use as a military hospital.

Great Advances Made In Art Of Aviation

By B. T. RICHARDSON

CHICAGO: Nothing has marked the arrival of the age of world air transport so much as the advance made in the last five years in the art of aviation, that is, the progress in technical standards and procedures. The world area in which an airplane pilot may fly with modern technical facilities and weather information has been steadily widened so that the pilot flying into Chicago or Chungking, Canton Island or Casablanca, has almost the same advantages and the same safety protection. He can receive weather reports and use complicated radio devices, he can maintain ground contact, and he can avoid collisions if the air is crowded.

The case for standardizing the art and procedures of aviation is overwhelming, and it commended itself to the delegates of 53 nations who met in Chicago. In this field of technical standards and procedures agreement was relatively easy, though the field to be covered was complicated and extensive. It was a field in which, even if no agreement was possible on tht politics, as opposed to the art, of aviation had been reached, the results would have been vitally important to future generations of travellers on international air lines.

Main groundwork job of technical problems was done by the aviation experts of the United States Government, who arrived at the Chicago to conference with bundles of draft documents under their arms, submitting them as a basis of discussion. In addition, the conference drew upon the experience of the International Convention for Air Navigation, 1919, which contained technical annexes, changed from time to time until World War II. drove commercial air services off international routes. The Canadians furnished two detailed documents that became the basis of discussion in their fields—accident investigation and meteorological organization.

In addition to these topics, the ground covered by other sub-committees shows the scope of the art of aviation: Communications procedures and airways, systems, rules of the air, and air traffic control practices, licensing of operating and mechanical personnel and log books, airworthiness of aircraft, registration and identification of aircraft collection of weather information, aeronautical maps and charts, customs procedure and manifests, and standard publications and forms.

In these fields the nations agreed to pool their knowledge and seek uniformity. Some of the hardest work of the Chicago conference was performed in these committees. Delegates and their technical experts finally met after nineteen days of committee work and reported broad agreement. There are some things which only the perfection of world society will attain, such as the Netherlands proposal that the metric system of measurements be adopted. The British and American delegates (and the Canadians, too) were ready to consider it for the future, but to transform the aviation of these countries and many others from the yardstick of inches and gallons to that of metres and litres is too much to expect at present. The vote was 38 to 3 against the metric system.

The Yugoslavian delegate asked whether suggestions were acceptable on the language of world aviation. Shall the forms and publications be in English or French or some other language? This, too, is a matter in which practice must evolve, though it is obviously a crucial issue. No rule can be laid down to compel anyone to use a particular language. But the conference used English throughout, and it is obvious that English is beginning to prevail as the world language. No one suggested basic English or any other compromise language.

The technical documents worked out at Chicago will obviously set a pattern of aviation procedure which countries operating planes on international routes will conform to for convenience and safety. And what is useful for international flying will come to be adopted for domestic flying. Gradually the art of aviation will become uniform, so that a "world language code" for radio messages, weather reports, manifests and records will spread to many countries. Edward Warner, American delegate, noted this point. It represents one of the most important achievements of the Chicago conference.

There is more than uniformity at stake. The conference decisions on technical practices mean that joint action will be taken, in the future, to establish aviation facilities where they do not exist. The concept of a secretariat, with money to spend on improving airports, establishing weather stations, and air control stations, is now a matter of record among the nations. It may lead to a system of insurance to which costs of search for lost planes will be provided. In these things, the nations are extending the frontiers of aviation.

More Than Nine Lives

Up in the district around the Severn River, north of the Simcoe County town of Orillia, they take the old wheeze about a cat having nine lives with a pinch of salt. They think 90 would be a more correct figure.

This idea is not based on old legendary tales, but is the result of the observation of folks at Severn Bridge, a farming community of perhaps 200 or 300 which once knew better days as a lumbering centre. Nearly every family there has a cat, and all can tell of narrow escapes in which their pets were involved — mostly through being chased around by neighborhood sheep dogs.

There lived at Severn Bridge for many years a citizen named William Greenwill, a man who was often credited with being able to build a power dam with a pair of pliers and a hairpin. The thing that stands out about Mr. Greenwill in the minds of many who recall him concerns Tom, the Severn Bridge equivalent of an alley cat. Although he shied away from most folks, Tom used to follow Mr. Greenwill around whenever he went along the river. Perhaps it was because Mr. Greenwill, who was a kind-hearted man, often fed the animal some of the smaller fish from an afternoon's catch.

Tom Was Nuisance

The cat was considered a nuisance by most folks. For one thing, he

Half-Dozen Kinds Of Ducks Remain During The Winter

By G. H. RICHARDSON.

On such bodies of water as the Great Lakes and various other smaller ones, there are numbers of species of ducks and other waterfowl present throughout the winter.

Some half-dozen species are likely to be seen regularly, haunting certain spots consistently and in addition to these, occasionally some from the Atlantic or Pacific Coasts wander inland and vice versa, so there there is always the possibility of seeing something which ordinarily would require a lot of travel to find.

Surf Scoter,

The seeing of birds unusual for a region can be viewed from different angles. Some feel that careful observation of the common birds is the only worthwhile angle, others, that simply seeing as many species as possible is the great object. But after all, between these extremes there is ample scope for different viewpoints. While there is a similarity in the actions of many birds (there is both similarity and difference, and personal viewpoint can stress either) and perhaps it matters little if one recognizes the Hoary Redpoll in life, or not; yet, it does give a satisfaction just to be able to recognize the difference and to have observed this bird from among the hundreds of common Redpolls seen in the course of a few years.

Seek Different Characteristics.

Also, the endeavor to seek out slight differences of plumage, actions or notes from closely related species has its own enjoyment for some, just as much as seeing another nest of a certain species has for others—when they have already found 60 or 70 nests of that same species, the new nest being within the range of character of the others for its location, material, number of eggs, date, etc., etc.

So it boils down to a matter of individual interest. Knowledge being a constant checking and double-checking of facts; a gradual learning of the slight variations to either side; to look at the same thing again and again with enthusiasm requires interest, which differs with individuals.

Three Species of Scoters.

There are three species of Scoters. The White-winged is a common inland migrant, the Surf and American Scoters are birds of the coasts in migration. However, individual stragglers and sometimes flocks of the latter two come inland. These ducks are "sea ducks," that is, they live on open water, diving for food instead of "tipping up' as do the "river ducks." They are large and heavy-bodied, sooty-colored in the drakes and brown in the ducks.

In flight, the White-winged Scoter is unmistakeable with its white speculum and this point may be seen when the birds are swimming, sometimes, for it is a common thing for ducks to stretch up and wave their wings while alight. The head patterns of the other two are quite different. The female Surf Scoter has two white patches on the face like the female White-winged, whereas inthe American Scoter the crown is dark, abruptly changing to the light cheeks.

A feature of the Scoters is the strangely swollen area at the base of the bill, which is brightly colored. In the American Scoter, this is orange-yellow. In the Surf and the White-winged Scoters, it is mostly red and white with a black spot.

Yes, They Do Know There Is War On Canadian Officer In English Pub Finds

By FRANK LOWE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTHERN ENGLAND, Dec. 9.—(CP Cable)—This is just another V-bomb story.

It started at the hour the club barmaid was serving the last drinks to a black market operator and his flashy, blond girl friend. In the hall, a Canadian officer, a reporter and two girls were donning their coats when the officer, who had been twice wounded in battle, nodded in the direction of the cosy club room and commented:

"They don't know there is a war on."

Then the V-bomb fell.

There's no sense trying to describe how the club became a nightmare of flying, knife-sharp glass.

In the moment of hushed silence that followed, the barmaid asked coolly: "Anybody hurt?"

The Canadian officer, the two girls and the reporter felt themselves uncertainly, and answered with a shaky "no."

Others hadn't been so lucky. The waiter was sitting in a chair, holding his head and moaning. Between gasps he attempted to apologize to the club owner for dripping blood on to the chair.

Within a matter of minutes wounded were being brought in from the street where they had been hit by glass and debris. Soon every chair and every settee had its quota of blood stains.

The black market operator set to work swabbing out cuts. The club owner, who usually sells liquor only at exorbitant prices, poured out drinks and more drinks for the injured.

His blond companion used her coupon-costly slip to improvise bandages so the wounded could be moved to a first-aid post.

When the injured had been moved we started for home. At the end of the block one of those small English automobiles had been blown into a store window. The three occupants were still in the car—dead.

We crunched through shattered glass, through black streets now edged with dancing flames.

"By God," said the officer, "those people were marvellous, weren't they?"

Forgotten as his remark 35 minutes before about not knowing there is a war on.

Snapshots, Photographs Left As Markers In Books Of Peterborough Public Library

By DON McGIBBON.

When Peterborough book-worms leave markers in their books, an overwhelming majority choose snapshots and photographs for the job. That's the news that comes from workers at the Peterborough Public Library, who discover daily in books returned to them, a varied and peculiar collection of substitute markers.

Before they became scarce, hairpins turned up in large numbers, librarians disclosed, but now, under the pinch of wartime conditions, old letters, out-of-date greeting cards, and burnt matches have been the trend.

Regardless of its apparent value, librarians painstakingly make every effort to find the owners of markkers that turn up when books are opened and inspected, before being replaced on the shelves. Often the method of checking the number stamped on the book with the corresponding number recorded on the reader's membership card is used.

Gas Ration Book.

Recently, a gas ration book was left in a book to keep the page, but tracing the owner in this case was comparatively simple, and he gladly reclaimed it.

Occasionally, an expensive and beautifully-wrough metal marker turns up among more worthless items. Right now, the library is in possession of an attractive metal book-mark, decorated with a tinted Indian head, and according to the inscription, is a souvenir of the scenic Skyline Drive in Virginia.

Although photo-snaps are used more than anything else, librarians said that up to now, none of the owners have been found by means of recognizing the person in the photo.

A trend for the better has been reported by workers at the city's bookshelf, in that less damage is being done to books now than formerly.

Doodleing, once a common scourge, now is on the decline, they say, and less comments are noted in the books returned. However, in some books, particularly those of a controversial nature, it is still quite usual to find comments penned beside various paragraphs, such as, "It's a lie' or "I don't believe it." Instead of a great amount of comments throughout the book (done by men for the most part), a part criticism on the blank pages at the front is sometimes found, such as "Its a good book."

Pay for Damages.

Although if a book is damaged on the inside portions, some cases are discovered of it being nonchalantly returned with no reference to the damaged sections, the reader usually comes forth and cheerfully offers to pay the damages if it is very badly mutilated.

Sometimes the burnt mark where an iron or hotplate came into contact with the book is noticed. An interesting note was brought to light in that more coffee than anything else is spilled on books.

Men, it would appear, hold books overdue more than women. Reason for this are obscure, although business demands might contribute.

Generally speaking, Peterborough readers are taking better care of the library's books now than they have at some periods in the past.

Despite that well-known proverb, "You can't judge a book by its cover," it is a fact the popularity with the reading public can to some extent be gauged by the condition of the book covers, librarians said.

"If a book is six or seven years old and still has a perfect cover, it is usually found it is not extremely popular to the majority of readers."

Novelist Pearl S. Buck's "Dragon Seed," although a relatively new book, was repaired recently. Necessity for repairs, it was explained, as not entirely because of carelessness on the part of library members, but because of the regular usage of the book since it was added to the library.

Quebec Meeting Planned The End Of The Japanese

By JAMES McCOOK

OTTAWA, Dec 9 — (CP). — The city of Quebec, a pleasant place for other people, must sound like the voice of doom to Japan.

The early destruction of the aggressive power of Japan was planned on the rocks above the St. Lawrence by Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt in a week of discussions starting September 11. Some of the disasters Japan has suffered since may well have been predicted in the peaceful Canadian scene.

The Province of Quebec achieved distinction in 1944 as a conference province. In addition to the Churchill-Roosevelt meetings, the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration council met in Montreal and was followed shortly afterward by a gathering of representatives of eight British Commonwealth countries for discussions on civil aviation.

The two war leaders came cheerfully to Canada, looking over a year of successes of Allied arms since the first Quebec conference in 1943. They were welcomed by the Governor-General and by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

At a press conference on September 17, at the conclusion of their discussions, the statesmen promised devastating defeat for Japan, and Mr. Churchill said the conference had been conducted in a "blaze of friendship."

They did not forecast an easy victory and said the struggle might be long. But the United States and the British Commonwealth were firmly united in their determination to bring victory as soon as posible. The Dominions were making their plans to be in at the death of Japan, said Mr Roosevelt, and Mr. Churchill and Mr. King nodded their assent.

In a formal statement, the leaders said that "the most serious difficulty with which the Quebec conference has been confronted has been to find room and opportunity for marshalling against Japan the massive forces which each and all the nations concerned are ardent to engage against the enemy."

Although the main emphasis of the conference was on Japan, the two leaders also reviewed developments in other war theatres.

Montreal Conferences.

While the Quebec conference was going on representatives of 44 nations met in Montreal for a session of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration council, with L. B. Pearson, Canadian Minister to Washington, as chairman.

The council discussed plans for relief in liberated areas which may cost a total of $2,000,000,000 provided by contributions of the United Nations, including $77,000,000 from Canada. It decided on assistance to mothers and children and displaced persons in Italy, with a ceiling of $50,000,000 in outlays that special weight and urgency should be given in granting relief to countries which have suffered most in resisting the enemy; that there be help in the repatriation of those who have been forced from their homes by religious, racial or political persecution by the enemy, regardless of nationality.

Air conversations prior to an international air conference in Chicago took place in Montreal in October. The conversations dealt with technical matters relating to the establishment of new Commonwealth services over routes not covered by existing services. The conference was not designed to bring about a common British Commonwealth stand on civil aviation to be presented to the Chicago meeting, but officials said they were confident that something approaching the Canadian plan for an international air transport authority would later be agreed on by a substantial number of the 55 nations at the international meeting.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 9—(AP)—Next to picking a successor to Judge Landis, about the hardest sports job of the coming year in the United States will be to select a Western Conference commissioner who can fill the place of the late John L. Griffith . . . Some folks will tell you the Major didn't have any real power, but he had plenty of influence and a common-sense way of using it.

Surprise, Surprise

Last year President Ray Dumont of the National Baseball Congress named E. J. Gubday as semi-pro baseball commissioner for India — probably as a publicity gag—although there wasn't a native team in that country . . . the other day Ray received a report from Gubbay saying he had organized teams in Calcutta, including rugby players from the 1944 championship club of India, Mohan-Bagan, who never had seen a baseball . . . When the teams were all ready to play, Gubbay couldn't find a baseball rule book so he had to cable for some to settle arguments.

Billy Evans says the Southern Association is passing up pro football for the duration because of the player shortage, but will consider the subject again later.

Evans Confident Of Taking Whipper

This blonde-haired Californian Comet, Don Evans, who is billed to meet Whipper Watson in the main bout of next Tuesday's wrestling show at the Brock Street Arena is no shrinking violet. Evans who has been coming on so fast that Promoter Tunney has given him the main bout billing against the champ to see if he is as good as he seems to be, says he can take the Whipper. "I had a chance to watch him go and I think I have found a way to beat him," says the California. Few of the fans think he is right but they are interested in seeing him try.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Decision of the Ladies' City Basketball League to enter a team in the provincial playdowns will be received with satisfaction by local basketball fans. Peterborough has not been represented in the Ontario series for a number of seasons and the thrill of intercity competition has been sadly missed. This year it is felt that the material available in the senior division of the league is good enough to justify a provincial entry and so Peterborough's girl basketball stars will get a chance to battle with outside teams. There is no better way to develop good players into better ones than to give them an opportunity to play against teams using different methods and tactics and that can best be provided by entering a provincial organization. In the mean time while waiting for the Ontario playdowns it is hoped to be able to organize exhibition games with teams from Belleville, Cobourg and other district centres. Local fans will welcome such games if they can be arranged and they undoubtedly will add considerably to the interest in the current basketball season.

* * * * * *

The race in the senior division of the Ladies' Basketball League tightened up considerably last night as the result of the defeat of the league leading St. John's by C.G.E. to the tune of 28-18. The Electricians had their strongest lineup of the year and were good value for their win, once they had come from behind to overcome an early Saints' lead. Mary McPherson played great basketball to lead her squad to a win, the first loss of the season for the Saints. As a result the standing in the senior group is as follows: St. John's won two and lost one, Transports second with a win and a loss and C.G.E. in third spot with a win and two defeats. In other words only one full game separates the three clubs and a triple tie at the close of the second round could quite easily eventuate. In the junior division the Quakers, playing their first game of the season, earned congratulations upon their comeback in the second half when after being outplayed 13 to 2 by Normals in the opening half of the game rallied strongly after the intermission and outscored the winners 11 to 6. Gertie Masters and Helen White were prominent for the Quakers. The team looked promising in its debut and will undoubtedly improve fast with more games and experience.

Coach Or Players?

"St. Mike's 12-1 conquest of Oshawa Generals only bears out what this corner has contended all along—the team makes the coach," says Chick Appel in the Stratford Beacon-Herald. "Heralded as a super-coach when the Generals were sweeping all before them on their trail to the Memorial Cup last winter, "Chuck" Conacher is just another coach trying to get along this season. Provided with a hand-picked collection of youthful puckchasers last season, Conacher was able to ice a squad that enjoyed a distinct edge over the rest of the field, but now that the material at his disposal isn't so capable he drops into the category of any other coach who finds the opposition too good. Gonie McGowan of Port Colbrne remains one of the top coaches in the business, in the opinion of this column, because he showed what could be done with a bunch of home-brews a few years ago in leading the Recreationists to an all-Ontario junior "B" title. But neither the Oshawa Generals nor the Port Colborne Rees (or whatever name under which they are operating) are doing any too well this season, and the fact still stands out in bold relief that efficient as a coach may be he has to cut his cloth accordingly, and if he hasn't the players he can't win championships."

* * * * * *

George Campbell, Oshawa sports scribe has made history by announcing that he does not expect his beloved Generals will finish better than third in the junior A group. The Motor City commentator names St. Mike's and St. Catharines as the teams to hold down the first two places. Here is the way he looks at it: "Galt Red Wings, garbed in their bright red uniforms, similar to Detroit sweaters, come to Oshawa on Saturday night and third place in the group race is at stake. St. Mike's and St. Kitts, both undefeated, hold down the two top spots. The one game Galt won this week moved them from the cellar up into fourth place and a win here Saturday will put them in a two-way tie for third, with the Generals. On the other hand, a win for Oshawa will strengthen their grip on the third slot and at this distance, that looks like the best possible position available to the Generals. We are conceding 1st and 2nd to St. Mike's and St. Kitts and frankly, we would consider 3rd place even better than 2nd at that. The next thing is can the Generals finish in third. If they do, they get the first and odd game in the first series and if they can win that round, then meet the winners of 5th and 6th in the semi-finals, after which the winner meets the 1-2 winner in the finals. Saturday night's game here should be a hum-dinger. So far, it would appear that Al Murray's Galt team is not setting the world afire but his team is always a rough and rugged bunch and it should be a lively session, the type of game that hockey fans really like."

* * * * * *

Tonight's double-bill in the Y.M.C.A. House Basketball League should provide two interesting battles for cage fans. The quality of basketball being played in the loop has been surprising in view of the early predictions the league might not be able to function because of the number of players who had entered the armed services. The teams have been stronger than was expected and the class of basketball played has been steadily improving. Tonight will mark the first appearance of the fifth team in the league, the Cougars headed by two experienced cagers Clarence Davern and Bill Turner. The Cougars have a squad that looks strong on paper. They meet Roy Johnston's Tigers in the second game on the program and all will probably give their opposition a busy time. In the opening game which starts at 7.30 o'clock Gord Johnston's Lions will be battling for their third straight win. The Lions cleaned up on the Panthers and Tigers and tonight they take on Bill Kemp's Trojans. The latter would like to knock the leaders off and will be out there trying all the way so that the opening game should be well worth seeing.

The National Hockey League yesterday decided to abandon one of their new rules. The league directors have scrapped the regulation that provided a two-minute penalty for the player who having broken his stick failed to carry the part remaining in his hand to the penalty bench. That rule was a bit drastic and apparently the hockey powers-that-be have arrived at that opinion for they have decided that the old rule that requires a player who has broken his stick to obtain a new one before going back into the play is enough for all intents and purposes. There has been a lot of tinkering with the rules and not all the changes have benefited the game. Incidentally while they are at it the rule-makers might as well toss away that regulation that says that no assist point can be given when a goal is scored on a rebound. The scorers all over the country have been handing out one or two assists on all such goals, regardless of the rule.

Most fans would be content to have him stay there permanently.

C.G.E. Outplays St. John's Wins 28 to 18

C.G.E. stopped the victory parade of St. John's in the senior division of the Ladies' Basketball League last night by defeating the leaders 28 to 18 in a hard-fought game in which the Electricians fought back to overcome a Saints early lead and then went on to make every post a winning one.

Led by Mary McPherson who not only tossed in seven field baskets and made two successful foul shots but played a whale of a game defensively, C.G.E., who had their strongest team of the season out and were well equipped in the matter of subs, outplayed the leaders and deserved their victory. They checked effectively and handled the ball well while their shooting was on the mark.

St. John's opened up fast and early in the first period had opened up a lead. They were still in front 9 to 7 at the end of the first quarter but a C.G.E. surge at the beginning of the second quarter saw the Saints overhauled, and from then on the winners were never headed. By half time they were in front 16 to 11, and they had increased their margin to ten in the second half, checking St. John's closely and taking advantage of scoring opportunities as they came their way.

Mary McPherson was of course the big scorer for the winners while Dot Allen contributed five points and Marg Carson four to the total. Nona Whetung played a effective game defensively for the Electricians.

As usual Joan Patterson led the Saints in scoring, dropping in three field baskets and tossing in a free throw Eva Clarke was next in line with six scoring points.

The teams:

C.G.E., 28—J. Hickey 1, Fran Merrett 2, M. Carson 4, Shirley Mortimer, Dot Allen 5, J. Metcalfe, Mary McPherson 16, Nona Whetung, G. Davies, J. Rahmel, B. Mantell.

St. John's, 18—Marg. Hawthorne 3, Teresa Heslip 2, M. Keeler, Joan Patterson 7, Eva Clarke 6, Marg. Batley, E. McIlhagga, Edith Harte-Maxwell.

Referee, H. Smith; Umpire, J. Cooper; Timer, A. Neiman.

Normals Win

After having been outplayed by a wide margin in the first period, Quakers came back after the rest to outplay the Normalites in the junior game on last night's card. It was 13 to 2 for the future school teachers at the half and the Quakers had not been able to get a basket from the field. Successful foul throws by Helen White and Gertrude Masters represented the total of their scoring.

However the Quakers, who were making their debut for the season, rallied strongly in the second half and outscored the Normals 11 to 6, with Helen White and Gertrude Squires pacing the attack. The two divided all the scoring points for the losers, the former getting six and the latter seven. The rally cut the winners' lead materially and the final score was 19 to 13.

For the winners Bobbe Wilson with seven points, all scored in the first half, was the top scorer. Gloria Lowney and Esther Meiklejohn each came up with four. The teams:

Normals, 19—Gloria Lowney 4, Dorothy Thrower, Bobbe Wilson 7, Beth Stout, Esther Meiklejohn 4, Jean Taylor 2, Frances Arthur, Eva Morrison 2, Jean Leach.

Quakers, 13—Helen White 6, Mae Wilshaw, Mary Duncan, Gertrude Masters 7, Vera Wood, Jean Sutton, Mary Masters, Teresa Spencer, Carlotta Laing.

Referee, J. Cooper; Umpire, H. Smith; Timer, A. Neiman.

To Make Survey

TORONTO, Dec. 9.—(CP).— An immediate survey of Ontario's fishing and hunting camps to learn how many members of the armed forces, suited for guiding and similar outdoor work, could be employed is to be carried out by the Northern Ontario Outfitters' Association, President E. L. Hughes said in an interview yesterday.

Hamilton Leaps Over St. Kitts

By The Canadian Press

Hamilton Majors leaped over St. Catharines to assume one-point leadership over the Saints in the Senior O.H.A. race with a tight 4-3 victory last night at St. Catharines in the only fixture of the evening. It was the first defeat of the young season for the home club while Majors have yet to experience a setback although held to a tie by Staffords.

It was not until 13:10 of the second period that a score was registered, this going to Johnny Conick of Hamilton on a solo effort to be followed three minutes later for Majors' No. 2 by Clarence Shillington. The third stanza saw Conick repeat in 7:20 and the Saints came within a tally of tying it up on scores by Fritz and Stuart. Hamilton made it 4-2 on a marker by Dillon Brady and Umbo Concessi of St. Catharines closed proceedings with a counter only 15 seconds before full time.

The scoring left Conick and Brady of the Majors tied for top spot in the league's individual records with nine points each, Conick aiding his own cause with a total of two goals and one assist. Tied for second with eight points were Doug Runions, after adding two assists; Concessi, with his eighth goal of the season the losers, thanks to the credit of the losrs, thanks to the credit of an assist.

Bryon And Jug Tied For First

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 9 — (AP). — There was an old familiar ring to the open tournament golf Friday as a bulky field completed the second round of the $7,500 Oakland event. Out in front, tied at 138 were the "Gold Dust Twins," Byron Nelson and Harold McSpaden.

These are the two who have cleaned up on most of the major tournaments of 1944. They're the leading money winners of the year. Nelson of Toledo, first, and his running mate, McSpaden, of Philadelphia, in the second spot.

The golfing duo was split and sidetracked temporarily by the comeback flash of Slammin' Sam Snead, who won the Portland Open two weeks ago. Nelson bounced back to snatch the ensuing San Francisco Open, where McSpaden flopped for his second week in a row.

Jug Out of Slump

As they reached the halfway mark of the 72-hole Oakland Open, McSpaden apparently had snapped out of his slump to draw up on event terms with the favored Nelson, first-round leader with a 66. Nelson fell upon sour times on the back nine, faulty putting costing him strokes on four holes. He missed a two-footer on the 18th for what would have been an eagle three, and undisputed leadership for two rounds. As it was, his 34-82—72 just kept him apace with McSpaden, who had checked in earlier with a par 70 to add to his previous 68.

Starting favorites, aside from the prime choice, Nelson, included Sgt. Jim Ferrier, Camp Roberts, Cal., and Snead, the longest ball belter of the crowd.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

At a directors' meeting of the National Hockey League in New York yesterday, Mervyn (Red) Dutton was asked to remain president of the major ice circuit until the annual session next June after Lester Patrick of New York Rangers agreed to continue as managing director.

Dutton renewed his argument that he could not look after both the N.H.L. and his Calgary contracting business and asserted the League would have a new president next season. The directors also decided to delete the new rule providing a two-minute penalty for a player who fails to take a broken stick to the bench.

Reports showed a considerable increase in attendance at the first 38 scheduled games this season.

Pete Cooper, Gainesville, Fla., pro., forged to the front at the halfway mark in the $10,000 Miami open yesterday with a second-round 68 for a two-day total of 138. Fourteen others, including all the favorites, were bunched with four strokes of Cooper.

The Lockport, N.Y., Baseball Club, winners of the Pony League last season, has decided to break away from the Chicago Cubs, it was announced last night at Buffalo by President W. J. Schumacher.

Frank J. Shaughnessy, president of the International League, failed by one vote yesterday at the Buffalo, N.Y. baseball conference to be re-elected to the executive council of the minor loops. The successful candidate for the vacancy on the three-man board was President Clarence Rowland of the Pacific Coast circuit.

Umpire Walter Henline, who officiated in the International League last season, has been acquired by the National League, it was announced last night at New York by President Ford Frick.

TOO MANY DIVORCES

DURHAM, England — (CP). — Divorce petitions are so numerous that according to a judge hearing some of them here "very soon there will be more divorced people than married people in this country." So far this year more than 10,000 divorces have been granted.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Dec. 9 — (CP). — The boys in the know around the Naval Training Station at St. Hyacinthe, Que., are having a quiet chuckle these days over Navy's recent Grey Cup victory.

It seems that just before the game a bunch of daisies and a taunting telegram, purportedly from Manager Sammy Manson of Hamilton Wildcats, were displayed in the tars' dressing room. The telegram called the Sailors a "bunch of kids" and said they would take an awful trouncing from the 'Cats. That infuriated the bell bottom boys so much that they hung a 7-6 defeat on Hamilton and gave the Navy its first major sport championship.

After the game, it turned out that the whole thing was a gag. The daisies and the telegram were sent by canny Glen Brown, former Ohio State linesman who coached the combined Navy squad from H.M.C.S. St Hyacinthe and H.M.C.S. Donnaconna, Montreal.

Mementoes:

Gunner Ted Reeve, former Telegram sports writer, football star and coach, reports he is recovering rapidly from his elbow injury and has been promoted to dishwashing fatigue. At present he is languishing in a British military hospital after one of the longest sick parades on record. While with the Sportsmen's Battery in Holland, he went in to have his arm taped, and two weeks later landed in the hospital.

The moaner is sure the Army examiners confused his arm injuries or general wear and tear "with some of the mementoes left on our frame years and years ago by Messrs. Sprague, Boadway, and Timmis of Hamilton, or by the Coulter boys when we were afeudin' out Weston way."

Up or down:

Toronto fans shouldn't worry overly much about the hockey background of Leafs' goalie Frank McCool, says Bob (Calgary Herald) Mamini, since that was attended to by his seasoning with Calgary Juniors, Gonzaga University and Currie Army. Adds Mamini: "From Currie Army he went up to the N.H.L., but out this way they're apt to say that McCool went down to the National League."

Hey look, men:

Male softball players who perform before galleries of a scattered few dozen will squirm when they hear this. The Sunnyside Ladies' League in Toronto was so far up in the black ink—after a season of 120,000 paid admissions—that each of the five teams collected cheques running into four figures when a final division of surplus receipts was made.

Toronto Leafs In Top Shape

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Maple Leafs' manpower situation will be in its best shape in nearly three weeks when they take on Boston Bruins in tonight's only National Hockey League game.

Coach Hap Day announced that 15 men will be available to start a drive to regain league leadership from Montreal Canadiens. Lorne Carr, first line right winger, has practised twice this week and may see action tonight, while polished left winger Sweeney Schriner left hospital today after a leg injury kept him out since Nov. 18. He is not expected to play before the end of this month.

The reinforcements are well-timed for the Leafs, who have been hard put to keep in striking distance of the leaders since Schriner's injury.

Bruins, led by Dit Clapper while Art Ross attends a league meeting in New York, will parade the same squad that knocked off Toronto 5-4 last Sunday in Boston. They hold a 2-1 edge in the season's games with Leafs, having taken a previous 5-1 decision at home and a 7-2 beating in their first appearance in Toronto.

Tonight's game will be only the first half of a tough week-end assignment for the Bruins, who move to Detroit for a Sunday encounter with the fast-moving Red Wings. Jack Adams' men have been invincible for Boston this year, holding three easy triumphs in as many starts.

A pair of victories would find the Bruins nudging the Detroiters, one point out of second place, while defeat for Toronto coupled with a Red Wing triumph would create a second-place tie between those two clubs.

Chicago Black Hawks play Rangers at New York in the other Sunday game, which will throw light on the fifth-place competition. The New Yorkers currently hold a two-point margin.

Bon Jour Seeks $100,000 Purse

TORONTO, Dec. 9—Bon Jour, Charlie Turner's handicap star, winner of more than $86,000 this year, is on his way to California in quest of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

Bon Jour, with two stablemates Red Cin, and a maiden, Swing Shift, in charge of Trainer F. Hausman, is expected to reach the Golden State next Monday. Turner personally looks after the nominations of Bon Jour's races and he has named the gelding for five of the richest handicaps at the California track.

Providing the horse ships well he is scheduled to make his first start at Santa Anita, on New Year's Day in the $20,000 San Pasquale Handicap at a mile and a sixteenth. His four other nominations are: The San Antonio Handicap on Feb. 17, $20,000; Feb. 24, San Carlos Handicap, seven furlongs, $20,000; March 3, Santa Anita Handicap, $100,000, 1¼ miles and on March 13, San Juan Capastrana Handicap, 1½ miles, $50,000.

Turner expects to leave for Santa Anita in February and will remain until the close of the meeting. As yet he has not engaged a rider for Bon Jour. Douglas Dodson from Western Canada, who is under contract to the Calumet Stable, has ridden Bon Jour to victory and the boy, providing he can get to the track, is anxious to ride the Turner gelding. Jackie Westrope, a good money rider, has also made overtures to Turner for the stake mounts as has Nick Wall, a lightweight rider with two winning victories in the rich Santa Anita Handicap to his credit.

Player Deals Likely In New York

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sport Writer

BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 9 — (AP). — "Watch for some important player deals to be made in New York" was the tip today as the baseball caravan shoved off for the big league meetings, opening Monday, after the 43rd annual minor league convention ended without a single major trade.

The general feeling among the lobby loungers was that one or two big deals are well on the way to completion, waiting only for the New York session.

Figuring prominently in the rumors were Cleveland, the Chicago White Sox, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and the Boston Braves. Vice-president Roger Peckinpaugh and Manager Lou Boudreau of the Indians were in constant huddles with Manager Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox. Jeff Heath, Tribe outfielder, was believed to be the chief topic of discussion.

Dykes admitted that he is seeking a seasoned gardener while Boudreau said he is open to all proposals for his temperamental slugger as well for pitcher Jim Bagby, another problem child for the youthful pilot.

"I am not adverse to trading either Heath or Bagby," said Boudreau, "if we are offered satisfactory players in return. I have talked with other managers but nothing is definite."

The Dodgers and Brave appeared to be cooking up a deal, with Brooklyn reported eager to land Al Javery to help their faltering pitching staff and Boston needing an outfielder.

A trade involving outfielders Frank Kelleher of the Reds and Lou Novikoff of the Chicago Cubs was another possibility.

The National Association approved a full-time promotional department and a national umpire-advisor to act as counsellor to improve umpire standards. A proposal permitting the coast league to option young players to semi-pro leagues was withdrawn in the face of strong opposition.

Cornwall Team In 2nd Place

CORNWALL, Dec. 9. — (CP).— Cornwall Cookies swept into second place in the Interprovincial Hockey League last night following a 6-1 victory over Lachine Rapids. The Cookies hold a one-point edge over Lachine and Shawinigan Falls Cataracts who are tied for third place.

The Perron-Burr-Carragher line netted three of the Cornwall tallies, Andy Perron opening the scoring midway through the first frame. Before the period ended, Cornwall was leading 3-0 in goals by Deroche and Gravel. Lachine's only goal came in the second period when Morrow netted on assists from Boucher and Bourgie.

The Cornwall pace was slackened after the Lachine goal and the fourth goal for Cookies came 20 seconds from the end of the period when Burr tallied from Carragher's pass with Perron also figuring in the play.

Wide open hockey ruled for 15 minutes in the last period and Deroche drew his second goal of the game. This was followed by Bobby Carragher's tally on a pass from Burr.

Lanky Lee Oma Wins Over Mauriello

NEW YORK, Dec. 9—(AP)—Lanky, loose-jointed Lee Oma, Detroit heavyweight who has been knocked out 13 times since he started fighing in 1939, is the fistic toast of the town.

Last night, before a $63,266 crowd of 16,283, including champion Joe Louis, Oma danced, walked, jabbed and punched his way to a one-sided unanimous nod over Tami Mauriello of the Bronx, who last September knocked out the Detroiter in eight rounds. Oma weighed 186¾, Mauriello 194¾.

In the September fracas, Oma was sadly out of shape after taking the bout as a substitue on 48-hour notice. But last night, glimpsing heavy money if he got by Tami in the return scrap, he was as trim as a thoroughbred.

Oma, hands at his side and utterly relaxed, fought as if he were strolling through a park. His eyes were seldom on his foe as he kept circling to the right, pausing now and then to flick a stiff left to Mauriello's face and then follow with a right to the head.

In the tenth, when Mauriello swarmed in with a flurry of rights and lefts, Oma stepped back, crossed a right to the face, and Tami lost his mouthpiece and a tooth.

The referee gave Oma all 10 rounds, one judge gave him eight and the other six as the Detroit assured himself another lucrative Garden bout, this time with Joe Baski of Kulpmont, Pa., No. 1 among the duration heavies.

VOL. XC, No. 292 — SATURDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1944 — PRICE FOUR CENTS

BROTHERS IN FORCES—Three sons of James Crapp, 583 Chamberlain street, are serving in different branches of the armed forces. Pte. Elmer Crapp (Left), who went overseas in January, 1943, with the Tank Corps, is now serving as a cook in a convalescent hospital in England. O-Ptlmn. Crapp (Right), whose wife and son live in Lakefield, is now stationed in Newfoundland. A third brother, Flying Officer Ray Crapp, RCAF, is an instructor pilot in New Brunswick. Prior to enlisting he worked in Hamilton.

Main Street Topics

SELL SHORTHORNS

Shorthorn Breeders are planning a sale for February 15 at the farm of A. P. Donaldson, 6th Line of Otonabee.

ARRESTED IN TORONTO

Frank A. McLean has been arrested in Toronto at the request of local police and will be brought back here to stand trial on a charge of false pretences.

DOE NEAR PETERBOROUGH

Motorists driving between Scott's Corners and Whittington's Service Station Friday afternoon around 4.30 were startled when a doe and fawn jumped in front of oncoming traffic and raced across the highway, heading toward Cavan swamp. It was about five miles from the city.

TWO CARS DAMAGED

Cars owned by Aldridge Hunter, Gooderham, Ont., and Mrs. C. J Driscoll were damaged in a traffic accident on George street Friday. Hunter was driving south when the Driscoll car pulled out from the curb in front of Tamblyn's and the cars collided. Hunter's machine was damaged to the extent of $50 and the other automobile received $20 damage.

SPARKS FLYING

Another chimney fire was reported this morning, when firemen were called out at 7:39 to 420 Chambers street, the residence of Mrs. W. Butcher. No damage was done, but during the early morning darkness, a large number of sparks flung up from the chimney could be seen descending on George street. Another call an hour later was turned in for a chimney fire at 299 Townsend street home of J. Scott. There was no damage.

SCHOOL HOLIDAYS

Rural schools close for the Christmas vacation from Friday, December 22 to January 3, School Inspector Fred Smitheram told the Examiner today.

HYDRO POLE BROKEN

A truck driven by Russell Bannon and owned by Donald McKay skidded on the snow on Reid street, in swinging out to miss an approaching car and collided with a Hydro pole which was broken off.

REACHES DESTINATION

Sgt.-Pilot Clinton (Mick) Magee, 207 Murray street, has reached Miami, Florida, after hitch-hiking most of the way from Toronto. Sgt.-Pilot Bill Treleven, of Toronto, is accompanying the Peterborough flier. They graduated together recently as pilots, at Hagersville.

ON CAUTION SIGNAL

Peterborough traffic lights will be turned to the caution signal from 11 p.m. until 6 a.m. as soon as the Ontario Department of Highways gives assent to the proposal of the Board of Works which the council approved Tuesday. Members of the council have wished to facilitate night traffic and avoid delays. At the same time they are hoping that the proposed omission of red and also green lights will not encourage recklessness at the main intersections.

NO ADDITIONAL WORD

No further word has as yet been received by his mother, Mrs. J. Patte, Water street, on the condition of Captain Sam Patte who was recently reported wounded while serving in Italy. Captain Patte enlisted early in the war and won his commission from the ranks. He has served in the Sicilian and Italian campaigns and was home a year and half ago for one month.

COUNCIL'S GIFT

Cameron Clark of Smith, winner of the Ontario public speaking title at the convention of junior farmers in Toronto recently, will receive a tributary gift from the County Council as a recognition of his success particularly as a Peterborough county boy. The council instructed Mrs. J. A. Spurway, clerk and treasurer, to buy a suitable present to cost five dollars.

DINNER INTEREST

Farmers and citizens who wish to attend the Plowmen's dinner in January had better order their tickets and get them early. Enquiries are already coming in to Frank C. Paterson and to Vern Campbell and members of the committee. This is the first dinner affair the Peterborough Plowmen have attempted, and like everything else they do it is beginning to attract attention a month in advance. W. H. Porter, editor of the Farmers Advocate of London, Ont., will be the guest speaker. He cancelled an Essex appointment to accept the Peterborough invitation, and it is understood that he is going to have something special to say.

SALVAGE

Next Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 12th to 15th, in sections 1, 2, 3, 4. Clean out for Christmas. Paper and rags, both clean and soiled, rubber tires and tubes. Due to the overlapping of collections in the schools this will be the last collection by this committee.

Employee Faces Theft Count From Employer

Testifying in his own defence, Lawrence Wilfong told a General Sessions of the Peace Jury Friday afternoon before Judge S. L. Smoke, that he had "no intentions of deceiving" F. H. Johnston, his former employer, in the matter of turning in money received from customers for service work done. Defended by W. J. Arthur Fair, he is charged with theft of $16.55 from Clarence Weymark, of Havelock.

Mr. Johnston, proprietor of Johnston's Furniture and Electrical Sales and Service, where the accused was formerly employed as a refrigerator repairman, told the court earlier that Wilfong first denied he had collected the sum of money from Weymark, but after hesitating briefly accused said that he "might as well admit" that he took it.

Mr. Johnston said he then asked the accused what he intended to do about it. Wilfong answered that it could be taken out of his wages, Mr. Johnston told the court. However, Mr. Johnston said, he told Wilfong there was no wages, that he was through "right now."

Evidence revealed that Mr. Johnston's attention was drawn to the "discrepancy" by a visit Weymark paid the store some days after the work had been done on his refrigerator, in order to obtain a receipt for the amount paid, which he had not received previously. Mr. Johnston then looked at the work order, which indicated the job for Weymark had been cancelled. At the time of Weymark's trip to Peterborough to get a receipt, it was disclosed in evidence given by Mr. Johnston, the accused was working on a job in Warsaw. It was after his return that Johnston questioned him about the Havelock job, evidence revealed.

Under examination by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., Weymark, an employee of the C.P.R., testified that his refrigerator had gone out of commission, and as a result of a visit to the Johnston store, a repairman, the accused, came to Havelock and made the necessary repairs.

No Receipt

When he asked how much it would cost after the work had been done, Weymark said, the accused had taken a piece of paper or cardboard and done some figuring, and arrived at the sum of $16.85. However, Weymark said, he could not make the change, but he did have $16.65, and so the accused informed him it would be all right. Then, Weymark said, Wilfong was asked for a receipt. "I did not get one", the witness testified.

Evidence revealed Weymark had purchased the refrigerator second-hand, but received a form of guarantee with it, so that any costs for repairs would be refunded to him, when he presented a receipt. That was a factor which brought him from Havelock to Peterborough, for the visit some days later to the Johnston establishment.

"Did you ask for a receipt", asked Mr. Fair, in cross-examining the witness.

"Yes!"

"What was said?"

"Nothing".

Mr. Fair's cross-examination of the witness was interrupted when the paper or cardboard on which Wilfong had made the figuring could not be produced in court. After a recess of 10 minutes, the exhibit was obtained, and the trial resumed.

Mr. Fair asked if he had taken the cardboard to Johnston's when he came for the receipt.

"No!"

"But you told him you had it?"

"Yes".

Weymark admitted in later evidence that Johnston had not said exactly when the work would be done, but that he would look after it. Johnston had mentioned something that morning about going out of town witness affirmed.

"Did you come up to get the receipt voluntarily, or did someone send you up?"

"I came myself".

Tells His Story

Wilfong, brought to the box by Mr. Fair to testify in his own defence, told the jury no definite date had been made for the work on Weymark's refrigerator.

In giving testimony, he explained the instructions left with him by Johnston, who was leaving on a trip to Western Ontario. Orders had been that no out-of-town calls were to be accepted, because Johnston had desired that work on the cold storage plant go right ahead.

Evidence by Wilfong disclosed these order were received "both before and after", Weymark's visit to the store.

Accused told the jury he then made out a work order on the Weymark job, and told the customer he would call at the first opportunity. In view of the fact that the orders were not to make out-of-town calls, the accused said he had cancelled the work order, on the Havelock call.

Later in the same day, a call came in from "Mr. Williams in Hastings" which was important, Wilfong testified, and so he went there immediately. Because of the proximity to Havelock, he had decided to take the trip over and repair Weymark's refrigerator, he said. It was made clear by the witness at this point, that the work order was not with him, but at the office, with the cancelled mark on it.

It was after 6 o'clock in the evening when he returned to this city, he testified, and so he locked the truck, put it in its usual place, and went home. He told the jury he did not have access to the office after those hours.

From Weymark, he received the money on a Wednesday, he said, and admitted he had made a mistake by not changing the "cancelled" indications on the work order. Mr. Johnston was out of town at this time, witness indicated.

The accused's testimony indicated he had not turned the money in immediately, and that when he did turn it in, Mr. Johnston "didn't want it."

2 Peterboro Men On Hospital Ship

Two Peterborough men, Major Archie Hamilton of the S.D. and G. Highlanders and Sgt. Wilfred T. Jones, have arrived in Canada aboard a hospital ship, their families have been notified.

Major Hamilton, son of Mrs. Alice M. Hamilton, Auburn, was second-in-command of the Glengarrians and was reported wounded during the heavy fighting in France, July 8. Prior to enlisting he belonged to the Prince of Wales Rangers and was employed at G. Whitaker and Company.

Sgt. Wilfred Jones, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. (Soldier) Jones, 164 Gordon avenue, is a veteran of the Caen battle. A member of an anti-tank unit, the young soldier was dangerously ill during the summer following an amputation of his left leg. Prior to enlisting, he was employed at the Brinton Carpet Company.

Others returning are: Pte. E. J. Kemp, son of Mrs. Annie Kept, R.R. 2, Ida; Pte. W. J. Lachman, son of Mrs. Dorothy Stevens, R.R. 9, Peterborough; Gnr. L. T. Nichols, son of Mrs. Jennie Nichols, Bobcaygeon; and Gnr. H. A. Rowden, son of Mrs. Blanche Rowden, 67 Smith street, Port Hope.

Boy 14 Rescued When Ice Breaks

Prompt action by a soldier and civilian averted a drowning accident in Little Lake off Crescent Street this morning, when 14-year-old Bobby Castle, son of John L. Castle, 4 Gladstone Avenue, ventured out on the ice of the lake and broke through.

Pte. W. H. Brown, Camp Borden, and Gordon Parks, Crescent Street, saw the boy go through and hurried to the rescue.

Fortunately a punt was close at hand and the two made their way out to where the young lad was struggling in the water and pulled him out just in time.

Firemen and police were called to the scene

Ken Shadgett Heads Garage Operators

Ken Shadgett, of the Reuben Wilson garage, was voted president of the Peterborough Garage Operators' Association Friday evening, at its election of officers held at a dinner meeting in the Grand Hotel. Other officers elected were Mel Meatty, of Simcoe Sales and Service, secretary; Douglas Davis, of Davis and Charlton, in Lakefield, treasurer. Presentation of a beautiful pen and pencil set was made to Ev. Robinson, president of the Association during the 1944 term, by Roy Girven, of Hood and Cummings.

Mr. Robinson, as retiring president, will assume the office of vice-president for the 1945 term. Motion pictures were shown during the evening by Jerry Deline, of the McColl-Frontenac Company.

LIONS LEAD CLUBS

Lions News, a Lions club district publication lists the strength of the various service clubs across Canada and the figures show the Lions in top place. The standing is as follows: Lions—166 clubs, 7,600 members; Rotary—182 clubs, 7,200 members; Kiwanis—74 clubs, 5,500 members; Kinsmen—130 clubs, 4,500 members; Optimists—22 clubs, 850 members.

YMCA Carres On Work In China

Even during the war, the Young Men's Christian Association in China has continued to operate, carrying on its great work often under unbearable circumstances, declared J. Harkley Fowler, secretary of the Y.M.C.A.-World Service, who spoke to a large gathering of the Friday Night Supper Club, Friday evening.

Mr. Fowler's topic was "The Romance of World Service", and the speaker told the Club some of the high-lights of Y.M.C.A. work in foreign countries, including Brazil, Spain, Turkey, and other nations all over the globe.

In China, Mr. Fowler disclosed, eight new Y.M.C.A.'s have been formed even while the Japanese forces were and are advancing into their country. These new establishments are complete with swimming pools and gyms.

Introduced by G. H. Roper, secretary of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. the speaker received a warm vote of thanks, expressed very ably by Dave Potter.

During the evening, Jack Sackville, president, congratulated Ernest Lee, a fellow-member, on being selected "head boy" at P.C.V.S. Norm Allen outlined briefly the "Christmas Carol" service in the Collegiate Auditorium Sunday December 17, at 8:30 o'clock.

Dave Graham and Jim Shields were in charge of the music department and also led the sing-song. Dave Potter won the draw prize.

Lindsay Airman Is Reported Missing

Serving overseas with Canada's armed forces, two men from the Peterborough district have been reported casualties, according to an announcement from the Department of National Defence.

On active service, with the R.C.A.F. overseas, Sgt. De Willett Francis Brown, whose wife lives at 40 Elgin street Lindsay, has been reported missing after air operations.

Pte. John Albert Robinson, son of Mrs. Ina M. Robinson, of Bobcaygeon, was reported "slightly injured" while serving with an Eastern Ontario regiment.

R. G. Cottrell Served C.G.E. 50 Years

On December 10 Robert G. Cottrell will complete 50 years as an employee of the Canadian General Electric Company in Peterborough, according to the Canadian General Electric News It was on December 10, 1894 that Bob Cottrell entered the employ of the C.G.E. Those were the days when about 400 employees were engaged.

Mr. Cottrell has the longest service record of any employee in the Peterborough Works and he is still in good health and always on the job.

Born in Kent, England, Bob Cottrell came to Canada as a boy in 1882. He was employed in Montreal, Detroit, New York, Chicago and Toronto before coming to Peterborough. His first work was in the old Brass Department. About 1903 he became about fifty percent of the Production Department under Bill Brundrett. He later transferred to the Stores Department as general storekeeper and he has been in that department ever since.

As a boy in Montreal he played hockey, soccer and lacrosse. Active in fraternal circles this can be regarded as his main off-job activity. In the last war he went overseas with the 93rd Battalion. He resides at 351 McDonnel street and has one daughter, Mrs. R. S. Allin, whose husband, Acting Lt.-Col. Robert Allin is O.C. of Prince of Wales Rangers.

Preceptory Holds Annual Reunion

The annual re-union of Moore Preceptory Knights Templar was held in the Masonic Hall on Friday night with more than 100 in attendance. The Preceptory opened at five o'clock and following the business adjourned for dinner. At the dinner guests were present from Toronto, Belleville, Oshawa, Haileybury and Halifax Preceptories. x

Following the dinner tribute was paid to Most Eminent Supreme Grand Master Em. Kt. R. L. Dobbin who in the past year and a half, while he has been head of Grand Priory, has visited practically every preceptory in Canada and has seen a great increase in membership in the different preceptories. Rt. Eminent Kt. Fred G. Mann read a congratulatory address to the Supreme Grand Master and Bro. Kt. W. H. Lytle, the oldest member present of Moore Preceptory presented him with a set of club bags.

Other speakers were Eminent Kt. E. B. Fowler who proposed the toast to the absent fraters. Eminent Kt. Charles Ray who proposed the toast to the visitors which was replied to Rt. Eminent Kt. Charles E. Welles, provincial grand prior, Toronto district.

On behalf of St. John the Almoner Preceptory in Oshawa, Eminent Kt. W. R. Brown presented the Supreme Grand Master with a cake which will be used at the Christmas Observance Ceremonies.

Eminent Kt. P. E. Moore, the presiding preceptor, presided.

Following the dinner and toasts the members returned to the temple where the Supreme Grand Master was received on his official visit and a class of 20 candidates were given the Illustrious Order of the Red Cross.

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE

Officers of the Peterborough Red Cross Society have been informed that Mrs. C. S. McEachern, national chairman of the Women's War Work committee who has just returned from overseas will speak over Radio Station CBL immediately after the 5 o'clock news Sunday and deliver a message that will be of vital interest to all Red Cross workers.

DURHAM FEDERATION

Durham County Federation of Agriculture has 825 registered members, most of them in Clarke, Darlington and Manvers. That was the report of Garnet Rickard to Hon. T. L. Kennedy at a Federation dinner meeting Thursday night. Durham farmers organized long after the pathfinding Peterborough leaders in the movement, but the report of that meeting seems to indicate that Durham has made up for lost time. Cavan is listed as having not one member and Manvers only 29.

Students' Council At Collegiate Gives $200 To Christmas Fund

During the years that the Empire has been at death's grip with an enemy who sought to enslave and destroy its way of life, the young folk have had an opportunity for experience and service such as is not always their lot in the formative years, and it is a fairly sure criterion of what may be expected of them in the future, by the manner in which they have risen to the opportunities and occasion thus presented to them.

Great hopes for the future loom bright from the manner in which the young folk of today have risen to their opportunities during the past five years in this city and district, among whom may be counted the students who have been, and are now attending the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational Institute, their contribution being such as to assure them of a very prominent place in this respect.

To begin with, many young men have gone forth from its halls of learning before they even completed their course, feeling the urge and call of duty even before they had reached what is generally conceded as man's estate, to service in the forefront of battle for all that they held dear, some of whom have already paid the highest price, and will never return.

An Excellent Record

Then there has been the work done on the home front, the sum total of which has really reached magnificent proportions, when one considers they have already sold $61,000 in war savings stamps and certificates, made over 2,250 garments so badly needed in many branches of war endeavour, besides some 10,000 surgical dressings, so essential for use in many theatres of war activity. In addition they have raised $6,697 in cash, through efforts of a varying nature staged for the particular purpose of further assisting in the war effort.

This has been applied to a number of direct assists, each of an essential character in its own field of usefulness, among which the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund has shared in quite a substantial manner on a number of occasions.

This would seem an appropriate is transacted by their Students Council, this year headed by Miss time to mention that the business Muriel Greatrix as president, Jim Shields as vice-president, Norman Harris as secretary, and Nina Harrison as treasurer.

At the call of this students group, the secretary of the fund attended their assembly meeting on Friday, and was there presented with a cheque for $200 by Miss Greatrix for the special donation for Christmas now being raised to send over to carry some cheer to the boys and girls in Britain.

There was evident satisfaction to the students as a whole, and the occasion could hardly be allowed to pass without paying a well deserved tribute to principal C. S. Browne and the whole staff of teachers, whose influence undoubtedly plays a leading role in inspiration for good to the young folk under their charge.

To further enlarge on the activities of the young folk, another donation is also listed today from the pupils at Prince of Wales Public School presided over by Mr. Windrim as principal, who raised money by collecting and selling waste paper which enabled them to present $20 also for the Christmas Fund.

Then the Busy Bees and Victors class at Lily Lake Sunday School, through Margaret V. Ackison also find a place in today's list, with a donation of $9.15, an excellent showing for the small number that their group comprises, while St. Luke's Scout and Cub Auxiliary add another $5. to take their place in thus assisting this worthy cause to raise its objective.

The Range Pals have taken a prominent part in assisting this fund in the past, and while their numbers have been greatly reduced through the call of service to the cause elsewhere, those remaining have kept up the good work to a remarkable degree, evidence of which is seen in another gift of $10.

Officers Named For Baby Band

Mrs. R. Hendren was hostess for the Christmas meeting of the Baby Band mothers of Mark Street United Church, when the annual election of officers was conducted.

Mrs. H. Alton was re-elected as president, and the other members of her executive are as follows: first vice-president, Mrs. H. Green; recording-secretary, Mrs. C. R. DeNure; treasurer, Mrs. G. Payne; sewing and supply secretary, Mrs. K. Ferguson, Mrs. Hendren and Mrs. B. Huggins; social committee, Mrs. H. Allen, Mrs. W. Glover and Mrs. Elliott.

A decorated Christmas tree, laden with gifts from the mothers, gave a festive seasonal atmosphere, and following the Scripture reading and prayer by Mrs. Green, Mrs. E. W. Rowland was at the piano for a singsong of carols, and she and Miss Eleanor Logan sang a duet. Mrs. W. S. Ferguson read a meditation on "If He Had Not Come."

Mrs. K. Ferguson reported that eight complete layettes had been sent to the Presbyterial supply secretary, Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy, and Mrs. C. Logan, treasurer, said that $20 had been sent to the Presbyterial treasurer. She also reported that a small amount was still on hand in the treasury, with the gifts boxes still to be reported. Mrs. Rowland gave a reading, with all the mothers taking a small part, and the hostess and the social committee served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

DOROTHY DIX . . . . .

PARENT-CHILD CONFLICT

Home and Wise Counsel Salvation Of Rebellious Teen-Agers.

PROBABLY there will always be warfare between parents and children for theirs is the eternal conflict of two generations, with different ideals, different codes of conduct, different manners and habits, and when you add to this the yearning of the young for freedom and the determination of the old to hold them in bondage, it is not difficult to see why practically every home that has adolescent boys and girls in it is a dark and bloody battleground.

This has always been the case It will always be the case, for human nature doesn't change. When Father and Mother tell Johnny and Mamie that when they were 15 and 16 they preferred to spend their evenings with their dear parents, reading an improving book, to stepping out to a place of amusement, they are not telling the truth. They craved the society of youngsters of their own age. They wanted to play about and have fun even as their children do. And they fought with their mothers and fathers over calf-love affairs and the time to come home at night even as their Johnny and Mamie are waging their never-ending struggle with them.

The only difference is that in Grandma's and Grandpa's day the parents had the upper hand in the fight and now the children have it. For in the days when the heavy father really existed his children went in trembling fear of him. They submitted to his tyrannies and let him crush out all the joy of life for them until they were old enough to run away from home. And in particular were his daughters his abject slaves.

But now that is all changed. Parents lost the war when they could no longer hold the the threat of turning their children out of house and home over them, because there is nothing nowadays that the youngsters want so much as a good excuse for getting out on their own and being free of family discipline.

So the wise thing for modern fathers and mothers to do is to accept the inevitable and arrange a negotiated peace with their insurgent children. For, after all, the 15 and 16-year-olders are still children in many ways and still needing parental advice and guidance.

And, alas, in their rebellion against dictatorial parents they miss this. When 16-year-old girls are not permitted to have any boy friends, or go on any dates, or entertain boys in their own homes, or indulge in any of the amusements that belong to their time of life, they don't just retire from the world and meekly bow their heads to their cruel fate. They pick up boys on the street and meet them at the corner drug store. They go on wild parties, God knows where and God knows with whom.

The parents who think that they are protecting their girls nowadays by keeping them under lock and key are really throwing them out on the street to perish miserably in its pitfalls. For they are depriving them of the protection of a home and the counsel that would be their salvation, for even sixteen listens to advice when it is reasonable and sympathetic.

C.W.A.C. Officer Describes Life In Service

An outline of the valuable contribution to the war effort made by members of the C.W.A.C., and an idea of their life, work and recreation facilities, was given to the Local Council of Women Friday afternoon by Lieut. Muriel Robertson, recruiting officer for the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

Lieut. Robertson, in her opening remarks, paid tribute to the remarkable contribution made by Russian women, who were right in the firing lines, fighting for their country, but explained that the work the C.W.A.C.'s was doing was equally important, since they carried out exacting and difficult tasks competently, as well as releasing men for active duty. Stressing the continuing demand for women in the Army, she said that the Canadian Army in the field needed reinforcements, and women were needed to volunteer to serve so that a man could fight.

Lieut. Robertson said that the C.W.A.C. needed a minimum of 5,000 new recruits to complement the force of 17,000 now in service. She felt that if Canadian girls began to realize the urgent need for their services, that there would be no question of receiving sufficient recruits, and asked the support of the council and other women's organizations, to put the facts before young girls considering entering the service.

Turning to the life of a C.W.A.C., Lieut. Robertson gave a graphic account of her surroundings, work, and recreational facilities, with several personal touches which proved amusing as well as interesting to her audience. She explained that at first, the food allowances and diet were planned with the men's requirements in view. However, after most recruits gained weight, and 'suffered on a fruit juice diet imposed by their mothers when they went home on furlough," she said that trained dietitians were employed and salads and fruit juices, more suitable for women's diets, replaced the excess amounts.

Like Pin-ups

Continuing her description, the speaker said that C.W.A.C's lived in barracks, which were usually white and green huts, divided into cubicles, with three girls to a cubicle. Each section contained barracks boxes for personal belongings. "Another fact which should appeal to a great many girls is that they can decorate their cubicles in any manner they choose, and pin-ups are not confined exclusively to men," she laughed.

Recreation rooms, where the girls can entertain friends from seven until 10:30 in the evening, are equipped with piano, radio, gramaphone, a canteen, and a library and writing room, with maps and newspapers to help them keep up with the war news. One evening a week is set aside as a training period, when the girls hear a lecture by the camp padre, an officer, or a guest lecturer, she went on. The ABCA, Army Bureau of Current Affairs, where girls discuss subjects of interest, has also proved popular.

In conclusion, Lieut. Robertson explained that many C.W.A.C.'s had been in service since its inception, and were tiring under the strain of continued and exacting work. She asked that they be treated with all consideration, and their work appreciated. She said that she hoped that that women's auxiliaries could be counted on to back up the recruiting drive, and to encourage recruiting wherever possible.

Story of Carol

Mrs. W. G. McLaren told the story of the composing of one of the best-known and best-loved Christmas carols, "Silent Night." Mrs. R. Moore at the conclusion of the story, played a piano solo of a special arrangement of the melody. Mrs. W. Addyman briefly spoke on the Save the Children fund, announcing a tea for the fund, to be held at her home, 88 Lansdowne street, on December 15. Admission will be the donation of a suitable article or piece of material for the kits for child war victims.

A vote of thanks to Lieut. Robertson was moved by Mrs. D. A. Loomis, and Mrs. Morton expressed the Council's appreciation to Mrs. McLaren and Mrs. Moore.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, December 10

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a rather strange and intriguing one, in which spiritual, intellectual or romantic affairs overrule all other forms of activity. These however may have undertones of peculiar, curious and disturbing factors, with erratic, exotic or irregular aspects, wherein difficulties and dangers of a most unpredictable sort predominate. Be on guard against all. Shun all unique doings.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a strange and peculiar year in which undercurrents of the weird, unique or mysterious hold sway. Intimate contacts seems peculiarly intriguing, with strange dangers and menaces, unless most determined effort at normalcy be maintained. Keep alert to all manner of subtle, elusive and illicit contacts. Protect emotional lures.

A child born on this day may have a strange, subtle and intriguing temperament with charm, creative ability and possibly a lean to mysticism.

For Monday, December 11

Monday's astrological forcast is a rather conflicting one, in which the final outcome of entangling affairs depends upon the discretion, logic and rationalization with which menacing matters are managed. With prudence and restraints especially in purely personal contacts there might be for success.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a peculiar year in which strange or unorthodox experiences and adventures are indicated. With proper restraint, shrewdness, and the reasonable approach to subtle problems, particularly in intimate relations, there might be some moderate success and satisfaction.

A child born on this day might have some unique or spectacular creative talents, with personal charm of magnetism affecting its artistic career.

Y. W. C. A. Club Doings

The club sponsored their first social evening of the season for the soldiers on Monday. Games and dancing were under the direction of Jack Marshall and prizes were distributed for novelty dances. At the close of an enjoyable evening refreshments were served by members of the Gym Swim Club.

The meeting Thursday was presided over by Mrs. W. Dyer. Plans were made for a Christmas party to be held on December 21, and the girls agreed to do something in the form of Christmas cheer during Christmas week for the soldiers in the hospital at the Training Centre.

Recreation for the evening was carpet bowling and bingo and refreshments were served by Mrs. W. Dyer and Doris Royea.

The Thursday and Friday Supper Clubs will not meet this week of December 11 to 16 because of examinations. The Friday Night Supper Club will have supper December 22 to arrange final plans for the Christmas formal, December 29.

At the regular meeting of the Y.G.I.B.I. Club movies of a Ukrainian Christmas were shown. The next meeting, December 20, will be a Christmas party.

The Y.W.C.A. Girls' Council held its monthly meeting at which reports from the committees in charge of the hanging of the greens were heard. The new executive was appointed as follows:

President, Doris Royea; vice-president, Jean Carew; secretary, Marion Pogue; treasurer, Ida Taylor; supper convener, Marguerite Royea; telephone convener, Roberta Deyell; publicity convener, Betty Detcher.

A letter was read from Mrs. Ross, chairman of the Mrs. Winston Churchill Fund, thanking the council for its donation of $40.

GAY SLUMBER SONG—America's great fashion designers and manufacturers have as their aim to combine the beautiful with the practical, rather than rely on style and originality alone. That is why our sway over fashion's domain will hold and increase. When Henry Berger, famous for his pyjama creations and tommie coats, designed a sleep package, he turned out a combination of five parts that add up to nine different outfits when assembled in various ways. The sleep package, a wonderful gift, we think, is all in satin and here we show an aqua tommie coat over a white bra and yellow pyjama trousers. White shorts and a yellow pyjama top complete this colorful group.—By Alice Alden.

Baked Stuffed Apples

6 large tart red apples, 1 cup chopped bananas, 1 cup chopped cranberries, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, chopped nut meats, cream. Cut off the stem ends of the apples but do not peel them. Remove all core and part of the pulp, leaving the walls about three-fourths of an inch thick. Mix bananas, cranberries, sugar and cinnamon. Fill the cavities in the apples with this mixture, cover with chopped nuts and bake in the oven until tender. Serve cold with cream.

Knickerbocker Figs

½ lb figs, maraschino cherries, nut meats, ¼ cup orange juice, 3 tablespoons sugar, 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Stuff the figs with cherries and broken nut meats, allowing two cherries and five nut meats to each fig. Mix the orange juice, sugar, and lemon juice. Add figs, cover and simmer until figs are tender. Drain, cool and serve in individual cups.

Peanut Souffle

1 tablespoon fat, 6 tablespoons flour, ¾ cup peanut butter, 1½ teaspoons salt, few drops lemon juice, 1½ cups scalded milk, 4 eggs. Melt the fat and add the flour, peanut butter and seasoning. Cook for three minutes stirring constantly. Add scalded milk and continue cooking until the mixture reaches the boiling point. Remove from the stove and pour hot mixture over well beaten egg-yolks, mixing thoroughly. Cool and fold in egg whites that have been beaten until stiff and dry. When the ingredients are thoroughly combined, place in a baking dish, set in a pan of water in slow oven (375 degrees F) and bake 10 minutes. Serve at once.

WA Reorganizes Group System

HAVELOCK, Dec. 9—(ENS)—The three groups of the ladies' association of the United Church elected the following officers for 1945 at their quarterly meeting held in the school room of the church, with Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson presiding for the election:

President, Mrs. T. Eastwood; vice-president, Mrs. A. Anderson; secretary, Miss Minnie Williams; treasurer, Mrs. R. McCutcheon; committee for Christmas cheer boxes, Mrs. C. Spencer and Mrs. F. E. Rogers; auditors, Mrs. G. W. Chiles and Mrs. S. J. W. Clark; pianist, Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson; sick and bereavement committee, the group leaders, Mrs. H. Hubble and Mrs. H. Hoard.

Commencing with the beginning of the year it was decided to have only two groups in the organization, with Oak street as a dividing line. Mrs. Hubble leading the west group and Mrs. Hoard the east group.

Hear Reports

Mrs. T. J. Gall conducted the devotional exercises during which Mrs F. E. Rogers led in prayer. The president, Mrs. Easterbrook presided when reports were received from each group showing a total receipts of $424.20. Receipts from each group were as follows:

West, $155.98; centre, $141.50; east, $126.72.

A donation of $10 was voted to the Peterborough District War Victims fund and a donation of $10 to the allocation of the W.M.S.

Thirty members of the church comprising elderly people and shut-ins are on the list for Christmas cheer remembrance.

Mrs. J. Freeman closed the meeting with prayer after which a pot luck supper was served.

How to Make a Splendid Cough Syrup at Home

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make in your own kitchen. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble! (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.)

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16 ounce bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really splendid medicine for bad winter coughs. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you four times as much cough syrup for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is a very effective, dependable, quick-acting cough medicine for the whole family. Quickly, you feel its penetrating effect in the air passages. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You will be delighted with its quick effect in clearing up coughs.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a well known reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Elgin Red Cross Reviews Year

NORWOOD, Dec. 9—(ENS)—The Elgin Red Cross group met at the school, Wednesday and the eleven women present quilted one large and three small quilts. It was decided to close the work rooms for December and January, each member to be responsible for one finished quilt to be brought to the Valentine tea on February 14.

During the year members made and sold five quilts, quilted three for members of the group and sent 22 large quilts and 24 small to the Norwood branch. They also gave $10 to the local Red Cross and $70 to the I.O.D.E., $10 to the Christmas cheer for British children; $16 to the prisoner of war fund. There is a balance of $10.

Jury Reports Car Driver Is Not Guilty

"Not guilty", was the verdict returned by a General Sessions of the Peace Jury Friday afternoon before Judge S. L. Smoke, freeing 34-year-old Eugene Schlenkirt, Detroit, of a charge of reckless driving, arising from an accident on the Warsaw Road Labor Day, September 4, 1944. He was defended by J. F. Strickland, K.C.

The American-born war-worker was the driver of the automobile, a 1941 DeSoto sedan, which left the road and went into the ditch between 5:30 o'clock and 6 o'clock during the evening of Sept. 4, while travelling to the annual Douro fowl supper. Mrs. Felix Courneya lost her life in the accident.

Schlenkirt's wife attended every courtroom session during her husband's trial. When the "not guilty" verdict was pronounced by James Elliott, foreman of the jury, Mr. and Mrs. Schlenkirt both were obviously very happy.

Judge Smoke told the young American that after seeing the fair way in which the trial was conducted, he would undoubtably take back with him to his country, an excellent picture of justice in this land. The experience should not, he cautioned, prevent either Schlenkirt or any other Americans, from visiting Canada in the future.

The jury went into deliberation shortly before 1 o'clock, after Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., and Defence Counsel J. F. Strickland, K.C., had both addressed the jury. Following the addresses, Judge Smoke made the charge to the jury, and it heard his address.

The jury deliberated for short time until arrangements had been made to take the members out for lunch, after which, it resumed its deliberations.

Close to 3 o'clock, the jury re-entered the courtroom, and announced the verdict.

Mr. Schlenkirt expressed his thanks to everyone for the fair way in which evidence was presented.

Had More Than Nine Lives

couldn't, or wouldn't, get along with other cats, and when tired folks were awakened from their sleep by a feline brawl they usually could figure Tom was in it. Such things as upsetting garbage pails, killing young chicks and scratching up vegetable gardens were other of his antics which made neighbors decide that Tom must be eliminated.

Mr. Greenwill was selected for the job, a task he didn't relish. Although he realized what folks said about Tom was undoubtedly true, he had grown fond of the gray-striped feline, largely through pity for the tramp life the animal was forced to lead.

The problem which confronted Mr. Greenwill was how to destroy Tom in a humane way. The time for him to stop killing him with kindness was long past. After thinking over a lot of ways to get rid of a cat, he decided if the animal were tied in a stout burlap bag and given a sail down the gushing Severn Falls all would be over without much squabbling.

Cat in bag securely tied, and bag in hand, Mr. Greenwill arrived above the falls, which, incidentally develops a fair share of power for Orillia's municipally-operated hydro-electric system. A respectful and reverential chuck landed the bag in the swirling waters. Assisted by a couple of other folks from the community, Mr. Greenwill watched the thing bump down the jagged rocks from one crag to another. Finally it was out of sight in the great cascade below.

"Goodbye Tom"

"Well, goodbye Tom!" breathed the deputation, their relief perhaps being tainted by a suspicion that they possibly had been themselves to blame for some of the cat's mischief-making in that, with the exception of Mr. Greenwill, they had never shown the animal any kindness.

On the way back, when Mr. Greenwill spoke softly of the times he had fed the cat and how Tom got to following him around, the deputation began to feel sorry for what they had done. Perhaps they had never given Tom a chance. Oh, if they only had it to do all over again, things would be different.

Ambling over the hill, the deputation came to a spot near the river where the cat usually made his hide-out. There was something familiar on the doorstep of an old shed.

"What's that?" asked one of the members of the deputation.

"Tom," replied the astonished Mr. Greenwill.

Last time Tom was heard of he was still getting his fish from Mr. Greenwill.

300 Netherlands Children Entertained By R.C.A.F.

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press War Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN HOLLAND, Dec. 9 (CP Cable)—Saint Nicholas said himself it was the R.C.A.F. which made his visit possible.

As he stepped from a tiny R.C.A.F. Auster aircraft in a long red robe and mitred bishop's hat at a Canadian airfield, he said he had worried through the year as to how he could reach this mud-stranded Netherlands town by St. Nicholas Day.

The Great Day—the Netherlands equivalent of Christmas Day—was observed Wednesday and St. Nicholas arrived on time.

This party was given by Canadian airmen and some had tears in their eyes as they shepherded 300 Netherlands children into the gaily-decorated airmen's mess and heard the youngster's shouts of glee when they saw the food-laden tables.

For the first time in five years they could have as much to eat as they wanted of sandwiches, cake, candy, oranges and cocoa.

LAC Charles Tilling of Lindsay, Ont., who drove some of the children to the party in a truck, said: "They were so excited on the way I thought some of them would fall out of the truck."

Sqdn Ldr. Handley Perkins of St. Thomas, Ont., said the pilots donated oranges from their rations for the party and airmen had given up their ration of chocolate bars for two weeks so the youngsters could have fruit and candy.

The cooks economized on sugar and baking things as much as they could so that Sgt. Jack Helm of Kitchener, Ont., could make cakes and pies for the festivities.

During supper an R.C.A.F. orchestra played Christmas carols. Afterwards there were movies.

As the party's climax, the children received from St. Nicholas presents bought by the airmen.

'SAY WHEN'
Liquid Dispenser

For measuring and pouring liquids from bottles—when dispensing and serving liquids

Fits all standard size bottles and decanters. A light push of the plunger delivers an even amount of liquid every time. Seals bottle airtight and acts as a cork.

'Say When' Jiggers are in use in government laboratories and hospitals for dispensing liquids out of half and gallon size containers, where small quantities are desired and where it is difficult to pour from large bottles. In some instances 'Say When' dispensers are used dispensing diluted sulphuric and citric acids.

All materials used in 'Say When' dispensers are plastic, which will withstand various acids, including all types of fruit and food acids as well as liquors and wines.

Permits For Women

VANCOUVER, Dec. 9 — (CP) — Labor exit permits for women applying to go to the United States are being issued here under a new simplified procedure which does away with the necessity of applying to Ottawa for aproval of such permits, Horace Keetch, manager of the local Selective Service Employment Office, announced yesterday.

Labor exit permits for men still must be submitted to Ottawa for approval. Reason for relaxation of women's permits is that "we are getting a surplus of women and they are becoming less essential as a result," Keetch said.

Finish Three Quilts

CAVAN, Dec. 9—(ENS)—The "Pot Luck Quilting Club" of the seventh and eighth lines, Cavan, held their closing meeting for the year at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Sutton on Thursday. There were fifteen members present and the proceeds amounted to $4.25. The women completed three quilts to be handed in to the Red Cross at Millbrook. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. A. Coyte on January 18.

Cats Taboo

NEW YORK, Dec. 9—(AP).—The United Seamen's' Service, which plans to give cats as Christmas presents for ships' crews, has announced mousers will be taboo as gifts for tankers or ammunition vessels. The reason: Static electricity generated by cat fur may cause explosions.

Reeves Like Interest Of Harold Scott

"I wonder how long it has been since the member of the Legislature has stood before us and given us the report we have had to-day from Mr. Scott. After his election, he offered to meet our township councils. Ennismore council availed itself of this opportunity and we received prompt co-operation on a drainage matter."

That was Reeve James Gifford speaking at the Thursday afternoon session of the county council.

"We have a second matter that's in abeyance, but we are quite satisfied with it so far, and then we had a third question— the Bridge."

"And that's the well-known $64 question," said Warden Isaac Anderson.

"Men of experience in political affairs told me I was sticking my neck out and asking for trouble when I said that I was going to try to get around to calling on our municipal councils in the county," Mr. Scott said in the course of a short review of his experience this year.

"Maybe I am, but at least I can try to know the needs of our townships and villages, and see what we can do about it," Mr. Scott explained as his practical philosophy of the new job into which he was virtually thrust by circumstances hardly of his seeking.

New Departure

Reeve P. J. Mather, Otonabee, said the members generally would appreciate the fact that "Mr. Scott has been here on more than one occasion. Probably it is only the member's duty, but it hasn't been done in the past the way he is doing it."

Mr. Mather moved a resolution of appreciation to Mr. Scott for his interest and efforts, and the seconder was Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore. So, the records of the county council present testimony on the credit side of Harold Scott's present record as member of the Ontario Legislature. And his term is young yet.

Referring to his visit to Galway-Cavendish he said he got a grant for some work up there—"in fact it was a good grant, it must have been for even Dave Curtin (reeve) was satisfied."

Mr. Scott was making a sessional call on the council, and apparently he was enjoying it and the friendly atmosphere which he had enhanced these recent months. He mentioned having obtained oil instead of calcium chloride for the provincial highway system in this country, and then lightly touched on his relations with the various northern municipalities. The "gooseneck" turn on the northeast side of Lakefield would have been undertaken if the village's negotiations for property for the diversion had been completed. The work will be done in the spring by the department if the property preliminary has been arranged by then.

As for Ennismore's plea for a bridge, the reception by the Minister of Highways of the Peterborough deputation recently renewing that proposal has already been reported, a preface that at least left a favorable impression on all the members of that group representing city and county interests.

Resort Owner Dies After Brief Illness

HAVELOCK, Dec. 9 (ENS)—The township of Belmont lost a life-long resident on Friday in the passing of Ezra Sampson King, 58, at his home at Belmont Lake after an illness of five weeks with rheumatic fever.

Born in Belmont township, Mr. King was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Noah King and was widely known among tourists of Canada and the U.S.A. He was a successful farmer and in addition conducted a tourist resort during the summer months

He was a member of the United Church, the Royal Black Preceptory No. 946 and Havelock L.O.L. No. 326.

Besides his widow he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ray Forbes (Ila) of Belmont Lake and Lois at home. Three brothers, John, Horace and Albert and one sister Mrs. James H. Toms, all of Belmont township, also survive. Mr. King's only son, Lloyd, died on Christmas Day last year as the result of a shooting accident.

The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon, under the auspices of the Royal Black Preceptory No. 946, the service being at the family residence, Belmont Lake, conducted by Rev. E. E. Pugsley of Norwood. Interment will be made in Maple Grove cemetery.

CO-OPERATIVE FISHING

COLOMBO — (CP). — With a view to bringing together all co-operative fishing societies in Ceylon and thus ensuring an equitable distribution of fish a co-operative fishing federation is being established. If the societies supply the fish and market it through the federation all profits will go to the producers.

ALLIED MORTAR CREWS BLAST AT NAZI ATTACK—This dramatic scene made during a German counter-attack on Hoven, shows Yank motor crews firing at Nazi tanks. The Americans entered the town after a heavy artillery barrage wrecked most of the buildings and forced the Germans to withdraw.

Neighbours Find Stroke Victim

HAVELOCK, Dec. 9 — (ENS).—John Huston, 75, a lifelong resident of Belmont Township, and who has resided on Concession Street in the village for the past 15 years, passed away on Thursday afternoon four hours after being found by neighbors, suffering from a stroke.

G. Rutherford, dairyman, calling with the milk, noticed that several bottles had not been taken in, surmised that something must be wrong with Mr. Huston, since he lived alone. He called the neighbors, and on gaining an entry into the house found Mr. Huston helpless but still able to talk. It is not known how long he lay in that condition, but it is thought to have been two or three days.

A doctor was called and he was removed to the Cummings Nursing Home, where he passed away.

Mr. Huston was a son of the late William Huston and Rebecca Johnson and as long as health permitted he followed the occupation of market gardener.

Surviving are four sisters, Mrs. W. Danard (Nell) in British Columbia, Mrs William McMillan (Mary) of Gerald, Sask., Mrs. Clayton Wood (Margaret) of Brantford, and Mrs. William Barrons of Stratford.

Reaches Limit

BRANTFORD, Dec. 9 — (CP).—When Acting Fire Chief George Branmer found a bronze statue in flames, he felt that Brantford had reached the limit in Christmas decorations. Called to a fire at Bell Memorial here, he found that someone had poured gasoline in the loose folds of the bronze figure's toga and had put a colored candle there. The candle had burned down, igniting the liquid.

British Gaining Steadily In Burma

KANDY, Ceylon, Dec. 9 — (CP).—British patrols pressing south along the main north-south Burma railway have reached the station of Naba, 160 airline miles north of Mandalay, without meeting any Japanese, Allied Headquarters announced to-day.

The station is approximately half a mile north of the town. The Japanese defence in this area had been based at now-captured Pinwe, seven miles north of Naba.

The advance down the railway was part of a four-pronged Allied offensive aimed at driving the Japanese out of all North Burma. The offensive was moving along a 100-mile front east of the Chindwin River.

Board Opposes Terror Programs

TORONTO, Dec. 9 (CP)—Action by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to exclude "terror tales and objectionable thrillers" from all Canadian radio station programs was urged in a motion carried last night by Toronto Board of Education.

The motion followed reading of a letter from Dr. Augustin Frigon, general manager of the CBC, acknowledging receipt of a copy of a previous Board resolution asking the CBC to prevent radio stations from broadcasting dramas of murder and other criminal and unwholesome activities. Dr. Frigon replied that copies of the resolution had been sent to all Canadian radio stations and that replies indicated full co-operation

13 Jap Admirals Reported Dead By Japanese

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—(AP).—Deaths of 13 Japanese Admirals were announced to-day by Japanese headquarters at the Yokosuka naval station.

Vice-Admiral Hideo Yano, former chief of the navy press station, who last Oct. 4 himself announced the deaths of seven other admirals, was in the list.

The Federal Communications Commission recorded the Tokyo broadcast.

Domei agency identified the other dead as:

Vice-Admirals Takehisa Tsujimura, Hideo Yano, Yasunoshin Ito and Ichimatsu Takahashi; Rear Admirals Senzaburo Tonomuta, Rinzo Kurosaki, Kakuo Kishigawa, Saburo Ashina, Migi Horiuchi, Shigeri Takeshita, Iwao Oka and Masayasu Tsuji, and Surgeon Rear Admiral Yokichi Odajima.

The fact that Yokosuka, which covers the coasts off Tokyo, Aomori, Iwate, Miyagi, Fukushima, Karafuto and Hokkaido made announcement indicated the Admirals were operating out of that largest enemy home naval base. It is believed they were killed in the Philippines campaign.

Brothers Missing

CHATHAM, Dec. 9 — (CP) — Mr and Mrs. Wayne Jessop of Chatham Township have received word that their two sons, Wayne 19 and George 19, are reported missing in action. Both members of the Canadian Merchant Marine, the two boys were on the same ship —Wayne as fifth engineer and George as "donkey man."

DIED

KING, Ezra Sampson—At his late residence at Belmont Lake, on Friday, December 8th, 1944 Ezra Sampson King, in his 59th year, beloved husband of Mary Ethel Ashby, and loving father of Mrs. Ray Forbes (Ila) and Lois King. Funeral service from the family residence at Belmont Lake on Monday, December 11th, at 2 p.m. Interment in Maple Grove Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

HALCROW—In memory of Mrs. Margaret Halcrow, who passed away December 9th, 1943.

Sleep on, dear good mother, it has been long years
Since you left our hearts filled with sadness and tears;
Yours was a heart that was blithesome and gay,
Scattering sunshine all along the way;
You know how we loved you, and yes, love you yet,
Though God took you from us we cannot forget.

—Always remembered by son Lawrence, and daughter-in-law.

VARCOE—In fond and loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. John Varcoe of Campbellford, who passed away December 10th, 1943.

Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days,
Sincere and true in her heart and mind,
Beautiful memories she left behind.

—Ever remembered by husband and family.

HALCROW—In loving memory of our dear mother, who passed away December 9th, 1943.

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear mother
That we do not think of you.

—Lovingly remembered by her son Roland and daughter, Mrs. Ward and family.

HALCROW—In loving memory of our dear mother, who passed away December 9th, 1943.

Peaceful be thy rest dear mother
It is sweet to breathe thy name
In life we loved you dearly
In death we do the same.

—Lovingly remembered by her son Ernest and daughter-in-law Olive.

BRACKENRIDGE—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Jane Brackenridge, who left us December 9th, 1943.

"Loved dearly in life and living yet,
In the hearts of those who never forget."

—Lovingly remembered by husband and family.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Robert Cleary and family of Hastings, wish to thank His Excellency, Most Reverend J. R. MacDonald, the priests, the sisters at St. Joseph's Hospital and all their friends for many acts of kindness during their recent bereavement.

We the family of the late Patrick Coursey, Sr., desire to express our sincerest gratitude for the innumerable courtesies extended us by the clergy of Sacred Heart Church, the attending doctor, Canada Packers, Canadian Raybestos, Canadian General Electric, Peterborough Police Department, and all friends and neighbours who in any manner assisted in our hour of need with the passing of a loving father. # Apsley Gives 192 Donations Storms Can't Keep Donors Home

Apsley, remembering that many of its men have been and are still serving in the front lines in Europe, is conscientious in keeping up its attendance at the Peterborough Red Cross Blood Donors Clinic. For two years, during even the stormiest winter nights, they have made the 80-mile trip uncomplainingly just to contribute their share of plasma to the soldiers overseas.

There are between 70 and 75 names on the Apsley Honor Roll, and the people in that northern sector have given 192 blood donations. The population for Apsley and bordering districts who make up the donor quota, numbers 300. Sometimes a large group comes by bus, other times three or four will make the long trip by car, but every week Apsley donors endeavor to have their names on the list for attending.

Mrs. T. H. Lean, president of the Red Cross group there, has given her fourth donation. During the last war, she trained at the Bristol General Hospital in England and she worked in a large wing where they handled the wounded as they were brought over from the trenches of France. This hospital has now been flattened by bombs, but the things that could be salvaged have been transferred to the country, where the staff is carrying on. Mrs. Lean came to Canada in 1925 and she nursed in Red Cross outposts until 1931 and in the Wilberforce, Whitby and Apsley areas.

Mrs. Donald Newberry, secretary of the Apsley Red Cross, is also interested in the donor work. She too has made her fourth donation and gives a good deal of time, along with Mrs. Lean, helping to sign up blood donors. Mrs. James Downing, vice-president, is another active member in behalf of this work.

Donors on Monday were:

Employee Faces

Wilfong told the court Johnston had said: "I'm just satisfied I've got something on you. You won't start up a business in this city". This conversation took place, accused said, on the Tuesday following the Wednesday Weymark had paid him the $16.65.

Previously Mr. Fair cross-examined Mr. Johnston. He asked Johnston if he had heard rumors that Wilfong intended giving up his job with him.

"Definitely not, Mr. Fair."

"Had there been conversation about him leaving you?"

"No."

Mr. Fair asked if he, (Johnston) had installed second-hand equipment instead of new equipment.

"Never."

When the defence counsel asked specifically about "Hamilton's", Johnston told the court accused had told Hamilton's it was second hand.

Mr. Johnston testified the accused had never made any complaint about salary to him, and that he earned when employed there over $2,100 a year. Wilfong was employed there since July, 1941.

The accused, Johnston admitted, is a good man in business, "when he wants to be". Johnston said further he holds no malice against anyone who goes into business. Johnston told the court he did not care about the money, but there should be a stop to "stealing from everybody".

Wilfong, with references to a number of business documents entered as exhibits which were termed by Mr. McElderry as "discrepancies", told the court he didn't know what "it was all about." Some mistakes might have been made, "either by me or the office."

Mr. Fair suggested that perhaps a mistake had been made in the office, and Johnston replied, "I don't see how", and explained the careful methods of records which is maintained.

Mr. McElderry cross-examined the accused on various incidents suggested by the exhibits, which concerned chiefly money allegedly received by the accused but not turned in to the office in its entirety.

Both Mr. McElderry and Mr. Fair completed their cases Friday afternoon, but the addresses to the jury will be heard Saturday morning.

IF YOU feel like upbraiding your partner for some defensive play or discard, which you consider to be the mistake that gave the declarer his contract, stop and think first. Or, better still, ask a few questions during the post-mortem. Maybe the declarer was working on a plan which included alternatives, so that if your partner did one thing the declarer could follow one effective method and if your partner did what you wanted him to do the declarer could have fixed him by a different procedure.

West led his heart 5 to the Q, and the declarer surveyed the difficulty of ever getting into his own hand. He put down the three top spades to be ready to cash his own if he ever got in, then tried two top clubs in the remote hope that the Q might drop. He had still another minority chance—try to find the diamond Q doubleton by playing the K and A, but that, too, failed when he played the first one.

That gave him only eight tricks. Where, oh, where, could he find the ninth? He had, however, carefully watched all discards, because he had an idea in mind which might work. He noted that on the second spade and the one diamond West had discarded two clubs, and he was marked with only clubs and hearts. So North laid down the second diamond top, and watched West squirm.

When West put on the club 10, declarer threw him in with the club Q. Having only hearts left, West scored the A, K and 10, then had to lead the 4 to the 9 to give South the game trick.

East began to censure West for the club discard, but then South showed what he would have done if West instead had put on the heart 4. He would have thrown West in with the heart J. West could have taken then the heart A, K and 10, plus the club Q, but would have had to return the club 10 to the dummy's J for the game trick. South had West, no matter what he did.

Liberals Have Support of CCF

Byq JACK WILLIAMS,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Dec. 9—(CP)—Charges by Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative house leader, of collaboration between the C. C. F. party and the Liberals and denials by members of those groups brought a spirited debate in the last hours of the special commons sitting on overseas reinforcements.

The subject came up after Prime Minister Mackenzie King had accepted a C. C. F. amendment to his confidence motion which called for support of the government in the war effort.

Mr. Graydon said the amendment went far toward showing the relative positions of the government party and the C C F.

"I have seen for some considerable time a mutual erasing of bemaracations and delineations between the government and the C. C. F. in their policies and movements," said Mr. Graydon.

"It may seem strange to some that I should make the charge that the government party and the C. C. F. party have finally got under the same pair of sheets in the same bed at the same time. It seems to me there is considerable jutification for that contention."

Mr. Graydon said M. J. Coldwell, C. C. F. leader, on his return from overseas in October had given the impression all was well with reinforcements and in doing this was "trying to put a little power behind the government wheel again."

The Final Touch.

The amendment to the government's motion was "the crowning demonstration" of the relationship between the parties.

"Here is the great party to my left (the C. C. F.) trying to oppose the government by moving an amendment, and the Prime Minister holds out his arms and catches the ball and says 'it is mine too,'" Mr. Graydon said.

"No wonder we find it more and and more difficult to see the difference between these two parties."

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) spoke for his party in reply to Mr. Graydon.

"I take second place to none, not even the leader of the opposition (Mr. Graydon) in my thorough distatse of the policies of the Liberal government," he said. "I take second place to none in my determination to do everything I can to defeat them at the next election. I am sick and tired of the myth that there is only one man in this country who can be the Prime Minister of Canada."

Mr. Graydon need have no fears about a coalition between the C. C. F. and Liberal parties, but such a policy did not deflect the C. C. F. from a determination to do everything possible to avoid continually arousing the country and inflaming sectional interests and prejudices.

Reprimanded.

Mr. King who spoke in closing the debate, reprimanded Mr. Graydon for a speech which had to do "almost exclusively with matters of party politics."

"He sought to have this house believe that there was some sort of agreement or understanding between the C. C. F. party and the Liberal party whereby we are going to work together to defeat the tory party," said the Prime Minister.

"The Tory party is defeated beyond all shadow of a doubt. We are not concerning ourselves about winning the war."

Mr. King said he had made it clear in introducing the motion that he was not seeking support of the government's policies generally and Mr. Coldwell had made it clear that he did not support all of the government's policies."

T. Eaton Company Store Head Foresees Canada In Greater Role

TORONTO, Dec. 9—A nation of far greater population, with untold opportunities for development of industry and commerce as long as the spirit of adventure continues to inspire Canadians as it has in the past, was foreseen today by John David Eaton, President of the T. Eaton Company Limited, as it entered its 76th year of progress.

Greater population was seen by Mr. Eaton as one of the major needs of Canada, both to provide greater markets for the things Canadians will produce and to develop the latent wealth of the country. Proven in peace as one of the greatest productive countries of the world, and proven in war as a nation of purpose and power, he believed that Canada has much to offer other peoples who are seeking the ideals which Canada has won during an era in which the right of every man to carve himself his own niche had become established as a principle of progress.

Honesty and fairness were described by Mr. Eaton as the factors that had created the vast Eaton organization from its humble birth 75 years ago in a tiny Toronto store. It has proven the finest foundation on which anything can be established.

Mr. Eaton was elected to the presidency of the company in December, 1942, at the same age as his grandfather was when the latter established the business, and at an age just two years older than his father when the latter was elected president in 1907. Like other male members of the Eaton family for the last two generations, he went straight from school into the store.

Today, with the company employing about 33,000 people, with big department stores in many Canadian cities.

As to postwar trade, Mr. Eaton again points to population. Canada has proven her productive abilities. But to export to other nations he says, Canada must accept products of those other nations in payment. A great population would aid in that objective. But most particularly he puts it this way: "More people flowing into Canada means more mouths to feed, more houses to build, more tools to make, more trains to operate, more clothing, more cars, more everything. As we increase in population we are going ahead, we are not sliding back. As a farmer sells more of his products, he puts money into the pockets of men who make shoes, saws, buttons, a million other things."

"The 20th century has been said to belong to Canada," says John David Eaton. "We should realize that more than half that century still lies before us."

Lt.-Gen. Foulkes Heads Corps

OTTAWA, Dec. 9 — (CP) — Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, 41, of London, Ont., has succeeded Maj.-General E. L. M. (Tommy) Burns, 46, of Ottawa and Westmount, Que. as Commander of the 1st Canadian Corps in Italy, Defence Headquarters announced this morning.

Gen. Burns relinquishes the acting rank of Lieut.-General he held while Corps Commander and becomes General Officer Commanding Canadian Lines of Communication and Officer-in-Charge of Canadian Section, 1st Echelon, British 21st Army Group in North-west Europe.

The announcement was the latest development in a series of high command shifts and appointments. Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, who had advised Defence Headquarters on reinforcement needs, recently went on leave pending retirement and Maj.-Gen. P. J. Montague was promoted to the acting rank of Lieutenant-General and appointed to succeed him as Chief of Staff at Canadian Military Headquarters, London.

Gen. Foulkes was a divisional Commander in France until recently when he was promoted to the acting rank of Lieutenant-General, but nothing was said then of the post he would take.

An Englishman by birth, General Foulkes became a Canadian Permanent Force officer in 1926. He went overseas as a Brigade Major in the 1st Division in 1939, returned to Canada in 1940 as a General Staff officer with another division which he accompanied to Britain 1941.

Successively, he became commander of an infantry battalion, an infantry brigade in the 1st Division, a General Staff brigadier, and finally last January became a Divisional Commander. He was leading his division in North-west Europe with the 1st Army when he was given his new appointment.

St. Andrew's WA Reviews Year

MILLBROOK, Dec. 9—(ENS)—Miss Maud Finnimore was hostess for the December meeting of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's church, which was held at her home, King street, on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. A. L. Sisco had charge of the opening devotions, the theme being "Christ, a Time of Great Joy." Mrs. L. Wilson read the Christmas story from Luke, John, and Matthew, and Mrs. P. Stinson presided at the piano.

The secretary reported 97 cents in the mile of coppers, and $2.60 in fees, at the November gathering, and for her annual report told of nine regular and one special, meetings, with an average attendance of 16; total paid up membership, 42.

The treasurer's report included starting the year with a balance of $231.69; raised during the year, $621.63; expenditures $220.02, included in this being $100 to the church thankoffering; taxes paid on the parsonage, $89.05; $27 for shrubs for the front of the church; and $10 toward the boxes for the boys and girls from St. Andrew's overseas. Victory Bond of $300 had been purchased in the 7th loan. The amount raised was the largest of any year during Rev. A. L. Sisco's ten-year pastorate, except in 1938 when the figures were $631.77, but that year a fowl supper had been held, and in the current year a total to date of $171.55 has been voluntarily subscribed in lieu of the supper.

The minister, Rev. Mr. Sisco, took charge for the election of officers, the slate for 1945 being:

President, Mrs. Percy I. Bentley; vice-presidents, Mrs. P. Stinson, Mrs. M. R. Edmunds, and Mrs. H. D. Bigelow; treasurer, Mrs. J. McKnight; secretary, Miss Josie Sutton; the pianist is to be appointed, as well as committees and conveners by the executive at its next meeting. Mrs. Edmunds' invitation to hold the January meeting at her home was accepted, and the hostess, assisted by the committee in charge, served lunch during the social hour.

FIFTH ARMY CHIEF—A recent photo made when he was commander of the Third Division, U.S. 5th Army, of Lieut.-Gen. Lucian K. Truscott, whose appointment as commanser of the 5th Army is announced officially. Truscott succeeds Lieut.-Gen. Mark Clark, who was recently named deputy-supreme commander in the Mediterranean theatre.

Three Soldiers To Be Decorated

Three men from Peterborough district have been decorated it was announced to-day, although no citation covering their awards has been released. They include Lt.-Col. Gordon D. Wotherspoon, D.S.O., E.D., formerly of Port Hope; Acting Lt.-Col. Stephen MacLeod Lett, D.S.O., formerly of Cobourg and Acting Corporal Thomas Davis, M.M., Port Hope.

The Distinguished Service Order has been awarded Lt.-Col. Wotherspoon, of the Canadian Armoured Corps, who was born in Port Hope. A barrister-at-law in Toronto, he was a member of the Governor General's Horse Guards (NPAM) from 1936 until his appointment in the Active Army in July, 1940, with the rank of captain. He went overseas in September 1941 and was promoted to his present rank in April 1943. Lt.-Col. Wotherspoon was awarded the Efficiency Decoration in 1944 and his wife and two sons are living in Mont Rolland, Que.

Acting Lt.-Col. Stephen MacLeod Lett of th Canadian Infantry Corps was born in Cobourg, winner of the Distinguished Service Order. A contractor in civil life, he belonged to the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada (NPAM) in Toronto, prior to enlisting in July, 1940, as a lieutenant. He went overseas the first time in July, 1940, and returned in November, but went back to Great Britain in July, 1941. He attained his present rank in July and a brother lives at Point Claire, Que.

The Military Medal has been given to Acting Corporal Thomas Richard Davis, who worked in Port Hope prior to enlisting in August 1940. Born in Hope township, he went overseas with an infantry unit in September 1942. His wife, Mrs. Dorothy Davis, is now living in Toronto.

INJURED OVERSEAS — Mrs. John Victor, 507 Gilchrist street, has received word that her husband, Battery Quartermaster-Sgt. John Victor, had been injured in a car accident in Holland where he is fighting with an ant-tank unit. The message said that BQMS Victor is making a rapid recovery from his injuries and will soon be able to rejoin his unit. A veteran of the First Great War, the injured non-com enlisted early in this conflict with the anti-tank unit organized by Major J. A. Harstone.

Wife Battles To Free Spouse

MONTREAL, Dec. 9 — (CP) Hearing of a petition by Mrs. Garnet Napier Coyle of Perth, Ont., for a write of habeas corpus to obtain the release of her husband from Verdun Protestant Hospital was adjourned yesterday by Mr. Justice Pierre Casgrain until Monday after Dr. George Reed, assistant medical superintendent at the hospital, had testified that Mrs. Coyle had not been permitted to see her husband at the mental institution.

Dr. Reed said that Coyle had been admitted Nov. 12 on application of his sister, Bernice Coyle. Hospital rules state that no person may visit a patient except when authorized to do so by the party signing the application. Mrs. Coyle had been instructed to get permission to see her husband from Miss Coyle.

Coyle had been a patient at the hospital from October 1941, when he had entered the institution voluntarily, to December, 1942, Dr. Reed said. He then was suffering from alcoholism. Four days after he was admitted Nov. 12, he was certified as a paranoid type (mental derangement marked by delusions of grandeur).

Pending before the court is an opposition by Mrs. Coyle to a Superior Court order, based on a petition by Coyle's mother, that a family council be called to interdict Coyle for insanity and that a curator be appointed for his estate and that the curator be authorized to enter annulment proceedings on his marriage to Marie Loretta Lessard, which took place at Perth, Ont., April 17, 1944.

Changing Winter Weather Affects the Type of Service Your Car or Truck Needs

Obtain a free copy of the "Automobile User's Guide"—a booklet which will prove a valuable aid in maintaining the efficiency of your car or truck—by writing to a General Motors dealer in your Community.

CHANGEABLE TEMPERATURE and driving conditions affect the service needs of your vehicle during the winter.

For example—extreme cold and slush containing road chemicals attack your chassis lubricant.

—excessive use of the choke and low-temperature engine operation shorten engine oil life.

—hard starting and frequent use of the heater and defroster throw extra loads on the battery and electrical system.

—weather variations may affect the strength of your anti-freeze.

—rutty, frozen roads affect steering and alignment.

Your General Motors Dealer knows these things. He knows that in Winter

EVERY CAR AND TRUCK NEEDS INDIVIDUAL CARE

His skilled service-men have the "know-how" experience to provide the correct service for every motor vehicle of every make—under all winter driving conditions.

Would Retain Research Staff

TORONTO, Dec. 11—(CP).—Dr. C. J. Mackengie, president of the National Research Council, said today he believed it a "first responsibility" of government not to disband, even temporarily, the scientific corps of more than 1,600 workers built up in Canada during the war. In an address prepared for delivery before the Toronto Canadian Club and entitled "Research—A National Necessity," Dr. Mackenzie said Canada must become a contributor to scientific research, and added:

"I submit that no country can become really healthy scientifically if it is living on scientific blood transfusions, nor is an industry, operating in a field of applied science, likely to remain virile and progressive over a long term of years if its staff and management are cut off from intimate contact with research, from which the life blood of industry flows."

Extensive laboratories cannot be built up without good scientists, and Canada will not be able to build up a large corps of good scientists until she provides them with laboratory jobs and facilities. Time is the essence of success in connection with plans for the further extension of research in Canada.

"...It is generally acknowledged that in the immediate post-war years there will be a serious shortage of competent research men as, during the war years, the university output has been cut everywhere to a mere trickle. We, as Canadians, do not need to be told what may happen to our own small supply of first class scientists if our neighbors, with their wealth and high salary schedules, find themselves short of such workers...."

Butter Ration Cut One Ounce

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 —(CP)—The Prices Board announced today that the butter ration is being reduced from seven ounces a week to about six ounces a person a week on Jan. 1, 1945.

The Board said the step is being taken to adjust consumption to supplies during the winter months of low production.

The reduction will be made effective by making butter ration coupons valid one at a time instead of in pairs and by having three of these coupons become good each month instead of four.

To encourage householders to spread the reduced ration over the period of shortage, the butter coupons will remain valid until declared invalid as now is the case with sugar and preserves coupons.

Officials said that butter production has been insufficient to keep pace with demand even under the rationing system which first imposed a limit of eight ounces a person a week. The eight-ounce ration was reduced to seven ounces to conserve supplies this year.

Labor Stays With Churchill To Fight Tories After War

LONDON, Dec. 11—(CP).—The Labor Party voted today to stay in Prime Minister Churchill's coalition government until the war is won but served notice it would fight the next general election independently. While speakers criticized the "Toryism" of the Conservatives led by Mr. Churchill, the Labor Party's annual conference decided to go along with the coalition "for the purpose of winning the war."

Arthur Greenwood, chairman of the executive committee, asserted that Labor's decision to join an all-party government in 1940 was "right then and remains right at this moment."

While warning that it would be a "grave mistake" if Labor were forced to withdraw from the government at this time with much fighting still ahead, Mr. Greenwood said:

"The attitude of the Conservative Party makes it quite clear that they are not satisfied wih the activities of Labor Ministers because they always specially single them out for attack."

Labor is Britain's strongest minority faction and its decision to remain in the government assures continuance of the coalition.

The Labor conference opened amid tension created by a sharp division over Britan's policy concerning Greece, and a movement was under way to draft a resolution defining the party's attitude toward all liberated countries.

Opening the party's annual conference, Prof. Harold Laski, economics writer and chairman of the conference, asserted:

Restore Britain

"We are not beating Germany, we are not going on to the defeat of Japan, either to restore 'traditional' Britain, or to open the way to that monopoly-capitalism which requires not Democracy, but Fascism as its inherent institutional principle."

"Few of us can doubt that it is the duty of the Labor party to support Mr. Churchill until victory in Europe is both overwhelming and complete," said Prof. Laski. "But we must then seek from the people of Britain decisive and independent electoral authority to enter in the fullest way we can upon the great task of building the Socialist commonwealth."

Warning that an "unplanned world" would lead to another war within a generation, Prof. Laski said "only a planned world can hope to be a free world for the common man."

By CHARLES S. FOLTZ

MADRID, Dec. 11 — (AP). — The Germans in cafes and night clubs here are looking and acting far happier today than a fortnight ago. The reasons are the British-E.L.A.S. clashes in Greece, words spoken in London and Washington, and the silence of Moscow.

Any neutral in this capital will be told the Germans believe the great world alliance against them is splintering.

Nothing in the past year has delighted the Germans more than dispatches from Washington, London and Athens which they interpret as an indication the Anglo-American powers are determined to block further Soviet expansion in Europe and the silence from Mos-

Believe Franco Has Resigned

PARIS, Dec. 11—(CP-Reuter)—While Paris newspaper reports that Gen. Franco, dictator of Spain, had resigned were officially denied during the week-end in Spain, Miguel Maura, former Republican minister of the interior, told Reuter that news from Madrid confirmed the report of Franco's resignation.

Maura—who other reports say, is leaving for the Spanish frontier today—added that he was prepared to form a transitional government meanwhile, in an attack on Franco in a broadcast from Paris today, the French commentator, Henri Benazet, said the dictator, seeing that his regime was shaken to the roots, was pinning his last hopes to a monarchist restoration, calculating that Great Britain—"that nostalgic lover of vanished thrones"—would give her support.

Calling Franco's regime "the reign of an inquisition," Benazet declared that "the vainness and even indeceny of any such a scheme are evident to anyone who remembers Franco's past."

Yank Troops Approach Roer Citadel

Street Fighting Rages In 5 German Villages

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Dec. 11 —(AP)—United States 1st Army troops drove within 2½ miles of the Roer River citadel of Duren today and advanced 1½ miles along the Aachen-Cologne superhighway to Merken, 17 miles inside Germany and the deepest point of conquest.

Dhorn, three miles west, and Fchtz, 2½ miles northwest of Duren, toppled. Nearby Geich, Obergeich and Strass were taken yesterday.

Street fighting raged in at least five villages, the farthest of which was five miles from Duren. These were Pier, Merken, Gey, Merode and Schafberg. The Germans employed dug-in tanks and self-propelled guns at Gey.

On the Saarland front to the south, the Americans 3rd encountered ever stiffening resistance which took on a fanatical character. Tanks and guns fired at the Americans from vantage points inside buildings and factories. Infantry was buried under rubble heaps left in the wake of Allied air forces.

Eleven enemy counter-attacks have been launched in this area in the last two days. Three came at Dillingen before dawn today. In one of these 85 Germans made a charge shouting "Heil Hitler." Every man was killed.

On the 3rd Army's right, the U.S. 7th Army fought inside Hagueau and three nearby towns.

During Sunday, American troops reported cleaning out 25 pillboxes, 30 fortified buildings and several dug-in tanks inside Saarlautern, which they half won eight days ago. The 3rd Army also fought in the streets of Roden and Fraulautern beyond Saarlautern, and in Saareguemines.

To the north, other infantry formations still fought in the streets of Pier, five miles northwest of Duren, where the Germans had tanks. Enemy armor also guarded the approaches to Schophoven, where American infantry last was reported 500 yards away.

The 1st Army opened a new predawn attack at 4.30 a.m. from the vicinity of Lucherberg and covered 2,000 yards, reaching the outskirts of Merken, close to the flooded Roer and 3½ miles northwest of Duren.

Contrary to reports late yesterday that Gey, four miles southwest of Duren, had been cleaned out, the Americans still were fighting for

Japanese Force Driven Out Of Kweichow

CHUNGKING, Dec. 11 (AP) — Japanese forces have been expelled from Kweichow province and driven back over the Kwangsi border, the Chinese high command announced tonight.

Earlier, the Chinese said one of two Japanese forces invading Kweichow had been swept back across the border by the forces of Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek which recaptured Liuchai, just over the border in Kwangsi.

This action left only the enemy column along the Yuyun-Ishan trail to be dealt with.

Continue Advance

The Chinese continued advancing toward Antan, on the Kwangsi-Kweichow railway about 17 miles beyond Liuchai. Less than two weeks ago the now-battered Japanese were driving into Kweichow taward the Burma Road stronghold of Kweiyang. The Chinese announced yesterday that Hsiosu, a railroad town 12 miles from the Kwangsi border, had been retaken.

The deepest penetration of the Japanese was to within 70 miles of Kweiyang, a potential springboard for drives on Kunming, 300 miles southwest, or Chungking, 200 miles northwest.

Formerly pessimistic quarters here now believe the Chinese might be

Reds Storm Budapest On 3 Sides

Frontal Assault Expected; Puppet Rulers Flee

LONDON, Dec. 11 — (CP). — Russian troops drove on Budapest from positions seven miles north and five miles south of the city to-day as Moscow advices said great panic swept the Nazis inside the beleaguered Hungarian capital.

Strong formations of Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2nd Ukraine Army also were poised three miles east of the Danube-straddling city with an all-out frontal assault from that direction expected at any hour.

As yet there were no official Russian reports of heavy shelling of Pest, the section of the city on the east side of the Danube, and it appeared the Russian High Command felt the Germans might consider their situation hopeless and not make a battleground of the city itself.

Other Russian columns far to the north of Budapest reached the Central Slovakian frontier on a front of at least 11 miles. The Soviet communique said more than forty places fell yesterday to the 2nd Ukraine Army drive north and north-east of the capital.

Red Army forces immediately north of Budapest had smashed six miles down the Danube from captured Vac, on the great bend where the river turns west toward Vienna, and taken Alsogod.

The Germans disclosed that Russian armored forces driving up the west bank of the Danube from Ercsi were less than five miles from the city's outskirts. The Germans said Erd was captured.

Hungary's puppet government already has fled Budapest to the Austrian frontier town of Sopron.

Mosoow reported 5,600 prisoners had been taken between December 3 and December 7, and that the Germans had thrown large air forces into the fighting north of Budapest. Eighteen German planes were shot down yesterday and 24 on Saturday.

Use Bombers Against Greeks

ATHENS, Dec. 11—(AP)—Acute food shortages and the imminent danger of epidemics threatened this strife-torn capital today as British heavy bombers for the first time in the week-long civil struggle attacked E. L. A. S. concentrations around the city.

R.A.F. Wellingtons and cannon-firing Spitfires joined the sanguinary fighting—already reported to have cost the Leftists 1,500 killed and 2,500 wounded—after an E.L.A.S. attack supported by mortars and artillery had been repelled yesterday by British troops using tank and field guns.

Several shells fired from E.L.A.S. positions fell near British headquarters on the eastern outskirts of the city. Sniper bullets struck the Grande Bretagne Hotel, temporary seat of the Greek government on Constitution Square. One 75-m.m. shell struck British headquarters. The British replied with artillery and mortars.

Nazis Prepare New Weapons For Offensive

By E. V. W. JONES
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 11 — (AP). — Reports reaching London from many sources indicate that Germany is gathering her forces—including two new V-weapons and a new type of submarine—for a 1945 counter-offensive which she hopes may turn the tide of the war. Two enemy V-weapons—the flying bomb and the rocket bomb—already are in use against southern England and continental points. German Production Chief Albert Speer was quoted as saying recently that "V-3" would be ready for use against New York before the New Year and now there is talk in Germany of "V-4," but no hint as to its nature.

Meanwhile it is a matter of official knowledge the Germans have developed a submarine equipped with radical new devices for underwater breathing. Known as the Schnorkel spirall submarine, the new vessel has been dubbed the "Snorts" by the British.

London newspapers have told their readers that swift hit-run raids by jet-propelled planes are possible.

"The new rockets are impossible to stop at their source, as they are manufactured in vast underground factories," the Daily Mirror said in

Nazi Move Supplies From Budapest

MOSCOW, Dec. 11.— (CP-Reuter)—Latest reports reaching here suggest that the Germans have already removed from Budapest, over the Vienna highway, a considerable amount of the most valuable machinery and supplies, retaining only war equipment essential for the defence of the Hungarian capital which is menaced by Russian forces.

As Marshal Rodion Malinovsky's troops close on Budapest the German command faces a dilemma.

It can either attempt to cling on to the city—and thereby risk losing forces earmarked for defence of the approaches to Vienna—or stage a fighting retreat beyond the clasp of the Soviet pincers reaching out from the northwest and the south.

Huge Armada Jolts Three German Cities

800 Fighter Planes Lend Support On Western Front

LONDON, Dec. 11 (CP)—Sixteen hundred American heavy bombers and 800 fighters—the bombers constituting the greatest fleet of four-engined craft ever mounted in aerial warfare—raided Western Germany's rail centres today with 6,000 tons of explosives and an unstated number of R.A.F. heavy bombers added to the weight of the attack on Germany.

The record American heavy bomber fleet was from the British-based United States 8th Airforce and was part of a co-ordinated operation by heavy bombers from all three Allied air forces in the European theatre.

The Lancasters, joined by Mosquitos, jolted three German cities in the Ruhr before noon. Rail yards and a fuel plant at Osterfeld and refineries at Meiderick and Bruckhausen were the targets.

Berlin radio reported bombers from the United States 15th Air Force over Austria and headed toward southern Germany. It was the third raid from Italy in three days.

Eighth Air Force heavies bombed the mainline rail centres fo Frankfurt, nearby Hanau, and Giessen.

Early reports indicated moderate opposition from ground guns and little or no interference from German fighters.

One fighter group left the bombers and dived down to explode eight locomotives near Kassel. All the targets were obscured in cloud and bombing was by instrument.

The parade of bombers across the east coast of England early today treated Britons to one of the greatest spectacles of the war.

The roar of 7,000 aircraft engines filled the air as the bomber formations flew out in deep layer-formation.

It was estimated that almost 17,000 pilots, navigators, bombardiers and gunners were in the skies over Germany.

An 8th Airforce spokesman said every main rail line leading from

British Rushing Units To Athens

ATHENS, Dec. 11—(CP-Reuter).—British reinforcements are being rushed to Athens, it was announced here today as British troops at dawn began a large-scale sweep against ELAS forces in the eastern suburbs of Athens.

During the night a series of heavy explosions shook the centre of the city. According to one report they were caused by ELAS troops—the armed force of the Leftist EAM party — blowing up houses to build defence works.

More ELAS men have infiltrated into Athens and the Athens area in the last 48 hours, and there are now estimated to be 25,000 in and around the capital.

ELAS forces actually inside the city were believed to number between 10,000 and 15,000. Another 10,000 to 15,000 were estimated to be on the high ground around the capital.

Measures were being taken by the British and American relief organization to deal with the food shortage in Athens.

Huns Continue To Build U-Boats

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt place no belief in reports Germany has abandoned U-boat construction.

Branding the reports as "probably German-inspired" and "untrue," the two leaders said in their monthly joint statement covering submarine and anti-submarine activity during November:

"On the contrary, improved types of U-boats may at any time be thrown into the battle and retention of our present command of the sea will undoubtedly call for unremitting vigilance and hard fighting."

Germany has already introduced new devices, such as an extensible air intake and exhaust, which enables U-boats to remain submerged for long tperiods and thus to "penetrate into areas denied to them for the past hree years."

Shipping losses in November were described as "very small," and the number of U-boats sunk in proportion "has again been satisfactory."

Russian Drive at Lake Balaton Vital

Breakthrough Would Force Boche To Retreat From Warsaw And Vistula

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Something to watch is that great Russian drive through the heart of Hungary, because it may easily develop shortly into one of the decisive engagements of the war and alter the complexion of the conflict in Eastern Europe.

Naturally in appraising the value of this offensive, or any Allied offensive, we regard it from the standpoint of its value to the united effort to administer the coup de grace to Germany as quickly as possible. How then does the Hungarian battle fit into the picture?

We must remember that Hungary is one of the most important strategic centres in all Europe. The expansive Danubian basin through the centuries has been one of the main routes of invasion to Austria and Central Europe—and that means to Germany.

The situation as this writing is that Budapest is more than half surrounded by Red forces which are close to the outskirts. The Nazi-controlled government has fled to Austria.

On the north the Russians have smashed up to the neighboring Czechoslovakian border, and are heading along the valley of the Danube towards Vienna. Southwest of Budapest they've reached the famous Lake Balaton, a mighty finger of water 50 miles long and 10 miles wide—which forms a natural defence for Austria, barring large gaps at either end.

Victory for the Russians at Lake Balaton would in effect turn the right flank of the whole vast German battle front in Eastern Europe. Exploitation of this advantage by the Red forces would compel the enemy to pull back from Warsaw and the Vistula Line to his own frontier Thus the battle of Balaton Lake looms as momentous matter.

A break-through into Austria would be a catastrophe for Hitler, especially since a considerable portion of the Austrian population is said to be ready to revolt against him.

New Thought Is Awakened

Britain And U.S. Get To Know Each Other Better

TORONTO, Dec. 11 — (CP). — A new internationalism in thought is being awakened through the extended exchange of news among the nations, Walton Cole, news manager of Reuters, said today.

In Toronto on a six-week visit to the United States, Canada and Newfoundland, the 32-year-old news chief of the World News Organization said Britain and the United States were coming to know each other as never before in history.

"Hundreds of thousands of American soldiers have lived in England and learned to know our people. It is inevitable that their experiences will be a valuable contribution to understanding between the two nations. The same thing, of course, is true of the Canadian troops but in a more intimate way because they are essentially more sympathetic to the British way of life and character, and additionally had the advantage of being in Britain longer."

Mr. Cole will speak to the Empire Club here Wednesday on "London under bombs."

Bonomi Names New Cabinet

Count Sforza Missing From Line-Up

ROME, Dec. 11 (AP) — Premier Ivanoe Bonomi has formed a new Italian government in which the Communist Palmiro Togliatti and the Christian Democrat Giulio Dirodino will serve as vice-premiers.

The composition of the new cabinet was announced officially last night. Portfolios were distributed evenly among the Liberals, Christian Democrats, Labor Democrats and Communists—the four parties which decided to support Bonomi. The Socialists and Actionists, the other two parties of the Committee of National Liberation, decided to stay out.

Count Carlo Sforza, minister without portfolio in the last cabinet who was rejected by Britain for the post of Foreign Minister, is not a member of the new government.

The new Foreign minister is Alcide De Gasperi, a Christian Democrat. The Ministry of Interior was retained by Bonomi.

Dirodino is a pre-Fascism Minister of Justice and War.

Bonomi has notified Allied authorities that his government would keep the armistice terms and not raise the monarchy question until after the war. His first government which resigned two weeks ago, also made these pledges.

Ormoc Falls To Allied Ground Force

Strategic Seaport In Philippines Seized On Sunday

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Dec. 11 (AP)—Leyte Island's strategic seaport of Ormoc was in American hands today—captured just four days after surprise landings to the south—and three United States columns squeezed thousands of Japanese trapped in a narrow pocket by the action.

Ormoc was seized Sunday by the U.S. 77th Division, which launched the knockout from the town's outskirts after a quick drive from beachheads established Thursday under naval and air cover.

The 7th Division was less than a mile from Ormoc after making contact at Albuera on the west coast with a column which came west over the hills from Burauen in Leyte valley. In the ever-narrowing corridor between these forces were thousands of Japanese.

Gen. MacArthur reported in his communique today:

"Trapped and compressed into a narrow pocket by these three Allied columns, the enemy's forces in the southern segment of the Yamashita Line, although many thousands strong, are unable to extricate themselves

"They are being destroyed with little opportunity for effective retaliation."

Capture of Ormoc represents a heavy blow to the Japanese. It was vital to the enemy as a reinforcement port for his troops in the Ormoc corridor running through mountain country from Ormoc to Carigara Bay on the north. This corridor, on the northwest shoulder of the island, is Japan's last effective grasp on Leyte, which Tokyo considers the key to the Philippines campaign.

The Japanese still have a small port facing the Visagyan Sea. This is Palompon, 18 miles northwest of Ormoc and there was every indication the Japanese would make a fight for every inch of Leyte.

Despite adverse weather a fleet of more than 500 heavy bombers loosed 1,500 tons of bombs on railyards at Coblenz and Bingen on the Rhine yesterday in a continuing assault on vital German communications supplying the Western front.

More than 650 fighters accompanied the U.S. bombers, which were forced to attack by instrument because of heavy clouds. Temperatures ranged down to 50 degrees below zero and frozen bomb bays had to be cracked open by hand.

No enemy fighter opposition was encountered and anti-aircraft fire was described as meagre. Three bombers and one fighter were listed a missing, presumably due largely to the bad weather.

Support Sought For Bridge To Ennismore

With the promise of George H. Doucett, Minister of Highways, to contribute 75 per cent of the cost of a new Chemong Lake bridge, the county council has authorized Reeve James Gifford and his committee to continue their quest for information and also other potential sources of funds.

And the emphasis of the committee's scope bears rather heavily on the second part of its authority and enterprise.

Since a city and county deputation went to Toronto several weeks ago and interviewed the Minister, it is altogether likely that Reeve Gifford's faith in humanity has been substantially restored . Quite happily and with manifest confidence that he had won stout reinforcement for a cause that did seem to be getting somewhere until Hitler chanelled all the world's money and credit into the making of tanks and battleships.

Deputation Well Received

There has never been an occasion when a Chemong Bridge deputation received so much satisfaction as in the recent interview with Hon. Mr. Doucett, Reeve Gifford said. "He told us straight, and I know Reeve Mather will bear me out, that in so far as the Department of Highways is concerned they are willing to make a contribution of 75 per cent of the cost of a new bridge.

I don't see why we can't get the other 25 per cent. If it were the other way round and we have to look for the 75 per cent I'd consider it hopeless. I think the Minister is satisfied with the machinery we have today; "fill for the bridge could be put in at less cost than before. He places the total cost at around $300,000."

As a detail of the committee's continuing mission it is expected that an appeal will be made, probably by a deputation, to the Dominion Government for financial help in consideration of the swing section of the proposed bridge which would have to be provided for traffic up and down the lake.

Reeve Gifford said Peterborough city should be interested in the bridge and the brighter prospect of accomplishment since George Doucett appeared on the scene.

$120,000 Business Every Year

"With one firm in Peterborough, to mention only one, our people in Ennismore are doing nearly $120,000 business in a year. The floating bridge is unable to carry heavy traffic. There are usually some periods in the year when we can't use it at all. And by the way, the people of the township are not in favor of the proposal of a road around the end of the lake. It means an additional twelve miles for any one of us in coming to Peterborough. Figure that for a life time and it means a great deal of needless mileage."

Mr. Gifford said the roads to the bridge from both sides were in first class condition. In ticking off the reasons for supporting the bridge prospect Mr. Gifford emphasized the traffic to Peterborough city as a major consideration; stressed, too, the value of a good bridge to the residents beyond Ennismore, to tourist traffic for that entire district, and finally as a convenience to residents of Peterborough who in increasing numbers are buying lakefront property and building summer cottages across Chemong Lake.

"In Ennismore alone we have 30 to 40 miles of shore front. Only a small percentage of it is developed. Undoubtedly the reason is that many people are afraid to cross the old floating bridge. In my own experience I have sold lots to Peterborough men but when their wives went out with them to see the properties they simply refused to consider any lot across the bridge. I have no hesitation in saying that in the course of a few years the extra building and assessment in Ennismore will amount to as much as you are now paying for the upkeep of the floating bridge.

Throughout the summer season only 10 per cent of the traffic over the lake is from Ennismore."

Mr. Gifford mentioned that the Peterborough Labor Council, the Chamber of Commerce and the City Council had all joined with the county in the appeal to the Government. "And we feel very grateful to this widespread interest from the city. I believe that after the war the working week will have to be reduced, that factory workers are going to have more leisure time, and that they are going to look for nearby summer cottages where they can spend that spare time in summer to the best advantage. With a good bridge they could live out there the whole year round if they wished, and work in the city."

Mr. Gifford concluded by thanking the council for their help so far and hoping for authority to try to tap other sources of money to pay for the bridge.

"They appear to have had quite a lot of success so far, and I think they should keep going and try to get all the 'information' they can," said Reeve M. H. Johnston moving the resolution, seconded by Reeve Gilbert McIlmoyle, to extend the committee's scope including a petition to the federal government.

Germans here say "we will never have three masters in Germany but only one." They mean that when German resistance ends the country must be surrendered to one of its enemies, but not Russia, Britain and the United States for a divided occupation. Germany, they say, must remain united even in defeat.

The Germans' only hope for a separate surrender is in a break among the United Nations. With or without a formal peace they argue they could cease fighting on one front while holding the other. This would be done only if the Germans saw a chance to gain thereby.

That's why they are delighted here to see dispatches in the Spanish press grouped under such headlines as "American press fears disunion in Allied camp," "Churchill opposed to Communist dictatorship."

Reports from neutral countries place Germany's fighter plane production at 1,500 craft a month despite the Allied aerial onslaught, and there is some talk of a Luftwaffe "comeback" based on jet plane activities. These craft already are being used for reconnaissance behind the Allied lines.

A report from the front inside Germany says the enemy has found a way to "dim out" his artillery, reducing the flash of a 105-mm. gun to that of pistol. This would give the foe an important means of hiding his artillery concentrations.

"The Germans still have a lot of fight left in them," said the London Herald, but declared the enemy manpower shortage and Allied air superiority are factors operating against the enemy.

South of Gey, the Germans in the first light today launched a counter-attack against Americans holding Strass. Front reports said the thrust was being held.

The 35th and 26th infantry divisions of the 3rd Army extended their lines in the centre of the Western Front east of Sarreguemines, squeezing the Germans from some of the last bits of France in that sector.

No further progress was reported either toward the Saarland capital of Saarbrucken, three miles or so from U.S. troops, or inside the nearby French rail centre of Forbach. A front dispatch said the 3rd Army held only about a fifth of Dillingen, where a tank factory and one of the Saarland's largest steel plants are located.

Canucks Raid Nazi Outposts

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press War Correspondent

AT 21ST ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Dec. 11 — (AP). — Troops of the 1st Canadian Army have raided German outposts three miles north-east of Nijmegen, capturing 20 prisoners, killing six and wounding two without suffering any casualties themselves.

The raid was the only ground action reported along the entire Canadian-British front during the week-end.

Flood waters unleashed by enemy breaching of the Neder Rhine dikes spread eastward in the "island" between Nijmegen and Arnhem and most of the area between the Neder and Wall Rhine now is submerged.

But Allied counter-measures are beginning to take effect. An R.A.F. attack on a dam 12 miles north-east of Nijmegen opened a breach 100 yards long, and R.A.F. pilots reported waters escaping through a new gap and flooding westward into German positions.

The 2nd Tactical Air Force flew 60 sorties yesterday, destroying four locomotives and damaging 10, destroying 40 railway cars, and damaging 51, and making 12 rail cuts.

OBITUARIES

MRS. MARGARET SULLIVAN

The funeral of the late Mrs. Margaret Sullivan, Rochester, was held recently from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Nicholas Lech, Rochester to St. Charles Barromeo Church and interment was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Nicholas Lech, three sons, Charles of Detroit; Frederick and Richard; four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

MRS. PATRICK MILLOY.

DOWNEYVILLE, Dec. 11 —(ENS). — A resident of Emily Township for 62 years, Mrs. Patrick Milloy, formerly Catherine O'Neil, passed away at her Lindsay residence on Sunday evening, after a lingering illness. She was 82 years of age.

Born in Emily Township, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Morgan O'Neil, she lived in that district all her life, until 20 years ago, when she moved to Lindsay. Her husband predeceased her ten years ago.

Mrs. Milloy leaves to mourn her loss one brother, William O'Neil of Downeyville, and one sister Mrs. Ed. Houlihan, also of Downeyville.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday morning and mass will be offered at St. Mary's Church, Lindsay, at nine o'clock. Interment will be in the family plot in Downeyville.

Production Down

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—(AP)—None of the major categories of combat munitions met its October schedule, the United States War Production Board announced yesterday. On an overall basis, production fell two per cent behind reduced schedules set at the beginning of the month.

Careless Driving Brings $30 Fine

Ernest Carveth, 23, of 275 Romaine street, was fined $30 and 2.50 costs in police court today after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving arising out of an accident on Water street, near McDonnel street on Saturday.

The alternative was 15 days in jail. Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., announced that he would recommend to the authorities that Carveth's driving license should be suspended.

Inspector J. F. Reid told the court that Carveth had been driving a car belonging to another party and travelling south on Water street when he collided with another car being driven north on Water street by Arthur Little, R.R. 2, Lakefield. Carveth had been drinking, the inspector stated. Little's car was damaged and the other machine also suffered considerably and had to be removed with a tow truck.

As the result of an accident involving two men of the same name in Havelock recently, Charles Davidson was fined $10 and 3.90 costs for careless driving and John Davidson, the same amount for driving without a license when they entered written pleas of guilty in police court today.

The charges were laid by Chief William Aikens of Havelock.

Walter Little, 14, was also charged by Chief Aikens with riding a bicycle on Oak street, Havelock, without a proper light, and was fined $1 and $1 costs on entering a plea of guilty.

Nazi Counters Fail In Italy

ROME, Dec. 11—(AP). — Large-scale German counter-attacks against the British 8th Army bridgehead west of the Lamone River on the approaches to Faenza have been defeated decisively, Allied headquarters announced today.

The fiercest of these counter-thrusts was directed at gaining a foothold on the ridge running south-west from San Prospero to Pideura, west of Faenza. Both San Prospero and Pideura had been captured by 8th Army troops in bloody slugging matches.

The Germans fought desperately to prevent the inevitable encirclement of Faenza, stronghold on the Bologna-Rimini highway. They threw the crack 90th Panzer Grenadiers into the assault, backed up by tanks and self-propelled guns.

There was a fierce struggle south of Celle, which is less than two miles west of Faenza, and a mile south of the highway. British forces gave some ground but held at a vital road junction just south of the town.

There was bitter fighting on both sides of recently-won Castel Raniero, four miles southwest of Faenza.

Meanwhile, Italian patriots operating in the Adriatic coastal areas cleared German troops from Port Corsini, a vital centre for barge traffic bringing supplies for the enemy.

God, Christ Make Salvation Great

The evangelistic service conducted by the Peterborough Christian Business Men's Committee each Sunday evening in the Centre Theatre had as guest speaker Rev. Clifford Van Wuzen, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Oshawa, with Mr. and Mrs. Gorden Hartshorn, of Peterborough, singing instead of Mr. Griffen, of Oshawa, who was unable to be present.

The text chosen by the speaker was taken from the 2nd chapter of Hebrews, "How can we escape if we neglect so great salvation," with especial emphasis on the last three words, "So great salvation."

The word great has a much deeper meaning here than is given to that word today. It means really great. The salvation referred to is great because of the persons engaged in its operation. Like any other action, the significance depends largely on the persons who perform it. When our King and Queen visited Canada several years ago, the most simple actions on their part became of great importance because it was done by royalty. So with this great salvation, it was great because God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Spirit were the persons who perform the operation, he declared. In brief, as the speaker gave it, God thought it, Christ bought it and the Holy Spirit wrought it. This salvation is great also because of its universality.

"This great salvation is also great because it is not only a salvation from the penalty of sin, but from the power of sin. It is also great because of the glory that awaits those who take advantage of it, but there is also the negative side. How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation." He appealed to those present not to delay too long, but to accept this salvation now before it is too late.

Referring to the speaker coming to the theatre meeting next Sunday, Rev. Dr. Isaac Page, of Toronto, he spoke in the highest terms of his ability as a speaker and of the fine life of service he has given not only in Canada but in the mission field.

Poultry Conference Planned This Week

A poultry conference will be held Thursday and Friday afternoons this week, from 1.30 to 4.30 o'clock, at the Co-Op Hall, arranged by the Ontario Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Peterborough County Federation of Agriculture and the Farm Young People of the county.

Speakers will include Jack Fraser of Kempville Agricultural School on poultry diseases and rearing chicks; Norman S. Schultz on flock management; and John Coulter of Peterborough Co-Op on grades of poultry.

Poultry producers of the district are invited, and are urged to present their problems for pratical discussion during the conference.

Labor Members To Attend City Council

At the meeting of the Allied Labor Council of Peterborough at the week-end it was decided to set up a legislative committee with the ultimate view of electing representatives of labor to city council. One of the duties of the proposed committee would be to attend sessions of the city council and report back to the Labor Council on matters of their concern. The nominating committee, with Orville Kidd chairman, was instructed to present a committee of three members to the next meeting of the council

F. Gandy, council president, reported on interviews which he had with National Selective Service, and the chairman of the Memorial Centre.

A committee of the council consisting of Messrs. Gandy, Rowe and Kidd are to meet with a committee of the city council at an early date to discuss post war planning for Peterborough. Sherman Rowe, reporting for the committee, stated that "the main concern of labor in Peterborough is full employment in the post war with an adequate living standard," and that "the Labor council post war planning committee wanted to impress upon the city fathers the need for an over-all plan to this end."

Other delegates expressed the view that immediate planning for the post war was in order and that the city council should call an all-in conference of representatives of interested parties in the community to begin this work.

Weir Preceptory Instals Officers

The annual meeting of the Weir Royal Black Preceptory was held in the Orange Hall, Brock street, Peterborough. Ten applications were received for affiliation with the preceptory. The auditors' report was received showing a substantial balance after all accounts had been paid for the year 1944.

The principal event of the evening was the election and installation of officers for the year 1945. Sir Knight Carl conducted the election of officers and Sir Knight Capt. Rev. J. Hodgson the installation. The following are the officers:

Hopgood; Second Lecturer, Perry Lowes; First Censor, E. F. Reid; Second Censor, W. Cunningham; First Standard Bearer, Wilbert Sage; Second Standard Bearer, A. McCaw; Committee Men, J. J. Cunningham, T. Sarginson, A. McDonald, W. J. Burville, A. Holden, J. C. Waldie, E. Scott; Pursuivant, C. H. Luffman; Auditors, E. F. Reid and Fred Batten.

Short addresses were given by the newly elected officers. Refreshments were served at the close of the preceptory.

Bit Mixed Up

LONDON, Dec. 11—(CP). —Three telegrams told the mother of Hugh O'Reilly, 18-year-old Royal Navy telegraphist, three stories: First, he was in hospital; second, he was on the danger list; third (15 minutes later), he was missing. A friend went to the local police station for more information. When he returned he found Mrs. O'Reilly embracing her son. He had been in the Walcheren landings and survived a ship sinking.

British Patrols Rout Japanese

NEW DELHI, Dec. 11 — (AP). — The British drive to squeeze the Japanese out of North Burma carried past Naba and Indaw today with patrols fanning out less than 200 miles from Mandalay.

The British 36th Division took Naba, key junction on the Myitkyina-Mandalay railroad, and Indaw, four miles west, in an unopposed operation yesterday.

The occupation of Indaw represented a 100-mile advance for the British forces since they took off from Mogaung Aug. 1.

Allied planes hammered Japanese retreat routes.

Cattle Exports To U.S. Unchanged

WELLAND, Dec. 11 — (CP). — Agriculture Minister Gardiner in an address here Saturday night said that easing of restrictions on shipment of Canadian cattle to United States points where higher prices are available, would be contrary to Canada's war effort.

Speaking to the Welland County Liberal Association Mr. Gardiner said "representatives of our government, the United States and the United Kingdom agree, on the basis of facts which cannot be told the people of Canada or anyone else at present, that our beef cattle should be processed in Canada and sent to the United Kingdom if we are going to do most to win the war."

Salvage Drive Planned For This Week

Peterborough citizens are asked to send more old tires, tubes, waste paper and rags to war this week, through a salvage drive organized by the Peterborough War Services Committee.

This will be the last salvage drive sponsored by this committee, which in the past, has made a worthy contribution to the task of collecting vital waste-paper, rags and other scrap materials, in this city.

The campaign will begin Tuesday morning, and continue each morning until Friday. Articles for salvage should be out by eight o'clock each morning, for early collection.

This week, the emphasis will again be placed on the gathering of old tires, and tubes, items of rubber which hold an important place in Canada's war effort. Waste paper and rags will be requested, and should be bundled and tied to facilitate shipping and handling.

Mrs. R. Whalon, the moving spirit behind many of this city's successful salvage drives, said today the coming drive will be more of a "clean-up" campaign, designed to collect as many old tires and tubes as possible in the regular districts of collecting.

Every scrap of waste paper and rags is vital raw material for hundreds of Canada's war plants. Blood plasma, life-giving medical supplies, food, military equipment, ....these and many other items of importance are shipped overseas regularly in paper containers. And paper containers are often ready to go to Europe as soon as one week after a paper drive!

Once again, Peterborough people are asked to put their waste paper, rags, old tires and tubes on active service in the nation's war effort, by collecting it, bundling it, and offering as much each day of the drive as is possible. The need still exists.

Car, Truck Collide On Cobourg Streets

COBOURG, Dec. 11—(ENS)—The corner of Chapel and College streets was the scene of an accident when a truck and a car met in collision in a week-end accident at 6:20 p.m. According to Constable E. Houghton, who investigated, a car driven by Donald Mitchell of Oshawa was emerging from Chapel street, west on College, when he met in a collision with a northbound truck driven by Lawrence Nelson, R.R. No. 4, Cobourg. The truck upset and while Constable Houghton was later getting the accident cleared away, a northbound car driven by Alex Fettes of Cobourg was passing a truck which had just turned up Chapel when he collided with Nelson's truck. Nobody was hurt in the general mix-up except James McIntosh, passenger in Nelson's truck who sustained a cut in the head which required eight stitches. Mitchell declared that Nelson's truck didn't have any lights on and Nelson told police that Mitchell didn't stop at the stop-street.

Anniversary Party To Help Soldiers

ROSENEATH, Dec. 11—(ENS).—Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Parker, farmers of Alnwick township, who will have been married thirty years on December 23, will celebrate this anniversary, but it will differ from the custom.

The 23rd falls on Saturday close to Christmas, so on Friday night, December 15, a euchre and dance will be held in the Orange Hall. At this function there will be two draws for a wool blanket and a goose, both donated by Mr. and Mrs. Parker, tickets having been sold on it. All proceeds will be used to send cigarettes to Alnwick township boys in service overseas.

Merchant Sailor Listed Missing

COBOURG, Dec. 11—(ENS)—The household of Mrs. David Stewart was saddened during the week-end when word arrived that David Stewart, member of the merchant marine, was missing at sea. Mrs. Stewart and her family of four were looking forward to the return of Mr. Stewart in time for Christmas. No particulars have been received in the official word from the steamship company by which he was employed beyond the fact that he was lost at sea.

Formerly of Toronto, he came to Cobourg in 1923 and up until he entered the merchant marine for ocean service in 1939, he was employed on one of the local car ferries in the engine room. He is 46 years of age. His wife, who was Winnifred Kane; one daughter, Margaret, age 14; and three sons, Robert, aged 15, Raymond, age 9 and David, 8, live in Cobourg.

Verdict Reached In 12 Minutes

Deliberating only 12 minutes, a General Sessions of the Peace Jury before Judge S. L. Smoke, returned a verdict of "not guilty" Saturday afternoon, acquitting Lawrence Wilfong, who had been charged with the theft of $16.65 from Clarence Weymark, of Havelock. W. J. Arthur Fair defended Wilfong.

After hearing Judge Smoke's address, the jury filed out of the courtroom at 12 o'clock. Twelve minutes later, John M. Hope, foreman, announced the verdict. Previously, Mr. Fair and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., addressed the jury.

During the case, only one defence witness was called by Mr. Fair to testify, that being Mr. Wilfong. Mr. McElderry called F. H. Johnston, of Johnston's Furniture and Electrical Sales and Service, and Clarence Weymark. Mr. Johnston is the former employer of Wilfong.

The jury members were: John M. Hope, foreman; Charles Fitzgerald, John S. Donley, Robert Gamble, Wilfred Murduff, Frank Blackburn, Frank Godfrey, John R. Baskin, M. Draper, Clayton Brackenridge, Ray Fitzgerald and W. J. Barrie.

Japs Announce More Casualties

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11 — (AP). — Six more Japanese admirals and one general have died, Domei reported today. This brought the total of admirals' deaths reported by Tokyo since May 7 to 73, and generals to 18 since May 23.

Recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, the enemy broadcast disclosed the deaths in reporting the 25th grant of imperial honors to navy officers and men "who were either killed in action or died of illness in the greater East Asia war."

Last week Yokosuka naval station reported the deaths of 13 other admirals.

The admirals who died, Domei said, were vice-admirals Hunju Izaki and Teruo Akiyama and rear admirals Hidehisa Iwagami, Takeji Miyasaki, Shinki Nakaoka and Senkichi Amano. It was not disclosed how they died. The dead general was Maj.-Gen. Tsuneo Iwabuchi.

A GREAT CHANGE

Gay as the Nineties may have been for some, they were pretty grim for the housewife. Her days were a dawn-to-dark battle with the scrub-board and the mop, the hand wringer and the hot, old-fashioned kitchen range. But as the new century dawned, there came a great change ... "Electrical Servants"—and Advertising to educate Canadian women in a brand new school of freedom from back-breaking hand labor.

Today, war conditions restrict the advertising of household equipment and supplies. But if that's your field, and you're planning ahead, note this important fact: With over 2,600,000 readers, The Star Weekly goes into 750,000 homes, week after week. It covers over half of all the English-speaking homes in Canada's urban centres—the thickly populated areas which are your best markets. It is distributed by carrier boy in every English-speaking centre where there are 60 or more families.

If the Canadian home is the target of your selling ammunition, concentrate your advertising in The Star Weekly and score more post-war sales.

Do you know ... 25% of all Canadian families reporting post-war plans for spending their savings say they hope to buy new houses or re-furnish their present homes.

The Vote Of Confidence

The registration of a 143-70 vote of confidence in the government was no surprise to anyone in Canada or elsewhere who troubled to read the parliamentary reports. After the Prime Minister and Col. Ralston had spoken there was little else to be said which could seriously affect the outcome. The Canadian people were satisfied: they wanted a definite assurance that reinforcements for our overseas forces would be supplied, and when they got it they were not interested in partisan manoeuvrings or fine shades of meaning. If the only way to back up our troops in Europe was to send N.R.M.A. men to do the job, they wanted those men sent; when that was settled they felt that the matter had been dealt with adequately.

• • •

During the 1940 election the Liberals, the Conservatives and the C.C.F. were all opposed to conscription. Later the Conservative party changed its opinion and some of its adherents wanted total conscription of manpower — a move which would have wiped out the difference between conscript and volunteer. When it became clear that our army could not continue in its fine effort with volunteer troops alone, the Prime Minister made N.R.M.A. troops liable for overseas service by order-in-council, and then sought a vote of confidence from the House, for he had broken with his government's stated policy, and had also broken a long tradition of his party, which has opposed compulsion since the days of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Several amendments were proposed to this motion of confidence, and all of them were defeated by substantial majorities; the motion in its original form was supported by a two-to-one vote, the dissident voices being those of the Conservative Opposition and several disaffected members from Quebec. The C.C.F. and Social Credit Opposition supported the government.

• • •

In the conscription dispute the former Minister of Defence, Col. Ralston, behaved at all times in a noble manner. He defended himself with spirit, but he never stooped to recriminations or angry outbursts. There were agencies in the House and outside it which obviously hoped that he would do everything in his power to wreck the government of which he has been a brilliant and tireless member. The section of the press which had spattered General McNaughton hailed Ralston as their new hero, and hoped that he might further their end of destroying the government. But Col. Ralston is no man's catspaw; he said what he had to say with honesty and dignity, and announced his intention of supporting the government.

• • •

If he had failed to do so the desire of the Conservative Opposition to force an election would have been fulfilled, and at least two months would have elapsed before a new government could have taken office, or reinforcements found and sent abroad. That might have been disastrous for the Canadian army. But it did not happen. The reinforcements are already preparing for their departure and Parliament will live out the few months that remain to it. The government which has led Canada to the present pitch of its war effort has been sustained in a necessary course of action, and we can all get on with whatever our war jobs may be, knowing that the conscription issue is, for the time being, at rest.

Problem Of Habitual Criminals

The General Sessions Grand Jury has made a suggestion which we think is of considerable interest. In the words of the Grand Jury recommendation, "It appears that there are some human beings who, through mental or physical deficiencies, are incapable of taking their places as useful members of society and who constantly prey upon their fellows by the use of violence. Their operations cause physical and moral injury, loss and destruction of property, and sometimes death to innocent law-abiding citizens. It may well be that in our anxiety to make sure that innocent persons are not convicted of, and punished for, crimes they did not commit, our present procedure in connection with crime prevention has become antiquated and impracticable and is tolerating, if not actually encouraging, careers of crime which are a menace to our society". The gist of the recommendation is that habitual offenders be imprisoned for life.

The practicality of such a suggestion cannot be questioned. But like many suggestions which have the merit of expediency, it is open to criticism on moral grounds. Are we ever justified in assuming that any man is evil beyond the hope of reform? Certainly in the cases of many habitual offenders the likelihood of any change (particularly after forty-five or fifty) is so slight as to be inconsiderable. But dare the law say that any man is irreclaimable?

Many habitual criminals are of warped mentality, and this applies particularly to sex criminals; for the good of society it is desirable that they should be restrained. But whether prisons and penitentiaries as they now exist are the proper places for them is a matter of doubt. Mental hospitals are more fitted to their needs. But whether the state can take on the burden of supporting fairly large numbers of habitual criminals under humane and scientific supervision is a question which cannot be answered in a hurry. Such people are utterly useless to the state, and their detention is an expensive form of insurance. As the Grand Jury says, our present attitude toward crime and punishment needs investigation and revision, but the problem is so great, and so deeply rooted in the whole structure of our society, that no half-measure, such as wholesale imprisonment for life of 'repeaters', can be satisfactory.

Mitch Hepburn Comes Back

Mitchell F. Hepburn is about to resume his career as a Liberal, after a short period as an independent. Mr. Hepburn is going to lead the provincial Liberal Party again; at the recent caucus he was chosen as House leader; now the provincial leader, the Hon. Harry Nixon, has resigned and Mr. Hepburn is back in his old position.

There is nothing especially mysterious about this. Mr. Hepburn was by far the best provincial leader that the Liberal party has had in decades, and Mr. Nixon, who is an exceedingly able and experienced administrator, is not a success as a leader. Therefore Mr. Hepburn has been invited to come back, and it looks as though he was very glad to accept the invitation. For Mr. Hepburn has not been happy as an independent member; he is not a lone wolf, by nature; he works best when he has followers, cohorts and vassals. And as he is a liberal in his outlook, the Liberal party is the obvious place for him.

It is not so long since Mr. Hepburn professed a powerful admiration of Premier Drew, and then, with characteristic suddenness, found that he did not really like the Premier at all. As an Opposition leader he will be in a good position to make his distaste evident, and he knows exactly how to do it. It must be noted, however, that he has made it clear that he does not think that a provincial election is needed—for a time, at least.

Speculation about what Mr. Hepburn will do is vain. Unlike many politicians, his sudden actions are the result of genuine sudden impulses, and are not carefully planned. We can only wait and see, confident that whatever Mr. Hepburn does, he will provide the province with a good show.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Japan has been suffering a severe earthquake. Or could it be another of those Cabinet shakeups?

"The Norden bombsight enables a marksman to drop a bomb into a pickle-barrel from 10,000 feet", says a contemporary. Even in wartime, is it polite to refer to a German citizen as a pickle-barrel?

Three girls in London (Ont.) have been seen buying corncob pipes, and their action has caused a stir in the sleepy old town. What we want to know is: how are women going to find room for pipes and pouches in those already overstuffed handbags they carry?

In their frantic attempts to escape front-line combat duty Nazi soldiers are reported to be smashing their glass eyes and breaking their false teeth. Admittedly under these circumstances they cannot be expected to put a bold face on their situation.

Farming News and Views

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

I AM writing this in Ottawa and a fine blanket of snow covers the ground. November here wound up with a steady day's rain and then a day's heavy fall of snow, which gives the impression of winter having "set in." The Sun came out and a barnyard must have been a comfortable place for both the caretakers and the beasts cared for.

When this is in print it will only be thirteen days until Christmas Eve. The end of the year and the beginning of another, with a war still to finish and an army to be fed. After five years of steadily increased food production, it is of the highest importance that the fertility of our land should be one of greatest national concern. We have steamed-up production in many cases with stimulants and tonics which have served a turn, but we must not mistake them for the natural richness of our soil which must be maintained, or improved, by the only sound, healthy method by additional humus.

MANY of us are old enough to have seen "new fallows" ploughed and seeded in Ontario, or prairie grass broken in the West, and we know what made these lands rich. The deep leaf mould in a hardwood bush in this province could be counted on to grow a vigorous, healthy crop. We know the results of grass rotting on a prairie sod over a period of years. This new land has "what it takes" to grow a heavy yield of grain. How then, are we to keep up soil fertility? By restoring to the soil what we take out of it. We can best do this through decayed vegetable matter, or digested grain and grasses, which we collect from our stables and apply to the fields. This organic fertilizer is plant food similar to that from which the soil itself was built, and in which nature supplies what is needed. We can get help from a bottle or a bag, in the form of chemical fertilizer, but it will not completely displace organic nourishment which plant life needs.

WE see reports recently that upon chemical analysis land is found to be deficient in boron and applications of borax are made to cure the ailment. Boron is a sort of trace-element required in soil to grow some crops and its exhaustion, to a point of greatly reducing a yield, is an evidence that we are not returning a "complete fertilizer" to such land. Among other trace-elements required in a productive soil are zinc, iodine, silicon, copper, cobalt, manganese, sulphur sodium and iron but we don't want to start a drug store for such supplies when we can get them all in the form of decayed plants.

Everyone of these new soil deficiencies that we discover can be accounted for by some system of "soil robbery" which is bound to bring us a measure of grief, if not the tragedy of a "dust bowl." The Scottish farmer who has frequently fed cattle with only manure for profit, or the English farmer who gave free grazing of turnips to a neighbour's sheep, had at least sound ideas about maintaining the value of the land. There are farms in this province calling for a realization that the fertility of land measures its value as a capital investment.

FARMERS who are wintering a flock of breeding ewes, where difficulties with weak lambs have been encountered, should feed a small quantity of potassium iodide during winter. This is easiest fed with salt, and no large quantity should be used. About 4 oz. of Potas. iodide is enough to use on 100 lbs. of salt. If the medicine is dissolved in one or two cups of warm water and carefully sprinkled over the whole of the salt, it can be successfully fed that way. This should not be carelessly done so a spoonful of the medicine would drop on one handful of salt. This is medicine to be fed through the winter and not in large amounts at one time. The necessity for such treatment is the lack of iodine in the soil, and a resultant lack of it in the sheep's feed. In some places there is a natural deficiency, but usually it results from not returning to the land what we take out.

NOW that winter seems to have arrived, the ventilation of stables should have every care. It took Ontario some time to grow out of sealed-up "Sitting Room" and "Spare Bedroom" in many farm houses, and longer to overcome the "chinking-up" of stables to keep the cows warm in winter. The first useful ventilation I found, for rather makeshift stables, was to take out a few window-sashes and replace them with a frame covered with strong factory cotton. You could get good cotton in those days. This is not a bad plan at any time and affords a free circulation of air that makes a stable very livable. We get weather in this province at times which makes ventilation quite difficult, and all animals need fresh air and plenty of it. Sheep are better if they can run out with some good shelter. Horses and young cattle should be let out every day and pigs to be wintered should feed out, with some shelter.

Dairy cows should have more attention in this matter, as they are usually producing, and the animal that is at work deserves the best, and there is no more important animal industry on a farm than the manufacturing of milk. To do her best, a cow should perform that in comfort.

These comments are just by way of calling your attention to a few of the numerous daily duties on a farm in winter.

THERE has been a distinct move forward among cattle breeders in Canada in the purchase of better bulls, in both the dairy and beef breeds. Bulls of the best blood lines are selling for good stiff prices, but that is usually a good recommendation for a purchaser to invest; as men will enthuse more over a high-priced beast than over a cheap animal when the good ones have to seek a market. The value of an outstanding sire is very difficult to estimate, but he is usually worth more than you think and may change your whole outlook on the livestock business. The present prices will stimulate trade in livestock as most people prefer to buy on a rising market; but anything that promotes the purchase of better livestock sires is good for farming.

AMONG comparatively new products for dairy farmers is one for cleaning the milking machine and other implements and utensils used in a dairy. Ever since women polished milk pans, used for raising cream to be skinned, and then set them out in the sun, to be brought in later bright and shining, to set more milk, the problem of cleanliness has set a pace in dairies. Milk can grow disagreeable bacteria at an amazing rate, and only cleanliness makes for the saleability of all kinds of milk products. Cream separators, followed by milking machines, have been multiplying the difficulties of getting discs, joints and rubber tubes completely freed from any taint of stale milk. Live steam played a part, but there are still problems to be met. A cleaner is now heralded as being able to do the job with less labour and more perfect results than was ever before attained. This is a "soapless soap" or "wetting agents" which are said to do the job.

Demonstrations of this new method of cleaning milk machines have been made in a number of counties in the State of Michigan. Some of these new compounds have difficulty in living up to their advance notices, and the idea that all care may be abandoned in using them is likely rather farfetched; but there appears to be substantial evidence that this material will make it easier to clean-up after milking and relieve the dairyman of some of the difficulties he has to overcome to live up to his ideal in pure milk. Very substantial sales are reported of this chemical that cleans like soap but is not soapy.

ON Monday, December 4th, ninety steers sold on the Toronto market for $12.50 per cwt. and our car load brought $12.60. These prices are very promising and some feeders who have good steers are looking for a price up to $13 in February. Cattle finished at about that time frequently find a good market.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

RE NEW ZEALAND PARADISE

Sir,—I read with interest the article by Bruce Hutchison entitled "New Zealand Paradise," which you printed in the December 6th issue of your paper. This article has been written it seems and printed by you with the view to discrediting Mr. Coldwell and the C.C.F. rather than the Commonwealth of New Zealand.

In effect the article says that at a time, which it carefully refrains from stating, the New Zealand farmer obtained less for his butter fats, top grade cheese, beef steers and wheat than the Saskatchewan farmer. Having cheerfully stated this act or fancy, as the case may be, the author arrives at a conclusion which he had obviously already reached before New Zealand entered the picture at all, that is that the Canadian farmer would do well to have nothing to do with the C.C.F. and Mr. Coldwell.

The facts given in the article do not mean very much unless the reader is told the date and under what circumstances these prices were obtained and over what period these prices had been maintained. Furthermore in the absence of a statement showing the net returns of the New Zealand farmer and the Saskatchewan farmer for their respective labours, not only as respects the prices but also as respects the services received by both, we cannot make a sound judgment of the result of the divergent economic policies followed by the New Zealand Government and the regime which has just vacated office in the Province of Saskatchewan.

The conclusion Mr. Hutchison comes to is quite unjustified on the basis of the facts which he provides and can without injustice be attributed to a desire to make unfavourable propaganda for Mr. Coldwell and the C.C.F.

The conclusion Mr. Hutchison comes to is quite unjustified on the basis of the facts which he provides and can without injustice be attributed to a desire to make unfavourable propaganda for Mr. Coldwell and the C.C.F.

I will be glad if you will let me know who Mr. Hutchison is and with whom he is associated.

Yours very truly,
W. C. GRANT.
President,
The Peterborough C.C.F. Association.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Bruce Hutchison has been well-known for ten years or so as a parliamentary correspondent and commentator on Canadian affairs. He is the author of "The Unknown Country," a book about Canada which was a best-seller in the United States in 1941-42, and his novel about Canada, "The Hollow Men" was published this autumn. He is at present an associate editor of the Winnipeg Free Press, and writes special articles for a number of Canadian papers, the Examiner among them.

Another Pearl from Jacob's Beach

Every so often, the muddy tides that swirl about Jacob's Beach in New York deposit a pearl of startling moral and grammatical dinginess for the appraisal of a not-unappreciative audience. Jacob's Beach was the haunt of the disgruntled manager of prize-fighters who declared he "should have stood in bed"; it is also the stronghold of the "bite" and the doublecross—where a reputation for honesty was easily acquired by a brakeman who never stole a box-car.

If anyone ever had the least doubt about the ethical level of the beach-combers, it should be removed forever by the latest quotation from that source to reach the news. It seems that Joe Gould, one-time manager of Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock and lately a captain in the United States Army, was found guilty by a court-martial of conspiring to defraud the army of $200,000. He was dismissed from the service and received a severe sentence, but the last word was spoken by one of his former associates on the Beach: "He never should of done it—during the war."—Kingston Whig-Standard.

The New U.S. Secretary of State

By the time these words are read, it is altogether possible that the United States Senate will have approved the nomination of Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., as the new Secretary of State. Certainly the appointment merits prompt and hearty approval, for it is free of all political implications. It is an earned promotion; although Mr. Stettinius is a comparative newcomer to diplomacy, his record as Under-Secretary has been excellent, and his advancement is comparable to that of another Under-Secretary, Mr. Forrestal, as Secretary of the Navy. Both appointments were made on obvious grounds of personal competence and marked administrative ability.

Mr. Stettinius is one of the several men loaned by industry to the Government for the duration. He has a brilliant record as an industrial leader, and was chairman of the board of United States Steel when 37. His formal career as a diplomat has barely begun, but his connection with the State Deaprtment is not a proper measure of his experience in diplomacy and international relations. Before he became Mr. Hull's assistant, Mr. Stettinius served as Administrator of Lend-Lease—perhaps the most strategic of all wartime diplomatic posts in the United States. He developed the administration of that office from nothing to its present highly organized structure, and made it an outstanding example of successful international collaboration.

Shortly after his appointment as Under-Secretary, Mr. Stettinius was called upon to direct the conference at Dumbarton Oaks, and his work there stamped him as eminently fit for the highest diplomatic post in his nation's gift. At 44, he will be the second youngest Secretary of State ever appointed in the United States—the youngest was Edmund Randolph, appointed at 41 by President Washington—but we venture the prediction that he will prove in every way worthy of the great confidence placed in him by President Roosevelt, his colleagues, and the nation generally.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

Test in Brooklyn

It is a bit dismaying to observe the hysterical rage of Brooklyn members of the City Council against Noel Coward, whose new book contains a passage in which he compares the fortitude of Brooklyn soldiers unfavorably with that of men from other parts of the country. Representative Samuel Dickstein, of Manhattan, who never yet shied away from a headline, also has leaped into the controversy.

Of course, Mr. Coward, a glib and hasty fellow, went far out on a limb; he should know that comparisons of this sort can not only be odious but dangerous. And yet, if Brooklyn is really so sure of itself, why the great indignation, the threats of boycott, the hint of deportation if Coward ever shows up here again? The great borough of Brooklyn has met other and greater attacks with an admirable imperturbability. The Brooklyn accent, the goings on of the Hon. Peter J. McGuinness, the maladroitness of the Dodgers and even such grisly matters as Murder, Inc.—all these Brooklyn has taken in its stride.

Are the people of Brooklyn, who have been through so much and still remained calm, to be thrown into a petulant dither by one ill-advised remark? Really, the spectacle is unbecoming.—New York Herald Tribune.

A Bible Message

For thus saith the Lord God; Behold, I even I, will both search my sheep, and seek them out. As a shepherd seeketh out his flock in the day that he is among his sheep that are scattered; so will I seek out my sheep, and will deliver them out of all places where they have been scattered in the cloudy and dark day....

I will feed them in a good pasture, and upon the high mountains of Israel shall their fold be: there shall they lie in a good fold, and in a fat pasture shall they feed upon the mountains of Israel. I will feed my flock, and I will cause them to lie down, saith the Lord God. (Ezek. 34: 11, 12, 14, 15.)

◇ ◇ ◇

The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand. The sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night.

The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil: he shall preserve thy soul.

The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore. (Ps. 121: 5-8.)

Unconsidered Trifles

A young R.A.F. pilot was on leave. One day as he was strolling down a busy road, dressed in sports jacket and flannels, a grim-looking female eyed him coldly and handed him a white feather.

The young man looked at the feather in his hand and then at the woman.

"Pardon me, madam," he said very politely, "but are you moulting?"

A touring American go-getter noticed a lazy Indian chief lolling at the entrance to his wigwam somewhere out west.

"Chief", remonstrated the go-getter, "why don't you get a job in a factory?"

"Why?" grunted the chief.

"Well, you could earn a lot of money. Maybe thirty or forty dollars a week".

"Why?" insisted the chief.

"Oh, if you worked hard and saved your money, you'd soon have a bank account. Wouldn't you like that?"

"Why?" again asked the chief.

"For heaven's sake!" shouted the exasperated go-getter. "With a big bank account you could retire, and then you wouldn't have to work any more——"

"Not working now", pointed out the chief.

Contemporaries

THE JAPANESE 'ZERO'

A lot has been written about the Zero and a lot of that has been overpraise. It is probably the most manoeuvrable fighter 'plane in the world. For a long time it was much faster than anything the United States or Britain had in the Pacific. But it has always been a "Fancy Dan," in which pilot protection—that is, armor and self-sealing gazoline tanks and other construction features that made the Wildcat and now the Hellcat one of the toughest, hardest-to-knock-down fighter 'planes in the world — was sacrificed for manoeuvrability and speed. Now that the Zero has lost the edge of speed, it should be even easier to shoot down.

Since the beginning of the war in the Pacific there is hardly a single American weapon that has not been vastly improved. The Japanese have shown little such ability.—New York Times.

DOVER REACTION

There has been more illness in Dover, attributable to war strain, since the enemy cross-channel guns were silenced than there was at any time during the four years the town was under shell-fire.

Doctors' surgeries are filled daily with people who complain that they are suffering from sleeplessness, lack of energy, a "feeling of impending disaster and general malaise.

"During the really bad times," said a leading doctor, "it was remarkable that there was an almost complete lack of such symptoms among our patients.

"I have prescribed more bromide during the past month than I did during the whole of the preceding year."

He thought the present trouble arose from reaction following the great strain Dover people underwent just before the fall of Calais and Boulogne.—London News Chronicle.

McNaughton Seeks Seat In Grey North

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Dec. 11. —(CP).—Canada's Defence Minister—Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton— has accepted an invitation to run as Liberal candidate in the Grey North Federal riding in a by-election early next year.

Announcement that the 53-year-old former commander of the Canadian army overseas would be the Liberal standard-bearer was made last night by John Dolfin, president of the Grey North Liberal Association.

The seat was made vacant recently by the resignation of William P. Telford, Liberal, representative since 1935 who has been unable to take his place in the House of Commons for more than a year because of ill health.

Gen. McNaughton, in a telegram to Mr. Dolfin accepting the invitation, said that while he will be busy for the next few days "completing arrangements for the dispatch of reinforcements needed by our troops overseas" and for the return home on leave of troops with long service, he could meet the Association executive here next Saturday.

Contesting of the seat will be the first political venture by Gen. McNaughton, who before the war was head of the National Research Council

Date of the by-election has not been set, but Mr. Dolfin said a writ probably will be issued at Ottawa within a few days. The Progressive Conservative party so far has been the only other party to name a candidate for the next election in the riding. He is Mayor Garfield Case of Owen Sound.

Gen. McNaughton, who became the third Defence Minister since the start of the war, succeeding Col. J. L. Ralston when the latter resigned over the reinforcement issue, in his telegram to Mr. Dolfin said "large scale movements of troops are now in progress and arrangements are well in hand, but I cannot leave these matters until I am sure that everything is in proper order."

POWER UNIT OF V-2 BOMB — T-5 James Janone, of Bryn Mawr, Pa., is shown examining the Venturi tubes in the propulsion unit of a Nazi V-2 rocket bomb that fell in Belgium. A large number of these bombs have been fired over the Allied front lines, as the Germans vainly attempt to prevent supplies from reaching our forces. Many persons were killed when one of the bombs recently landed in a Belgian city.

138 Stretcher Bearers Killed By German Troops In 24 Hours

TORONTO, Dec 11 — Not much has been written about stretcher bearers since the Allies went into Normandy more than six months ago, but apparently this isn't because the unarmed men who bring dead and wounded from no man's land have been idle.

There was Cecil Snelling, for instance, who returned to Toronto yesterday on the largest hospital train to arrive here since the war began. He was one of 176 wounded Ontario soldiers who arrived.

Pte. Snelling was attached to the 2nd Survey Regiment, RCA, as stretcher bearer in France and Belgium. He wore a patch across his left eye where pieces of .88-mm. shell had lodged.

High Casualty Rate

"In Brussels, 150 of us went out to the front lines to bring back wounded," he related "We went out at dawn and we came back 24 hours later. Twelve of us, that is, came back."

And the others?

"Killed," said Snelling. "Snipers and shrapnel got 138."

Stretcher bearers carry no arms, no ammunition. They wear a white armband bearing a red cross, and anyone who doesn't think the Germans fire on unarmed stretcher bearers had better have a talk with Cecil Snelling.

Snelling was hit Nov. 13. He had got back to Brussels from the line and his jeep was loaded with four stretcher cases and two sitting wounded. The 88-mm. shell hit a crater three feet from the jeep and blew the seven men 30 feet.

"We wound up on a sandbag," said Snelling. "One of the wounded, who had lost a leg, died of shock."

Cpl. Tommy O'Connell, a paratrooper who was dropped into Normandy on D-Day, got home yesterday, too. Native of Hamilton, the big red-head was a prisoner-of-war for three months then escaped.

He was hit "either by a bullet or flak" before he hit the ground. That tangled him in his chute lines and in landing he fractured his spine. Medical attention by the Germans was, he said, "practically nil."

Made Escape Together

Moved three times by the retreating Germans, O'Connell reached a hospital in Paris. The prisoners were told they'd be shot if they attempted to escape so, in the dead of night, O'Connell and a pal—"a Limey paratrooper"—climbed from their beds and slid down a drainpipe from the hospitals third floor.

"The Limey had a cast on a broken leg," smiled O'Connell in recollection, "but we made it. We hid for 36 hours and then the Americans came. They sent us back to England."

A. S. Couper Elected To Travellers Board

TORONTO, Dec. 11—The Commercial Travellers' Association of Canada has elected the following officers:

Toronto board, president, H. J. H. Deedman; vice-presidents, T. J. Simpson, F. M. Cockburn; Hamilton board, vice-presidents, S. G. Douglas, J. W. Rickaby; directors, V. N. Carnahan, James W. Davis, E. A. Hughes, H. Kershaw, W. A. Morris, and R. R. Strain.

The following board members were also elected: A. W. Schaus, Kitchener; F. G. Watson, New Liskeard; H. A. Pettit, Brantford; C. M. Williamson, Montreal; A. C. Merrett, Winnipeg; W. A. Joyce, Vancouver; J. H. Grant, Ottawa; P. E. Mahern, Brockville; A. S. Couper, Peterborough; H. A. Westlake, Windsor; T. P. Allarf, London; W. H. Jessop, North Bay; H. E. Miller, Calgary; C. P. Stauffer, Galt.

McNamara Denies Deferments Abused

OTTAWA, Dec. 11 — (CP). — Arthur MacNamara, director of National Selective Service said last night the Labor Department has received an interim report showing that fewer than 50 men are on deferment from military service at the Weston, Ont., plant of the Massey-Harris Co., Ltd.

He was commenting upon a complaint Friday by Jack Edwards, spokesman for some 300 war veterans employed at the plant, that "enough deferments are hiding behind the skirts of industry in the Toronto area to make an army corps." Mr. Edwards added that workers believed deferments for many men in the plant were "unjustifiable."

Mr. MacNamara said the department was investigating the cases of men on deferment, and should any deferments be found unjustified the men concerned would be called up. He added that, on the basis of the interim report, it appeared no "extravagant use of postponement privileges" was being made.

Understanding

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 11—(CP-Cable)—The Canberra Times in an editorial yesterday on the Canadian decision to send overseas 16,000 conscript troops described the decision as "a demonstration of the great strides forward made in complete understanding between French and English elements in this bilingual British Dominion."

German Women Remain Profoundly Nazi

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press War Correspondent

PARIS, Dec. 11—(CP). — The riddle of the German women is the riddle of the Sphinx—if you can judge from 70 of Hitler's Blitzmadel (German equivalent of the CWAC) and his victory workers now locked up tight in a prison barracks in the heart of Paris.

These are the women who didn't get away, who were captured by the Allies when Paris was liberated. A few of them were taken in Aachen and sent to Paris for internment. Most of the group wore the grey uniform of the Blitzmadel that called from the French their derisive nickname, Souris (Mice). The others were workers brought from Germany to do jobs French refused to do.

Mme. Raymonde Postail of the French Red Cross who is their kindly but firm jailer, will tell you her prisoners are good workers. They choose to work, scrubbing, or sewing for the French poor. They do not like to sit idle.

Then she will add: "Make no mistake, these women are still profoundly Nazi. They still believe in the ultimate victory of Germany. They are obedient, co-operative, hard-working, but they are certain the day will come soon when they will be conquerors."

A slim dark girl in slacks and a brown sweater entered, bowing modestly as she appeared at the door. She was a pretty girl with dark hair, brown eyes, a quiet manner and a smile. She was the exact opposite of what one expected an officer in Hitler's Blitzmadel would be.

Through an interpreter she answered questions without hesitation. First she had enlisted as a Red Cross worker but a year later she was drafted into the army for which she had already had training in "Hitler's little children."

She had served in Poland, Lithuania, Russia, Belgium and France. With the polite smile of someone making teaparty chit chat she said: "Everything we have done for victory is right."

Of the occupation of France she said that it had been a boon to the French, "but being in France made us very unhappy. The youngsters were even unpleasant to us because their parents were revolutionaries with no appreciation of freedom."

French, Russians Sign New Pact

MOSCOW, Dec. 11 (AP)—France's relations with Soviet Russia were cemented today with a new treaty of alliance and mutual assistance negotiated by Gen. De Gaulle as the growing achievement of his 16-day visit to Moscow.

The pact, paralleling a 20-year alliance between Britain and Russia, was announced last night several hours after the French leader had boarded a special train en route to Baku where he will take a plane back to Paris.

While the text of the treaty was not immediately released, an official announcement said both governments had affirmed their intention to fight on together until "complete victory" over Germany is achieved. They also expressed their determination to take jointly all measures necessary to safeguard Europe against future agression.

The treaty was signed in the Kremlin early yesterday, following an all-night session which began with a formal banquet at which the French and Russians were joined by British and United States diplomatic and military representatives.

Throughout the negotiations the western Allies were kept informed of developments, and there were indications the pact was concluded within the framework of the ties binding the United Nations.

Nixon Resigns Party Leadership

TORONTO, Dec. 11 — Harry C. Nixon, Provincial Leader of the Ontario Liberal Party, Saturday tendered his resignation to Archie Haines, president of the Ontario Liberal Association. A caucus of the 16 Liberal members of the Legislature on Wednesday accepted Mr. Nixon's resignation as House Leader and offered the House leadership to former Premier Mitchell Hepburn, who accepted it.

At the time the House leadership passed to Mr. Hepburn, Mr. Nixon declared that the Provincial leadership itself was a matter for a Provincial convention to settle. His resignation of this post followed Saturday.

Liberal sources said it is likely that a provincial convention to discuss the party leadership will be called early next year and it was reported that Mr. Hepburn would be a candidate, but neither he nor other Liberal members would comment.

In our war programme certain goods and services are given "priority-rating". This is simply a common-sense method of putting first things first to ensure national security.

"Priorities" play a part, too, in our family life. In planning a financial programme to ensure the security and well-being of our families, for instance, life insurance merits priority-rating.

"If I had my way", said Winston Churchill, "I would write the word 'insure' over the door of every cottage and upon the blotting book of every public man, because I am convinced that for sacrifices which are inconceivably small, families can be secured against catastrophes which otherwise would smash them up forever."

Tens of thousands of men and women have given priority-rating to Imperial Life insurance. You are invited to join them. There is an Imperial Life man near you.

The Last Beach-head

They went away to war as boys, straight from a world that was filled with boyish hopes and dreams, a world remote from suffering.

Soon they will be coming home again. It is too much to hope that they will have remained unchanged after knowing the obscene grim horror of war.

They will have aged. All will bear mental scars. For them, the last great beach-head will be the landing on the shores of Canada, and the re-entrance into civilian life.

Let us give them—not sympathy, but understanding; not charity, but the chance to fit themselves quickly and easily into the ways of peacetime living . . . the chance to recapture the years of youth and the bright opportunities they put aside so that Victory might be ours.

Falcons Move Into Tie With St. Mike's

(By The Canadian Press)

St. Catharines Falcons went into a first-place tie with Toronto St. Michael's, each with a record of five wins and no losses, when they worked out a 4-2 victory against the luckless Marlboros Saturday on Toronto ice. In the other half of the Gardens' double header, Young Rangers trounced Port Colborne Recreationists for the second time this season, emerging with a 5-1 decision, and the winners now stand on even terms for third spot in the O.H.A. Junior "A" race with Galt Red Wings who succumbed to Generals 5-4 at Oshawa Saturday night.

The Falcons won their tilt with Marlies in the third period by overcoming a two-goal deficit with a four-counter splurge, with Smelle counting two tallies and one assist and McMurdy and Edwards notching one apiece. Young Rangers scored twice in the first stanza against Port Colborne and Cunningham found the net for Recreationists for the only sinker of the second frame. Young Rangers ran in three more in the third to make it 5-1, with Defsbury getting the last two in succession.

Galt led Generals 2-1 in the initial period at Oshawa but the Memorial Cup champions went ahead in the second on a brace of markers while the rivals split even in the final session with two each. Babando of Galt was the ace sniper of this rugged engagement with three goals, Bill Curik earning a single. Scorers for Oshawa were Sullivan, Taggart, Denny, Petsura and Gallagher. Petsura also helped his individual record with two assists.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

Plans for international games with Canadian universities were dealt with in a discussion of the post-war program Saturday at the 62nd annual meeting of the U.S. Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association at New York. Field lacrosse with 10-man teams is played in the States and the adoption of box lacrosse after the war was suggested.

Because of his poor showing in a bout in England Nov. 15, Danny Webb, Montreal negro, yesterday was suspended for two months by the British Boxing Board of Control and his purse for the fight was ordered confiscated. Similar action was taken against his opponent, Kid Tanner of British Guiana.

Wally Stanowski will return to Winnipeg Tuesday with his family and won't be back with Toronto Maple Leafs until he "is free of all military obligations," Coach Happy Day of the Toronto National Hockey League team said yesterday. Stanowski was not in the Toronto line-up for the game with Boston Saturday night.

A new high of 319 team entries in the Toronto Hockey League was reached in the 1943-44 season it was reported at the annual meeting Saturday. It is expected the record will be excelled this year. Guest speaker F. S. (Dinty) Moore of Port Colborne, president of the Ontario Hockey Association, stressed the need for parental interest in boys' sport. He suggested establishment in Canada of large outdoor artificial ice rinks similar to those in pre-war Europe.

Lions Scores Third Victory

Gord. Johnston's Lions reeled off their third victory in a row while the Cougars, new entry in the House League, had an auspicious debut on Saturday night in the weekly double-header.

The Lions polished off Bill Kemp's Trojans in easy fashion 41 to 21, while Cougars piled up 51 points as against 21 for Roy oJhnston's Tigers.

The youthful snipers on the Lions' lineup were shooting too accurately and handling the ball too smartly for Trojans.

Vic Griffin set the pace with 16 points, Don Plunkett kicked in with 10, and Al Stewart and Paul Estlick each came up with eight to pile up a margin that the Trojans could not come close to equalling. The losers were held to 10 points, an unusually low total as basketball is played to-day. Geraghty was the only loser to have much luck, cashing in with 6 points.

The teams:

Lions (41) — Griffin 16, Plunkett 10, Stewart 8, Estlick 8, Spike Matthews, Jack Matthews.

Trojans (10) — Courtney, Geraghty 6, Upper, Shadgett, Collins 2, Kemp 2.

Cougars, with Don McTavish, home from the R.C.A.F., racking up the highest score of the season, 27 points, had too much power for the Tigers, who were beaten 51 to 21.

McTavish's accurate shooting, aided by Turner and Edgar, who contributed 10 points each, enabled the winners to pile up a huge margin, and the Tigers hadn't much of a comeback. Roy Johnston and Steve Csumrik battled hard in a losing cause, each having 9 points.

The teams:

Cougars (51) — Davern 4, W Turner 10, R. Turner, McTavish 27, Edgar 10.

Tigers (21) — R. Johnston 9, G. Bouck, Seabrooke, Sisson 1, Waterman 2, Csumrik 9.

London After Post-War Olympic Games

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sport Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Dec. 11 — (AP). — Col. Evan Hunter of the British Army and secretary of the British Olympic Association, has asked delegates to the 56th annual A.A.U. Convention to support London's bid for the first post-war Olympic games.

"London has been battered and shoved about a bit in the blitz and during the more recent robot bombings but from the information I have, none of our major stadiums have been damaged greatly and we could be host to the games with a minimum of effort," he said.

He pointed out that the United States would find it less difficult to finance a jaunt to London for its athletics than the war-torn countries of Europe would in finding the cash for a trip across the Atlantic.

Hunter spoke just before the delegates closed their sessions yesterday, many of them heading to New York where the U.S.A. Sports Federation meets tonight.

The U.S.A.S.F. is the successor to the American Olympic Association and is the organization in charge of U.S. participation in the Olympic and Pan-American games. This will be its first meeting since 1941 when plans were made for the 1942 Pan-American carnival at Buenos Aires, dropped because of the war.

Brig.-Gen. William C. Rose of the War Manpower Commission opposed Hunter's London suggestion and urged the games be held in Washington, where it has been proposed to build a huge stadium as a war memorial.

With the fifth week of bowling on us the results are very slow in coming in and we would suggest that the skips do their best to catch up with some of those back games or we will have to resort to handing out some penalties. The games as not reported by Saturday, Dec. 9th are: No. 4 v No. 7, No. 5 v No. 7, No. 2 v No. 4, No. 1 v No. 6. It is apparent that both No. 4 and No. 7 are the worst offenders.

The only result received last week was of the game between the Orangemen and the Saints. I reckon that those Orangemen thought they had easy meat when they took the Saints for a 24 to 5 count in the first game, but the Saints came back with plenty of what it takes to beat King Billie and his gang 14 to 4.

The complete results as received to date are: No. 6 11-12 vs. No. 7 8-14; No. 1 11-13 vs. No. 3 12-14; No. 7 6-10 v No. 2 17-1; No. 1 6-13 v. No. 5 12-15, No. 4 5-5 v. No. 5 12-15; No. 6 10-13 v. No. 5 14-7; No. 4 6-7 v. No. 3 13-13; No. 1 11-9 v No. 2 13-10.

Games as scheduled this week are: All Saints No 3 v B.E.S.L. No. 7; L.O.L. No. 2 v B.E.S.L. No. 6; P.F.D. No. 1 v St. George No 4; Wardens get a bye.

We are glad to report that the Saints are the first team to send in their dues complete and would ask every other skip to arrange his as soon as possible.

TO COACH—Ralph (Red) Kress, who served under Burleigh Grimes in Toronto last season, has been signed by Baltimore Orioles of the International League. He will coach the players.

While the Y.M.C.A. House League has been looking for some time as if it were going to be sewed up completely by Gord Johnston's Lions who have reeled off three straight wins, the entry of a new team into the loop, headed by Clarence Davern and Spud Turner, two experienced cagers may change the whole complexion of affairs. The Cougars made their debut Saturday night and the manner in which they polished off Roy Johnston's Tigers by a score of 51 to 21 indicates that the new entry may be a decided factor in the House League race. Don McTavish just back from the R.C.A.F. hung up the highest individual score of the season for the Cougars, racking up 27 points and Turner and Edger each contributed 10 in a high-scoring display. The Tigers tried hard but had no chance against the smooth work of the winners. The Lions also turned in a fine card in picking off their third straight win, smothering the Trojans 41 to 10. The Lions are a young team with a high scoring combination in Don Plunkett, Vic Griffin, Al Stewart and Paul Estlick and they badly outplayed Bill Kemp's outfit in Saturday night's game.

Organization of the local juvenile hockey league should get under way shortly, although it is not likely there will be any action until after the Christmas rush is over. Young players all over the city are anxiously waiting for the green light and it is obvious that there will be no lack of material once formation of the teams has begun. So far only two of the city's service clubs, the Kinsmen and the B'Nai B'Rith Society have announced their intention of financially supporting teams but other organizations have the matter under consideration so that aspect of the situation should present no particular difficulties. The city parks committee is doing its part by making arrangements for hockey cushions and members of the former senior hockey club have agreed to do the coaching of the youngters. It is felt that while Peterborough is waiting for the new arena that is now a certainty in view of the fine response to the campaign for subscriptions and the passing of the $75,000 civic grant, a lot of missionary work can be done among young players this season. A juvenile loop will give the youngsters a chance to play organised hockey and will do a lot to keep the game alive.

Sport And Gambling

Just at a stage when quite a cry is being raised around New York about the gambling taking place on basketball games at Madison Square Garden, there comes word from overseas of another attempt being made to eliminate betting on British soccer, says Bill Westwick in his Ottawa Journal sports column. Across the border Ned Irish, who built basketball into a tremendous drawing card at Madison Square Garden, is leading the drive against the gamblers and bookmakers operating around the Gotham sports centre. Newspapers are unanimous in their support of the move and only the other day Irish announced that more than 60 names are on the blacklist. Those who have been listed not only will be barred from basketball games there, but from all other sports attractions as well. The idea is to eliminate the well-known charcaters who turn a dollar or two on such occasions and henceforth they will be barred from admission to even the dog shows held there.

* * * * * *

Meanwhile a move is afoot in England to try and eliminate the gambling on British football, but most observers there are certain it is doomed to failure, continues the Westwick article. Two previous abortive attempts have been made in this direction, but recently a committee of the sport's governing body, the Football Association, has recommended that "in the interest of the nation" betting pools be prohibited. The betting pools on British football run to astronomical figures each year. The Government is said to receive something in the neighborhood of $30,000,000 in annual revenue from this legalized form of gambling. Powerful advertising circles make some $3,000,000 from the printing of the weekly "pick the winner" charts, and thus far neither Government nor other interests seem inclined to pass up such revenue. One of those who believe the latest attempt to curb the pools will meet no better fate than the others is J. H. Freeman, sports editor of the Daily Mail. Says he: "You may object to them on moral grounds; you may regard them as harmless amusements, but I do not think anyone can claim successfully that they have had an injurious effect on football. And on the ground of political expediency alone I cannot see the Government attempting to pass an act to stop them."

Hard To Handle

"Revival of last year's rumor that the Detroit Tigers are interested in both Jeff Heath and Jim Bagby of the Cleveland Indians is one of those "Hot Stove League" deals that helps to keep baseball fans warm in the winter months," remarks Doug Vaughan in the Windsor Star. "With slugging Dick Wakefield back in the armed services, the Detroit club could certainly use an outfielder of Heath's pellet-pounding ability. They also need a pitcher of Bagby's ability. But the question still remains, would Heath and Bagby help the Tigers? Manager Lou Boudreau has announced that both players are for sale—for a price. He made the same announcement last winter and there were no takers. There must be a reason why other American League clubs have not already jumped at the chance to acquire the services of two established major leaguers who, admittedly, possess a great deal of ability. And there is. Remember the uprising of Cleveland players a few years back that resulted in the dismissal of Oscar Vitt as manager? Well, Heath and Bagby were among the ring-leaders."

Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins closed in on the second place Toronto Maple Leafs over the week-end. The Rossmen gained two points on the Toronto gang by outscoring them 5 to 3 on Saturday night and then the Red Wings picked up a pair Sunday by nosing out the Bruins 7 to 6 in a hard-fought battle. Meanwhile Chicago Black Hawks and the Rangers were playing a tie game at New York, each scoring once. In the Toronto game the Bruins were always in front. Gaudreault and Jennings looked after the scoring with two markers each while Harvey Bennett, former Oshawa General goalie, held off the Toronto attack with a brilliant display in the nets. The battle at Detroit was a real argument that was not settled until he final ten minutes. Bruins surprised the Wings by taking the first two goals and they held on until the Detroiters finally took the honors with goals by Mud Bruneteau and Wochy.

DURBAN — (CP). — Bitten by a mamba, whose bite is normally fatal within 20 minutes, a native herdboy in Natal was well on the way to recovery after 24 hours. He killed the snake, cut out the poison sacs and swallowed the poison in them. This action probably saved his life.

WantCageGame Developed Across Canada

ST. CATHARINES, Dec. 11. — Ontario amateur basketball heads, in executive session here Saturday afternoon for the first time in several years, went on record as seeking to develop the cage game across Canada.

They feel tht the banner Province is progressing, but passed a motion of Dominion-wide proportions demand an election of the Canadian body which "froze" its officers for the duration.

President Howard Campbell of Windsor presided over the executive caucus, whose attending members were Past President Don Paul of the O.A.B.A.; Bob Gladish, first vice-president of the T. and D. A.B.A.; Wilton Marks, second vice-president of the O.A.B.A., and Hon. Vice-president Laurie Irwin of the O.A.B.A., all from Toronto.

Father Carl Siegfried of St. Jerome's College, Kitchener, and president of the Central Ontario A.B.A.; President Joe Calerone of the Niagara District Association; First Vice-President E. F. Dixon of the O.A.B.A., and Secretary Hugh Maguire of the Ontario Church Association of this city and O.A.B.A. Secretary-Treasurer Myles Leeson of Merritton were also in attendance.

Members went on record as being definitely interested in progress of community recreational centres now mooted in post-war construction, they propose to include therein the badly needed facilities for development of basketball throughout Ontario, by architectural aids.

Standard Floors Wanted.

The main idea is to incorporate in proposed structures the standardized floors for basketball that will enable these centres to house provincial playoffs. The senior series for 1944-45 will be decided on a playoff basis, with all lower classes on tournament on basis, if entries warrant. Toronto was assigned the Intermediate A tourney, Brantford the Intermediate B, Kitchener-Waterloo the Junior, and St. Catharines will sponsor the Juvenile for the Niagara district as the sector having the majority of entrants in that classification. Midget bantam will be allocated later.

Vice-President Dixon and Secretary-treasurer Leeson were delegates to "missionary" the Hamilton district and reorganize that entire section before the end of the year. President Howard Campbell was named convener of the Border Cities territory, and Herb Pearse of Midland convener of the Simcoe-Huron district.

Don Paul and Laurie Irwin of Toronto were delegated to interview Chairman Lionel Conacher of the Ontario Athletic Commission in the interests of minor basketball. The Ontario tournament committee to decide on entries and convene the class finals consists of Laurie Irwin and Wilton Marks of Toronto, Ed Dixon of St. Catharines, and Secretary-treasurer Leeson of Merritton.

Don Paul announced that Toronto is to have a senior challenger along with Windsor, for the Ontario and Dominion Cage title now held by Merritton Hayes, who won the honors from the United States 225th Regiment of Engineers from Edmonton, Alta., in this city last spring. The Ontario executives were dinner guests of St Catharines Grads Association, who met in semi-annual conference on Saturday night.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—(AP)—Suggestion for the major league magnates who will be meeting here for the next few days (with an assist for minors): Since Judge Landis insisted that he wanted no statues and memorials and since his son, Col. Reed Landis, has suggested that the money should be devoted to developing boys' baseball, how about organizing and helping to support "Landis Leagues" for kids?. . . . The minors already have proposed some good plans for helping high school baseball, but that won't keep the kids going through the summer.

A Good Start

The sporting News comes up with a Judge Landis story we'd never heard . . . When the major league club owners met to install him as commissioner in 1921, the Jedge was missing . . . a courier finally located him watching a kid game on a vacant lot . . . When Landis finally reached the meeting, he apologized: "Sorry, gentlemen. I came upon the opening game of the season in a vacant cow pasture and I just had to stop and look at it."

Cincinnati's Ray Mueller has picked up 12 pounds since he caught his 217th consecutive ball game at the end of the season. Now he's eager to start again after George Gibson's mark of 433 straight.

Giant, 1905 — Famous Battery—Mathewson, Left, and Bresnahan — Without Shinguards

MATHEWSON BATTERY MATE, BRESNAHAN, IN HEYDAY—Death has ended the career of Roger Bresnahan, 64, former big league catcher who was the battery mate of the immortal Christy Mathewson and who is credited with inventing and using shinguards for catchers. Bresnahan, in recent years a salesman for a brewing company, died in Toledo, O., where he took up residence when he became manager and owner of the Toledo club of the American Association. Born in Tralee, Ireland, and known as the "Duke of Tralee" in his playing career, Bresnahan broke into baseball in 1896 with Lima in the Ohio League. He was first-string catcher of the Giants in 1902-08. He retired from baseball in 1931.

Detroit Close On Heels Of Canadiens

(By The Canadian Press)

Detroit Red Wings, featuring the brother act of Modere and Eddie Bruneteau, last night emerged as standout candidates for Montreal Canadiens' leading role in the National Hockey League by subduing Boston Bruins 7-6 at Detroit.

Victory put Jack Adams' men in a second-place tie with Toronto Maple Leafs, who dropped a 5-3 decision to Boston Saturday, and only three points off the pace of Canadiens, idle during the week-end. The Detroiters have a game in hand over both rivals.

Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers got nowhere in their fifth-place argument by playing a 1-1 draw at New York.

The Bruneteau combination provided more than half the Detroit momentum in a see-saw battle, with veteran Mud picking up two goals and two assists and younger brother Eddie, recruited from the Allan Cup champion Quebec Aces, accounting for another pair of scores.

Rookie Steve Wochy fired the decisive shot at 15:39 of the third after his mates had wiped out an early 2-0 Bruin lead. Wochy's goal gave Wings a 7-5 edge that yielded only one score, Bill Cowley's unassisted effort, to a last-ditch Boston assault. Cowley also registered two assists to regain first place in the league scoring race by three points over Toe Blake of Montreal.

Other Boston scorers were Art Jackson, Bill Jennings, Herb Cain, Armand Gaudreault and Fernand Gladu, while Carl Liscombe and Joe Carveth completed the Detroit scoring.

Bruins, backed by the superlative netminding of Rookie Harvey Bennett, exploited their breaks to earn Saturday's victory over Toronto. Jennings and Gaudreault led the offensive with two goals each.

Pat Egan, burly Boston defenceman, gave the Bruins a lead they never relinquished when he broke through for the only first-period goal. Jennings made it 2-0 early in the second before Mel Hill put Leafs in the game on a solo dash. Gaudreault and Jack McLean matched goals to leave Bruins ahead 3-2 at the end of the period, and in the third Nick Metz sandwiched Toronto's final score between Jennings' and Gaudreault's second tallies.

Rangers and Hawks put on an uninspiring exhibition for 14,124 Manhattan fans, struggling through nearly 30 minutes of scoreless hockey after Ab Demarco equalized a first-period score by Chicago's Fido Purpur to create the 1-1 deadlock.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press

Boston's great playmaker, Bill Cowley, picking up four points in week-end play, regained leadership of National Hockey League scorers. Cowley moved three points ahead of idle Toe Blake of Canadiens. Syd Howe, Detroit, gathered two points and Gus Bodnar, Toronto, one to tie for third place with Elmer Lach of Canadiens.

| Leaders | G | A | Pts. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Cowley, Boston | 10 | 19 | 29 |
| Blake, Canadiens | 13 | 13 | 26 |
| Howe, Detroit | 5 | 16 | 21 |
| Bodnar, Toronto | 4 | 17 | 21 |

Capitals Hold 4-Point Lead Over Pittsburgh Hornets

By The Canadian Press.

Indianapolis Capitals, with a 6-1 victory on home ice over Hershey Bears Sunday following a 2-2 draw with Pittsburgh Hornets Saturday, took a four-point lead over Hornets in the western division of the American Hockey League.

Standings in the eastern division held unchanged as each team won one of its week-end games. First-place Buffalo Bisons, at home to St. Louis Sunday, handed Flyers a 7-1 defeat, while at Providence the Reds just edged out Pittsburgh 5-4 after leading by five goals at the middle of the second period. Second-place Hershey Bears won their first victory in four starts Saturday when they shut out Providence 5-0 at Hershey.

In the third game Saturday Cleveland Barons defeated St. Louis 5-2 at Cleveland.

At Indianapolis the Capitals piled up a five-goal lead before Bill Warwick notched up the Bears' only counter early in the third period. Playing Coach Johnny Sorrell and Winger Tony Bukovich each scored twice for Capital, while Bill Thomson and Pete Leswick accounted for one goal each.

First This Year.

At Buffalo, St. Louis' lone goal, their first against Bisons this season, was credited to Rod Doran, though it was carried into the cage by Art Giroux. It came midway in the third period after Bisons had piled up seven, all by different players. Scorers for Buffalo were Gordon Davidson, Roger Leger, Paul Mundrick, George Bootham, George Pargeter, Len Halderson and Kenny Kilrea.

Jack Lavoie starred for the Reds at Providence, accounting for two goals as they piled up a five-goal start over Pittsburgh. Toward the end of the second period Dede Klein and Chuck Shannon counted for Hornets and in the third Doc Prentice and Jimmy Jamieson added two more to leave Reds with a one goal margin.

At Pittsburgh Saturday Tony Hemmerling and Johnny Mahaffy gave Hornets the lead in the first period and Tony Bukovich came back with one for Indianapolis. Pete Leswick tucked in the goal for Indianapolis that tied the count in the last frame.

Ross Knowles started the scoring early in the first period in the game at Hershey. After that Providence held the bears until well into the third, when Hershey went on a scoring rampage, driving in four goals in less than three minutes.

In the Saturday game at Cleveland Barons had the lead all the way, piling up three goals in the first period and two in the third before St. Louis got in their two.

Soldier Wins Oakland Open

OAKLAND, Cal., Dec. 11—(AP)—Sgt. Jim Ferrier, Camp Roberts, Cal., won the $7,500 war bonds Oakland Open golf tournament Sunday with a 72-hole total of 277. On his final round he carded his third successive 68, after a first-round 73.

Ky Laffoon, Chicago, also posting a final-day 68, finished with 278 for second prize. Harold McSpaden, Philadelphia, leader at the end of the third round, needed a 72 and finished third at 279. Sam Byrd, Detroit, was fourth with 280, and George Schneiter, Salt Lake City, fifth with 282.

Byron Nelson, Toledo, Ohio, tournament favorite, ended in a sixth-place tie with Craig Wood, Mamaroneck, N.Y., at 283, while another popular choice, Sam Snead, Hot Springs, Va., deadlocked at 285 with Jimmy Hines, Amsterdam N.Y. and Leonard Dodson Kansas City Mo.

In second position as the field teed off for the last 18 over Sequoyah course Ferrier caught up and passed McSpaden at the ninth hole with a 33 to the latter's one-over-par 36. He breezed in from there, racing on the impetus of a par 35 nine to hold the advantage.

Ferrier's victory was a popular one with a gallery of more than 1,000 training the big stars in sunny, if windy weather.

He picked up $1,600 worth of war bonds for his victory.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Dec. 11 — (CP). — A behind-the-scenes glimpse of what Winnipeg is doing in promoting hockey for youngsters given an inkling of the reason why the rest of Canada looks to the West for ice talent, and why the Western hockey bodies have had to put up the barriers in self-defence...... Maurice Smith (Smitty of the Winnipeg Free Press) reveals there are 67 teams ranging from bantam to junior in Winnipeg alone, with at least 1,000 players on their rosters....Besides that there is a separate playgrounds league operated by the Civic Parks Board. Last year there were 26 teams in this venture....That picture is repeated in different ways in practically every Western community of any size. It was probably only natural that, with such an extensive supply of young talent, the Eastern junior teams would rather import players than go to the time and trouble of developing their own....Now that the source of supply is cut off, more attention may be given to production on the Eastern home fronts.

Free air again:

There is no little rejoicing among fans at the service boxing meets in Toronto now that the ban on cheering and booing contestants has been removed. There has been so much criticism of the rule keeping the referee outside the ring and forbidding Aloysius Q. Phan from displaying his feelings vocally that the Air Force dropped said rule overboard. That's okay by everybody, but the tonsils are going to take quite a beating.

Incidentally:

The wound-licking Oshawa Generals aren't getting much sympathy from other centres after that lacing they took in their first game of the season. Chick (Stratford Beacon-Herald) Appel comments: "It may be the best thing for junior hockey" if Generals are left in the cold when play-off time comes around. Oshawa fans can still get plenty of comfort by looking back over the Generals' record of the past few years......Andy (Toronto Star) Lytle thinks that professional hockey players who have gone into the services should be made free agents so they could shop around and perhaps pick up a little bonus cheque for signing with the highest bidder. As it is now, they are tied down by iron-clad contracts and will have to be shoved around as the owners dictate.

Brewster Boy Makes Big Hit

In the past year, the kid-comedy show, "That Brewster Boy," has found its way into the hearts of radio listeners all over Canada. Every Friday night, over radio station CHEX at 9:30 p.m., fans are treated to a mad festival of "super" brainwaves that land teen-age Joey Brewster and his side-kick Pee Wee in the good old soup.

The boy who gets the bright ideas with dark results—Joey Brewster—is played by talented radio veteran, Dick York. And the other role of their double-trouble magnet, Pee Wee, is given voice by clever young Jerry Spellman.

Mother and Father Brewster, in real life, Connie Crawley and Hugh Studebaker, are led a hectic life by by their 10,000 volt son. Real mothers and real fathers can sympathize with the bewildered parents of the screwball juvenile throughout his madcap shenanigans. And parents smile knowingly at the trials and tribulations of his love life with ever-faithful, suffering Minerva.

"That Brewster Boy" is a real family show entertainment for young and old alike. Everybody gets a kick out of the rib-tickling jams into which Joey's brainwaves plunge him. And yet, though his ideas and troubles are so fantastic, the family is so real and down-to-earth they might be your next door neighbours.

St. Andrew's WA Elects Officers

MARMORA, Dec. 11.—(ENS). — The annual meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Association was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Dickson.

Mrs. F. R. Wells was in charge of the devotional period and Mrs. M. A. Burwash read the Scripture lesson. Mrs. H. R. Haacke gave the lesson thoughts and Miss M. Brown led in prayer. Mrs. W. Dickson sang a solo and Mrs. E. M. Cadigan gave a short reading.

Tre retiring president, Mrs. E. C. Prentice, conducted the business portion of the meeting. Reports of financial secretary and treasurer were presented, indicating a successful year. A gratifying amount accrued from the recent chicken supper when about 6C0 meals were served. It is expected that the association will raise more than $1,000 this year. Five hundred dollars was voted to the official board of the church towards expenses.

Rev. E. M. Cadigan conducted the election of officers, who are as follows: President, Mrs. E. C. Prentice; vice-president, Mrs. H. A. Burwash; corresponding secretary, Miss M. Brown; financial secretary, Mrs. F. Sweet; treasurer, Mrs. F. R. Wells; pianist, Mrs. Thomas Dickson; auditors, Mrs. P. Gordon and Mrs. D. Thomson; parsonage committee, Mrs. H. W. Sabine, Mrs. E. Gray, Mrs. H. R. Haacke and Mrs. W. J. Pack; kitchen commitee, Mrs. L. Phillips, Mrs. W. R. Hamilton and Mrs. T. Cousins; sick, visiting committee—all 1944 members re-elected.

The various circles will carry on the same as in 1944.

The January meeting, which will feature the installation of officers, will be held at the home of Mrs. L. R. Green.

Fliers Get Call

OTTAWA, Dec. 11—(CP)—S. H. McLaren, mobilization director of the Labor Department, said yesterday first call-up notices have been sent out to some of the 4,200 R.C.A.F. trainees recently released from the Air Force. The men were given the alternatives of volunteering with the army or waiting for their call.

"ONE MAN ARMY" IS BACK HOME—There's pride in the eyes of Mrs. Maurice Britt, as she admires the service ribbons and medals adorning the husky chest of her husband, now in New York. Capt. Maurice Britt, 25, who is a former University of Arkansas and Detroit Lions' football star, has been awarded three top military honors—the Congressional Medal, the Distinguished Service Cross and the Silver Star. He won all these honors fighting in the infantry in the European theatre of operations. He lost his right arm in combat in Italy.

Life In Britain Remains Tense As Victory Nears

By CHARLES BRUCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 11 — (CP) — For Britons as for all the world 1944 was the year of invasion—the beginning of visible victory. For the battered old capital of these islands it will long be remembered also as the year of the flying bombs.

In spiritual tension 1944 can be compared only with 1938—Munich—and 1939, which saw, finally, the world begin to gasp in agony in the poison distilled from the rotting fruit of appeasement.

But it was a different tension. In the late 30's this nation held its breath in anticipation of a blow. In the early 40's it parried and parried again. But in 1944 it fidgeted for the word that would send it out to strike. To strike—full out in midring.

In June the word came.

Britons look into the new year and see victory. This has been already foreshadowed. It is doubtful whether the war's end—suddenly or through the gradual elimination of guerilla resistance — will be as cleancut an emotional landmark as the establishment of bridgeheads in Normandy. With the Wetsern Front opened the nation was over the hump.

Only a week after D-Day the flying bombs struck. These weapons, of no military importance, but highly and indiscriminately dangerous to civilian life and property, aroused an anger that not even the blitz had evoked. For one thing, there was no one to shoot back at, except an inhuman machine; relief had to await the Canadian clean-up of the Pas de Calais. For another, after the baby blitz of February and March, people had figured air attacks were over. They were becoming adjusted on a mental level less tense than the "in the line spirit" that kept London going through the winter of 1941.

Flying Bomb Beaten.

Then, gradually, the mood changed. The flying bombs were licked by anti-aircraft fire, fighter pilots, and the overrunning of the sites. There was some disappointment as the year waned that we were still at war. But the conviction grew that anyone who had been through the 1941 winter blitz — when Britain had no allies except refugees and the commonwealth — and the long succeeding years of work and struggle, could take the rest of it standing on its head.

Preparations for life in peace time are many. Employment and housing and social planning are live topics. And there are some small signs of return to normal living. The Home Guard rests. The blackout has been modified; lights twinkle dimly in the streets. There are a few more toys for Christmas, and an extra ration issue.

But these in themselve are rather small things. And that is why, though victory is discernible and known to be a matter of fighting, working, and time, its actual attainment will probably signal a terrific celebration—a blow-out to signal worthily the lifting of the shadow.

For when you come right down to it, living is still austere in Britain; austere almost to the point of asceticism. It willu be that way until the war in Europe ends.

4 Teachers Quit No Reasons Given

PERTH, Dec. 11—(CP)—Dr. J. P. Hardy, principal of Perth Collegiate Institute and Vocational School for the last 23 years, and three members of the staff Friday night submitted their resignations to Perth Board of Education, which accepted them. No reason for the resignations was disclosed at the meeting.

Others resigning, besides Dr. Hardy, were Bryant Robertson, teacher of music; Isobel Kenyon, head of the Commercial Department and secretary of the Collegiate Institute; and Miss K. Johnson, joint head of the Department of English.

In the absence of Chairman E. M. Sabiston, A. W. Monnery presided. The Teachers' resignations become effective December 31, and the Board directed internal management committee to take action immediately to fill the vacancies.

W.M.S. Honors Miss C. Payne

WARSAW, Dec. 11 — (ENS) — Miss Clara Payne was presented with a life membership certificate at the W.M.S. meeting held in the church basement last week. Miss Payne has been a faithful member for a long time and the society expressed their appreciation to her in this way.

The treasurer reported the givings for the month of November were higher than any previous month, amounting to $70.50.

Mrs. Harold Ray as temperance convener read a paper on that subject, Mrs. Ray was also appointed recording secretary.

An interesting candle light service was conducted by Mrs. George Taylor, with Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Ray, Mrs. W. Darling, Mrs. Hawthorne and Mrs. Snelgrove lighting the friendship candles for those of other faiths and nationalities who will be coming to Canada following the war.

Afternoon tea was served by the society following the meeting and Miss Clara Payne extended a vote of appreciation to Mrs. George Taylor, for her many years as president of the W.M.S. and Mrs. Geo. Weller thanked the society on behalf of the Women's Association.

Lots Of Liquor

TORONTO, Dec 11—(CP)—Two hundred bottles of liquor bearing the seal of the Quebec Liquor Commission and valued at $2,500, bootleg prices, were seized by Toronto police Friday night in a raid on a Kensington avenue home. Three men and a woman were arrested on a charge of having liquor illegally.

Maynooth Flier Hits Locomotives

AT ADVANCED R.C.A.F. AIRFIELD, Dec. 11.— (Special.)— A two-man armed reconnaissance by Flying Officers B. E. Middleton, D.F.C., and W. R. Weeks, of Toronto and Loggieville, N.B., respectively, paid dividends recently when the Canadian Spitfire pilots dive-bombed a railway and scored a direct hit. Returning to base, they saw one enemy transport vehicle and left it probably destroyed.

On a subsequent four-man mission by mates of Middleton and Weeks, all being members of the squadron commanded by S/L Bill Olmsted, D.F.C. of Hamilton, Ont., the town of Lavesum and territory immediately northeast of it was thoroughly plastered with bombs, machine gun and common fire.

Two locomotives were disabled northeast of the town by Flying Officer Don Goodwin, D.F.C., of Maynooth, Ont., and another officer. We later on the way home destroyed a part of enemy transport vehicles and damaged a third.

S/L Dean Dover, of Toronto, led another dive-bombing sortie in which his squadron scored direct hits on an important road in close proximity to Zutphen.

Aviation WAS GEARED TO COMMERCE

ABOUT 1926 an era of great expansion began in the aviation industry on this continent. During the following eight years, networks of airlines spread over North and South America.

Nickel Steels, because of their superior strength and toughness, were used for crankshafts, connecting rods, propeller shafts, gears and other vital parts of the new airplane engines. Other Nickel alloys were used to give longer service life at high temperatures when exposed to corrosive exhaust fumes.

The Canadian Nickel industry through its research laboratories and rolling mills, gave every possible assistance to the aviation industry. Thus another new market was developed to help take the place of war markets wiped out in 1918.

Today Canadian Nickel is again diverted to war purposes, and again the industry looks to the future with confidence. Plans are ready to develop and expand old and new peacetime markets, so that the Nickel industry may continue, through its own initiative and enterprise, to make still greater contributions to Canada's welfare.

ACCIDENT AT INTERSECTION

Arthur Robertson, 334 McDonnel street, was driving east on Brock street and Russell Cooke, 317 Pearl avenue south on Donegal street just before 6 o'clock Sunday evening and the two vehicles met in collision at the intersection. Both cars were damaged in the clash but no one was hurt.

TRUCK, BUS COLLIDE

Ralph Hendren reported to the police station Saturday that while he was driving his truck south on Water street, opposite the market, he met two north-bound city buses. The first one passed his truck without any mishap, but the second one came into contract with the side of his machine. Minor damage was done to the bus.

THEY WERE FOUND

A duty coat, pair of mitts, and balaclava which dropped off a Fire Department truck Monday evening while the vehicle was on its way to the Canadian Canoe Company fire, was found and returned to the station Friday. Fireman said today that an item in the Main Street column of Thursday's Examiner, brought their belongings back to the department.

COLLIDE AT CORNER

Cars driven by Dr. Herb N. Young, 05 Stewart street and Kenneth Downer, 458 Bolivar street, were damaged in a collision at George and Charlotte streets Saturday at noon. Dr. Young who had been travelling west on Charlotte street, said that he waited for the traffic lights to turn and then proceeded on. In the intersection his car was struck by that of Downer which was travelling south on George street.

CAR TAKES OFF

Miss F. McMahon, Crawford's Grove, parked her car on the west side of George street near Hunter street Saturday night and went into an apartment store. When she came back she found her car had taken off from where it had been parked, cut across the street and collided with a car owned by W. E. Dixon, 243 Park street. Dixon's car suffered damage to the fenders and running board; the other machine was not damaged.

EXPECTED HOME

Major Archie Hamilton and Sgt. Wilfred T. Jones who returned as casualties aboard the hospital ship Letitia, last week, expect to be home soon, they have notified their families. Major Hamilton came to Kingston and Sgt. Jones to Toronto.

DEADLINE

The deadline for mail destined for the United States for Christmas was Sunday, December 10, but mail taken to the Post Office for the next few days will probably be delivered on time. Christmas mail for the United States arrived in a fair quantity, Postmaster Charles Lacheur said today.

TRANSFERRED

Rev. F. K. Malane of St. Peter's Cathedral, has been transferred to St. Michael's parish at Cobourg, and Rev. Joseph Lynch, of the Immaculate Conception, has been transferred to Bracebridge, as an assistant to Very Rev. Dean O'Leary. Rev. Gilmour Kay, of Bracebridge, will come to Peterborough, to St. Peter's Cathedral.

Turkey Supply Still Limited

"Much the same as last year" seems to be the general prospect for the supply of turkeys and geese in Peterborough during the festive season, according to a survey made today of some of the men in the business.

While the situation is not entirely clear yet, it is definite the fowl will not be plentiful, said Clifford Hartman, at the Jopling Meat Market this morning. Last year, he said, despite panicky buying rushes, practically everyone who wanted a turkey or goose was able to purchase it. Probably, it will be similar this year.

Three cars that came from the Western provinces recently destined for Toronto, were re-routed to the coast, and it is likely others will be similarly re-routed. Mr. Hartman opined that the turkeys on sale in local stores will be for the most part, local ones.

While the picture will be much more complete a little later, the supply will be much the same as 1943, declared Rod Blackwell, at the Co-operative Hall. Turkeys will probably sell at ceiling prices, he said.

H. H. Tewsley, at Canada Packers, recalled how buyers at the market last year purchased all the turkeys even before the farmers could get them upstairs into the hall, on market days.

Gift Of $1,000 Made By City To Victims Fund

The exercise of all good works should be every individual's privilege and prerogative and when such is done in an extensive manner by large numbers of people in one community or city, that reflects credit to either as a whole, it is only natural that those who are in charge of their civic government, would have much more than just a passing interest in anything relating to its progress.

From its inception, the members of the City Council have taken a deep interest in the operations of the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund. It is recalled that even before it came into being the members of that day voted $500 to be sent to the city of Peterborough in England, as an earnest beginning of the desire to be of assistance to them in the trying circumstances that the advent of war had occasioned, for which there was every approbation from the citizens, at large at that time.

Then when the fund began to operate, the members of the council of that year, including His Worship the Mayor, gave their sessional indemnities to the fund, leading the way to what has been a wonderful response on the part of a large proportiton of those who move, live, and have there being in this fair city, whose lot has been cast in such pleasant ways and surroundings.

Since that time, successive councils have made an annual grant to the fund, which on each and every occasion has been included in the special Christmas donation, which has placed the entire city on record as a good supporter of good works. This demonstrates a leadership in loyalty and devotion to the Empire cause, which has its humanitarian aspect that appeals to all people particularly at this blessed season of the year.

Duplicating last year's contribution, a like amount of $1,000 is today credited to the fund from this source, and if the fund does go over the top in its present objective as to amount, this will have contributed in a substantial manner towards making it possible.

Personal Gifts Associated.

This would seem a most appropriate time to issue quite a list of purely personal gifts. It substantiates that type of support that has come in quite a decided way from private citizens, who bear out the co-relation that has been expressed between the two.

They form an excellent cross section of the residents of the city, and include the dear old lady who many times has given under the name of "Just Gradma" from the most slender of means, besides people in all walks of life and circumstances, among whom is counted the lady who has also given many times under the acknowledgment of "I. H. N. per W. K. L."

Then one from the city of Toronto may be noted, brought about by the ardour of a local citizen for the cause, while another frankly stated that he was answering the inspiration given by the appeal in these columns made last Thursday on behalf of the fund.

The fund now has the sum of $5,775 on hand for this special Christmas donation, leaving still the rather formidable total of $3,185 still to be raised in about ten days time, if the full objective aimed at is to be raised.

George, who enlisted at the age of 19, in December, 1943, took a special course in the Ordnance Corps at Kingston. He went overseas in October, 1944, and since November has been in Belgium. Previous to enlistment he was employed at the Bank of Toronto at Havelock.

1,000 Wide-Eyed Children Say Hello To Santa Claus

Santa Claus paid a thrilling visit to 1,000 excited children in the drill hall at the Training Centre, Saturday afternoon, carrying the enthusiastic youngsters into a make-believe world as they tasted the delights of the Christmas treats which had been prepared for them. The guests were the children of Peterborough servicemen.

The program included a number of Christmas carols, by the Salvation Army Junior Band, and the children were particularly interested and excited by a visit from Harold Howay and his clever dog "Pat." Comic cartoons, featuring favorites such as Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck, were shown by H. Lewis, who also amazed and amused the appreciative audience with some ventriloquism. Pte. George Martin, from the Training Centre, played his piano accordion and Jim Shields was at the piano before the programs got under way.

Masters of ceremony for the afternoon were El Jones and Jack Marshall, leading in singsongs, and keeping the children continually interested. As the Junior Band again played Christmas carols, a jolly and laughing Santa Claus appeared, making the afternoon perfect for the youngsters, as he distributed magazines, apples and toys with a free hand as the children left.

Auxiliaries Help

Sponsored by the Citizens' Coordinating Committee, under the convenership of Mrs. J. A. Dewart, Mrs. J. K. Hughes and Mrs. Clare Collins, the party was a great success, and the children's evident enjoyment repayed all efforts to make the afternoon a happy one for them. Members of the Army, Navy and Airforce auxiliaries, under Mrs. J. A. Dewart, Mrs. Frank Mrrett and Mrs. G. Roper were ond hand to assist throughout the day.

As the children entered, they were given free tickets for soft drinks, ice cream and chocolate bars, and kept the booths, manned by auxiliary members, busy all afternoon. Three big Christmas trees, two of them ablaze with colored lights, gave a festive air to the big hall, and the gay afternoon of fun was culminated by the appearance of Santa. Contrary to the usual run of affairs, the party, although happy and full of fun, was orderly, and everything went off smoothly.

Children of all Peterborough servicemen were invited to the celebration, and tickets were distributed through the public and separate schools. Pre-school age children were also invited, as long as they were accompanied by their mothers. Greatly aiding the committees in charge was Capt. Doug. Loomis and his men, while the hall was used through the kind permission of Lt.-Col. James Turnbull. Mrs. Collins, secretary of the Citizens' Co-ordinating Committee, expressed her thanks, on behalf of the committee, to everyone who helped in any way with the preparation or carrying through of the big undertaking, with its gratifying results.

Lady Attacked Saturday Night

Mrs. Frank Allore, 480 Sherbrooke street, was walking toward her home along that street on Saturday night shortly before 10 o'clock, she reported to police, and at the corner of Sherbrooke and Park streets, she noticed a man staggering toward the corner.

Mrs. Allore said she was frightened and started to run west along Sherbrooke street when she was grabbed from behind and struck three or four times on the side of her head.

When the young woman screamed her assailant released her and ran across Sherbrooke street and then south on Park street.

Constables C. J. McGillen and Ernest Beatty investigated the complaint and obtained a description of the attacker from Mrs. Allore. They passed the information on to Sergt. Gordon T. Puffer and Provincial Constables L. A. McClure and the four officers started to cruise around south-end streets in search of the suspect.

Constable McClure eventually arrested a youth named John Herbert Moloney, 148 Park street. Moloney had been seen near a car that had skidded against the curb near that address and that had been taken taken from the rear of 133 Rubidge street. This machine was owned by James Cooper of that address.

This morning in police court Moloney was charged with assaulting Mrs. Allore and pleaded not guilty. He was remanded until Wednesday for trial.

A DREAM WALKING

Two men who were presented with 15 pounds of bear steak, Saturday, arrived home, smacking their lips appreciatively at the thought of the feast they were going to have, and the woman of the house agreed to cook it for them Sunday. But during the night, she had a horrible dream that the steaks came to life and gave her a merry chase around the house, and Sunday morning the power of suggestion was still so real, that while she cooked the meat, she could not bring herself to eat it.

Lindsay Men Killed

Two men from Lindsay have been reported casualties overseas. Pte. Mervin Leroy Harrison, whose wife, Mrs. Grace M. J. Harrison lives at 70 Ridout street, Lindsay, has been "killed in action" and Signalman George Braden Gardner, 15 Water street, Lindsay, has been reported to have died. His wife is Mrs. Olive H. Gardner.

Police Arrest Five On Liquor Counts

As the result of a police raid on an apartment at 426½ George street on Sunday night, Sherman Godfrey of that address was charged in police court this morning with illegally selling liquor and five other men Manley Godfrey, brother of the accused, Claude Hopkins and Chas. Graham, 362 George street, John McMahon, 5 Manlence avenue and John Ward, 417 Stewart street, faced charges of illegal consumption of liquor.

The raid was carried out by Sergt. W. E. Wigg and Constables Leo Murphy, C. J. McGillen and Andre Dalton.

All six men were defended this morning by W. C. Grant and entered pleas of not guilty. They were remanded until next Monday with bail in Sherman Godfrey's case fixed at $750 and the others at $200.

Later Claude Hopkins was charged with carnal knowledge of a girl between 14 and 16 years of age and on that charge was remanded for a week, without plea or election. Bail was fixed at $4,000.

Bancroft Boy Faces Charges

Mervin Robbins, 17, Bancroft, who pleaded guilty a few days ago to theft of the use of a car and not guilty to two other charges of stealing clothing, faced a fourth charge in police court this morning, that of stealing a bicycle from Oscar White on December 6.

Robbins pleaded guilty on that count.

Sergt. Gordon T. Puffer, giving evidence, said that the bicycle had been stolen from Chamberlain street and that Robbins had sold the machine to a relative for $15 telling him that he was going into the Navy and had no further use for it. Sergt. Puffer said that when the relatives saw in The Examiner that Robbins was in trouble he had become suspicious about the bicycle he had bought and reported the incident to the police.

Sergt. Puffer also gave evidence in the joy-riding case, telling of arresting Robbins at George and Sherbrooke streets, after a car had been reported stolen from Hunter and Aylmer streets. Robbins, he said, had been charged with theft of the use of the car because he had not left the city with the machine.

The youth was remanded until Friday for sentence on the two charges to which he had pleaded guilty.

Trial of the other two charges was also set for the same day.

Cooper To Marry

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 11 — (AP). — Seaman Jackie Cooper, who achieved stardom when he played "Skippy" on the screen, and actress June Horne will be married in a quiet church ceremony today, the couple announced last night.

The pair said only a few of their friends would be invited.

The groom is due to report back to Great Lakes Naval Training Station Dec. 17.

War–4 Years Ago

(By The Canadian Press)

DEC. 11, 1940—British troops took Sidi Barrani in Egyptian counter-offensive against Italians. Agriculture Minister R. S. Hudson described Britain's food situation as grim as in 1917. R.A.F. hit ports and airdromes in enemy-occupied territory. Greek offensive slowed up.

Gnr. H. Rowden Invalided Home

Gnr. Harold Rowden, of Port Hope, a twenty-year-old dispatch rider who "joined the army twice," has arrived in Canada aboard a hospital ship, according to information reaching his sister, Miss Audrey Rowden, an employee of the King George Hotel here. He suffered leg wounds while serving in France, in July of this year.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rowden, 90 King street, Port Hope, Gnr. Rowden was formerly employed at the Port Hope Sanitary Company, but when he reached sixteen years of age, he enlisted in Canada's fighting forces. Discharged later because of his age, this didn't stop him, and in February, 1941, he was again in khaki, and this time it was the real thing. Arriving overseas in August, 1942, he has been there since, and took part in the invasion of France this year. Judging from the information his sister has received, the leg injuries are not extensive, and he is presumably not a stretcher case.

Two other members of this family are serving their country, with Canada's naval force. A.B. Donald Rowden is now somewhere in the South Pacific, and Wireless Operator William Rowden is at sea.

Winchell Adds One

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 11 — (AP). — Walter Winchell, columnist and blessed-event chronicler, announced last night he and Mrs. Winchell have a new baby girl — by adoption.

"I just got wind from New York that my wife has adopted another girl," he told the Associated Press, "and I wasn't going to let her scoop me on the story." He announced the addition to the family on his regular Sunday broadcast.

The Winchells have adopted other children for periods of time. They have two children of their own.

25-Year Total Of Permits $11,844,646

For the twenty-five year period from January 1, 1920, to November 30, 1944, Peterborough's building permits have amounted to $11,844,646. The total for the remaining month of December will not materially affect the aggregate for the quarter century which City Engineer Parsons outlined to the Examiner this morning in an interesting graph.

The buildings of Genelco Limited, erected on the property of the Canadian General Electric Company, placed two of the war years at the top of the list,—$1,260,251 in 1940, and $1,066,711 in 19411.

The third year's largest contribution was 1920 with $939,700. Four years preceding the depression decade averaged more than $600,000, as follows:—1930, $797,895; fifth was 1928 with $625,577; sixth was 1927 with $624,295; and seventh 1929 with $616,278.

Followed a long lean stretch from 1931 to 1937 inclusive. Permits in four of those years were less than $200,000. The lowest was 1931 for $133,900.

The year 1938 indicated a return of confidence and income with $426,144 in new buildings; and 1939 crossed the half-million line for $502,078.

The last three years were: 1942, $309,7172; 1943, $320,617; and eleven months this year, amounting to $604,745, was the eighth highest since 1920.

Camp Borden Soldier Remanded By Court

COBOURG, Dec. 11. — (CP). — Bandsman Fred Poole of No. 11 Machine Gun Training Centre at Camp Borden, was remanded for preliminary hearing until Thursday when he appeared in court to face a charge of manslaughter. The charge was laid in connection with the death in Toronto Oct. 28 of Bandsman Herbert R. Johnson, member of the same band.

Johnson and Poole are said to have been in a fight here Oct. 28 while the Band was taking part in a Victory Loan ceremony. Bail was set at $2,500.

Organ Recital At George St.

Elizabeth Gallimore, L.T.C.M., and gold medalist of the Toronto Conservatory, presided at the organ in the George Street United church on Sunday and following the evening service gave an half hour organ recital.

Mrs. Gallimore, whose husband is a prisoner of war in Germany, comes from Saskatoon and has been associated in organ recitals with Sir Ernest MacMillan and Dr. Charles Peaker. Practically the entire congregation of almost 700 remained for the recital. Mrs. Gallimore played with exceptional interpretation and deep feeling that revealed that she was one of Canada's younger accomplished organists.

She will be presiding at the organ and directing the choir for the next three Sundays.

Dr. James Semple, the minister, preached a forcible sermon from the subject, "Is Christianity What the World Needs?" in which he put a number of the world's great men into the witness box and showed that from their statements and declarations that they firmly believed that the world needs for its salvation Christian men and women.

200 Children Attend Primary Party

About 200 children and 100 parents were present for the Christmas tea and concert of the primary department of St. James' United Church Sunday school Saturday afternoon in the primary rooms. The three-hour program included games, the serving of supper and an entertaining musical and Christmas program.

Entering to the tune of Jingle Bells, with Mrs. C. Searles at the piano, Santa Claus brought a happy climax to the evening as he distributed apples and chocolate bars to the children. The program opened with the community singing of Christmas carols, with Miss Elva Sollitt at the piano. Penny Butler and Don. Rose gave recitations, while girls from Miss Ruth Hess' class told the Christmas story.

The Christmas story in pictures was shown on the new lantern, by Stan. Leggitt, who made the slides himself. Rev. F. W. Craik told a story to the children, and Ernest Kitney, superintendent of the intermediate department, welcomed the guests.

The Ever Awake Bible Class, with Mrs. M. Beavis as leader, was in charge of the supper arrangements, with Mrs. N. Monk, Mrs. G. E. Hutchinson, Mrs. Roy Brown and Mrs. D. Traynor as supervisors. A delicious salad plate, tea and cake were served to the adults, while the children enjoyed sandwiches, cakes and chocolate milk.

Mrs. W. Wheeler Former Wren Now In Canada

"I haven't had time to feel lonely yet. Every one's been so kind and generous and I've been meeting so many people that I really don't feel lonely or strange at all," declares Mrs. William Wheeler, another recently arrived war bride. She and her son, William, are staying now with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Wheeler, Stewart street.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Parry-James, of Weymouth, Dorset, Mrs. Wheeler, formerly Daphane Parry-James, was a member of the Wrens for more than three years. A wireless telegraphist, she was stationed at various places throughout England, and it was while she was in Scarboro that she met Sgt. W. Wheeler, who was stationed near there with the R. C. A. F. They were married in February, 1943.

Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. G. McQuarrie, another English bride, travelled together from England to their new homes, and became well acquainted on their trip. Sgt. Wheeler arrived in Canada about a week after his wife, and she had the pleasure of welcoming him home to his native land. He expects to be located in Canada, continuing his service with the R. C. A. F.

As soon as possible after the war, Mrs. Wheeler hopes to return to England to visit her parents, but will be making her home permanently in Canada, with her husband and young son.

Greta White Weds Soldier

A pretty wedding took place in St. James' United Church on Saturday afternoon when Rev. F. W. Craik officiated at the marriage of Greta Beryl White and Pte. John R. Henthorne, of Farnham, Quebec. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy White, Bolivar street, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Lottie Henthorne, Maude street, and the late W. W. Henthorne. Cecil Lapp was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a floor-length gown of white satin on long torso lines, with a full net over satin skirt, accented with white satin bows. Her floor-length veil was caught to a matching Sweetheart halo with orange blossoms, and she wore a strand of pearls and carried red roses.

Mrs. W. B. Agnew was matron of honor was her sister's only attendant, in floor-length turquoise gown with full skirt and shirred waist. She wore a pink headdress, and carried a bouquet of white 'mums. Pte. Maurice Lafave, also stationed at Farnham, Quebec, was groomsman.

At the reception held following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother received the guests in a blue wool dress with navy accessories and a corsage of orchid 'mums. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore navy sheer with matching accessories and a corsage of orchid 'mums.

For a short wedding trip the bride chose a blue wool suit and hat, with a muskrat coat and matching gloves and bag. She also wore a corsage of pink 'mums.

Soldiers Given Phone Calls To Nova Scotia

A smaller crowd than usual was at the regular Saturday night bingo at the Recreation Centre but enthusism was just as high as on previous nights. The two phone calls donated this week by the Sunshine and Moncrief Dairies, were the highlights of the evening's program. The call donated by the Sunshine Dairy went to Pte. W. Trusak of Glace Bay, Nova Scotia, and Pte. R. Nicholson of Mabou, Nova Scotia, won the long distance call donated by Moncrief's Dairy.

Other special prizes were won by Pte. Lapointe who carried off the Legion cigarettes, Pte. C. E. Mason, who won a pair of socks donated by Agnew-Surpass Co., and Pte. A. C. Burns who now has a jig-saw donated by Millard's Sporting Goods to while away his leisure hours in camp.

Regent tickets were won by Ptes. D. Friesen, A. Hesgott, J. Crawford, A. Ross and G. Agawa. Capitol theatre tickets went to Cpl. G. W. Linsdell and Ptes. R. G. Johnston, D. Judge, L. H. Dyment and E. D. Vogt, and tickets donated by the management of the Centre theatre were won by Ptes. L. E. Osment, J. P. Rancoud, E. J. Unreau and P. Avery who was lucky enough to win two tickets.

Arrangements for the evening were under the direction of Mrs. Diplock and Mr. C. Mowry, while Miss G. Cox was in charge of the hostesses. Senior hostesses were Mrs. A. Rishor, Mrs. K. Currie, Mrs. M. Comstock, Mrs. G. A. Gillespie, Mrs. Canning and Miss I. Weddell. Junior hostesses were from the Jeanette Scott Chapter, I.O.D.E., the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E., Genelco, C.G.E., and W.V.S.

El. Jones led the sing-song at the beginning of the evening with Jimmie Abraham at the piano. At the end of the bingo the hostesses served apples to the boys, the gift of Mrs. J. K. Hughes.

Mrs. E. H. Howson Re-elected WMS President

Annual reports and the election of officers for the new year were the main items of business at the annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's Presbyterian church.

The meeting was preceded by a delicious luncheon served by Mrs. H. Taylor and her group.

The annual reports of the various secretaries were received, and Mrs. J. Marsh presented the slate of officers for 1945. Mrs. E. H. Howson was re-elected president with the following executive: Honorary presidents, Mrs. R. R. Hall, Mrs. W. R. Turner; vice-presidents, Miss E. Esplen, Mrs. Blewett, Mrs. J. Dutton; secretary, Mrs. D. Diplock; treasurer, Mrs. O. M. Steer; press secretary, Miss M. Ross; corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. W. Clark; glad tidings, Miss N. Davidson; welcome and welfare, Mrs. Robt. Ross; supply secretary, Mrs. T. Carley; students' secretary, Mrs. A. Sollitt; pianist, Miss M. R. Rannie; telephone secretary, Mrs. A. Jackson, and Mrs. H. Morgan, Mrs. A. S. Couper, Mrs. S. Johnston; social committee, Mrs. W. A. Burrell, Mrs. J. Marsh, Mrs. W. J. Moorhead, Mrs. A. McConkey, Mrs. D. W. Clark, Mrs. J. P. Pulkinghorn.

Mrs. Howson thanked the members for their loyal support during the past year. The officers and the new executive were installed by Rev. Samuel Johnston, who afterwards pronounced the benediction.

Mrs. James Goldie sang two Christmas songs, "There's a Song in the Air" and "O, Wondrous Melody."

Couple Marks Silver Jubilee

Pte. Margaret Lehman, CWAC, stationed at Camp Borden, and her brother, Wilfred Lehman of Peterborough, entertained at a party in the Canadian Order of Foresters' Hall over the week-end, in honor of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Lehman, Downie street, who were celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary.

About 50 friends gathered to honor the couple, and enjoyed an evening of singing and dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Lehman were presented with several gifts in silver, and also a gift of money. A large wedding cake was cut and served with the refreshments at the close. Another son, Pte. Lloyd Lehman, is serving in Belgium with the Canadian Army, and was unable to be present at the gala gathering.

MARRIED IN WEST—A wedding of interest took place in Wesley United Church, Vancouver, when LAW. Isobel A. Story, of the RCAF Women's' Division, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Story, of Lindsay, became the bride of Leading Seaman Douglas H. Thicke, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Thicke of Nanaimo, B.C. The young couple were attended by LAW. Helen Kirby of Oshawa and Mr. Roy Thicke, brother of the groom.

Evening Closing Yuletide Week For Most Stores

Lack of merchandise is proving the deciding factor in most cases in Peterborough stores in the question of remaining open, the optional six nights before Christmas. Since stocks are so badly depited, merchants have decided to close at six o'clock and calling it a day.

As far as can be ascertained, many stores on Peterborough's main street will not open through the Christmas week. They will remain closed as usual on Wednesday afternoons, relenting however, on the last Wednesday before Christmas, December 20, when they will remain open all day.

Saturday nights "aren't what they used to be," sadly moan storekeepers and purchasers alike, since one cant' get merchandise to sell, and the other can't find anything suitable to buy. Although the Christmas rush is just as great as other years, there is a noticeably smaller selection, and varities and quantities are limited. However, it will all "come out in the wash" or in the "rush" of post-war manufacturing.

Poetic Actress Observes 90th Birthday

By ALAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Dec. 11 — (CP). — In a little terrace house near the King's Theatre in suburban Hammersmith Alma Murray sat up in bed to greet friends and read the scores of telegrams and letters. It was her 90th birthday.

For half a century Miss Murray was among the world's leading actresses in tragedy and poetical drama. To-day, she is probably London's oldest Thespian, but her voice remains the silvery magic of the girl poet Robert Browning called "the poetic actress without a rival."

Her daughter, Elsa Forman—Miss Murray is the widow of Alfred Forman, poet and translator who died in 1925—has tended her mother throughout the 29 years since the actress retired and expects Miss Murray will be able to "get about again" after the excitement of the birthday has passed. It was only a few weeks ago she took to bed.

Fifty years ago Miss Murray inaugurated an epoch in the London theatre by playing the heroine in "Arms and the Man," recently revived in the West-end, but first described as "a new, unromantic comedy" by an unknown playwright —Bernard Shaw.

Miss Murray still remembers Shaw at those first rehearsals as a tall figure in knickerbockers who tore at his fiery beard in dramatic zeal. Shaw still maintains to this day that no one ever surpassed Miss Murray in now-famous part of "Raina Petkoff" which he wrote for her.

TINY TOTS BUILD "HOUSES" AT NAVAL WELL BABY CLINIC—First day of Navy week marked the opening of the first nursery for children of ratings of the Royal Canadian Navy at the Naval Well Baby Clinic, HMCS "Stadacona," Halifax. Building houses at the pastel blue work table are Genevieve Reichert and Susan Bell. They are the daughters of Chief Petty Officer and Mrs. Ernest Bell, 20 Macara street, Halifax, and Chief Petty Officer and Mrs. Philip Reichert, of Winnipeg, now living at 31 Philip street, Halifax. (RCN Photo)

Wren Enjoying Nursery Work

The last job Doris Stutt expected to have when she left her inspection job in a Fort William aircraft factory in June, 1943, to join the Navy was working with babies.

Wren Stutt, previously worked in the Royal Canadian Naval Hospital, Halifax and used to drop over to the Naval Well Baby Clinic any free time she had, to help look after the children who were brought to the clinic. She proved so suitable and interested that when the Clinic expanded its work to include a Day Nursery, her request to be transferred to it as a writer was recommended and the transfer made.

Now Wren Stutt works eight hours a day in the nautical, blue and white nursery for children of naval ratings in Halifax. She is in charge of the files and assists the medical officer in charge, in his work. Accustomed to her sisters' children, the babble of babies' voices is music to her ears. She has a way with children and the children like her, even when she is getting them ready to be inoculated.

The nursery-clinic is quite shipshape with its portholes and bridge with compass, bell and helm. And the sailors children feel right at home with all the toys, books and children's furniture that are provided for them.

Asked if she were happy about the change in her work, Wren Stutt replied "Absolutely, I would rather work with children than adults any day!"

Wren Stutt is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Stutt, 908 Merriam Blvd., Winnipeg. She has three brothers overseas, Corporal Garnet Stutt, in Belgium with the Royal Winnipeg Rifles, Corporal Archie Stutt with the R.C.A.F. in Holland and Sgt. Robt. Stutt with the B.C. Dragons in Italy.

USES 428,000 ACRES

LONDON — (CP). — The total area of land in England and Wales held by the war department at June 30 was 428,000 acres. Supply departments held 35,500 acres.

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

A MATTER OF TRUSTING MEN
Unfair to Condemn the Whole Sex Because of a Few Who Have Failed.

◆ ◆ ◆

DEAR MISS DIX—A girl friend and I have had an argument about men. My friend says that all men are alike. None can be trusted, no matter whether they are married or single. I do not agree with her. What do you think?

MARGARET N.

Character Is Individual

ANSWER—Your friend's assertion is absurb. All men are no more alike in character than all women are. Some are good. Others are bad. Some are trustworthy. Others are not to be depended upon. It is a matter of the individual.

Possibly your friend has been unfortunate in the men she has met, but, after all, her experience is limited, and it is as unfair to condemn the whole sex because one or two have failed her as it would be to say there are no good apples because she happened to strike a rotten one.

There are men who kiss and ride away but there are also men who drag out the long lengths of an engagement, year after year, and go back to the village and marry their first sweethearts. There are faithless husbands who desert their wives for younger and fairer faces, but they are few compared to the number of husbands who never look at another girl after they are married, and who still think their wives more beautiful than any young girl after they have been married forty years.

There are married men who take advantage of their positions as employers to make love and show familiarities to the girls who are dependent upon them for their living, but where there is one of these men there are a hundred men who treat their girl employees with as much kindness and respect as they would show their own daughters.

Oh, no, it is foolish to say that no man can be trusted, or that all men are to be measured by the same yardstick. Bad men there are, of course, but the average man, God bless him, is a mighty safe proposition to tie to.

Be An Asset to Your Husband

DEAR MISS DIX—All my life I have said that I would never marry if I had to work after I married, and that I would never live with either my or my husband's parents. Now the question arises as to whether I should stick to this or not.

The man I love is not making enough for us to live on, so if I marry him I will have to keep my job and live with my mother until we can get on our feet. She has offered us a couple of rooms for a nominal rent until we can do better. What shall I do?

ANXIOUS.

ANSWER—Life and circumstances change most of our plans for us, my dear, and when you get to be old and look back you will see that you have done most of the things that you said in your youth and inexperience that you wouldn't do, and that you have done very few of the things that you said you would do.

So go on and marry your man and accept your mother's offer to help, and keep on with your job until your husband is able to make a living for you. Every wife who loves her husband wants to help him. If you can do this better by earning money than you could by cooking and cleaning and sewing for him, there is no reason in the world why you shouldn't do so.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — What tests can a boy of 18 apply to himself to determine if he is really in love,

YOUTH.

ANSWER—At eighteen there is no use in wasting your time and effort in applying tests to your love to determine its quality. What ails you is puppy love, because that is the only kind of love of which a boy is capable at that age.

Of course, you won't believe me. You have diagnosed all of your symptoms, as they are described in novels and plays, and it looks to you as if you had a chronic and incurable case of the fatal malady. You palpitate in Jane's presence. You can't get enough of her society. You like to dance with her. You relish her particular brand of lipstick. You are madly jealous, and when she goes away for a few days you feel that you might just as well give up and die and be done with it.

This sounds like the ear-marks of the real thing. And so far as they go they are the signs and indications of the tender passion, but you see love is like certain diseases, the younger we have 'em, the lighter we have 'em. It is only after we reach maturity that they take a real hold on the system and are dangerous.

So don't take love seriously at eighteen.

Women Arrested

ST. THOMAS, Dec. 11—(CP)—City police said last night that two women, believed to have been involved in an automobile accident here Thursday night and the subsequent theft of a car, were arrested in Tillsonburg. The women, who gave their names as Florence Mary Inglehart and Kathleen Hamilton, will face car theft charge in city police court here Tuesday, police said. Both women are believed to be from Hamilton.

Nazis Lamb-like As Allies Occupy Towns

By WADE WERNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Dec. 11—(AP)—One of the ironic features of the present phases of Europe's liberation is the lamb-like behavior of German communities under Allied occupation thus far.

Before the Allies crossed the German frontier in September, Nazi propagandists uttered dire threats of guerrilla resistance behind the lines wherever German territory might be occupied. But military government detachments uniformly report the conquered German population docile and generally co-operative

The men responsible for carrying out the program of military government in Germany, however, are not assuming for a minute that this paradox will continue indefinitely.

Although a number of German towns have been taken inside the western frontier—including the sizeable city of Aachen—there are not yet any full-fledged communities among them. The most vigorous age groups, essential personnel, municipal officials and police have been evacuated.

This picture is likely to be altered suddenly and radically when breakthroughs encircled and isolate a big sector of the fatherland's population before the Nazis can evacuate the dynamic core.

The harsh laws and regulations of the military government are designed to take care of any situation that might arise and there is no disposition to relax them to any degree on the basis of preliminary experience in the presently occupied areas.

What military government detachments learn through actual contact with conquered communities will be taken into consideration by Allied governments and may influence their decisions concerning the post-war treatment of Germany.

ENDS MUTINY—Morgan Blake, columnist of the Atlanta Journal (Right) negotiated the surrender of the group of rebellious convicts at the Atlanta federal prison who had held four guards as hostages. Blake is shown handing a copy of the paper containing his article airing the grievances of the convicts through the barred window of the prison, as per his pact with the convicts. At Left is George Sibbald, principal steward of the prison.

The Tea Hour Gossip . . . .

To-day we are going to talk about and give recipes for different kinds of bread. These recipes will be for quick breads, such as muffins, shortcakes and popovers. For tea on a cold winter night, there is nothing so nice as fancy bread of some kind.

All quick breads should be baked in a moderate to hot oven, 350 to 450 degrees Fahr. Now for some of the recipes.

Popovers.

1¼ cups flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 cup of milk. Mix the flour, salt and sugar. Gradually add the milk and the well-beaten eggs. Beat thoroughly. Have ready small ramekins or muffin pans, well greased and piping hot. Fill them almost half full of the batter and bake in a hot oven 450 degrees Fahr.) for 20 minutes. Lower to 350 degrees Fahr. and bake 20 minutes longer.

Flannel Cakes.

One tablespoon shortening, 2 cups flour, 2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 2 eggs. Rub the shortening into the flour, and add the salt and baking powder. Beat the yolks of the eggs light, add the milk to them and beat well. Add the liquid to the flour mixture, stirring until quite smooth. Beat the whites light, add them to the batter, and bake on a hot greased griddle. Serve at once.

French or Jelly Pancakes.

Three eggs, 1 teaspoon sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, ½ cup flour, 1 tablespoon shortening. Separate the yolks and whites of the eggs. To the beaten yolks add the sugar, salt and ½ cup of milk. Stir in the sifted flour, the other half of milk, and melted shortening. Then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake on a hot griddle, making the cakes slightly larger than usual. Spread each cake with tart fruit-jelly and roll while hot. Place on a platter, side by side with the lapped edge of the roll touching the bottom of the platter to keep the cake from spreading. Dredge with sugar and, if desired, burn lines on the sugared surface with a red hot wire toaster. This gives a very attractive appearance and a slight flavor of burnt sugar.

Laboratory To Be Built To Study Forest Pests

TORONTO, Dec. 11.—(CP).—F. A. McDougall, Deputy Minister of Lands and Forests for Ontario, said to-day that a Toronto firm—Anglin-Norcross of Ontario, Ltd.—will construct a laboratory at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., for the study of forest insect pests. Preliminary work, which will be carried out this winter, will cost about $30,000.

The Ontario government is paying the cost of constructing the laboratory and it will be staffed by scientists of Federal government departments. No estimate is available of the total cost of the project.

We suggest that you purchase seasonable merchandise early.

FOR GROWING CHILDREN
Daily Supply of ALL Five Vitamins Essential

A child's likes and dislikes make it almost impossible to ensure a daily diet complete in essential vitamins and minerals. The modern way to promote natural growth and guard health is to fortify diet with supplementary vitamins. "ALL-in-ONE" Vitamin Tablets contain ALL the five vital vitamins. They supply calcium and phosphoros necessary for proper bone and tooth structure—iron for the blood—yeast for the intestinal tract. Just one tablet after breakfast—one after dinner EVERY DAY. Easy to take. Only $2.15 for a month's supply (62 tablets). At most drug stores.
"ALL IN ONE" BRAND VITAMIN TABLETS

in a Fraction of the Time!

BECAUSE of their ability to quick-dry "ducos", lacquers and enamels, Edison Mazda Infra-Red Drying Lamps are used successfully in the industrial field. Lightweight and compact they can also be used by the hobbyist and handyman for drying paint, glues, and as a source of quick radiant heat.

IN MEMORIAM

TAYLOR—In memory of John Taylor, who died three years ago to-day.

Gone but not forgotten.

—Missed by his wife and family.

SMITH—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Cpl. Adam Smith, who passed away December 11th, 1943, in Kingston Military Hospital.

All you had hoped for, all you gave
To save mankind — yourself you scorned to save.

—Ever remembered by wife and family.

SMITH—In loving memory of my dear father, Adam Smith, who passed away one year ago to-day, December 11th, 1943. He died while in the service.

"I think of you in silence Dad.
I often speak your name
But I have nothing left to answer
But your picture in a frame."

—Lovingly remembered by daughter Annie, son-in-law James Brown, of Toronto.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith (nee Teresa McLaren), wish to extend their thanks to Mrs. M. Vincent, who recently held a reception for the newly wed couple at her home 622 Park street. Also to thank everyone who presented them with their many lovely gifts.

Belleville Hospital Has First Deficit

Belleville General Hospital's surplus of $3,866 in 1943 has slumped to a deficit of $1,686 this year, its administrator, Gordon Barclay, told Hastings county council Friday.

Since 1940 the private war rates were raised from $4 to $6.

Mr. Barclay said he had heard that some communities in the district had suggested erecting small hospitals. Those communities would be better advised to build convalescent homes "which would relieve the congestion of district hospital such as the Belleville General. "The overhead cost would not be as heavy as a small hospital, where registered nurses are required by law to be on duty at all times. A registered nurse could head the staff of a convalescent home and be assisted by nurse aids. Elderly persons in hospitals could be removed to these convalescent homes, and, if necessary, could be taken from time to time to hospital for treatment other than within the facilities of the home."

Mr. Barclay intimated that the erection of such a home in the vicinity of Belleville General Hospital would be undertaken in the near future. The hospital recently installed a blood bank at a cost of $600 to serve the needs of patients of the district.

Ivan Lillico Heads Peterborough Club

Ivan T. Lillico was elected president of the Peterborough Club for the coming year at a directorate meeting Saturday.

Gordon Monkman is first vice-president and chairman of the entertainment committee. D. J. Lawrie continues as secretary; J. F. Strickland, K.C., chairman of the house committee; H. T. Cranford, chairman of the membership committee.

Two new directors were appointed at the annual meeting of the club December 6. They were W. M. Lauder and C. S. Browne.

Majors Likely To Reject Minors' Plan

By JOE RECHLER
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—(AP)—The major-minor league annual meeting opened here today and the news was passed by word of mouth that the big leagues probably will reject the minor leagues-approved boost in draft and waiver prices.

No official would permit himself to be quoted, but an administrative source indicated that the amendment to increase the waiver price by 33 1-3 per cent would be turned down by the majors as well as the amendment to add territorial protection for the minors from threats of invasion by major league clubs.

Meantime a poll of a majority of big league club-owners indicated the game will be ruled by a three-man advisory council comprised of Ford Frick, National League president; Will Harridge, American League prexy; and Leslie M. O'Connor, secretary to the late Commissioner K. M. Landis.

Without exception each of the magnates interviewed agreed this would be the best solution until after the war, or at least for a period of one year.

Clark Griffith, on the other hand, stated that he favored the choosing of a successor to Judge Landis immediately. The Washington owner sprang a suprise when he intimated that he would ask for only 35 night games for 1945 instead of an unlimited arc light schedule. This is seen as a sort of compromise with night ball opponents who appear determined to limit each club to 14 games this season.

The majors also were expected to discuss the post-war problems involving high school baseball and promotional work with emphasis on the improvement of umpire standings.

Dufferin Gives Thrills Aplenty

TORONTO, Dec. 11 — Spectators and speculators had plenty of thrills at Dufferin Park Saturday where the weekly harness horse races are decided.

Many of the finishes were of the proverbial eyelash variety and only the officials were in a position to pick the respective winners.

Field players were well repaid for their venture into the financial circles, as on different occasions the favorites went down to defeat in close finishes. Not one of the four races carded was won in straight heats.

Ivy Lee and Earl's Play Boy, both trotters, stacks against pacers in their respective events displayed race trotting inclinations. Ivy Lee won the first heat in her race. Earl's Play Boy knocked the first two in his class.

Four races are carded for this afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock.

X-RAY FOR ORCHIDS

SYDNEY, Australia — (CP). — A Sydney radiologist grows orchids for a hobby and X-rays them to find out when they will flower. "I can tell up to nine months ahead when my orchids will flower and how many blooms they will have," he said.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, December 12

ACCORDING TO the lunar transits the energies and faculties are concentrated on a very concrete effort to establish the future, its fortunes and security on a firm and enduring basis. With such determination wisely and reasonably built up, with the advice and co-operation of influential friends or elders, there is promise of rich rewards and the happy fruition of the ambitions. It is probable that responsibilities, duties and obligations may be insistent, calling for shrewd and sound methods. As well there are signs of romance.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are encouraged to combine all the skills, talents and sterling characteristics into assuring the stability, endurance and lasting pleasures and happiness attained in concentrated efforts for the attainment of cherished objectives. Conforming to accepted rules and regulations with fidelity to all obligations should insure the cooperation of those in power and friendly feeling. This may develop surprising moves. Reward of merit for faith and good work are in sight.

A child born on this day should have much sound ability, with sterling traits of character, with high sense of duty and responsibility. Friendly cooperation, in sound ambitions are portended. Romance as well is forecast.

Thunderbolts Tied With Hurricanes

Excitement ran high in the volleyball games on Saturday at the Y.M.C.A. especially in the 3:15 series when the gallery was well filled and spectators and players both got themselves worked up into quite a pitch of excitement. In this series the Mosquitoes started off the first game well and were leading 14 to 7 points with only 1 point needed to win, but they lost serve after serve and finally dropped the game to the Hurricanes, who also won the other two games. Thunderbolts, without their captain, Eric Vincent, lost two out of three to the Spitfires, tieing up these two teams in first place. Typhoons won two and Whirlwinds one game in the 4 o'clock series.

The standing:

| | Won | Pts. |
|---|---|---|
| Thunderbolts | 8 | 16 |
| Hurricanes | 8 | 16 |
| Spitfires | 5½ | 11 |
| Typhoons | 5½ | 11 |
| Mosquitoes | 4½ | 9 |
| Whirlwinds | 4½ | 9 |

Games next Saturday:
2:30—Mosquitoes v. Spitfires.
3:15—Hurricanes v. Whirlwinds.
4:00—Typhoons v. Thunderbolts.

Party Given For Newlyweds

Mrs. M. Vincent, 622 Park street, was hostess for a reception recently, in honor of her nephew Tpr. John Ray Smith, now stationed at Camp Borden and his bride, the former Teresa McLaren.

The groom's mother, Mrs. H. Smith, received the guests wearing a gown of mauve sheer wool, with black hat and matching accessories, and a corsage of red roses. The hostess, also receiving, wore a navy blue gown, with powder blue feathered hat and matching accessories, and a corsage of red roses. The bridal party consisted of the groom and his bride, Miss Barbara Vincent, maid of honor, Miss Maimie Delpellaro as bridesmaid, Tpr. Jack Whittmire as best. and Kenneth Fleetwood and Norris Dafoe as ushers. J. Fraley was master of ceremonies.

After supper, served from a table decorated with pink, blue, and white streamers, and centred with a bouquet of red roses, the evening was spent in dancing. The young couple received many lovely gifts.

Chimney Fires Keep Firemen Busy

A number of minor alarms kept the fire department busy over the week-end with five chimney fires and one case of over-heated stovepipes.

A chimney fire at the residence of J. Edwards, 211 London street, was extinguished by firemen at 4:36 Saturday afternoon, with no damage reported. During the morning, a chimney fire at the residence of J. Scott, 299 Townsend street, was extinguished, but later, a recall brought firemen to the scene again. Likewise, no damage reported.

Overheated stovepipes at the residence of Mrs. M. Murty, 380 Brock street received the attention of firemen shortly after four o'clock Saturday afternoon, and Sunday morning, another chimney fire brought firefighters to the home of E. Armstrong, 214 Carlisle avenue, at 10:36 o'clock.

All in all, chimney fires didn't allow the week-end to drag for the boys on Aylmer street!

Ice Shortage

DENVER, Dec. 11 — (AP). — Capt. Richard J. Bennett flew into Denver from Fairbanks, Alaska, with this one: Although temperatures in the northern city have hovered around the 22-below mark for a couple of months, there's an ice famine. It seems the ice dealers didn't lay a big enough supply before winter set in.

Pleads Not Guilty To False Pretences

On a charge of false pretences Frank A. McLean, 48, of Toronto was remanded until Thursday after he had pleaded not guilty before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning. Bail was set at $2,000.

McLean was arrested in Toronto Saturday and brought back to Peterborough by Detective Sergt. W. E. Meagher and Constable W. A. Clarke.

He is accused of having obtained $200 in cash and three $50 Victory Bonds from Charles J. Waldron here last July on the understanding that he had a contract with the Chinese government for the shipment of airplanes to that country and that he would make Waldron a partner in the contract.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WHAT HE IS ASKING

AFTER YOUR partner bids one suit, you respond with a different suit and he then bids a third suit, he is probably making a conditional request of you. He is asking you to support one of his two suits, if it is a major and you fit it soundly with adequate support; if you fit one of them and it is a minor suit, he wants you to bid No Trumps if you have safe stoppage of the fourth suit; to support the minor if you lack such stoppage but fit the suit adequately; to rebid your own if you can afford it, but lack ability to do any of the preceding alternatives. But he is not asking you to bid No Trump unless the fourth suit is soundly stopped.

Against that West led the heart 4, and it is easy to see how the defenders ran five rapid tricks to set the contract.

South was to blame for the side getting set in No Trump when it could have made a small slam in either clubs or diamonds, with the loss of only one trick, in hearts. But he saw fit to censure his partner for not rebidding 3-Diamonds over the 2-No Trumps.

"With a singleton in hearts and that rebiddable suit, your hand was not suited to No Trumps and you should have steered us out of it into a suit," said South.

He was plumb wrong. Singletons should not worry the player opposite the one who bids No Trumps. The man who bids the No Trumps takes responsibility for the stoppage of suits in normal situations, and should desire ordinarily to find establishable length of some suit or another opposite him. That suit length can be made possible only by shortage elsewhere in the hand. With his virtually solid five-card diamond suit, North had ideal aid for No Trumps.

When South bid the No Trumps, he thought he had the fourth suit of hearts so near to stopped that his partner could complete the stoppage. Had he bid three of either minor, preferably 3-Diamonds, the slam could hardly have been missed by the side.

Second British Fleet Ready To Battle Japs

LONDON, Dec. 11.— (CP).— A great new British Pacific naval command in addtion to the present Far Eastern fleet has been created to join in the all-out offensive to bring Japan to its knees, the Admiralty disclosed last night.

An official announcement, reflecting Prime Minister Churchill's promise that Britain would send the greatest possible forces to the Orient to help defeat Japan, said the fleet will be commanded by Admiral Sir Bruce A. Fraser, who since August has been commander-in-chief of the Far Eastern fleet.

Simultaneously it was disclosed that the Far Eastern fleet will be centred in the Indian ocean as the East Indies station, a command which lapsed when the Japanese overran the Malayan peninsula and captured Singapore. This fleet will be commanded by Vice-Admiral Sir Arthur J. Power, who has been second-in-command to Admiral Fraser.

Under the new set-up it was believed Admiral Fraser's fleet would operate under command of Admiral Nimitz in the Central Pacific and under Gen. MacArthur in the Southwest Pacific, as strategy demands.

The East Indies station would supply floating power to control Admiral Mountbatten's advance back into lower Burma and Malaya.

Rear Admiral C. S. Daniel, who won the D.S.O. for his anti-submarine work early in the war, has been made Vice-Admiral and placed in charge of administration of the new British Pacific fleet.

BRITISH TAKE KEY ITALIAN CITY—After a long period of static warfare, British 8th Army troops have captured the Adriatic coast city of Ravenna (1) after a lightning encirclement movement. The manoeuvre, marking the most northerly penetration by Allied armies of the Italian peninsula, placed the Allies in position to mount heavier blows against the enemy, for the city is the hub of a network of highways and rail lines. To the west, Indian troops of the Fifth Army captured Casola Valesnio (2). At Top, the action area is shown in relation to the battleline across Italy.

Dance Is Sponsored By Omemee Club

OMEMEE, Dec. 11 (ENS) — A very enjoyable evening was spent in Coronation Hall, on Friday, when the Omemee Hockey Club sponsored a dance. Excellent music was supplied by Deyell's orchestra, consisting of Mrs. Arthur Williamson, piano, John Deyell, violin, Kenneth Thurston, Saxophone, Donald Sibley, trumpet, Bill Parker, trumpet, Fred Mills, guitar Bill Weir, banjo, and J. L. Brooks, traps.

During the evening a draw was made for prizes donated by local merchants. A reversible blanket was won by Mrs Willard Rehill, a table lamp by Miss A. Bradley, a ham won by Mrs. Ruby Gallagher, a towel set won by Miss Yvonne Parker, and a double boiler won by Mr. Harry Deyell. The lucky spot dance was won by Miss Henrietta Parker. Jack Williamson officiated for the draw.

Lunch was served by the Omemee Women's Institute.

Officers of the Omemee Hockey Club are as follows: Manager, William Fisher; captain, Floyd Parsons; secretary - treasurer, John Deyell. Manager Fisher has entered the Omemee Black Hawks in the Intermediate B, O.H.A. series. The Omemee is entered in the Lindsay League and will compete against Oakwood and the Lindsay Commandos.

Wheat Cheques Sent To Farmers

OTTAWA, Dec. 11—(CP)—Trade Minister MacKinnon said today 196,561 cheques valuing $20,591,047 have been issued by the Canadian Wheat Board to Western farmers on 1940 wheat crop participating certificates. The total payment represents nearly 79 per cent. of the estimated total of $26,081,068 to be distributed on the 1940 crop.

An estimated $35,000,143 is to be distributed on the 1941 and 1942 crops, and Mr. MacKinnon said that on this payment cheques totalling $18,083,457, or more than 51 per cent. of the estimated total, had been issued to November 24.

The participation certificates were issued to Prairie wheat growers when they delivered their wheat to the board and ensured they would participate in the benefits if the grain were finally sold at a better price.

MALGA PORCUPINE ARRANGES FUNDS

Officials of Malga Porcupine Gold Mines, Ltd. report arrangements have been made for sufficient funds to finance the development program outlined by the company's engineers. Russell H. Downey, president of the Marquette Lumber Company, Inc., of South Bend, Indiana, has joined the board of directors as the representative of Indiana interests. A further deal has been made with private interests in New York.

Malga Porcupine owns a property of 471 acres in Shaw and Carmen Townships, Porcupine. In April, 1944, J. C. Huston, M.E., estimated between 70,000 and 80,000 tons of ore indicated by drilling to date. The average grade is $12 per ton. Future development includes some 20,000 feet of diamond drilling and a program which calls for the expenditure of $60,000.—(Advt.)

Houde Launches Bitter Attack Against Mayor

MONTREAL, Dec. 11. — (CP). — The Montreal mayoralty campaign was an embittered one to-day, with former Mayor Camillien Houde declaring that Mayor Adhemar Raynault was a member of the Order of Jacques Cartier, "the last reservoir of the strength of the race," and that he "stains that effort of our race by placing his picture in a periodical in which none but Free Masons may advertise."

In an affidavit early to-day Mayor Raynault denied he is a member of the Order of Jacques Cartier and said he would reply to other charges later.

Mr. Houde made his charges at a meeting last night in Shamrock Hall of the Jean Talon Market in the course of his campaign for re-election Monday to the Mayoralty from which he was interned in 1940 for counselling citizens against complying with provisions of the National Registration Act. He and Mayor Raynault are the only mayoralty candidates.

Mr. Houde said the mayor had obtained publication of his picture and campaign literature in the Masonic News, "a periodical of local English Free Masonry," and added:

"I say to him, 'are you a spy for the order of Jacques Cartier among the Free Masons or are you a spy for the Free Masons among the order of Jacques Cartier.'"

(The Order of Jacques Cartier was charged last June by Senator T. D. Bouchard, in his maiden Senate speech, with seeking to create an independent French and Catholic State.)

More Questions

Mr. Houde, asked to comment on Mayor Raynault's affidavit denying membership in the Jacques Cartier Order, asked:

"Has he ever been? If he ever has, since when has he not been a member? Did he or did he not attend the meeting on Nov. 25 where 60 known knights of the Order of Jacques Cartier met at the Club Canadien in the main dining room between one and three p.m.?"

Mr. Houde spoke a word of greeting to persons of Italian blood in the audience, some of them former internees, and said the Federal government had made a mistake in interning "700 or 800 of the most quiet, peaceful, hard-working, law-abiding citizens in the Dominion."

Of Mayor Raynault he said, "I will hound him to the last ditch." and of his own internment:

"I asked you not to register. I did not ask you to forge National Registration cards." He said there had been seizures in Raynault organization quarters and arrests in his committee rooms by the R.C.M.P. because of forged registration cards.

"This National Registration card business is not over yet, Mr. Raynault," he declared. "I'll get you some day."

Not So Harmless

NOGALES, Ariz., Dec. 11—(AP).—Army ordnance officers saw two small shells—relics of the First Great War—wavering precariously atop a battery of teletypes. The editor of the Nogales Herald assured them the shells were harmless; had been used for years as paper-weights and often banged on the floor. But the officers ignored him, took the shells outside the city, and discharged them with a terrific explosion.

SURRENDERS—Daniel Molnar, 24, of Carteret, New Jersey, is seen leaving the court house for New Brunswick to await grand jury action after his surrender. Molnar went berserk when he was refused custody of his 3-year-old daughter Barbara Ann and killed four persons until apprehended. He shot his father-in-law, two cops and a bystander, all of whom died.

Omemee WMS Re-elects Mrs. V. Lang As President

OMEMEE, Dec. 11—(ENS)—Mrs. Vernon Lang was reelected president of the Women's Missionary Society of Trinity United Church at the December meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. R. Bradley. It was the Christmas meeting and was a very beautiful service, efficiently conducted by Mrs. S. Moyer, who was in the chair, and the ladies of the group who assisted.

The program was divided in three parts: "God's Gift To Us", "Our Gift of Adoration and Praise" and "Our Best Gift—Love". The first of these parts was in the form of a responsive reading led by Mrs. R. Clifford, with all the ladies singing the responses "Come and worship, come and worship, worship Christ the new born king." This part closed by singing "Angels from the Realms of Glory" and prayer led by Mrs. Clifford. The second part included a lovely candle lighting service.

The Magnificat was read in unison, after which the candles were lit by the five ladies whose names follow and who each explained the significance of the lighting of her candle: Mrs. William Connell, Mrs. R. Clifford, Mrs. W. Brown, Mrs. R. Bradley, and Mrs. Vernon Lang. Between each lighting a Christmas carol was sung and Mrs. S. Moyer spoke a few appropriate words. Mrs. W. D. Weir then read a Christmas message, very fitting for these days of war, "The Star that Gleams in the Blackness." Mrs. Moyer, assisted by the ladies who lighted the candles, gave the closing thought on "Love" "Love came down at Christmas, love all lovely, all divine".

The business section was conducted by the president, Mrs. Vernon Lang. Routine reports were heard from the treasurers and the secretaries of the various departments, showing that 1944 has been a very successful year financially. Following are names of the officers elected for 1945: President, Mrs. Vernon Lang; 1st Vice President, Mrs. S. Moyer; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. R. M. Patterson; Recording Secretary, Mrs. William Brown; Treasurer, Mrs. R. Bradley, secretary of Christian Stewardship and Finance, Miss Lillie Race; Reserve Fund Secretary, Mrs. Jos. Shield; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. George Overholt; Literature Secretary, Mrs. S. D. Vaughan; Temperance Secretary, Mrs. S. Moyer; Associate Helpers' Secretary, Miss Alice Veals; Missionary Monthly Secretary, Mrs. C. L. Morcombe; Pianist, Mrs. C. L. Morcombe; Visiting Committee, Mrs. David Weir and Mrs. R. M. Patterson; Mission Band Leader, Mrs. R. M. Patterson; Baby Band Leader, Mrs. Harry Deyell; Supply Committee, Mrs. George Overholt, Mrs. D. Rea, Mrs. C. L. Morcombe, and Mrs. F. McBain; Group Leaders, Mrs. R. Clifford, Mrs. Arthur Rutherford, Mrs. Burton Pogue, Mrs. S. Moyer and Mrs. S. D. Vaughan.

Greek Rebels Shelling Athens City

Buildings Aflame Water Supplies Cut By Shelling

ATHENS, Dec. 12 — (AP). — Left-Wing E.L.A.S. forces sent shells crashing into Athens and continued their all-out attempts to break into the centre of the city today.

(An Athens broadcast said Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander, Allied commander in the Mediterranean, had arrived in Athens with Harold MacMillan, British minister resident in the Middle East.)

R.A.F. planes at dawn shot up E.L.A.S. reinforcements moving on the capital from Anoliosia, five miles to the northwest.

Several shells fell near the centre of Athens, some near British headquarters, and flames swept through numerous buildings. Fires in the market place threatened to get beyond control. Water supplies were cut off in large sections of the city.

The E.L.A.S., the militia of the Leftist E.A.M. or national liberation front, began last night the attempt to drive into the heart of Athens.

(A BBC broadcast said the E.L.A.S. had increased the shelling of the city seeking "to force a decision before British reinforcements arrive.")

British troops installed in the post office and E.L.A.S. forces occupying the town hall fought a three-hour battle in the night. A tank intervened, firing on the hall's upper stories and starting a fire. But this morning the E.L.A.S. reoccupied the

Government Begins Evacuation Of Tokyo Non-Essential Workers Only Ones Leaving

LONDON, Dec. 12 —(AP)—The Berlin radio said that evacuation of non-essential workers from Tokyo was proceeding, with a contingent of 20,000 planning to leave the city of 7,000,000 today.

Plans to evacuate several districts had been announced previously by Tokyo.

"Measures for the evacuation of Tokyo are progressing according to plan," the Berlin radio said. "Twenty thousand persons will leave the capital on Tuesday, especially the old and infirm, as well as children and expectant mothers.

"No workers on the war industry, transport and press may leave Tokyo, however, as special permits are required by the police," Transocean said. "Neither can workers in the essential industries (gas, water and electricity, doctors, chemists and nurses). The civil defence forces must also stay."

The agency reported that American bombers had appeared over Tokyo again today. Apparently from the Marianas bases, but had dropped no bombs. A second group of bombers was reported over the capital tonight, dropping incendiary bombs.

Labor Says Enemy Peoples Must Share In War Guilt

LONDON, Dec. 12—(CP).—The Labor Party adopted a resolution today declaring the whole German and Japanese peoples must share the responsibility for "crimes" of their leaders, despite the warnings of some delegates against any threat of vengeance that would stiffen German resistance.

Lord Strabolgi, while supporting the convention's stand that "neither the German nor Japanese people as a whole can be acquitted of all responsibility," urged a more moderate government policy "for the sake of quick victory."

"If you keep harping on unconditional surrender you play right into the hands of Himmler and Goebbels and the rest of the Nazi leaders," he said. "You must give the German people some hope for the future."

Make Restitution.

Deputy Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee, leader of the Labor Party, led the fight for the resolution and contended it was "just and right" that the German and Japanese people "should make what reparations and restitution is possible."

As the Labor convention moved into its second day a fight was shaping behind the scenes on the government's policy in Greece, with several big unions sponsoring resolutions sharply criticizing Britain's intervention in the political clashes of liberated countries.

Asserting "we cannot and do not acquit the German and Japanese people of all responsibility," Mr. Attlee said.

"We believe both these nations must be disarmed and deprived of power to start new wars, but if this is to be done effectively there must be an organization with power to enforce it."

Mr. Attlee, leader of the minority Labor party, saiad countries throughout the world — especially those in Europe—must be willing to sacrifice some of their nationalist sentiment in the interests of peace.

Old Systems Out.

"Membership in a larger organization," he contended, "does not conflict with the reasonable claims of nations to live their own lives."

"If old systems do not fit in with the expansionist policy which world conditions demand, they must go," Mr. Attlee said. "Many nations suffer from a too vivid sense of history. I hope that when victory is won these people will turn their minds with hope to the future, looking forward to new opportunities instead of harking back to the past.

"It is not enough to wish for peace and to execrate war. We must say what we are prepared to do to maintain peace. We must say what responsibility we are prepared to accept. No enduring peace is possible unless there is a continuing co-operation between the British commonwealth of nations, the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A."

Howe Flagship Pacific Fleet

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 12 (CP)—Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser, commander of the new British Pacific Fleet, indicated here today that Britain's contribution in the war against the Japanese would best be confined to sea and air support.

In London it was announced one of the Royal Navy's most powerful warships—the 35,500-ton battleship Howe—has been assigned as flagship of the Pacific Fleet.

The Howe, commissioned in 1942, carries a main battery of 10 14-inch guns and is heavily armored. Lessons learned in aerial warfare early in the war were incorporated in her construction.

The Admiral who commanded the Royal Navy units that sank the Scharnhorst made his comment in reply to a question in an interview whether British soldiers were coming to the Pacific.

He said the view in Britain was that the best contribution she could make would be a Navy supported by air units since supply arrangement would become too complicated if troops were sent too.

Shorten the War

He expressed the belief that a concentration of fleets in the Pacific would have considerable effect on shortening the war because Japan is dependent on sea power and aircraft.

One effect of this marshalling of sea power in the Pacific probably will mean that the Japanese Navy would not seek to engage the Allied warships, but would retire and retire, the Admiral said.

"But if she does retire," Sir Bruce continued, "He (Japan) will still be dependent on transport and his supply problems will become more

Decisive Battle Shaping In Athens

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 — (AP)—Guthrie Janssen of NBC, broadcasting from Athens today, said a decisive battle appeared to be in making and "I don't know how long I can go on sending you these broadcasts—communications may be cut at anytime.

"The rest of Greece is under E.L.A.S. control," the reporter said, "except for the lower half of the Piraeus peninsula, where the British made some advances yesterday.

"E.L.A.S. is co-ordinating and will doubtless try to force a decisive battle within the next few days, before more British reinforcements can arrive."

By-Election Is Called In Grey

OTTAWA, Dec. 12 — (CP). — A federal by-election will be held in the Ontario constituency of Grey North Feb. 5, it was announced today.

Nominations for the by-election, to be contested by Defence Minister McNaughton, will close Jan. 29.

It was expected that Gen. McNaughton would be opposed by Mayor Garfield Case of Owen Sound, who has been nominated Progressive Conservative candidate in the constituency.

The Grey North seat became vacant recently when W. P. Telford, the sitting Liberal member, resigned because of ill health.

If Gen. McNaughton wins the by-election he will be able to take his seat in the Commons early in the next session of parliament. The present session, although adjourned, is scheduled to be prorogued Jan. 31. Since the beginning of the war, the adjourned session has been prorogued one day and a new session opened the following day.

That the general would not win the seat by acclamation was indicated yesterday when Harry Willis, federal chairman of the Progressive Conservative party for Ontario, said in an interview at London, Ont., that the party "will most certainly contest the federal election in Grey North constituency." He said the party had a "vigorous candidate" in Mayor Case and "we intend to make a real fight for that seat."

In the last election, held in 1940, Mr. Telford compiled 7,538 votes to win re-election over two opponents, V. C. Porteous, Progressive Conservative candidate and member from 1930 to 1935, received 5,771 votes and the Liberal-Progressive candidate 2,434 votes.

Allied Army Half-Mile From Duren

6 Fortified Villages Captured Along Roer River

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer.

PARIS, Dec. 12 — (AP). — American 1st Army infantry and tanks moved to-day within a half-mile of Duren, Roer Valley defence key, capturing six fortified villages on its approaches and reaching the flooded river on a 1,000-yard front opposite the Hurtgen Forest.

The U.S. 7th Army in the centre of the western front broke clear through the Maginot Line and advanced more than six miles in eight hours, reaching Seltz, 15 miles south-west of the Rhine city of Karlsruhe. Seltz is four miles from the Palatinate border and a mile and a half west of the Rhine. A dozen French towns along the Rhine were captured.

The approach to the edge of Duren, ruined city of 39,000, 20 miles south-west of Cologne, was at and around Mariaweiler, which was virtually cleaned out.

Take Several Places.

These towns fell swiftly to the 1st Army:

Hoven, 1½ miles north-west of Duren and 500 yards from the Roer.

Pier, five miles north-west of Duren and four south-east of the central Roer bastion of Julich. Patrols entered the village on December 6.

Merken, 3½ miles north-west of Duren.

Merode, 3½ miles south-west.

Gey, four miles south-west of Duren. Heavy fighting continued around the town, which finally was cleared.

Derichweiler, less than two miles west of Duren.

Take Sareuemines.

The U.S. 3rd Army finally captured Sarreguemines, pulled up to border of the Saarland and started shelling the important cities of Sweibrucken and St. Ingbert, five and seven miles inside Germany.

The 3rd cleared out five fortified blocks in Fraulautern, a mile north of Saarlautern, and a similar area in Ensdorf, the same distance east. Both are in the Siegfried Line. It appeared that the Germans were quitting the western en of Fraulautern. The Germans maintained pressure around the steel city of Dillingen, three miles north of Saarlautern, but attempted no more counter-attacks in the ruins of Saarlautern itself, a city as devastated as Aachen.

The U.S. 7th Army captured the Alsace base city of Haguenau, skirted the dense forest to the north and reached to within 29 miles of the German city of Karlsruhe be-

Russian Tanks Enter Budapest City

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Dec. 12 (AP)—Russian tanks battled into the northern suburbs of Budapest today, while another powerful Soviet column drove westward past the great bend of the Danube above the city toward Bratislava and Vienna, Russian dispatches said.

The main body of motorized Russian infantry driving down the Danube upon Budapest was declared within full view of the capital, and tank units ranged on ahead.

Hastily-reinforced German garrisons suffered high casualties in embittered, short-range fighting, and there were increasing bayonet clashes in the outer anti-tank zone, it was announced.

Soviet communique announced total gains of three miles and capture of the towns of Veresegyhaz and Szada, both 8½ miles northeast of the capital, by Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2nd Ukraine Army.

Other Red Army troops edged in toward the capital from the east, south and southwest.

(The Paris and Algiers radios said the Russians had penetrated Budapest, but this report appeared without any foundation.)

Malinovsky's northern arm swept around the great bend north of Szob In gains of up to seven miles, the Russian front along the central

Tokyo Bombed 3 Times In Night

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12 — (AP).— Tokyo radio reported American Superfortresses dropped incendiary bombs "in two or three places" to-night (Japanese time).

Recorded by the Federal Communication Commission, the broadcast said it was the fourth incursion over Tokyo by the Superforts to-day.

Between midnight and 5 a.m., Superfortresses from the Mariana Islands made three incursions into Japan, Radio Tokyo announced

The broadcast, intercepted by the Federal Communications Commission, said that "all the planes fled southward apparently without dropping any bombs."

The Shizuoka area was badly shaken up by last week's earthquake and a resultant tidal wave which covered houses with water. Hence the flight may have been for photographic purposes to establish the damage sustained.

No mention was made of any Japanese fighter interception.

Schools Closed Trains Late City Buses Taken Off Streets

Blizzard Likely To Blow Into Wednesday

Peterborough business and traffic floundered this morning in snow that filled roads and sidewalks reducing trains, buses, trucks, cars and pedestrians almost to a common level of helplessness.

Both the noon trains from Toronto were held up on Union Station sidings with schedules indefinitely disrupted by "one of the worst blizzards in years" and snow fall of around eighteen inches that whirled and drifted with a strong wind, snarling the tangle of traffic with little likelihood of any relief until far on in the day.

Local bus transportation was halted shortly after nine o'clock this morning when four cars were stalled in different parts of the city, one of them at the C.N.R. freight shed on Charlotte street, another in front of McLeod's store at the C.G.E. Several of the buses had to be towed back to the King street barns with clutches burned out.

Lawrie Mitchell, manager, said that discretion and plain common sense counselled withdrawal of the buses from their routes until the streets were made passable.

"I decided we might as well keep the buses in working order until they could get going again, rather than burn out parts trying to get through the depth of snow on an icy road surface underneath," Mr. Mitchell said. "The conditions could hardly have been worse."

Look for Relief

Milk deliveries into the city were reduced to half their daily volume. Bread trucks were in trouble all around the district, and automobiles were groaning in the labor of trying to get traction through the weight of snow that had fallen throughout tonight with the likeli- into early afternoon.

Canadian Press reported meteorological information that the blizzard might abate around three o'clock this afternoon "but the gale will continue to pile the loose, dry snow into drifts until sometime Wednesday." Prospects indicated the wind would keep blowing throughout tonight ith the likelihood of subsiding Wednesday morning. Until then, no relief was in sight.

Public schools virtually closed for the day, about midmorning. The younger children were sent home early, and their classes were cancelled for the afternoon. It seemed doubtful whether many of the senior pupils could get home and back without considerable loss of time. The noon luncheon period was extended an hour at the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School by the Principal, C. S. Browne. In the Catholic Schools the juniors were excused for the afternoon, and it was hoped that most of the older pupils would be able to return sometime after dinner.

Trains Stalled

Eastbound passenger trains out of Toronto, through Peterborough, were snowbound in the yards of the Union Station at noon.

"Eighteen inches of snow have filled the Toronto yards," D. E. Bell of the C.N.R. told the Examiner. "The train due here at noon was still standing in the yards at Toronto, and we have no information yet as to the prospects for this afternoon and this evening."

Bruce Scott of the C.P.R. station confirmed that report of the Toronto tie-up. "They say it is one of the worst storms they have had in years. The Toronto-Ottawa train, due here at noon, was unable to take off,

Highways Blocked

"Highways are blocked everywhere throughout the district, and the public is advised not to venture into them until they are re-opened to traffic," an official of the Ontario Department of Highways informed the Examiner late to-day.

No. 2 Highway is filled in with the others, and it is unlikely that it will be cleared to Oshawa before 4 or 5 o'clock this afternoon. The storm has extended over all southern Ontario. Milk, bread and grocery deliveries are being held up. Traffic in Toronto is completely demoralized by 19 inches of snow. The previous record to this date of the winter was 16 inches in 1870.

The Department has every piece of equipment in action, and main highway will be open as soon as possible."

Eleven Persons Dead From Storm Toronto Paralayzed

By The Canadian Press.

Eleven deaths were reported today in Toronto and Hamilton, where a snowstorm which swept Southern Ontario and extended into Quebec reached the height of its fury. The storm was the worst in Toronto history with 21 inches of snow falling from five a.m. yesterday until noon today.

Nine of the deaths were in Toronto. Two died from over-exertion shovelling snow. Seven others died while plowing through four-foot drifts. Several lay for a considerable time in the snow before they were discovered. Two of the deaths were at Hamilton.

A broadcast appeal from Mayor Conboy asked all persons not engaged in essential industry to stay home from work. Department stores are closed—including Eaton's and Simpson's. It was the first time in the memory of employees who could be reached at the stores that they had closed because of weather conditions.

The Ontario Department of Highways announced that all highways in Southern Ontario are impassable and appealed motorists not to venture out on any trips.

Few Street Cars.

Street car traffic in Toronto was reported to be 25 per cent normal. Schools are closed for the day. The Ontario Government offices at Queen's Park closed at 11:30 a.m. after an announcement by Premier Drew who said everyone who came to work at the buildings should return home and help shovelling snow. Milk deliveries were cancelled and bread deliveries also are not being made An appeal was issued to people not to visit stores to buy milk unless they need it for babies.

At Hamilton police and fire services are curtailed and milk and bread deliveries cancelled. Transportation in the city and district generally are at a complete standstill. Drifts are as much as 6 feet deep. Schools are closed and only skeleton staffs are at work in the offices and plants.

Milk Shortage.

Hamilton milk distributors said they had only one day's supply of milk on hand and suggested the possibility of a shortage of fresh supplies from the country cannot be shipped to the city because of drifted highways. It will be a week, they estimated, before full supplies are available. Hamilton had two fire alarms shortly after 10 a.m. but neither were serious.

2,200 Planes Hit Hun Plants Cut Oil Supply

LONDON, Dec. 12 — (CP). — Almost 2,200 American planes, including 1,250 heavy bombers, bombed the Germans' principal synthetic oil refinery at Merseburg and railyards at Hanau, Aschaffensburg and Darmstadt today.

It was the 19th attack on the Leuna refinery.

Though bombing at Merseburg was by instrument due to heavy clouds, all the rail targets were in the open and hit visually.

All the bombers and most of the fighter escort were from the U.S. Eighth Airforce which dispatched 1,600 planes in one fleet yesterday to bomb three rail centres in south-western Germany.

Berlin air raid warnings indicated that at least two other heavy bomber blows landed on German targets today — one by the R.A.F. and the other by bombers from the U.S. 15th Air Force in Italy.

A new parade of American heavy bombers left Britain before noon. German radios shortly reported them in the Magdeburg-Leipzig refinery zone southwest of Berlin.

These attacks came after fast R.A.F. Mosquito bombers returned to western Germany last night with blockbusters. Earlier, continent-based R.A.F. fighters and bombers attacked tactical targets before dusk.

3 Way Blow

The fury of Allied bombing offensive was climaxed yesterday by a three-way attack including both the U.S. 8th and 15th Air Forces and R.A.F. bomber command.

The Britain-based U.S. 8th Air Force put 1,600 bombers in the air yesterday and with an escort of 800 fighters smashed railyards at Frankfurt, Hanau and Giessen. It was the largest single bomber fleet ever put in the air — twice the size of Germany's peak aerial effort in September, 1940, when 800 planes attacked London.

The 10,000-ton bombload hit home yesterday as Allied air spokesmen announced that every synthetic oil plant in the Ruhr had been crippled and every mainline rail route to German defences in the west severed in the past month's heavy offensive.

Japs Retreating Across Kweichow

CHUNGKING, Dec. 12—(AP). — Chinese troops from the north streamed southward today through Chungking as other Chinese drove down the Kweichow-Kwangsi railway in pursuit of Japanese retreating from Kweichow Province, the high command said.

The high command appeared intent upon full preparation for any new Japanese assault upon the province. The sight of the troop movement southward spread relief throughout this wartime capital.

On the fighting front the Chinese took the rail town of Liuchai, just inside the Kwangsi border and pushed onward toward Nantan. At last reports from the field the Chinese were only a few miles from Nantan.

There was no indication whether the troops from the north were drawn from the ranks of those who have been held down by the Communists, but it seemed likely.

Germans Pass Relief Ships

By-Passed Channel Islands Need Help

LONDON, Dec. 12 (CP) — The Germans have granted safe conduct to relief ships carrying supplies to the German-occupied Channel Islands, Home Secretary Herbert Morrison said today.

Between 60,000 and 70,000 persons on these British Islands are short of food and medical supplies.

Occupied by the Germans in 1940, the Islands were by-passed when the Allies invaded Europe.

Mr. Morrison's announcement saiad in part: 'It is, of course, a recognized principle of international law that an occupying power is responsible for supplies to the civil population; nevertheless, in view of reports receieved on conditions in the islands, His Majesty's government decided it would be right to supplement the rations of the civil population on the islands by sending supplies of medicines, soap and food parcels on the basis of those supplied to prisoners of war."

It was understood in London that relief ships probably would sail from Lisbon. Last month it was reported that two vessels loaded with Red Cross parcels were at Lisbon awaiting completion of arrangements.

The Germans have claimed in the past that the German garrison commander of the islands rejected two Allied attempts to arrange surrender. A German broadcast said one of the attempts was made when a Canadian officer arrived by boat and asked for an interview, which was refused.

Weather Gives Germans Breathing Spell

Training School Boys And Replenishing Supplies For Great Push In 1945

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Word from London that Germany is reported getting set to launch a counter-offensive in 1945 means—if the report is substantiated—that she has real hopes of standing off for a considerable period any wholesale Allied invasion.

It must be admitted that the way the tides of fortune have been favoring the enemy on the Western front provides some basis for their hope that they may be able to continue their delaying actions for a time. Foul weather, floods and mud — plus Allied transportation problems—have done for the Germans what their military skill couldn't have done with the badly knocked-about war machine at their disposal.

Naturally the longer the Germans are able to keep an all-out Allied offensive from maturing, the better will be their chances of getting ready for a counter-blow in the new year. More young school-boys will have got big enough and strong enough to be flung into Hitler's melting-pot—for mere children are dying for Hitler these days. Vital supplies like synthetic oil and gasoline may be replenished somewhat.

The reports received in London from many sources seem to concern the development of "secret" weapons — improved flying bombs and rocket bombs, and a submarine equipped with radical new devices for underwater breathing. This leads to the thought that the projected counter-drive will revolve largely about these inventions. In other words it will be a long-range counter-offensive in some degree against North America.

Of course the idea of a German counter-offensive is still largely a brain-child. Whether it comes off and the extent of its success, depends on the development of the Allied offensives, both in Western and Eastern Europe. A stretch of fair and cold weather, to clear the skies for flying and freeze the earth for military movement, might easily knock the Nazi dream into a cocked hat.

It behooves us to remember, however, that the German is still dangerous.

Montreal Gets Record Snow

75-Year Record Set In Metropolis

MONTREAL, Dec. 12 —(CP)—A blizzard which swept over southern Ontario during the night struck Montreal early this morning and appeared to be moving eastward across Quebec province.

A 48-mile-an-hour wind and steadily-falling snow slowed but failed to stop morning rush hour traffic in Montreal, although the city was still digging out of a 75-year record snowfall of 16½ inches early in the month.

Forecasts were that today's fall probably would reach 12 or 13 inches before the storm abated. Six inches had fallen by noon today.

All air traffic was suspended in the district, but trains moved practically on schedule and inter-urban buses fought their way through heavy drifts with comparatively minor delays. Montreal tramways officials reported a general slow-down in tram services but no serious disruption as yet.

More than 1,600 men as well as hundreds of pieces of heavy snow-removal equipment, worked steadily in an effort to keep city streets passable.

Elect Houde As Mayor Of Montreal

Polls 62,917 Votes Against 48,134 For Mayor Raynault

MONTREAL, Dec. 11.—(CP). — Camillien Houde, silver-tongued veteran of a score of political battles, was mayor-elect of Montreal again to-day, following a dramatic return from four years of internment.

Mr. Houde was chosen chief magistrate of Canada's largest city for the fifth time in his stormy career yesterday, and with his election over Adhemar Raynault — three times mayor of the city—went a three year mandate. A referendum conducted with the municipal voting gave a comfortable margin to a proposal that the term of office be extended from two to three years.

Fifty-four aldermen were chosen from 98 candidates, with 12 other seats going by acclamation, but most of the interest centred on the mayoralty battle between two men who have both been closely connected with municipal ond provincial politics for a decade.

Aldermen elected include J. M. Savignac, staunch supporter of Mr. Houde in other years, and Lucien Croteau and Albert Charpentier—the only aldermanic candidates Mr. Houde ever indicated that he supported in the campaign.

The final returns gave Mr. Houde 62,917 ballots, and Mr. Raynault 48,134, but it was not until late in the counting that Mr. Houde was assured of victory. Earlier, the lead changed hands several times in a see-saw battle.

Below Record.

The total of some 111,000 ballots cast fell below the record 150,000 when Mr. Houde was elected in 1938, but the 46 per cent turnout was far ahead of the 22 per cent who cast their votes in the 1942 elections when Mr. Raynault was returned for his third term in eight years.

Mr Raynault drew his greatest support from English-speaking districts, a circumstance which Mr. Houde noted when he spoke over a Montreal radio station (CKAC) shortly after his victory was assured.

"We may not see eye to eye now on some very important matters" he said in the English portion of his broadcast, "but the day will come when you will need Quebec's stability and Quebec's soundness for other purposes than war. I hold no bitterness, and when that day comes, you will be welcome."

The mayor-elect returns to the chief magistrate's chair that he vacated during his fourth term when he was interned after urging residents not to comply with national registration regulations. Much of his campaigning was to the effect that the action which led to four years of internment was a logical and consistent with his opposition to conscription.

Mr. Houde received the election results at his St. Hubert street home, sitting in his basement office under a framed drawing of himself in internment. Like Mr. Raynault, he made his radio address from his home, later going down to City Hall where he made another speech to the crowds gathered there.

Mr. Raynault in his radio address said he was "not beaten by my opponent but by circumstances," adding that he accepted his defeat without hard feelings and that he had had no personal desire to return to office at this time "but I agreed to run under the pressure of a great number of citizens."

rest of the town hall and the adjacent streets.

Peace proposals were reported being drawn up by rebel leaders, however.

An impartial source described leaders of both the Leftist political party, E.A.M., and its militia arm, the E.L.A.S., as "realizing now they will eventually lose" the bloody conflict with British and regular Greek troops.

Declaring the left-wing leaders were now "relenting in their demands" that the government of Premier George Papandreou make way for another in which they would have control, this source said E.L.A.S. troops would withdraw from Athens and all the department of Attica in return for guarantees that none would be prosecuted.

(In London, the Daily Mail said Field Marshal Alexander, new supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean, had been sent to Greece with personal instructions from Prime Minister Churchill "to end the fighting as quickly as possible, provided this can be done with the full assurance of future peace and co-operation among the political parties."

(The Mail said the commander was accompanied by Harold MacMillan, British resident minister to Allied Mediterranean headquarters.)

The possibility of a peace, or at least a truce, also was strengthened by Publisher Dimitri Lambrakis, who has been working as a negotiator. He reported E.A.M. leaders as much more conciliatory than they were a week ago.

Lambrakis asserted that establishment of a regency would help Greece "emerge from the tragic impasse she is in," he declared. "It is imperative" that King George II" accept setting up of a regency as suggested by political leaders."

The fighting is costing both sides heavily in casualties. No official figures have been issued on the British side, but they are mounting. It is estimated the E.L.A.S. have lost 4,500 killed, wounded and captured. This is believed to be nearly 10 per cent of the whole E.L.A.S. strength.

Scalp Mishaps On Increase

TORONTO, Dec. 12—"One of the greatest problems of industry has been the reluctance on the part of many women to wear safe hair covering as a protection against possible scalping," J. R. Prain, chief inspector, Department of Labor, says in a message released today through the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations.

Mr. Prain points out that accident records show that scalpings, major and minor, are increasing and most of them mean permanent disfigurement of the victims.

Reminding industrialists that the Ontario Factory Act makes it compulsory for women workers to wear protective hair covering, Mr. Prain warns, "there are penalty clauses in the Factory Act for violation which apply to both employer and employee and refusal to use this type of safeguarding could result in court action being taken."

Nazi Airforce Busy In Italy

ROME, Dec. 12— (AP).— The German air force has returned to the Italian battle areas, swooping down over the Allied 5th Army front, bombing and strafing troops and communications, Allied Headquarters announced to-day.

As enemy airmen made these attacks yesterday the Lamone river rose to a depth of seven or eight feet after a week of heavy rain slowing down British 8th Army operations in Eastern Italy to patrols.

The Germans reacted strongly to 5th Army patrol thrusts south and southeast of Bologna and made several small scale counter-attacks.

German artillery was strongly active along the west coast and central fronts. In one 15-minute period their guns poured more than 700 rounds into one section of the 5th Army sector.

hind the Rhine.

Supply dumps were seized at Haguaeau. The Americans were within four miles of the German palatinate north of the city.

Farther south beyond Strasbourg, the 7th and the French 1st Army were within 3½ miles of Colmar, checked more by floods than by Germans. The French cleared eight miles of the Rhine bank from the Swiss frontier to Kembs and faced the formidable German fortresses across the river.

The Germans appeared to have abandoned hope of holding out much longer west of the Roer and to be fighting a screening action while they hauled the rest of their artillery and tanks to the east bank. There the Germans with forced labor have thrown up three lines of narrow trenches and strongpoints stretching from Duren to Julich between the Roer and the Erft River, which flows within eight miles of Cologne on the Rhine.

The Roer front curved around for 15 miles or more and projected within 21 miles of Cologne.

Before Duren, the Americans were 18 miles inside Germany in the deepest invasion yet of the Reich. Duren is little more than 300 miles south-west of Berlin and like the capital, a ruin from Allied bombs. Duren was within plain sight of the Americans.

The U.S. 9th Army late last month reached the Roer along an eight-mile front between the central and northern river citadels of Julich and Linnich. Considerable German movement was observed east of the river and 9th Army guns opened up on the foe, Allied Supreme Headquarters announced.

Slow Advance.

The 3rd Army's battle to deepen its wedges in the Siegfried Line remained bitter and slow. The Germans used dug-in tanks and fired from innumerable pill-boxes and holes in the rubble.

North-east of Sarreguemines, the 35th Division advanced a mile to the German frontier on the Blies River. The 26th Division captured Bliesbruck on the Blies. The 95th Division took six more pill-boxes in Fraulutern where the Germans were wearied under week-long pressure. Other elements of the 95th found going slow and difficult due north of Saarlautern.

The Germans launched six small counter-attacks against the 90th Division in and around Dillingen yesterday and began again at 4:30 a.m. to-day.

The Germans were estimated to be landing 3,000 rounds of shells daily in Dillingen, home of one of the Saarland's greatest blast furnaces and a tank factory.

The 3rd Army captured 441 Germans yesterday, raising its total to 33,130 since November 8, when the current drive started. In the same period, Lt.-Gen. Patton's men have destroyed 145 tanks, 412 artillery pieces, and 315 vehicles, exclusive of what supporting plants have knocked out.

The 7th Army's capture of Haguenau precipitated an apparent collapse of German defences in that Karlsruhe corner. North of the Haguenau Forest, Lt.-Gen. Patch's troops entered Walbourg and Durenbach. Other units shot eastward, clearing Schirrhein and Schirhoffen and reached the outskirts of Soufflenheim, 22 miles from Karlsruhe.

At one unidentified point farther west in Northern Alsace, Patch's shock troops were within 2½ miles of the German frontier.

The heavy storm blanketed all of the southern part of the province. Kingston in Eastern Ontario reported that people of nearby Wolfe Island are isolated because the ferry Wolfe Islander is tied up, because of heavy snow, high winds and poor visibility.

All roads leading to the village of Sharbot Lake near Kingston are blocked. Rural roads are impassable around Napanee and Gananoque. Kingston faces a milk shortage with farmers unable to reach dairies. Bus schedules in Kingston are disrupted. Twelve snowplows are in action on district highways and officials said the highway from Belleville to Prescott is being kept open only with difficulty.

Woodstock Isolated.

Woodstock in Western Ontario is virtually isolated as far as highway traffic is concerned. Highways in all directions are impassable. It is estimated that more than 100 transport trucks are stalled on highways in the immediate vicinity of the city or waiting in Woodstock for the storm to abate. Trains are running late. Bus service in the city is delayed and drifts as much as four feet deep are common.

Brantford reports it is digging out of the worst storm in years. City and suburban bus services are disorganized. Private cars and trucks are stalled in the city and district. Hundreds were late for work.

Some Use Skis

Ski suits were familiar sights in Toronto and other cities, girls donning them to come to work. Some used skis. In Toronto even the weatherman was late for work. Telephone exchanges in Toronto were overloaded with calls and the telephone company issued an appeal to citizens to avoid all non-essential calls.

The Toronto Daily Star and the Toronto Evening Telegram did not publish their usual noon editions. The Star said it would have two editions today, one just before two p.m. and another later in the day. The Telegram was expected to publish an edition at two p.m. An editor at the Star said as far as he knew it was the first time weather conditions had prevented publication of the paper.

Windsor in southwestern Ontario had its first real touch of winter, with a five-inch fall which slowed traffic to a crawl. A power failure was reported at 8.20 a.m. buses were crowded but operating. St. Thomas reported a nine-inch snowfall. Country roads and highways in the area are blocked. Trains are moving only slightly behind schedule.

Cancel Funerals

Stratford had its heaviest snowfall of the winter. Bus service was discontinued early in the day but resumed later. No buses reached the city from Toronto, Hamilton or London. Kitchener reported eight inches of snow which slowed traffic. Roads around the city are in bad shape.

Traffic in London, which was hard hit by a freak snowstorm Dec. 1, has been slowed down. Buses are operating. Heavy drifts were reported at Sarnia where the fall was six to eight inches. Welland reported drifts six to seven feet deep. Schools were closed and plants operated with skeleton staffs.

Belleville and Cobourg in eastern Ontario reported that traffic was at a complete standstill. Belleville reported a seven-inch fall of snow.

At Hamilton and Toronto undertakers cancelled funerals. The postmaster at Hamilton appealed to citizens not to use street letter boxes because it will be impossible to clear them.

The storm extended as far east as Ottawa and Montreal. Traffic in the letter city was delayed.

Fire Truck Has Trouble On Snow-Drifted Road

Firemen who answered a call on Maniece avenue this morning found the going heavy and reported that on the return trip the pumper had great difficulty in getting through the snow drifted roads. Chief Gimblett said that several times the crew had to use their shovels.

This alarm came in at 11:10 and since it was the first house past the bend on Maniece, it was outside the city. When the call was turned in, it was believed the house was afire and so Mayor Hamilton ordered one of the trucks to go. Upon arrival though, it was found that the fire was in a joyce around a pipe hole in the attic.

An earlier alarm at 8:58 a.m. came from the home of W. J. Glaspell, 82 McDonnel street. It was a chimney fire. Three other chimney and pipe fires occurred on Monday. Overheated pipes brought firemen to the home of Thomas O'Brien, 90 Sophia street, at 5:12 p.m. Monday afternoon; at 5:31 p.m., chimney and overheated pipes caused a fire at the home of A. Amyotte, 288 Westcott street; and a chimney fire was reported at the home of J. Conroy, 498 Sherbrooke street at 3:33 p.m.

Highway No. 28 Not Passable

Buses were stalled with passengers at Baillieboro and outside of Fenelon Falls this morning, several big freight trucks were held at Bewdley, and highways were filling with snow all the way from Hamilton-Toronto to Kingston, according to accurate district information at 2 p.m. today.

Highway No. 28 from Peterborough to Port Hope was blocked this afternoon south of Bewdley and in stretches to the north. The bus leaving here for Toronto was held by the snow barrier at Baillieboro. The Highways Department had ordered their big four-wheeled plow from Victoria county to dig into the road from Lindsay easterly to Peterborough and on to Port Hope with the expectation that it would arrive here between three and four o'clock.

Highway No. 7 was filled in west from Lindsay, and east of Peterborough was blocked by drifts blown by the gale even after the fall of snow eased towards noon.

Traffic was tied up from Norwood to Cobourg, and was at a standstill along No. 2, east and west of Port Hope, with freight and passenger trucks and busses stranded in towns and villages.

Highway officials described the blizzard as the worst in at least the last fifteen years. All their equipment was in action this morning. Motor vehicles were hamstrung by the combined forces of wind and snow.

Plows were working double shifts in the Bancroft district and managed to keep the main roads open to traffic. Millbrook was cut off from communication with the outside world. Its radial roads were filled in all directions, including the paved road out to the Peterborough-Port Hope Highway. Up to 11 a.m. the village had not seen a plow from any quarter.

and we don't know (at 1 pm.) when it is leaving. The plow that has been standing in the local yard went through to Bobcaygeon this morning."

The C.N.R. passenger train from Belleville arrived here this morning on time, heading for Toronto, and the early freights on both lines reached here on schedule.

The Keene Bus

W. T. Fletcher broke the road up the Sixth Line from Keene this morning with local factory workers 'We left at 6:15 and reached the De Laval at 7:05 o'clock. That wasn't bad going if I do say so. On the Collegiate trip we left at 8:30 and got here at 10.30.

"That's twice I've had to break the trail to Peterborough, Mr. Fletcher said. "This morning and in the storm of ten days ago. We are drawing war workers into the city. They are doing essential work, and in such emergency as this morning I don't see why the county plows are not sent out early in the storm and kept going all the time I am paying a special road tax for bus operation, and I feel that I am entitled to some consideration on these several points."

Mr. Fletcher cancelled his noon trip back to Keene.

When the Examiner called Alderman Dutton at Stocks Bread for the log of his fleet of bread trucks, whose routes radiate in all directions from the city, he immediately adjusted his reply to storm reports he had received from Toronto.

"I have just had word from my son, Tom, in Toronto. He said he could not get out of his house. One of the men left home at 5.45 a.m., but did not reach the factory until 10.30. I was told that not one vehicle had left the bakery up to that time. All the men and horses were tied up. Nothing was moving.

"As to our own men, they have been running into difficulties in all directions, and I was advising them to return home at once.

"Our man going to Keene and that section made four or five calls, found drifts getting deeper, that is his morning, and decided that wisdom was telling him to turn around and go back.

"The man to Bridgenorth and the south side of the lake said the roads were icy under the snow, tires couldn't grip that kind of surface. He halted in Bridgenorth.

"Our Lakefield man had left that village going to Young's Point. I was searching for him by telephone to call him home, but have been unable to reach him up to now (10.40 a.m.).

"The big transport that left at midnight for Belleville is somewhere between there and Trenton. I feel certain he will be unable to make Madoc.

"Our Campbellford man set out bravely at 6 o'clock, and I can't trace him beyond Trent Bridge. He is somewhere between the Trent and Campbellford.

"The man at Millbrook telephoned that he was blocked in and couldn't move. That applies to our local men at Brighton, Trenton and Colborne. It is one of the worst storms in many years. I noticed Monday night that the barometer, an accurate instrument, too, had dropped much lower than usual, into the stormy section, and I felt that we were in for a blow."

Farmers Cut Off

Alderman W. J. Ovens, manager of Campbell's Dairy, summarized the plant's experience up to 11 a.m., "about 50 per cent. of our milk supply reached the plant so far. Our truck on No. 7 highway hadn't even started. We are managing local delivery because every one of our men is provided with horse and sleigh. Call us tonight. We probably will be still working then."

Factory workers were generally on time at seven and eight o'clock this morning, but it seemed unlikely that cars that were parked until noon in the unrelenting snowfall could get out for the noon trip home.

The management of C.G.E.-Genelco terminated the morning work at twenty minutes to twelve, and the plant cafeteria was crowded with employees marooned by the drifts.

Mercantile business was down to a mere trickle. Stores were almost vacant most of the morning, and staffs found an unexpected opportunity to overtake the effects of the holiday buying on their stock and arrangements.

Miss M. B. Wood, Bell Telephone supervisor, said the board was busier than usual this morning, and especially through the noon hours. Office employees decided on restaurant lunches, crowding the regulars after telephoning that they were doing to dine down town. The Churchill was packed, and service was snagged on the absence of waitresses and other help who looked at the drifts and called it a day at home.

James Harrison of the Waterworks plant, the city's weather man, estimated the snowfall at 4½ inches by nine o'clock, and said he expected about eight inches on the level by afternoon.

OBITUARY

MRS. RACHAEL DUNFORD

A native of Dummer township, and one of Lakefield's oldest residents, Mrs. Rachael Dunford, formerly Rachael Tigh, passed away Saturday evening at her Regent street home, after a brief illness. She was in her 87th year.

Mrs. Dunford was the daughter of the late Edward Tigh and Mary Ann Bell, and had resided in Lakefield about 14 years. Prior to coming to Lakefield, she lived in Burleigh township. Mrs. Dunford's husband, the late Joseph Dunford, predeceased her in 1913.

Respected and loved by a host of friends and relatives made during a long number of years, Mrs. Dunford is survived by eight sons, Herbert E. J., of Lemsford, Sask.; Wellington (Welly), of Mount Julian, Stoney Lake, Ira C. E., of Burleigh township; Gordon S. W., of Port Reeve, Sask.; Walter J. M., of Lakefield; Norman A., of Eagle Point, Oregon; Sherman A., of Lakefield, and Garnet H., of McDonnel street, Peterborough. Two daughters, Mrs. L. M. More, (Bertha), of George street, Peterborough; Mrs. L. F. Phillips, (Ida), Park stret, Peterborough; one grand-daughter, Mrs. Harry Clapham, Townsend street, and one sister, Mrs. Richard Simpson, (Ellen), of Lakefield, also survive.

The funeral will be Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, from the resident, Regent street, with interment in Lakefield Cemetery. Rev. S. A. R. Wood, of St. John the Baptist Church, will conduct the service.

MRS. ELIZABETH HICKS

Mrs. Elizabeth Hicks, a resident of the Warsaw district almost all her life, died at her home, Lot 26, Concession 13, Otonabee, near Downer's Corners, Monday afternoon in 89th year.

The daughter of the late John Hunter and Jane McCracken, she had been in failing health for the past year and lived near Warsaw until the spring of 1940. The late Mrs. Hicks is a member of the Church of England.

Surviving are one son, John Hicks, of Peterborough; and one daughter, Mrs. William Corrigan at home; and five grandchildren, Cpl. Harold B. Corrigan, Ottawa; Wilbert Corrigan with the Canadian Army overseas; and William, Teddie and Phyllis Corrigan at home. There is also one sister, Mrs. Catharine Ahaine of Lakefield.

The funeral service will be held Thursday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. from the Bert Duffus Funeral Home. Rev. E. C. Moore will officiate and interment will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

acute. He has got to suply his army in Burma."

Admiral Fraser declared "when my fleet is constituted it will welcome a decisive action against the Japanese." He disclosed Australian destroyers taken over from Britain and two flotillas of Australian-built minesweepers would operate with it.

Sir Bruce said that all his future arrangements depended upon his seeing Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, American Pacific Fleet commander, under whose jurisdiction he would operate.

"I've got to see what he wants to do," the Admiral said. "He may say he'd like to have me detach forces to support Gen. MacArthur or he may say detach the whole fleet for that purpose. Administration and command of the British Pacific Fleet will come under me."

He asserted one of the main reasons the British Fleet was in Australian waters was to make contact between the British and Australians Another was that the Japanese fleet has retired from the Indian Ocean and therefore the British fleet must move closer to the enemy.

Commenting on the arrival of the Royal Navy ships in the Pacific zone, a ranking Admiral representing Admiral Fraser said today that Australia will be the British Pacific fleet's chief base, and that heavy demands would be made on Australia for the fleet's support.

Deadly Trap On Leyte Closed Tight

Balance Of Force In Mountains Make Last Stand

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Dec. 12 — (AP)—Japan's bloody but vain defence of Ormoc took on the proportions of an annihilation today as headquarters reported thousands crack Imperial troops wiped out in a deadly trap just south of the Leyte island port city.

The U.S. 77th and 7th infantry divisions effected a junction just south of Ormoc on Monday and eradicated the 26th Japanese division, caught in a vise fashioned after strategic landings on the coast south of Ormoc Thursday.

Other units of the 77th meanwhile destroyed the entire garrison defending Ormoc, Gen. MacArthur announced in his communique today.

Annihilation of the Japanese in the sector eliminated the southern segment of the Yamashita Line. While MacArthur did not specify the number of troops wiped out in the trap, he said in his Monday communique that "many thousands" were in the narrowing pocket. There was little indication many could have escaped.

Great stores of equipment and supplies were captured.

Ormoc, which the 77th Division entered Sunday, was an important base of reinforcement for Japanese fighting in the Ormoc corridor to the north, where bloody engagements have continued for weeks despite torrential rains.

Drive On Mountains

With Ormoc taken, the Americans turned more power to the task clearing the enemy from the mountains northwest shoulder of Leyte Island

Terrain still was virtually impassable, but MacArthur reported his 32nd Division was "slowly surging forward" against enemy positions in the rugged corridor, which runs from Ormoc to Carigara Bay on the north American bombers scored effective sweeps of the central Philippines and beyond, cratering airdrome runways and blasting harassed shipping.

The most spectacular single strike was the 79-ton bombing of petroleum installations at Tarakan and Balikpapan on Borneo, where direct hits burst pipelines and storage tanks, flooding the area with flaming oil. A freighter was sunk offshore.

On this front the Russians captured Hont, three miles west of the rail junction of Dregelypalank, taken Sunday, and also seized Varsany, 8½ miles southeast of Balassagyarmat, previously captured.

Front reports indicated that while the Budapest fighting was in the final stage there still would be much resistance.

The Germans are said to have thrown up virtually the same kind of anti-tank ring about Pest, the part of the city east of the Danube, as they did around Sevastopol.

Institute Sponsors Paper Collection

MOUNT PLEASANT, Dec. 12. — (ENS).— Mrs. Thos. Graham was hostess for the December meeting of the Women's Institute held at her home, following a pot luck dinner served at 1 o'clock.

A paper salvage drive is being sponsored and everyone in the community is asked to leave bundles at the president's home. A letter of thanks was read from Pte. John Edgerton thanking the members for cigarettes sent, and Mrs. G. Shield gave a splendid report of the W.I. convention held in Toronto.

Mrs. A. Tully, on behalf of the losing side of the roll call contest, served candy, and for the next meeting to be held at the home of the president, a pillow case shower for overseas will be sponsored, the pillow cases to be made from bleached sugar bags. Some very attractive ones were on display at this meeting.

CANADA'S ECONOMIC POSITION

S. H. Logan, President, and S. M. Wedd, General Manager, The Canadian Bank of Commerce, Show Requirements for Prosperity

Banking Service Improved by New Bank Act

At the Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of The Canadian Bank of Commerce, held in the Head Office of the Bank in the City of Toronto December 12th Mr. S. H. Logan, President, and Mr. S. M. Wedd, General Manager, presented the Annual Statement of the Bank's operations in the past year, together with a review of Business Conditions. Mr. Logan's address to the meeting follows:

Attention is now being directed to the reconversion of our productive machine from war to peace, but it is necessary to plan carefully, yet with imagination, to avoid the dislocation to the national life which might result from too precipitate action. This task, or series of tasks, will not be achieved without considerable care and foresight on the part both of Government and of business, and by effective co-operation on the part of all our citizens.

RECENT FEDERAL LEGISLATION

As you know, the Bank Act came before Parliament this year for decennial revision. Preliminary to its discussion in the House of Commons the Banking and Commerce Committee of the House thoroughly reviewed the Act as it stood and gave full consideration to various amendments which were suggested. Many of these were proposed by the Government with the purpose of enabling the banks to serve more efficiently the credit needs of the public and of broadening the lines upon which the banks may assist the trade and industry of the Dominion, both during the period of transition from war to peace and afterwards.

In addition to this decennial revision certain important ancillary legislation was also enacted. The Industrial Development Bank was established as a subsidiary to the Bank of Canada with the object of assisting new as well as existing enterprises, particularly those of small or moderate size to obtain intermediate and long-term credit.

NATIONAL HOUSING ACT

Movements of population during the past few years necessitated by the exigencies of war production have brought into sharp relief the housing problems of this country. The Government has already taken steps to alleviate as far as possible the shortage in some districts, but a wider programme is contemplated according to the wording of the National Housing Act.

FARM IMPROVEMENT LOANS ACT

Of a somewhat similar character are the loans which may be made by any bank under the Farm Improvement Loans Act, the purpose of which is to ensure intermediate and short-terms credit being more readily available to farmers for the purchase of implements and equipment as well as the construction and improvement of buildings, fences and drainage works.

POST-WAR RECONSTRUCTION

It is trite perhaps to point out that almost all economic discussion covering the future begins with a statement concerning the need for high levels of production and employment. This objective in effect suggests a counterpart—a relatively higher overall standard of living. The one cannot be achieved without the other.

The tasks of recasting the productive machinery cannot—must not—be underestimated. Reconversion will not be automatic nor can it be viewed as simply a change of heart. The tasks ahead will neither be simple nor easy and this fact should condition us to a willingness to co-operate according each to his ability. Consequently policies being formulated for post-war economic activity are bound to have a marked influence for some time to come and therefore become a matter of present concern.

In keeping with the policy of control against inflation, excess profits taxes and individual taxes have played an important role. While no time limit is suggested for repeal or revision, having regard for the possible need for inflation control during the early stages of transition, it is clear that obstacles discouraging to investment in productive enterprise materially hamper the business expansion which has been mentioned and, of course, adversely affect maximum employment.

FOREIGN TRADE

A year ago I laid great emphasis on Canada's international trade. Canada today is not exporting in the ordinary sense of the term. Much is being sent to armed forces in every theatre of war, but we are not trading.

As producers of primary products from our farms, forests and mines, we know that we are dependent upon and will continue to be dependent upon the markets of the world for the consumption of such goods upon which much of our prosperity rests. Our productive capacity has been increased far beyond the present needs of our own people, and in any plans for post-war reconstruction we must bear in mind that for full consumption of many of our products we must have access to world markets and that we must develop such markets.

When our future manufacturing policy is considered cognizance must be taken of the fact that these outside markets cannot be neglected at the start and picked up afterwards. Our markets abroad must be cultivated from the outset if they are to be developed in the future.

War tends to make countries more self-sustaining, which means, in effect, that they are forced of necessity to depend more and more upon themselves. This makes it all the more difficult for Canada to expand her foreign trade.

On the other hand, in addition to primary products it must be remembered that this country has during this war developed a technical skill for the making of many kinds of chemicals, manufactured articles, utilities and appliances heretofore undreamed of, and in the last analysis that must have its effect in a most substantial way upon what Canada can produce and export in the future.

While we in Canada can produce in our own country many of our necessities and luxuries and while trade within our own borders will always be an important factor in our national economy, international trade has been and must be a part of our economic fabric if there is to be achieved full employment, worthy standards of living, and the prospect of a comfortable old age which all of us would so greatly like to see.

Such a fortunate condition of our national life cannot be brought about by Government paternalism or by Government action alone. For its realization there must be not only foresight and thoughtful consideration by all of us but understanding and toleration between our rural and our urban people, and harmonious cooperation between employers and employees.

The results will not be achieved by following the theories of radical reformers or by the formation of a multiplicity of political parties from which can emerge only national and economic weakness or impotence—a fact which has been demonstrated very plainly in other countries. There must be a unity of purpose between the people of all parts of Canada, unmarred by emotional or other prejudices if we are to attain the ultimate ideal of a free, happy, contented and prosperous people.

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS

The assets of the Bank reached a new record at $1,178,647,000 at the close of its fiscal year on 31st October, an increase of $175,463,000 over the previous year. Quick assets at $903,780,000, of which $191,598,000 was in cash reserves, were 80.2 per cent of the Bank's liabilities to the public. Holdings of short-term securities include $254,385,000 of Certificates of Deposit issued by the Dominion Government to cover war expenditures pending tax and loan receipts. Longer-term Government securities totalled $226,323,000, an increase of $78,850,000. Current loans in Canada declined $13,706,000 reflecting a reduction in borrowers' inventories. Deposits by the public continued to rise to a total of $1,029,000,000. The number of deposit accounts rose to 1,219,000, 97 per cent of which were held by individuals.

The more experienced members continue to bear the responsibility of instructing the large proportion of the staff who had had little or no previous training. Women employees now constitute 57 per cent. of the total, as compared with 21 per cent. in 1939. Members of the staff numbering 1,679 have joined the armed forces, of which 178 have been casualties. The Bank is proud of its personnel in the service and looks forward to welcoming them back in the not distant future.

Every effort is being made to expand the service of the Bank, particularly to small borrowers, and actively to offer the Bank's loaning facilities to every credit-worthy citizen.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

One of the most significant economic developments this year is the physical expansion and improvement of the merchandising and industrial equipment of Canada.

New warehouses, factories, stores, etc., as well as extensions and alterations to existing establishments, undertaken during the past twelve months involve expenditures of over $75,000,000. The amount for industrial projects, about $50,000,000, is almost half as large again as in 1943.

There was an over-all increase in industrial activity of about 7 per cent., of 10 per cent. in domestic trade and of about 40,000 people in civilian occupations.

The crop outturns, close to the record harvest of 1942, were not altogether the result of a favourable growing season. They also represent, as does the high output of live stock products, a most strenuous effort on the part of the farmers of this country. How strenuous this effort was can be judged by the fact that a total agricultural production about one-third above the pre-war average was achieved with an agricultural working population at least 25 per cent. below average.

The Bank has been fully employed in every phase of this great annual output of goods and services and at the present time, as our figures will indicate, is in an excellent position to co-operate in serving the future credit needs of the Dominion.

Robot Bombing From Norway Hits Scotland

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 12. — (ENS).—Mrs. H. B. Nicholas, wife of Gunner H. B. Nicholas of the 34th Battery, at present in Holland, arrived recently from Scotland and is residing with Mr. Nicholls' parents of Seymour township until the arrival of her husband.

She says that Scotland has suffered severely from the robot bombs from Norway and Germany as it is nearer to these bases than the south of England.

Men and women work all day and then act as guards and fire wardens at night to protect the citizens. Many people have stated that they will come to Canada after the war to make new homes. Speaking of the food situation she says that prices are double what we have to pay. There are no tropical fruits, clothing is scarce and bombs drop anywhere and everywhere.

Mrs. Nicholas is favorably impressed with Canada and hopes that her mother, who lives in Edinburgh, will be able to join her here.

Labor Demands Prompt Action

LONDON, Dec. 12 — (CP.-Reuter). — The Labor party executive tonight was faced with a strong resolution voicing grave disquiet at British government action in Greece and calling for an immediate cessation of hostilities there and for non-intervention in the internal affairs of liberated countries.

The resolution was presented by Philip Noel-Baker, parliamentary secretary to the transport minister, international expert of the Labor party and the student of Greek affairs who speaks the language.

Should the executive decide to place the resolution before the general conference, now in cession in London, it was uncertain tonight what action would be taken by the Labor ministers.

Some undoubtedly would resist such a resolution and the home secretary, Herbert Morrison, might even decide to speak against them, not from the platform, but as an ordinary delegate.

Campbellford Buying 2 New Snowploughs

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 12 (ENS). —At a special meeting of the Town Council it was decided to buy two new snowploughs. These ploughs will be used for sidewalks and property owners will be pleased to know that the municipality has assumed the responsibility of keeping the sidewalks clear of snow. There will be one for each side of the river, and Allan Johnston will be in charge. Also at this meeting James Mitchell was re-appointed building inspector.

Gore's Landing News

Red Cross workers of this village completed the following work from October to the second week of December. 56 pair service socks; one paid 27 inch socks; 1 sleeveless sweater; 2 long sleeved turtle neck sweaters; 4 refugee sweaters; and quilted 18 quilts. The treasurer received $2.80 from the Roseneath Agricultural Society towards funds for this unit.

Mrs. Cecil Thackeray received several letters this week from her son Rfm. Roy Thackeray, who was wounded during the invasion, and has since been recuperating in England. Roy has a stiff knee which continues to give pain and he expects to remain in England for some time. At present, he is on night duty in the kitchen from 7 p.m. to 5 a.m. Five men peel 10 bags of potatoes; 2 bags of carrots; 2 bags of onions; and 4 crates of apples every night.

Pte. Kenneth Harris who is at present somewhere in Belgium recently wrote to his mother, Mrs. Melville Harris that they had dug for themselves a very comfortable dugout. They had bunks and a homemade stove which was working splendidly. His brother, Pte. Victor Harris, now in England, has had a furlough to London with his father-in-law Spr. Oliver MacIntosh and also a trip to Scotland.

Young people enjoyed skating on Rice Lake Sunday afternoon. Following the recent thaw, the lake has frozen smooth and is excellent for skating.

Dr. Waller Dies

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 12 — (CP). —Dr. Charles C. Waller, 75, died last night. He was principal of Huron College for 39 years, resigning in 1941, but continued until last April as Professor of Hebrew at the University of Western Ontario.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any I.D.A. or other drug store and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-roid and are not entirely pleased with the results your druggist will gladly return your money. —(Advt.)

Demon Squadron Has New Chief

WITH THE R.C.A.F. IN THE COASTAL COMMAND, Dec. 12.—(CP Cable.)—The famed R.C.A.F. Demon Squadron of the Coast Command had a new commanding officer, Wing Cmdr. K. C. Wilson, 30, of Perth, Ont.

News of his promotion to-day recalled that he and his bomber crew spent five days and nights on an ice cake in Northumberland Strait two years ago after being forced to bail out of their Hudson during a snow storm. They were rescued by the Prince Edward Island car ferry.

The Demon Squadron has been carrying out anti-submarine warfare for nearly two years and Wilson served as a flight commander for the last 10 months. He is the seventh squadron commander since the Demon Squadron was formed in May, 1941. For the last year the squadron, which flies Wellingtons, has been equipped with searchlights to enable U-boat hunting at night.

Obituary

AMOS ALTHOUSE

HAVELOCK, Dec. 12 — (ENS). — The death occurred on Sunday of Amos Althouse, 56, at the family residence in Belmont township, following an illness extending over a period of three years.

Born in Marmora township, Mr. Althouse is a son of the late Samuel Althouse and Ella Wannamaker and had lived nearly all his life in Belmont township where he followed the occupation of farming.

Surviving besides his widow are four sons, John of Belmont township and Osborne, Albert and Donald at home; three sisters Mrs. Moore of Warsaw, Mrs. W. Saltern of Belmont and Mrs. E. Embleton of Niagara Falls, Ont., one brother Elam of Niagara Falls.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon; the service in the Pentecostal Tabernacle and interment in Maple Grove Cemetery.

Allies Concentrate On Military Targets

LONDON, Dec. 12 (CP) — The Allies are determined to concentrate on bombing German military targets despite Nazi robot and rocket raids on England, Foreign Secretary Eden said today.

He made this clear after one member of the House of Commons called on Prime Minister Churchill to give the Nazis the same warning about V-weapon attacks that he gave in 1942 when he threatened retaliation if the Germans used gas.

"The principle on which our targets in Germany are selected is that of destroying as quickly as possible Germany's power to wage war," said Mr. Eden. "There really is no comparison between what they are able to do to us and what we are doing to them."

BLAME MOON

FOLKESTONE, England — (CP). — Fishermen in this southcoast town blame October's bad weather on the fact there were two full moons in the month — Oct. 2 and Oct. 31.

WI Hears Report Of Convention

MILLBROOK, Dec. 12.—(ENS).— Mrs. H. M. Trick entertained the Women's Institute for the December meeting, when the president, Mrs. Delbert Olan, presided.

The treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Hilton, reported $10.65 from the euchre party, 90 cents in the November Red Cross collection, $10 given the local Red Cross branch, and $1.65 remaining in the fund. Balance in the general fund, $32.19.

In order to increase the war work done by the branch it was decided to have each member bring a donation of print for a quilt top to the next meeting, either a purchase of new goods or pieces on hand. Two members will then be made responsible for cutting out the blocks so all may be of uniform size. The donation will be continued at the regular meetings until further notice. The president contributed a prize for which each member present paid a nickel, Leona Ball making the draw, and the winner being Mrs. Hugh Blair. One dollar was made from this source, and Mrs. Blair promised to provide the parcel for the January gathering, which is to be at Mrs. J. L. Byam's home, Bank street.

A piano duet by two little girls, Jessie Lunn and Leona Ball, and a vocal solo by Jessie, preceded the report of the Central Ontario W.I. convention by the delegate, Mrs. D. L. Lunn. Four hundred delegates were in attendance in Toronto, where the session was held and some of the highlights in the excellent report were: Do not interrupt the regular program by bringing in a discussion of personal problems at the monthly gatherings; have your program planned for the whole year; contribute some article at each meeting that may later be sold; have sheets distributed containing the duties of all standing committees; or at least have them constantly on hand; charge a nickel fine for every member not answering the roll call, and stick to this rule—it will soon increase your attendance; suggest a community hospital as a memorial for the soldiers giving their lives in this war wherever this might be feasible and is needed.

The Responsibilities.

The speakers for the banquet were Dr. Charlotte Whitton, C.B.E., who urged women taking on their full share of community, home, and national responsibilities in war time; and Dr. Stanley Russell, who stressed the need of women in politics; also Colonel T. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, who mentioned, among other things, that 3,000 packets of garden seeds had been sent overseas during the past season, and 36,000,000 dozen of dehydrated eggs had gone to England as well.

Miss Juan Shields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Shields, of Ida, was one of the soloists of the convention, and Mrs. Lunn, who will complete her report at the January meeting, was warmly thanked for the way in which she had covered the sessions.

The hostess served lunch at the close.

Surprise Thrust Gains 2,000 Yards

WITH THE U.S. 1st ARMY, Dec. 12 (CP-Reuter)—A surprise 2,000-yard thrust this morning carried American troops and tanks to the outskirts of Hocen and Mariaweiler, to within one mile of Duren, anchor city of the German Roer River Defence Line.

This spectacular advance of troops and the usual complement of tanks and armor, pushed over wet, glutinous mud, through a fog of thick, sleety snow, brings the Roer river crossing of Hoven almost within direct rifle fire range. The Crossing is 20 miles from Cologne.

Captain D. R. Fowler, of Niagara Falls, was home for the week-end with his wife and baby son, Allen, and he returned Monday evening.

Dr. Arthur Walsh, of Vancouver, B.C., is visiting his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Campbell.

Mr. Richard Reynolds, his daughter, Mrs. Freda Erskine, and her son, Teddy, who have resided in the village for the past five years, left on Saturday for Toronto, where they will make their home. Mr. Reynolds is a patient in the Christie Street Hospital. He is a veteran of the Boer War.

Mrs. Clarence Ball is an addition to the Pendrie store staff for the holiday trade, beginning at the last week-end.

Mrs. Henry Gray visited her sister, Miss Dorothy Sisco, at Peterborough last week, arriving home again on Saturday evening.

Two pretty lamps, made by Miss Mary Ridge, of Peterborough, are on display in the Pendrie store window, proceeds from the sale to go toward the Red Cross. Also on display in Gray's drug store window is a large-sized doll's house, built by Mr. T. A. Campbell, proceeds from which also go to the Red Cross. The public school pupils are responsible for the sale of tickets on both these articles. The dolls' house is a model of one built at Vancouver, B.C., by Mr. Campbell, and is complete in every detail with glass in the windows, shingled room and hardwood floors.

District Federation Of Lawyers Discuss Problems At Cobourg

COBOURG, Dec. 12 — (ENS) — Measures designed for the protection of both the legal profession and the public were among the items on the agenda at the meeting here Monday of District No. 6 of the Ontario Federation of County and District Law Associations. The district is comprised by the counties of Price Edward, Hastings, Northumberland and Durham, Ontario, Peterborough and Victoria-Haliburton. In spite of the stormy weather and bad travelling conditions, about 40 lawyers from all over the district were present. Judge J. C. M. German of Cobourg was present. Judge J. C. McGibbon of Lindsay and Judge S. L. Smoke of Peterborough were also in attendance.

The recommendations passed at the meeting are to be forwarded to the general meeting of the organization to be held in Toronto early next year.

In connection with the proposal that an attempt be made to amend the Solicitors' Act, with the object of more clearly defining the duties of a barrister and solicitor and protecting them in their professional capacity from the encroachments of unlicensed practitioners, Judge German read from Solicitors' Act legislation in other provinces and pointed out that Ontario had the weakest legislation in that regard. The Ontario act made no provision for prohibiting things which solicitors' legislation prohibited in other parts of Canada, the Judge declared.

W. E. Bonneville of Port Hope and other lawyers present, presented briefs to show instances where the public had been the loser through the improperly-drawn legal documents executed by non-lawyers.

Difficult Job

G. N. Gordon, K.C., of Peterborough, commented that it was difficult enough for an experienced solicitor to draw up a will where the mental health of the testator or testatrix was involved, without trusting it to non-lawyers. Mr. Gordon then went on to a discussion of trust companies and their inroads into fees that would otherwise go to the legal profession. The probate solicitor would get a few hundred for his work while the bulk of the fees would go to Toronto to the trust companies, he said. Mr. Gordon

Democracy Is No Harlot

Speaking in defence of British policy in Greece and Italy, Mr. Churchill said: "Democracy is no harlot to be picked up in the street by a man with a tommy-gun". Once again we are indebted to the Prime Minister—who is also one of the ablest historians of our time—for a great phrase. Democracy is no harlot; she must be wooed by her lovers for longer than ever Rachel was wooed by Jacob, and they must go to her unarmed.

• • •

The new U.S. Secretary of State, Mr. Edward Stettinius, has crossed swords with Anthony Eden on British foreign policy; Mr. Eden has replied with spirit, and now he has been given the full backing of his great chief in an admirable address to the House. "During the war", said Mr. Churchill, "we had to arm anyone who could shoot a Hun. We accepted them as friends, and tried to enable them to fulfill their healthy instincts. We are paying for it now with our treasure and our blood. We are not paying for it with our honour or by defeat". Britain does not mean to back down before Mr. Stettinius, or any group of 'partisans' who seek to grab the rule of a liberated country by force.

• • •

The partisan group in Greece is a Communist group; there is no evidence that it has any connection with Russian Communism, though there are many people who think that 'Russian' and 'Communism' are inseparable terms. A Leftist minority in the Commons sought to make an amendment to the vote of confidence which Mr. Churchill asked from the House, speaking in behalf of "the friends of democracy". To this Mr. Churchill replied: "If what is called in this amendment the action of the friends of democracy, is to be interpreted as a carefully planned coup d'etat by murder, and the iron rule of ruffians seeking to climb into the seats of power without a vote ever having been cast in their favour—if that is to masquerade as democracy, I think the House will be united in condemning it as a mockery". And again he said: "It takes all sorts to make democracy—not only Left Wingers, or even Communists".

• • •

A fact which is too often forgotten by us on this continent is that comparatively few of the states of Europe have much experience of democracy. Rule by aristocracy and rule by revolutionary riff-raff—these they know, but the orderly rule of democracy is strange to them. They have their reactionaries and their revolutionaries, but they lack those calm compromisers who are the root and foundation of democratic rule. They are violent in their ideas of government; they lack the conviction common in British countries and the U.S. that orderly rule must continue at all costs and that party quarrels must be conducted within decent bounds. Indeed, we may be pardoned for wondering whether Mr. Stettinius is fully aware of these things when he asks that Europe be left strictly alone. The Atlantic Charter said that liberated countries should choose their form of government by democratic vote; there is nothing democratic about a seizure of power by a single faction, and by a vote of 279 to 30 the British House of Commons has ratified the policy which Mr. Churchill and Mr. Eden have adopted in this respect. Democracy is no harlot, and they mean to protect her honour.

The Home Guard Goes Home

On Sunday, December 3, the British Home Guard paraded for the last time, was addressed by His Majesty the King, and went home. In 1940, when it looked as though England might be invaded at any time, the Home Guard was mustered bravely, if not hopefully. The men who were available for it were not young, and the majority of them were settled in habits which were anything but military; they had no uniforms, and worse, they had very few weapons and not much ammunition. But they borrowed all the hunting rifles and shotguns that were to be found, and many of them added pistols, dung-forks and heavy clubs to their armoury, and they determined that if the Germans came, they would kill a few of them before they were killed themselves. In time things grew better. Rifles came from Canada and the U.S.; ammunition was found; even uniforms were forthcoming, and the Home Guard developed a certain smartness of appearance and drill. There was never any question of their resource and discipline; that was at its highest peak from the first moment that they took on their big job.

They were never called on to fight. If they had been so called, it would have been a most unequal fight, and the chances are that the Germans would have won. But we do not doubt that the Home Guard would have put up a remarkably brave show. They were not the stuff of which shock-troops are made, but they had all the grit of Britons who would never be slaves. We think that the Nazis would have found the Home Guard a nasty surprise if they had invaded.

Now they are citizens once again, and another home guard has been formed in Germany, the Volksturm. So far as we know, Allied troops have not met the Volksturm yet, and when they do so, we shall be anxious to hear about it. We do not think that the Volksturm will have the spirit of the Home Guard, for the people of Germany have not the 'Englishman's-home-is-his-castle' spirit which was the best weapon in the outfit of the Home Guard. The comparison, so far as it is possible, should be full of interest for the student of human affairs.

Ersatz Horrors

Surely a sufficient number of dreadful things has been proved against the Germans since this war began, without inventing any more? And yet we learn that the story of the German boys between 8 and 14 who acted as snipers against American troops was the invention of Allied Army authorities. The story was investigated, and it proved that the boys found a gun, pointed it at a sandbag and fired it; when it went off they were too surprised and afraid to run away, and it was then that they were found and accused of sniping.

Nothing could be so silly or so inimical to our cause as the invention of atrocities. This story has been proved a fake. Now it is quite possible for the German propagandists to assert that an unlimited number of other atrocity stories are fakes, and point to this one as an example of the malignance and mendacity of the Allies. Every atrocity story should be carefully investigated before it is communicated to the public.

After the last war a weighty blue book was published, which contained details and proof of hundreds of German atrocities. Atrocities are part of war, and every commander on either side knows that there are men in his forces who take the opportunities which war affords to commit acts of cruelty and depravity which would not be possible to them under normal conditions. During the last war a common story was that the Germans cut off the hands of Belgian boys so that they might not bear arms, and that they crucified Canadian soldiers. Investigation disposed of these lurid tales, but there were plenty of genuine atrocities left.

The Germans fight with lies and distorted facts. We do not want to copy them in that. Army propagandists who want to make our flesh creep should consider how much harm they can do by giving way to their melodramatic impulses. The true stories of what the Germans have done are bad enough; let us guard our reputation for truth-telling jealously.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A lot of people who say that they are in a dilemma really mean that they have never learned to think straight.

---

There seem to be two sorts of people in the world today: those who views with alarm, and those who alarm us with their views.

---

The Calgary Herald defines an organ recital as "a group of women talking about their operations". We have heard these, and the merciless use of the vox humana makes us wish that we could transfer their register to the celeste.

---

An ugly international situation is blowing up. The American press claims that Stettinius is the handsomest and best dressed foreign secretary in the world—a position which has long been held by Anthony Eden. This looks like something designed by Goebbels to split Anglo-American unity.

Fruits Of Incompetence

(By GRANT DEXTER)
Article No. 2

OTTAWA: In his speech in the House of Commons on November 29, Mr. Ralston sought to defend the general staff. But he also gave a detailed account of how the conscription crisis arose. At particular points he met Mr. King's criticisms of the generals but, on balance, his own story was not helpful but conclusively and finally critical. It is fair to say, however, that Mr. Ralston appeared to be unconscious of the effect his words produced on the House.

Mr. Ralston disagreed with Mr. King on the nature of the advice given the cabinet by the general staff on August 7, but (page 6823, unrevised Hansard) said that on August 3 the chief of staff had reported "the over-all reinforcement position as entirely satisfactory."

Mr. Ralston recalled advice that had been given to the cabinet in June, indicating a possible shortage of infantry in October. But he overlooked his own statement to Parliament on July 10 (page 4751) in which he said: "....We have overseas a large reinforcement pool, and that pool is calculated on a scale to provide reinforcements for a certain number of months of intense operations." He believed there were already on hand sufficient volunteers to maintain the overseas armies "right up to the calendar year end." Present recruiting—that is, June, July and later months—was for 1945. The reinforcement position, according to his officers, was better than called for in the plans. There were many qualifications in his speech—because Mr. Ralston never made the error of his general staff in this regard—but the impression left on the House was that the voluntary system was working well.

AS the story unfolded, it became clearer that Mr. Ralston, in looking over August and September, came to realize that, because of the advice given to him by the generals, he had been living in a fool's paradise. There had been a cable in August saying that the infantry situation was serious. The general staff reported, however, that two-thirds of the shortage could be made up in six days and the balance in two weeks. Everything would be fixed up in three weeks.

Recollection of this cable evidently rankled in Mr. Ralston's mind. As put before him by the general staff, it was just a minor matter. He said that he merely initialed the cable and handed it back to the chief of staff. He didn't even report it to cabinet. He did report it, however, in October.

But later on he realized that he had no conception of how serious the situation was. "As a matter of fact," he said, "if I had known as much then (in August) as I know now, I would have realized that this meant it would be unlikely that the pools would be built up." The experts who should have known—the general staff—either were in ignorance of the facts or withheld the information.

In September, Mr. Ralston became concerned over the reinforcement situation. A report had come in from overseas on the infantry position. But, apparently, Mr. Ralston could not find out from the general staff what the position was. The headquarters of the army—the National Defence department—was incapable of supplying this basic information.

◇ ◇ ◇

NO statement made in the House of Commons has caused greater astonishment and dismay among members than the passage in Mr. Ralston's speech which follows: "I should pause here to say that we in Canada do not keep records of the pools (reinforcement pools) in the United Kingdom and Italy." In a word, no one at defence headquarters knew about, or was responsible for, the most important feature of the army—how it stood with regard to support.

Because he was concerned, Mr. Ralston flew to Europe on September 23. He was shocked by what he found.

"I cut a trip which would have taken six or seven weeks, at least, down to three and a half weeks. When I got back to London from the continent I stayed only three days, in order that I might come home immediately." He continued: "I wish to say to you that it came as a shock to me, too, when I went to the battle areas. And when I came back to CMHG (London) and went over the figures there with the officers, and found what I believed was a situation requiring radical measures, I came home and so reported."

That this report to cabinet would have been justified much earlier is not disputed by anyone. That the delay in making the report exposed the overseas army to a serious lack of reinforcements, is demonstrated by the facts of the crisis. This delay explains why the shortage could only be met by the few thousand N.R.M.A. men who, of all those in uniform, were trained and ready to go into battle. If the shortage had been detected in August, there would have been two months of additional leeway.

No one regretted the delay in realizing the seriousness of the shortage more than Mr. Ralston.

"...I admit quite frankly," he said (page 6825) "that had the situation been as I discovered since, and as I reported it to the cabinet after I came back, certainly I would have reported it at once. All I can say is that the fact that I did not know it and did not report it sooner means that I did not sooner recommend the action that I did. I would have done it just that much quicker had I known what was the situation."

What shocked the members of the House of Commons is that the general staff, in this crisis, failed to keep the minister advised with respect to the position of the overseas army. In the end, as Mr. Ralston made clear, a civilian minister, an amateur in military matters, had a hunch that things were amiss. He acted on his hunch and the moment he came into contact with the situation overseas, realized the gravity of it, flew home and brought the facts to the cabinet table. To all intents and purposes, there might just as well have been no general staff at all. In this matter, they were asleep on the beat. Their incompetence prejudiced the purpose they existed to serve.

These facts, no doubt, explain in part the announcement on November 18 of the retirement of Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, the chief of staff. There will, however, be disappointment on Parliament Hill if the shake-up stops there.

A CASE OF EMERGENCY!

Several bombers were preparing to land at an aerodrome at Albuquerque, New Mexico, when the control-tower operator ordered them to remain aloft. Several minutes ticked by before the delay was explained. Then the operator said: "Keep circling. Emergency on ground. Unidentified dog having pups in middle of airfield."

Garden-Making: A French Art

A CITY'S gardens and parks form such an important and characteristic part of its aspect that it is easily forgotten that they are a comparatively new feature, unknown to the Middle Ages. It is in the interval between the mediaeval town, pent up within the narrow compass of its walls for the sake of security, and the type represented by New York City, from which this expensive luxury of "waste space" has almost disappeared again, that parks and gardens became a normal adjunct. The public park, owned by the municipality, dates from the Age of Democracy and is unquestionably one of the greatest blessings it has conferred. At first it was mostly a matter of throwing the grounds of former palaces open to the public; not till later did municipalities and governments lay out public gardens on their own.

Only at rare intervals and in few branches of art has a single personality left so deep an impression on a whole period, and on the whole civilized world, as Lenotre, Louis XIV's great landscape-gardener. His most celebrated and perfect masterpiece is, of course, Versailles; but up to the end of the eighteenth century, when English landscape-gardening came into fashion, every garden and park in France conformed to his pattern and his rules. He may be regarded as the real creator of the park, since before his day people only had gardens of different types—Italian, Spanish, or Oriental.

The Lenotre park is part of an architectural whole, being an extension of the palace, in relation to which it exists. His is a typically French art, Latin and logical through and through; the trees, flowers and water with which Nature provides him are just so much material which needs the human intellect to make of it a work of art worthy of humanity. "Nature," with a capital N, had not yet been discovered, or rediscovered, and Nature untouched by the ordering and formative spirit of man was considered barbarous. There were woods, of course, but they served for the pleasures of the chase, and nobody thought of any other sort of pleasure in connection with them.

Lenotre created the garden which carries on the style of the palace into the open air and provides a larger stage and a more impressive background for its life. Before long the palace of every ruler in Europe had gardens of this type, Lenotre himself being called in to lay out in many cases—e. g., among others, in England and Prussia. They are now almost without exception public gardens and in most cases the finest in the towns to which they belong....The exceptions are Italy, where the Renaissance gardens, which of course influenced Lenotre, are the finest, and England, which invented the so-called "natural" style of garden at the end of the eighteenth century, even remodelling its Lenotre gardens. This style, spread everywhere during the nineteenth century and has remained supreme to this day. Presumably, however, the development of the latest architecture in the direction of purely geometrical forms will bring about a return to the formal geometrical garden, already much revived in England. — From "The Spirit of Paris," by Paul Cohen-Portheim.

'Henry V' Succeeds As Film

(By HAROLD HOBSON in the CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR)

LONDON: Laurence Oliver's Two Cities production of Shakespeare's "Henry V" must be regarded as the most remarkable film made in Britain since Noel Coward's "In Which We Serve"; equal in technical efficiency to Korda's "Henry VIII", and superior in exaltation and nobility. It may prove the most successful attempt yet made to transfer Shakespeare to the screen.

It begins with a device that might easily fail, but which nevertheless seems to justify itself. The film opens with a performance of "Henry V" at the Globe Theatre in London in 1600. We see the unroofed pit, the orange women, the actors in their dressing room. We see Mr. Oliver drawing himself up as he prepares to go on the stage to start his performance, and giving a little nervous cough. We see the rain come down in sheets on the heads of the unprotected audience; and then the scene widens, steps out of the narrow confines of the old theatre, and takes within its view the "vasty fields of France", the ships preparing for their great adventure across the Channel, the tents of the French army the night before Agincourt, the camp fires of the English, and the brave, fatal charge of the French cavalry against the taut English bowstrings.

In this transition from the theatre to the open air, we find an example of the taste and discreation that inform the whole film. To change from the artificial background of a theatre to real fields and seas would break artistic unity. Therefore the seas and fields of the later part of the picture are not real, but stylized; they have the spaciousness of the open air, but also the quality of a tapestry.

But the great virtue of the film is that it draws attention, not to itself and its abundant cleverness, but to the overwhelming, the almost incredible, genius of Shakespeare. You can take any writer in English secular literature you like, of whatever talent, and it is possible to choose some other writer and say that if his talent had been indefinitely extended, it would have equalled that of the first.

But to this rule there is one exception. There is no man or woman in the whole record of English literature whose genius, however multiplied or developed, would have enabled him to do the work of Shakespeare. If Shakespeare is put in the first class, no one else can be admitted to it. The best of the others can be put no higher than third.

It is the merit of the film of "Henry V" that it makes clear this outstanding fact. There are some things in it that seem little short of miraculous. One such is the scene in which the king makes the round of the English camp on the eve of the great battle. One thinks of the play in general as a tremendous fanfare on the gallantries and braveries of war, a thing of waving banners, a pageant of glory—eloquent, moving, and resounding, but superficial. Now, all this is certainly to be found in the play, in Henry's "Cry God for Harry, England, and Saint George", for example, or his "band of brothers" speech.

The other side of war, its anguish and its pity, are, one imagines, missing from "Henry V". They are not, however. In the scene in which the disguised Henry talks with his private soldiers, they are set down more impressively, perhaps more wonderfully, than anywhere else in English literature. Those who have endured air raids, and have made no attempt to avoid them, will recognize the truth of Henry's "Once more unto the breach, dear friends"; and the truth also of the soldier Williams's wondering cry upon the "wives left poor", and the "children rawly left".

Nothing could be more moving than George Cole's delivery of these lines. The piece throughout, too, is magnificently acted. Mr. Oliver's Henry is unsurpassable in vigor, subtlety, and eloquence. He attacks the great speeches like a man possessed with their beauty, and confident of his ability to translate them into sound.

Let Us Be Spared This!

The esteemed New York Herald Tribune, admitting that is is "venturing on perilous ground," makes the observation that captured enemy cannon "is one of the most satisfactory forms of war memorial." It urges the point:

"They are hideous, but so is war. They are undoubtedly authentic, and so cannot be condemned as bad art. Best of all, they can be melted down when arrival of the next war makes that expedient."

That is true, but we disagree wholly with the conclusions reached by the Herald Tribune.

We had in Ottawa and Hull some of the guns captured by the Canadians in the First World War, ugly monsters of steel, and we do not want any more of the kind.

As for Ottawa, the matter of war memorials should not be too difficult. The National Memorial on Connaught Place may well serve to remind us of the two World Wars. There is as yet no civic memorial, and some time there should be, but certainly not in the form of a mass of statuary. This community badly needs a building adapted for public meetings, conventions, perhaps the occasional opera or stage show, and such an edifice—with tablets carrying the names of our honoured dead in two wars—could be the best form of a public memorial.

But no more guns. We have enough that is useless and ugly without importing more from the battlefields of Europe.—Ottawa Journal.

A Bible Message

And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind, whose seed is in itself, upon the earth: and it was so....

And God said, Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven to divide the day from the night; and let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and years: and let them be for lights in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth: and it was so.

And God made two great lights: the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night: he made the stars also. (Gen. 1: 11, 14-16.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Praise ye him, sun and moon: praise him, all ye stars of light....Let them praise the name of the Lord: for he commanded they were created. (Ps. 148: 3, 5.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Let Israel rejoice in him that made him: let the children of Zion be joyful in their King.... For the Lord taketh pleasure in his people: he will beautify the meek with salvation. (Ps. 149: 2, 4.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Pat was trudging along the road, carrying a large sack of potatoes on his back, when he was overtaken by a man driving a horse and cart.

The driver offered Pat a lift, which he gladly accepted. But he sat there, still with the sack on his back.

"Put them down in the cart," suggested the driver.

"Shure," Pat replied, "I'm thankful for the lift ye give me, but I don't want ye to be burdened with the taters as well."

A Swedish industrialist who visited Berlin brought back this story of the temper of the German people.

A German conferred with the director of his bank. "I have saved one thousand marks. How can I best invest them?"

The director suggested war bonds. "Der Fuhrer guarantees the security of your money".

"But Der Fuhrer is mortal, too. If he dies what then?"

"Then Goering will be the guarantor of your money!".

The client still protested. "Goering is a flyer. He might have an accident".

"Then", shouted the director, "you will have the whole Nazi party to be good for your money!"

The client was still unconvinced. "If the army is beaten, the party may also fall".

Thereupon the director leaned over and whispered: "Mein Gott, man, wouldn't that be worth to you one thousand marks?"

LADIES AND THEIR PIPES

With the cigarette famine several days old, more pipes per capita protrude from Chicago faces than at any time since the Indians moved away. Even some of the ladies are taking up tasty briers.

Alert tobacconists offer small and dainty pipes, together with delicate blends of the weed. One advertisement goes so far as to level this selling point: "No Need to Envy Men and Their Fragrant Pipes!" This notion will amaze those husbands whose wives, envying neither their calabashes nor the odors thereof, shriek: "Keep that alfalfa-burner away from my curtains!" or "That thing smells like you'd caught your toupee on fire."

A season of pipe-smoking for these ladies themselves may help to blunt the sharpness of their tongues.—Chicago Sun.

HELPING THE LITTLE CHAP

A navy officer learned that in Rome it is best to do as the Romans do—and that is to keep hands off somebody else's fights. He came out of a store in Rome and found two Italians fighting at the curb. One was big; the other was small.

The officer went to the rescue of the small chap and sent the big one on his way. The small fellow shouted his thanks and ran down the street.

The officer smiled with the happiness of a man who has done a good deed. Then an Italian bystander stepped up to him and explained.

The big fellow had been beating up the small one because the small one was stealing articles from the navy officer's jeep.—Boston Globe.

Bus Terminal To Be Built Opposite YWCA

De Nure brothers have bought the property at the northwest corner of Simcoe and Aylmer streets for a bus terminal which they propose building in the spring, Alderman Swanston told the council last night. Notice has been given to the occupants of the terrace property requiring vacation with present tenancy limits.

Alderman Swanston reported that one of the De Nure brothers had informed him that the Ferguson and Collacutt buses would also use the terminal, and likewise the Colonial Line buses when they get a transportation permit to operate between Montreal and Toronto.

"V-Day" Plans

A letter from Max R. Sloan, secretary of the "V-Day" committee requested the council to set aside $1,000 to enable the committee to carry out arrangements for appropriate celebration of victory.

The letter explained that the committee was not asking for a direct grant from the council, but that a credit be place with City Treasurer Shaver in the amount of $1,000 upon which drafts could be made as required. It was not expected that the entire amount would be required.

Alderman Sullivan said the committee had virtually completed its plans. Fireworks for the occasion were discussed but were abandoned for two reasons. One was that probably it would be difficult to get a supply of suitable fireworks, and the other was that such a purchase would appear extravagant. The main items of expense might be for the engagement of bands, estimated at around four or five hundred dollars, and possibly some unforeseen items.

"While the committee is asking that $1,000 be set up, they would spend only what it necessary," Alderman Sullivan said. "It is also desired that the name of all Peterborough boys who make the supreme sacrifice be listed so that their next of kin should not be overlooked on that day."

The letter was referred to the council of 1945.

Civic Annuities

Mayor Hamilton reminded the council that the investigation carried on by a special committee headed by Alderman Sullivan had not reached the stage of report and consideration. Possibly other business of late had thrust this question temporarily into the background. In the meantime the result of the election was removing Alderman Sullivan from the council's membership. "Before he gets away from us I feel that he should have the benefit of the work he and his committee has done. Most of it has been done on his own part."

"I shall be glad to help the council at any time," Alderman Sullivan replied. He said he had been greatly assisted by Colin A. McFadgen, local representative of the Federal Annuities Branch, that a report had been prepared, but the chairman had planned one or two meetings with Mr. McFadgen for this week.

Alderman Bradburn suggested that the members of the council would be in a better position to discuss the question if they could be supplied with copies of the report before discussing it with the committee. Alderman Sullivan replied that he would have extra copies run off. "That should be done in our own office," said Alderman Bradburn. "We should not ask Alderman Sullivan to do it."

The proposed meeting with the pensions committee, Mayor Hamilton remarked, raised the question whether the council should meet again this year. It was finally agreed to hold the final session Monday night, and if possible that the pensions matter be considered by the committee of the whole council at the close of that meeting. It was understood that if this proposal required further discussion that Alderman Sullivan would attend a meeting in the new year.

WATCH ON THE MEUSE—Machine-gunners of the British Second Army keep their eyes and gun trained on a road near Geijsteren, along the banks of the Meuse River, Germany, for German night and dawn intruder patrols. A new offensive is expected to be launched on this sector in the near future.

Annual Meeting Held By W.A.

BETHANY, Dec. 12 — (ENS). — The annual meeting of the W.A. of St. Paul's Anglican Church was held at the rectory, with ten members present.

Mr. Mason opened the meeting reading from James, and a letter was read from Ernest Bowen now somewhere in Holland, conveying thanks for Christmas box, sent from the W.A. Another letter was read from Miss Cartwright asking for contributions for thankoffering fund and the United Pledge Funds. It was the feeling of the meeting, after the regular commitments were cared for, any money on hand, should be used for parish work.

The treasurer's report was read, the bazaar netted $171, expenses $20.50. Mrs. J. Hamilton brought in $11.45, received for goods since the bazaar and Mrs. J. Hamilton also reported having received $31.75 in contributions for overseas boxes to the church boys.

A discussion regarding gifts for sick people followed, to give a clear understanding to the committee in charge of that particular department. It was moved by Mrs. Hamilton, seconded by Mrs. Clara Armstrong that they give the wardens $100 to assist the work of the church and the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs R. Jarvis, lunch committee to be Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. F. W. Reynolds. The Igloo was opened and contained $5.41, also the tea box contained $6.51.

Election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Mason; vice-president, Mrs. A. Gribble; secretary, Mrs. Jarvis; treasurer, Miss W. Nesbitt; dorcas committee, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. S. Stevenson and Mrs. C. Reynolds; sewing committee, Mrs. A. Gribble, Mrs. Hamilton and Miss Nesbitt; wool committee, Mrs. F. W. Reynolds, Mrs. Jarvis; visiting committee, Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Foster.

Mrs. Mason and her group served refreshments and a vote of thanks was proposed by Mrs. Price.

Sgt. J. Mann Dies Of Head Injuries

Sgt. James Mann, who died October 29, passed away as a result of a compound fracture of tthe skull and lacerations of the brain which he received in an accident. This is the latest word received over the week-end by his wife, formerly Genevieve Foster, 226 Woodbine avenue.

The accident occurred when an armored car hit the truck in which Sgt. Mann was driving. His injuries were so severe that he died before reaching the hospital. Prior to enlisting with the Engineers, this soldier was an employee of the Peterborough Lock Company. He coached Maple Leafs in the Ladies' City and District Softball League

Says Churchill Used Pressure

ROME., Dec. 12 (AP)—Count Carlo Sforza said today Prime Minister Churchill had brought "strong pressure" on him to accept King Victor Emmanuel as the reigning sovereign of Italy.

The former Italian minister without portfolio—left out of the newly organized cabinet of Premier Ivanhoe Bonomi after Britain voiced objections to him—said Mr. Churchill's influence on behalf of the King was brought to bear during a two-hour conference in London Oct. 11, 1943.

In a 500-word statement replying to Mr. Churchill's charge that Count Sforza had intrigued against the government of Premier Bonomi and could not be trusted, the count said he had "left no doubts" as to his attitude toward the monarchy.

Count Sforza also declared he was "not the author" of a letter to the U.S. state department prior to his return from exile in the United States promising support to the government of Premier Marshal Badoglio.

"I merely set my signature to it," he said.

Count Sforza since has contended he was obliged to oppose Badoglio because Badoglio failed to build up Italian war effort and encouraged a new form of fascism.

Memorial Service Held For Soldier

A memorial service for the late Pte. Irwin Woodbeck was held Sunday at Grace United church, Lasswade.

The church which was draped with flags and flowers was well filled and the service was conducted by Rev. C. Robb, minister in charge. The sedmon was delivered by Rev. K. Urquhart, rector of the Anglican church, who took his text from the seventh chapter of Revelations, "For these are they that came out of great tribulations."

Among the floral offerings were wreaths from the community of Owenbrook where Pte. Woodbeck had resided; Young People and Sunday school of Grace United church and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Russel Woodbeck of Stirling. Music was under the direction of Mrs. J. Reynolds. A duet, 'Beyond the Silent Night,' was sung by Mrs. J. Reynolds and Mrs. G. Bullied. Guard of honor were veterans of World War 1, Messrs. Hicks, J. Rosebush, W. R. Parks, Theo Post, and the Orange Lodge from Stirling attended in a body.

Pte. Woodbeck was killed in Belgium in October. A brother, Morris Woodbeck, was also killed in France.

He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, mother Mrs. Eliza Woodbeck, seven sisters, Mrs. J. Walke, Owenbrook, Mrs. H. Landon, Coe Hill, Mrs. Bullock, Lakefield, Mrs. W. Peacock, Toronto and Phyliss, Winnie, Maureen at home and one brother, Royce at home.

Strange Notion Out West

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

A British Columbian on a visit to the Coast is staggered by what he finds there. In the conscription crisis at Ottawa a large part of my people seem to have lost their sense of proportion entirely. I cannot speak for the folks in the small towns and on the farms, for I have not seen them yet, but in the clubs of Vancouver, in the top flight of tycoonery, among the men who are supposed to give British Columbia leadership, one discovers a kind of incipient lunacy.

Among these men the issue at Ottawa had ceased to be military. It had become racial. The question was less whether we should find reinforcements than whether we should put the French-Canadians in their place. There appears to be out her a fierce resentment against Quebec, as if all zombies were French-Canadians which they aren't, of course. Likewise there as the traditional civilian contempt for soldiers who do not fight bravelp overseas, and men who have given no service whatever in the war and don't intend to, talk about the zombies, who have been out of civilian life and away from home for years, as if they had done less than nothing and were somehow worthy only of a prosperous civilian's scorn.

Men have told me—leading men, powerful in industry, in business, and in education — that since English-speaking Canada has won out in the conscription issue, it should not take the opportunity to establish its domination over the French-Canadians I have heard it seriously proposed by men who would surprise you by their eminence that this is the time to repeal our ancient bargain with Quebec, abolish the French language, and make English the sole official language of Canada.

These aberrations are only worth reporting because they ought to shock Canadians into a sense of proportion. British Columbia is not the only part of Canada which should look these things in the eye.

Now, in the first place, to shift the conscription argument from the need to reinforce the Army to anything else is to play right into the hands of the Quebec racialists. We are on sound and honest ground in enforcing conscription now. If we try to add to that by introducing any other question we confirm the Quebec extremists in their charge that conscription is only a weapon to dominate a minority—that we are determined not merely to conscript French-Canadians but to destroy their culture.

When you mention that in Vancouver the wiser heads see the point at once. The hotter heads say that we had better let Quebec go its own way, if it won't follow ours, and Canada will get along all right without it. There are evidently British Columbians who have not looked at a map since entrance class and do not realize that Quebec belongs to the heart of the Canadian economy, sits astride our main artery of commerce, owns some of our essential industries and separates us from our whole Atlantic seaboard, and the Maritime Provinces.

When you patiently point this out, the hot heads say that we had better abandon all Canada east of the Ottawa River. Now the logic of their argument speeds to its climax; for they cannot deny that a truncated Canada west of the Ottawa would soon be begging admission to the United States.

There are some people here, as there always have been, who would like to join the United States anyway, but they are a minority. The majority, when they realize that a break with Quebec means the break-up of Canada, are quick to see the folly of it. But most pathetic is the position of the ultra-British Imperialist who would put Quebec in its place in the interests of British traditions and who, by smashing up Canada, would probably succeed in destroying the British Empire of which, as Mr. Churchill has often said, Canada is the essential cement.

However, don't take the fever of the Vancouver clubs and tycoons' offices too seriously. It is already passing, with the passing of the political crisis. Yet no man could come to this province in the middle of the crisis without realizing in dismay how far we have to go in English-speaking Canada before we begin to understand, let alone to face, the basic problem of this country, which is to discover how two distinct races can live happily together.

Tim Buck Objects To "Interference"

SUDBURY, Dec. 12 (CP) — Tim Buck, National leader of the Labor-Progressive party, said in an address last night that the liberated people of Belgium, Italy and Greece should be free to choose their own representative governments and that British interference in the three countries was contrary to the Teheran and Moscow agreements.

"The peoples of these countries have endured four and five years of occupation and have become united," he said. "They have become politically conscious. The whole tide of history is in their favor and this tide cannot be turned . . . The British policy in Europe is a challenge to the development of Europe. It is the last kick of a dying class of privilege."

Tricycle Makes Invalid Happy

KINGSTON, Dec. 12. — (CP).— Three year old Marvin Hogeboom of nearby Amherst Island gazed happily to-day from his hospital bed at a shiny red and white tricycle — the only thing he really wanted for Christmas. Mervin, who has only a 50-50 chance of recovering from a rare kidney ailment, received the tricycle yesterday.

It was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. L. Groper of Toronto and it had belonged to their son who died of the disease from which Mervin is suffering. The Gropers had been keeping the tricycle for sentimental reasons.

The Groper offer was one of several received by Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hogeboom, Mervin's parents, after the story of his Christmas wish was told Saturday in a story in newspapers across the country. Saturday was Mervin's birthday and his parents told how they had been trying for weeks to get a tricycle, his mother even making an unsuccessful trip to Toronto in search of one. The Hogebooms live on Amherst Island, where Mr. Hogeboom is a school teacher.

Canadian Army Artists Paint War Horror Pictures

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press War Correspondent

BRUSSELS, Dec. 12 (CP) — The first exhibition of war pictures painted by Canadian artists in the front line has opened in the Palais Des Beaux Arts at Brussels, one of the world's most noted art galleries.

This is art with a difference. The three men who made these sketches and water-colors were subscribing to no school of painting. They were interpreting merely what they have lived since D-Day in Normandy in all its grimness, horror, tragedy and sordidness.

Since June 6 Capts. Orville N. Fisher of Vancouver, W. A. Ogilvie of Montreal and George P. Pepper of Ottawa and Toronto, all of the Canadian Army, have had the front line for their studios. Their sketching boards were sometimes blood-stained, often mud-soaked.

Drove From Front

The story of Fisher, Vancouver-born mural painter, is typical of the others. He drove from the Canadian front in Holland to see the exhibition in a jeep with a shrapnel hole through its windshield. The jeep was scarred by battle, partly the result of a bombing in which the artist was caught along the Falaise road last August.

Capt. Fisher was sketching in the Falaise pocket last August with the German lines less than 100 feet away when his driver, Pte. Leo Carpentier of Edmonton, who had been scouting around, came in with seven German prisoners.

"I had to stop sketching to disarm the guys," said the artist.

When the Canadians got into Holland, "half the time I was sketching with water up to my waist. It was always at least up to my knees. You get quite used to your bedding floating around in your pup tent"

Realistic Scenes

And because these artists live this way they paint this way—dead soldiers slumped over their guns, the wreckage of men, vehicles and horses along a road strafed from the air, towns reduced to rubble.

Pepper, who before he entered the army was on the staff of the Ontario College of Art in Toronto, has sketched the demolition around Dieppe harbor and church services in the caves of Fleury near ruined Caen.

Ogilvie's studies include an advanced dressing station "landscape," which is two lonely graves outside a field hospital, and the demolition of a bridge across a canal.

Rotary Club Plans Hockey

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 12 (ENS) A further discussion of the project of hockey for school children was discussed at the Rotary Club luncheon at Woodlawn. Bert Taylor announced that a committee made up of Rotarians Bates, Watson, Wiggins and Davidson, had been named to supervise the sports.

Th Campbellford Club in conjunction with the Montreal Club signified its support of Thomas Warren of Wolverhampton, England for the office of president of Rotary International.

Rotarian Louchs introduced the special speaker A.A. Martin, Inspector of Public Schools, for the United Counties.

Mr. Martin commended the club on its thoughtfulness in supplying the rink and supervising sport for the children of the Public School. He stated that education was based on three letters C.P.S., not only also Cooperation, Pregressiveness and Service. Under cooperation, he recalled how Miss Stephens when she was teaching here, had a small microphone through which each pupil spoke to the class each morning. He stressed the need of coop- the home. Each must assume their the hom. Each must assume their respective responsibilities.

He was pleased that Campbellford had its Home and School committee which brings all three in close contact with each other and tends to give the teacher the sympathetic support of the parents. Pupils must be taught at home to give due respect to those in authority. The Board of Education can only function to the extent of the support given them by the parents and while there is a feeling that the teacher is always to blame, these antagonisms must cease if all have the interests of the children at heart he declared.

He asked the Rotarians to give this matter personal supervision. that some pupils are more apt than others and only justified criticism of the teacher should be noted. Service is what is expected from an educational system. We must train boys and girls to be good citizens and not allow traps to be laid to undermine this work for boys who were evading school could be helped by the sympathetic support of the grown ups. He stressed the fact that the teachers do not dwell on small payment for their services but are devoted to their work and he asked his audience to give their active support to this vital task.

Mr. Taylor conveyed the thanks of the club to Mr. Martin and Rotarians Donald and Longmore, on behalf of the club, assured the Inspector of active cooperation.

Mr. Taylor expressed the sympathy of the club for Vice-President Locke and Rotarian Brady in their bereavement and on motion by Rotarians Carr and Archer letters of condolence were forwarded to them.

SPORTS—Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Accommodation for spectators at the Y.M.C.A. pool will probably be taxed to capacity Saturday night when a gala swimming meet will be staged, with the crack squad of Toronto Central Y providing the outside competition. The Queen City stars will be down in force and incidentally will demonstrate the revolutionary new crawl stroke, with its changed breathing technique. This is the latest development in swimming and important results are expected when the swimmers learn to make full use of its possibilities. In addition there will be an exhibition of the latest method of resuscitation, showing the new method that is regarded as a big stride forward. The Y.W.C.A. Silver Finettes will contribute an exhibition of their precision swimming as another outstanding feature of the program. Peterborough swimmers will be seen in most of the program events and Swim Coach Gord Minty is hopeful that they will make a good showing against the strong opposition coming down from Toronto for the meet.

* * * * * *

If you want to feel old you will probably get the desired result if you recall that it is just 20 years ago since Bert McLeod and Irvin Bailey joined the Peterborough hockey club and the Petes immediately proceeded to make themselves one of the most-talked-about squads in the game. The year before they had been nosed out by Niagara Falls by one goal in the intermediate finals and 20 years ago this month the O.H.A. announced that both clubs were being moved up into senior ranks. Then the Petes surprised the hockey world by winning the S.P.A. series in spectacular fashion. They began by cleaning up Niagara Falls 3 to 1, beat Preston in the second round 3 to 2, disposed of Parkdale 3 to 1 in the semi-finals and then electrified fans all over the country by disposing of the famous Soo Greyhounds, Flat Walsh, Babe Donnelly, Gloomy Lessard and Company, the Allan Cup holders by 3 to 2 in the final game. Bert McLeod scored the winning goal after 20 minutes overtime on a pass from Bailey and hockey critics everywhere were dumbfounded. Through the series the odds had been 3 to 1 against the Petes but they disposed of four strong teams in succession to win the S.P.A. trophy. Incidentally Connie Smythe handled them during their triumph over the Soo. The Petes had Dwyer in the nets, McLeod and Parker on defence, Bailey, Collins and Ranger on the forward line and Burgess, Ray Rose and Grover Halpin as subs.

A Pat On The Back

Peterborough's enterprise in regard to the Memorial Health Centre has drawn an approving pat on the back from George Campbell of the Oshawa Times Gazette who says in his sport column: "They're really going to have sports accommodation of the highest order in the Liftlock City after the war. Up in Hamilton, where they asked for endorsement of a project costing $1,500,000, on top of a bylaw for a hospital expenditure of $2,600,000, the recreation centre bylaw was defeated. The Hamilton project was just a little too expensive no doubt, especially with the heavy hospital project also on tap, which was okayed. Down in Kingston they are laying plans for a $300,000 Memorial Health Centre to accommodate all sports activities, indoor and outdoor including swimming. Kitchener-Waterloo is planning a similar project, Welland is going after a new area, Getting back to Peterborough, that sum which now totals about $285,000, assures the Liftlock City of a centre that will take care of hockey with artificial ice, a baseball diamond, enclosed softball diamond, rugby gridiron and soccer pitch, lacrosse, a swimming pool and the auditorium will be available for public meetings, dances, basketball, etc. It's certainly a great stride forward in the right direction and the Peterborough citizens are to be commended upon their generosity and foresight. We don't need an artificial hockey arena in Oshawa, we have a good one, but there's certainly room for a closed park, complete with all accommodations. But what a hope there is here in Oshawa, where our "City Fathers" hesitate to take a definite stand when it comes to spending money, for fear they are not elected the following year. They prefer to continually pass such suggestions over "until the next council is elected," on the side, hope that one of the local service clubs will step in and do the work the City Council should be doing. Street repairing, antiquated sewage system, there's just a couple of examples of how they "save a dime and lose a dollar" here. What hope is there for adequate playgrounds for kids, or closed parks with complete accommodation for local and visiting athletes?"

* * * * * *

Meanwhile down at Belleville Ken Colling has been taking a crack at the municipal government as follows: "Our city fathers, who expounded at great length regarding the fostering of recreation centres for the use of the children of Belleville prior to last Monday's municipal election, soon forgot their pre-election platforms. As a matter of fact their memory was of such short duration the recreational pre-election platform was about the shortest on record—it went over-board just 24 hours after the city election. On Tuesday night the city fathers voted two civic skating rinks, but rejected any suggestion or plan for the erection of hockey cushions in their mammoth expansion plan for recreational purposes among the teen aged. Just where do they think the sub-teen aged boys can play a game of hockey. Out on the river or bay where they invite fatalities? This may not be the time or the place, but does it need a hockey fatality on the river or bay to awaken those in authority? We sincerely hope not."

Stars Of The Past

"From two different centres, both very much in western territory, former greats of the baseball and hockey world have come up with praise for other stars of the past in their profession," remarks Bill Gaynon in the Niagara Falls Gazette. "From his Menlo, California living quarters, Tyrus Cobb, generally called the greatest of all ball players, nominates Eddie Collins former Athletic and White Sox second baseman and present vice-president of the Boston Red Sox, as the ideal ball player, and Joe Jackson, one of the unfortunates of the Black Sox scandal of 1919, the sport's most natural hitter. Fred "Cyclone" Taylor, often called the all-time best in hockey, reports from Vancouver to nominate Percy Leseuer, Ottawa netminder at the turn of the century and the late Howie Morenz, centre of so many brilliant Canadien clubs, the greatest at their position. None will say that either Ty or Fred called any ordinary workmen, but when parties named have the endorsation of such former luminaries their nomination is the more impressive and will gain more universal attention and consideration."

Basketball in the Cossa circuit will not develop much activity until well into the New Year. Peterborough C.V.S. will enter three teams, senior, junior and one in the new bantam division and in the first two classes will be grouped with Lindsay while the bantams will have a bye. Other groups in the Lakeshore group of the Cossa conference are made up of Port Hope, Cobourg and Trinity College School, Port Hope in one section and Whitby, Oshawa and Bowmanville in the other. It is not expected the Lindsay-Peterborough playoffs will get under way until early in February. After that will come the series with the other section winners to determine the Lakeshore championship and then the group representatives will go to Toronto for the final round for the Cossa title.

Baseball Likely To Have One-Man Rule

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 — (AP). — The promptness with which major league club owners set up an advisory council providing for the continuance of a commissioner led veteran baseball observers to believe today the game will again be under a one-man rule before the start of a new season.

While this does not mean the owners will hurry the selection of a new commissioner, yesterday's action indicated immediate tackling of the problem of finding the right man.

A special eight-man committee, four from each league, will be appointed to work on a new major league agreement (the former pact of 24-year standing was terminated yesterday) stressing the provision of a new commissioner.

This committee, appointed by the league presidents, is expected to make a report by February.

Clarify Rules

It is believed the new agreement will be streamlined, clarifying certain hazy rules, and will deny the new commissioner some of the wide powers granted to the late K. M. Landis.

Meanwhile, baseball will be governed by the advisory council comprised of Will Harridge, president of the American League, Ford Frick, National League head, and Leslie M. O'Connor, secretary-treasurer under Judge Landis, who will act as chairman.

The council will operate with all the powers and duties of the commissioner as provided by the major league agreement of 1921.

Today's separate National and American League meetings deal with the amendments handed to them by the minor leagues with the draft and territorial problems the most important. The minors want a 33½ per cent increase in the draft price and the right for any minor league club to take over the franchise of any major league team which intends to invade said team's territory.

The question of pro football interfering with the baseball schedule will also be discussed as will the number of night games to be played.

The two leagues voted to establish a Landis award to be presented to the most valuable players of each league. The players will be selected by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Frick, whose four-year term as National League president expired yesterday, was re-elected for four years, with Sam Breadon, president of St. Louis Cardinals, named vice-president for a one-year term. Clark Griffith, Washington head, was elected vice-president of the American League for one year.

Toronto Staffords Beat St. Kitts 8-0

By The Canadian Press

Staffords pulled off their first win in five starts by inflicting an 8-0 defeat on St. Catharines Saints in a one-sided Senior O.H.A. fixture on Toronto ice last night. The reverse kept the visitors one point below the league-leading Hamilton Majors who are only two points ahead of the Toronto tail-enders, so it's still anybody's race.

The Torontos led 2-0 in the first period, doubled the total in the second and re-doubled their count in the final frame. Strongman figured as the scoring ace with three goals.

In the O.H.A. Junior "A" series, Galt Red Wings walloped recreationists 14-5 at Port Coborne to go into a tie with Oshawa Generals for third place, four points behind St. Michael's and St. Catharines' Falcons. This was the third victory for Galt in six starts.

Raymond Mayer pulled off a nifty for Galt when he scored three goals and had assists on two others, all in the third period. Joe Krompotich of the Red Wings also added five points to his season's marks with three goals and two assists but these were scattered throughout. Matheson of Ports was the most effective man against Galt in earning three out of Recs' five counters, the others going to Cunningham and D. Stewart.

Quebec Senior League Is Strong

MONTREAL, Dec. 12— (CP). — Quebec province, which for a time thought it might not have any league from which to glean a defender for the Allan Cup next spring, now appears destined to have two.

The Quebec Senior Hockey League, whose Quebec Aces are present Allan Cup holders, has smoothed over its differences with the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and will be the main contender as the province's senior representative.

In addition, the interprovincial circuit is operating with a success that leaves little doubt that it will produce a challenger to meet the Q.S.H.L. champs for the provincial senior honors.

Quebec Aces and Montreal Royals are making a straight two-way fight out of the Q.S.H.L. race, and will continue to do so unless Ottawa Commandos and Hull Volants are strengthened. Aces and Royals are locked for leadership at the moment with 10 points each, with Ottawa trailing with five and Hull bringing up the rear.

Valleyfield Braves are out in front in a well-balanced interprovincial league, with seven wins, three losses and two draws to date. Shawinigan Cataracts, Cornwall Flyers and Lachine are trailing in that order, with only seven points separating the first and last teams in the loop.

The Montreal Junior Amateur Hockey Association will again carry the torch for Quebec in the Memorial Cup race. Canadiens are out in front at the moment, with Royals in second place.

Council Starts Organizing For New Centre

To give members some time to think of nominees for the building committee of the Peterborough Memorial Community Centre the council last night deferred appointment unil next Monday night.

Alderman Bradburn informed the council that the Centre committee was meeting tonight to name its four representatives as provided in the agreement with the city. The council on its part nominates three who may be selected from within or without the council.

"We could tentatively appoint three right now," Alderman Bradburn explained, "but that action would not have legal effect until the private Bill is passed by the Legislature. However, the building committee could begin work on having plans prepared and generally getting under way for building so as not to take a lot of time with those details after the Bill is passed."

Council passed a bylaw last night to petition the Legislative Assembly of Ontario to validate the city's bylaw authorizing the issuing of debentures for $75,000, the city's contribution to the Memorial Centre, and also to confirm the agreement between the Corporation of the City and the Peterborough Memorial Centre.

In committee of the whole on the second reading, Mayor Hamilton enquired whether the committee set up by the Centre "has any legal standing so that we can enter into a bargain with them."

Alderman Bradburn suggested that a clause could be inserted in the private Act giving legal status to the committee which has been set up empowering it to enter into an agreement with the city, and that the administrative commission could be set up later, according to the agreement which the property owners approved by their vote in the municipal elections.

Bill Cowley Leads Scoring Race

MONTREAL, Dec. 12 — (CP). — Bill Cowley is still atop the National Hockey League scoring race in official figures released today, after recovering from a drop that put him temporarily into second spot in unofficial tabulations during the week.

The great Boston centre picked up a goal and three assists during the week-end to run his total to 29 points on 10 goals and 19 assists. That put him three points up on Canadiens' Toe Blake who was idle on the week-end.

Clint Smith of Chicago, Toronto's Gus Bodnar and Elmer Lach of Canadiens were locked in a three-way tie for third spot, each eight points behind Cowley with 21.

Richard continued as goal leader with 15, two more than team-mate Blake. Cowley was out in front in assists with 19, two more than Lach and Bodnar. Nobody seriously threatened Pat Egan's title of penalty king, with the Boston defenceman well out in front with 38 minutes in minors and majors.

Ten penalties showed Toronto in front with a total of 131 minutes.

Bill Durnan of Canadiens continued to hold the lowest goals-against average with a percentage of 2.375 per game.

Donegal Street To Have Rink

Authority to lay out a rink only for hockey games at the corner of Donegal and Murray streets was given by the council last night to the parks committee in the adoption of its report which was presented by Alderman Curtis, chairman.

The report requested Alderman Glover to communicate with the Peterborough Hockey Club and learn what hours the Club's teams wish to use the city's rinks "and, when this information is obtained, the chairman and Alderman Glover arrange a schedule for use of the rinks by the various applicants."

Other clauses were: "That the Board of Works be requested to place what shelters it has at the city skating rinks to be designated by Alderman Curtis" and "that Alderman Curtis be authorized to have a dressing room built for the Donegal street rink."

WRESTLING SHOW CANCELLED

Owing to the storm and transportation difficulties the weekly Tunney Wrestling Show scheduled for the Brock Street Arena tonight HAS BEEN CALLED OFF.

There will be the regular show next week.

TORONTO, Dec. 12 — (CP). — It almost looks as though the National Hockey League has solved the problem of how to maintain itself in a president in the style to which it was accustomed. Now that Red Dutton has been drafted again, apparently against his will or better judgment or something of that nature, chances are this thing can go on for ever.

If the governors can just persuade the Red to stay in his post for a few months each time he tries to get out of it, eventually he will peer out from behind his whiskers and realize it's been a lifetime job after all.

Not that there would be anything wrong with that, since nearly every one is agreed Dutton would be the best man for the job, if he would stay, if he would not be interfered with too much, if, etc.

It might work, too, if (there we go again) the critics would still their talk of finding a new man for the post. Like that recent speech made by Art Ross of Boston Bruins, before he told Dutton he evidently had been "misquoted."

Now, boys:

All barriers seem to have been dropped in the Montreal amateur hockey kingdom. Verdun Royals of the Montreal League have challenged Valleyfield Braves of the Interprovincial loop to a sudden-death game, with a side bet of $500. Wright Cyyclones, another Montreal area team, also is willing to put up $500 for each game it can get with interprovincial teams. There was a time when the amateur hockey fathers would have been deeply and publicly offended by such goings-on.

Sportpourri:

Dave Bauer of last year's St. Michael's College Juniors is in the Army at London, Ont., now waiting for posting to a training centre.... Lionel Conacher thinks amateurism is a dead pigeon and any idea of maintaining such a fiction in the Olympic Games should be scrapped says Andy (Toroto Star) Lytle. The best athletics and teams, whether professional or what has become known as shamateur, should compete in the world games....Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara suggests Lt. Col. Walter Brown of American Army Public Relations as a good choice for president of the N.H.L. if and when Red Dutton gets tired of it all. Brown has done big things for Boston in the sport world, sponsored the American Olympic hockey teams, and generally is in the know.

Nels Stewart, veteran hockey battler, ended a brief retirement five years ago tonight by scoring a goal for New York Americans 15 seconds after stepping onto the ice for his first N.H.L. game of the year. It was the 318th goal of his career. He retired for good in 1940.

Hydro Debt Paid

MILLBROOK, Dec. 12 — (ENS). — The local Hydro Commission has paid off the last debenture owing on the purchase price of the system, taken over by the Municipality five years ago. The original time for paying off the indebtedness was twenty years, and by good management just one-quarter of that period has been required to liquidate the debentures. C. B. Sutton is chairman of the local Commission, and G. F. Harrington the local Manager.

Dave Castilloux Meets Defeat

BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 12—(CP)—Dave Casilloux of Montreal suffered the first knockout of his ring career here last night when a flurry of punishing punches in the fifth round won a t.k.o decision for Ike Williams of Trenton, N.J. Castilloux weighed 135½, Williams 135.

Castilloux—who claimed he had never been knocked down, let alone out—was still on his feet when the finish came at 1:53 of the fifth round of a scheduled 10-rounder, but he was bleeding from the mouth, nose and left cheek as Referee Luke Carr stepped in to award the fight to Williams.

Williams won the first, second, fourth and fifth rounds with the third a split.

In the semi-final, Cliff Beckett, 154½, of Sudbury, Ont., scored a technical knockout over Clyde Miller, 154, of New York city in 1:55 of the second stanza. Beckett dominated the action all the way, swinging hard and often. He climaxed the victory with a roundhouse right to Miller's head.

Fenway Park in Boston was chosen as the site for the annual all-star game of the major leagues at yesterday's session of the national baseball convention in New York The feature will be staged July 10 and will be a daylight contest for the first time since 1941 when it was held in Detroit.

Paul Courtreau of the Providence Reds scored four goals during the past week to raise his lead in the American Hockey League's individual standing to 32 points. Figures released last night showed Tony Bukocich of Indianapolis in second place with 27 points while Bob Gracie of Pittsburg and Byron MacDonald of Indiahapolis were tied for third with 26 points.

Twenty-four rinks from western Ontario have been entered in the first bonspiel of the season of the curling club at Guelph which is scheduled for to-morrow.

Rev. Cornelius Siegfried of St. Jerome's College, Waterloo, was the choice as president of the Central Ontario branch of the Ontario Basketball Association which was organized last night after a lapse of several years. Other officers include: Vice-president, Harry Reid, Guelph; secretary, Æ. H. Devitt, Kitchen, and treasurer, Alan Neilson, Stratford.

Toronto Needs Schriner Badly

By The Canadian Press

Coach Clarence Hay Day of the Toronto Maple Leafs probably will look on November 18 as one of the sorriest nights for his team in the 1944-45 National Hockey League campaign.

That was the night Dave (Sweeney) Schriner from Calgary body-checked a goal post and put himself out of action for six weeks. When Sweeney headed for the hospital, Leafs were leading the League with a one-point edge over Montreal Canadiens. They had won seven games (counting the one in which Schriner was injured) and had lost only two.

Since then they've slipped back into a second-place tie with Detroit Red Wings and in seven games have won only three and lost four.

Schriner, 31-year-old left-wing smoothie, appeared to be on his way to a new N.H.L. goal record when he was injured. He had scored 11 goals in nine games and had six assists as well. He was making a striking comeback after a one-year absence from the game. He'll be missing from the Toronto lineup until the new year at least.

Olympic Previews New Suggestion

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—Col. Evan Hunter, secretary of the British Olympic committee, urged last night that Anglo-American and Pan-American games be held as a preview to future peacetime Olympics. He spoke at an informal meeting of the U.S.A. Sports Federation, successor to the United States Olympic Game committee.

Avery Brundage, Chicago, president of the U.S.A.S.F., presided John Kieran, New York Sun columnist, and H. E. Herschhorn, Montreal, president of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association, also spoke.

Brundage said he did not know when the Olympics would be resumed, adding it was unlikely Germany and Japan would be invited to compete.

Jolliffe Sees Unemployment After The War

OSHAWA, Dec. 12.—(CP).—E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader, said Monday in a service (Rotary) club address that "we'll be lucky if the war in Europe is over a year from now and we'll face the most difficult and critical 10 years in Canada's history when it is over."

"Our position at the close of the war will, in my opinion, be far worse than anybody has yet publicly admitted," he said. "Not enough warning has been given of the terrific blows that will fall on most Canadian homes when we enter the post-war unprepared for the problems of peace."

Mass unemployment was demoralizing "and that's exactly what we're heading for under present policies." It was a mistake for business leaders to expect the economic structure to survive this war just because it survived the last one.

"But I am a real optimist about the future of this land of opportunity, providing measures are taken now to make use of the country's producing capacity."

Lamone River Crossing Hazardous Task

By WILLIAM BOSS
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS ON THE ADRIATIC, Dec. 12—(CP. Cable). — It was a virtual stalemate on the Canadian Corps' Lamone River sector, with the forces massed on opposite banks of the river, and a French-Canadian brigadier sensed the feeling of the men, anxious to risk the hazardous crossing.

"When are we having our bridge party," he wirelessed the divisional command Friday. "I have some very keen players up here."

The men realized making the crossing would be one of the most difficult operations but they rather would have it over with. Shelling and mortaring was almost as hot as in the peak of a battle.

The Lamone River, which flows northeast through Faenza into the Villi Di Camacchio, continues to be the dividing line between enemy-held and liberated Italy in this sector.

Both the Canadian and the German forces continue active patrolling and exchange of enough artillery and mortar fire to restrict enemy movements.

Three Canadian attempts last week to secure a permanent bridgehead on the west bank of the Lamone — the Adriatic sector's Leopold Canal — failed and until the last attempt battle casualties were light.

Banks Steep

Forcing a river crossing in the face of direct machine-gun and mortar fire from an enemy well dug-in on the opposite bank always is one of the most difficult operations. The Lamone has high, steeply-sloping dikes, each dropping 40 feet to a narrow ledge, which in turn falls sharply to the river itself. The distance from dike top to dike top is 150 yards. The cold, 50-feet wide, fast-flowing stream is more than six feet deep.

The first attempt at a crossing was made at noon a week ago after a force of 150 dive-bombers softened up German positions on the banks just north of a railroad bridge two miles northwest of Russi. An eastern Ontario battalion made the attempt and was equally unsuccessful again at dusk.

Early the next morning an Ontario, Quebec and Maritime permanent force regiment made the third try and registered good progress, fanning out south in the direction of the railway to Bologna and reach a depth of 800 yards. It was joined at 5 a.m. by the same eastern Ontario battalion which had tried the day before.

The Canadian were counter-attacked heavily by German infantry which poured over the railroad from the south and tanks and self-propelled artillery which came in from the right and directly ahead. The positions were whittled down and the Canadians were withdrawn to the east bank.

Military Journals Rap 2 Nations Prolonging War

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP)—The army and navy journal holds that British and Russian "pre-occupation" with affairs in eastern and southern Europe prolonged the war with Germany past Dec. 7. The unofficial service publication says:

"Since D-Day in France, greater preoccupation has been shown by Russia in her Baltic and Balkan campaigns, intended to insure her security and by Great Britain in Italy, Greece and Albania, to protect her lifeline through the Mediterranean, than in achievement of the prime objective of our armies, the prompt defeat of Germany and concentration of all possible power to that end.

"The result has been that the expectation in Washington that the war in Europe would be over by the Pearl Harbor anniversary this week has not been realized."

Why go through life with that "dragged through-a-knothole" feeling, tired all the time! Yet many people never really know how good they can feel—because of one simple neglect.

Why not shake off that tired feeling by going after its most common cause—a sluggish system! When the system is clogged with poisonous food waste and fatigue acids, you can't feel or look your best. You'll be amazed at the difference when you keep regular with an all-vegetable remedy—BILE BEANS.

Made from 10 pure vegetable extracts, Bile Beans are so gentle, yet effective, they are called "The Medicine That Wakes Up Nature." These small liver pills stimulate the flow of liver bile, so essential for good digestion, regularity, that glad-to-be-alive feeling.

For a peppier, brighter tomorrow, try BILE BEANS tonight. Prove for yourself their amazingly gentle action. Over 7 million boxes used last year, convincing evidence of how greatly they help others. At druggists. 38

Pacific Fleet Seeks Out Japs

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 12—(CP Cable)—Strategy of the newly-created British Pacific fleet "can be expressed simply; it is to find and sink the Japanese fleet," Admiral Sir Bruce A. Fraser, commander-in-chief, said here Monday.

"We have the requisite strength to do it," he added in an interview and said it had been possible to do this without detracting from the combat strength of the force in southeast Asia.

Admiral Fraser added that, without disclosing details, it could be said that his command included very substantial aircraft carrier strength—both large and small—an equally powerful striking force of modern battleships with corresponding cruiser and ancillary strength.

The new commander will meet the Australian war cabinet at Canberra and later meet Admiral Nimitz but said that until he conferred with the American Pacific fleet commander he could not say how the fleet, which will be based in Australia, would be used. Admiral Fraser disclosed his headquarters would be at Melbourne and Sydney.

Japanese Hit From New Base

SOMEWHERE IN CHINA, Dec. 12—(AP)—Brig.-Gen. Clinton D. Vincent's Eastern Wing of the 14th U.S. Air Force struck from a mystery base on Friday at Japanese targets in China.

At Hong Kong, fighters sank an Akikaze class destroyer (1,215 tons, built between 1917-1920) and a 500-foot transport and probably sank two large freighters and damaged three others. They destroyed three planes at Kaitak airfield near Kowloon.

At Nanking the fighters destroyed at least 25 enemy planes in the anr and on the ground at Mingkukung and Taichaiocahu airdromes and hit two large railways ferries used to haul trains across the Yantgze.

It was one of the greatest days for the 14th Air Force despite its loss of its most important eastern bases in China.

The day-long attacks cost the 14th Air Force one plane at Nanking.

Catholic Priest Visits Prisoners

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 12 — (AP) — The Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano reported Sunday that Msgr. Paolo Marella, Apostolic delegate to Tokyo, visited a camp at Nagoja where several thousand Canadian, American and British war prisoners are interned and found it is "a salubrious zone which helps to better the prisoners' physical condition." The visit was made Nov. 28.

He was received with honors by Japanese civil and military authorities, the newspaper said, and listened to a report on the condition of the prisoners and the care given them. He also talked with representatives of the prisoners. Details of their condition were not given.

Conservatives Will Oppose McNaughton

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 12—(CP).—The Progressive Conservative party "will most certainly contest the Federal election in Grey North constituency," Harry A. Willis, the party's Federal chairman for Ontario, said in an interview today after an Owen Sound announcement that Defence Minister McNaughton has accepted an invitation to be Liberal candidate in the riding where a by-election will be held early next year.

"We have a vigorous candidate in Mayor Garfield Case of Owen Sound and we intend to make a real fight for that seat," said Mr. Willis.

Sentence Italians For Soldier Murder

ROME, Dec. 12—(CP)—Two Italian brothers have begun prison terms for the knife slaying of Lance-Cpl. William J. Bell, Royal Canadian Engineer, whose body was found buried in a farmyard near Frosinone more than two months after the June 8 killing.

Guiseppe Ceccarelli was given a five-year term for stabbing Bell, and an older brother, Sisto, got a two-year term for concealing Bell's body.

The trial before a military court ended November 21. The slaying occurred during an altercation between four Canadians and several Italians when the soldiers went to the Ceccarelli home to purchase wine.

The defence contended Guiseppe stabbed Bell to protect his sister from assault.

Two Institutions Get Money Grants

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 — (CP) — Grants to two Canadian institutions, the Queen's University (Kingston, Ont.) summer session language school and the Canadian Library Council were reported Sunday night by the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

The report announced total grants during the fiscal year of 1943-44 at $5,873,215, including a $5,000,000 grant to the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

The grant to the Library Council was $20,000, while to Queen's University language school went a grant of $6,000, payable at the annual rate of $2,000 from 1943 to 1946.

Formation of the Library Council followed publication of a report by a three-member commission of the American Library Association.

Women Start Riot Steal Butter, Sugar

WATERTOWN, N.Y., Dec. 12 — (AP)—William Navarra, manager of a chain grocery, said Saturday nearly 200 women staged a two-hour riot and cleaned out his stock of butter and sugar, scarce throughout the U.S. at present.

Navarra said the disorders started late Friday when one woman ignored the half-pound customer allotment and emerged from a storeroom with two pounds of butter.

Others followed suit, many of them leaving without paying for their butter, Navarra reported. Those failing to get supplies fought the others. Others grabbed butter and sugar out of orders made up for delivery.

One woman was knocked into a crate of eggs, smashed 15 dozen. The only male customer grabbed some sugar and left.

Marmora IODE Sends Boxes To Casualties

MARMORA, Dec. 12 — (ENS) — The regular meeting of Marmora Chapter I.O.D.E. was held at the home of Mrs. Gregor Murray, with the Regent, Mrs. D. P. Marett, presiding.

Mrs. A. M. Jones reported the sending of boxes to two convalescent soldiers and a letter was read by the 'Echoes' secretary, Mrs. G. Murray regarding Chapter notes. A donation as made to the Endowment Fund of the Order while plans were discussed for the third annual dance to be held about the middle of January.

The next meeting will be held January 9 at the home of Mrs. C. V. Wallace, and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

A $700 Gift

DONCASTER, Yorkshire, England, Dec. 12—(CP).—Eighteen-year-old Lois Moss was standing outside an amusement park here the other night when a strange man put a parcel in her hands with the words, "I hope it does you as much good as it has done me," and then hurried away. The parcel contained about $700.

Huge Superforts Harassing Japan

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12—(CP).—Tokyo radio yesterday reported three American Superfortress flights over Japan proper and a fourth over Japanese-held Korea within a period of 25 hours.

Unreported from American sources, the raids were said by the Japanese to have started fires in the Nipponese capital when two B-29s hit Sunday night. The fires were "immediately put out," the broadcast claimed.

Other Superforts were said to have visited western Japan Saturday night, and Kyushu Island and Korea Sunday morning. Incendiary bombs were reported dropped over western Japan but the Korean raid "appeared to be" for reconnaissance purposes.

He Started Young

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12—(AP).—Police gaped as a 51-2 ton truck glided smoothly through traffic, no driver in sight. "Must be radio-controlled," an officer mused as a squad car gave chase. Drawing abreast of the vehicle, officers found a small-for-his-age 12-year-old in the cab. "Been driving since I was seven," he reported. The officers returned him, after a lecture, to his broken down bike, the borrowed truck to its worried owner.

1,200 Bombs Dropped On Westminster City

LONDON, Dec. 12—(CP-Reuter)—In five years of aerial attack, the city of Westminster, which contains the Houses of Parliament, Westminster Abbey and many government buildings has been hit by more than 1200 high explosive bombs, land mines and oil bombs, thousands of incendiaries and 30 flying bombs, Lionel R. McColvin, city librarian, reported Monday.

Nearly 30,000 buildings in that relatively small district, which covers less than four square miles, were damaged and 300 destroyed. Of 1,099 civilians killed, 20 have never been identified. The city had 1,955 alerts.

Main Street Topics

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association will be held in the Paragon Hall on Wednesday at 8 p.m. The election of officers will also take place.

LATE SNOW FENCES.

Up until a week ago, motorists reported seeing very few snow fences erected on the highways between Peterborough and Welcome cut-offs. In earlier snow storms, this has caused a great deal of trouble for automobile drivers, and can be counted on to tie up more traffic in the present storm.

SNOW PLOW MISSING.

Ivan Fletcher, Keene bus driver, brought 26 war workers into the city this morning and was just five minutes late. Snow drifts were so high on the Sixth Line that his radiator was choked with the snow when he reached the city. Apparently the plow operator leaves the county plow in the city instead of taking it home with him, and thus the Sixth Line remains heavy early in the morning, when many people are trying to get to No. 7 Highway from the Keene section.

EDUCATIONAL FILMS

Several educational films from the National Film Board Library at the Normal School are available to organizations desiring them, for two weeks. They include "The Woodwind Choir", "How The Eye Functions", "The Gray Squirrel", "Arctic Thrills", "Tropical Lumbering" and "Mountain Magic." Other additions to the permanent library include: "Musical Overtures 1, 3 and 4," "It's Your Pigeon", "Sand And Flame", "One Hundred Thousand Cadets", "Coal Face Canada", and "Fighting Dutch".

DEADLINE FRIDAY

Mail destined for British Columbia should be in the post office by no later than Friday, December 15, if delivery by Christmas Day is to be assured.

DRUGGIST DIES

J. Ernest Birks well known Campbellford druggist died suddenly early today. He was a member of Ionic Chapter Ram and was a native of Trenton. He is survived by his sister Mrs. Lloyd E. Deviney of Toronto.

WINTERTIME SPORTS.

Children are having plenty of fun evenings in Victoria Park in spite of the storms, with sleighing, skiing and tobogganing in full swing. A number of lights in the park removes some of the hazards of palying in the dark, of previous war winters.

TRUCK COLLIDES WITH CAR

Gerald Jackman, R.R. 2, Harold, reported to the police Monday that as he was crossing Reid Street at McDonnel Street, a south-bound truck, loaded with hogs, collided with his car, doing damage to the extent of $10. Jackman said that he had been unable to secure the name of the driver or the number of the truck which figured in the accident.

SHOW MUST GO ON

"After we've advertised, there isn't much else to do but go on with it", declared Mrs. R. Whalon this morning, advising that the salvage drive will go on just as if there wasn't any snow. If people will place their salvage on verandahs and porches it will make it easier, she said. If any waste paper, rags, old tires or tubes are not collected today, the drive continues each morning this week until Friday.

Chrstmas Gifts From C.G.E. Show Kind Heart

In a world beset with cruelties such as might cause the stoutest heart to quiver, it is a very fortunate thing that there still are many many kind hearts, who can heed the call of people in distress, and by their acts show that a better civilization will yet dawn, of which the blessed season of Christmas is but the forerunner.

And those who believe in the principles which the season of Christmas promotes, cannot help but feel the urge that it gives, to help others less fortunate than themselves. Experience has shown that this really has come like a breath of heaven to those in distress, and helps revive their faith in all that the season really means.

In this blessed work promoted by the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund for the past four years, the employees of the Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd. from works manager Ian F. McRae and staff downwards have taken quite a prominent part, this once again being emphasized to a marked degree by the donations already to hand this year for the special donation now being raised to send some cheer for Christmas, to those who have suffered from enemy attacks from the air in Britain.

Representative of a large proportion of employees who have an interest in the Canteen Fund, another gift of $250.00 is credited in their name, this having come through T. Glover and N. E. Crowe, and it is recalled that the same fund has assisted in a very substantial manner in the past, besides having helped other very worthy causes as well. Their gift will be of quite some assistance in helping the fund reach its present objective.

Maintenance Dept. Again

The Maintenance Department is one which has quite an enviable record, their steady work over a considerable period of time placing them in the forefront on an average basis, that speaks highly for itself, due in quite a measure to the leadership given by Mabel Dulmage and Lewis Simpson, coupled with the interest of H. H. May, their foreman.

Another of their fine gifts amounting to $64.10 is also listed today, further accentuating the goodly part played by the employees of this one industrial plant, and bringing their own department record up to the grand sum of $657.69, which will take some superceeding.

This in itself does not completely tell the story, for now they are engaged on a big draw for 10 turkeys, each of them capable of catering to the celebrations of a large family, which should receive a widespread support, because not many events of this nature gives one so many chances of a prize for the comparatively small sum that will purchase a ticket, and the net amount over costs goes to a good purpose, which is really worth some consideration too.

Kaleidescopes As Gifts

Every year that the fund has made this special appeal at Christmastide, the Roy Powell family have made and donated quite a number of Kaleidescopes, which are big value to any purchaser in the first place, and solves many a gift problem for young and even older folk in these days of scarcity of many other things.

The sales of these took quite an upward stretch on Saturday, and today $5 is reported as coming from this source, which has accumulated from their sale at 25 cents each. There are still a few left to be sold at that price, and first come, first served, so a word to the wise would seem quite opportune.

Lions Bingo Attracts 1,300 People

Bingo—giant style made its appearance in Peterborough on Monday evening when 1,300 people attended the first mammoth bingo held by the Peterborough Lions Club with more than $500 in prizes.

Awards ranged from consolation gifts of a dollar in War Savings Stamps to a three-piece chesterfield suite valued at $140, with a ton of coal and many other items that were substantial.

Copied from the Ottawa Lions who pack 6,000 people every week into the auditorium in that town, with $1,700 in prizes, the event at the Brock Street Gardens was a huge success and plans call for another similar event at the Gardens early in January.

Four members of the Ottawa club have been in the city for the past two days helping the Lions club to get away to a proper start, and their advice and guidance assured a smoothly moving program.

This is the first time in Peterborough lap cards have been used, and the patrons had no trouble with them. No tables were needed. The bulk of the people sat on chairs on the dance floor but many occupied the rink seats, placed the cards on their laps and had an enjoyable evening. A public address system assured that everyone could hear the numbers.

Thomas Doughtly of the Peterborough Lions was chairman of the committee in charge and several members from other service clubs in the city gave their assistance in handling the large crowd.

Following are the prize-winners:

$10 groceries, Mrs. W. Lefley 219 Dublin street; mahogany rack, Mrs. L. McCarthy, 459 Hunter; mirror, Mrs. W. Fickling, R.R. 3, Peterborough; clothes hamper, Victor Montgomery, 371 Armstrong Drive; 32-piece breakfast set, Jim Lavis, 191 Brock street; $10 order, Grafton & Co., Victor Montgomery, 371 Armstrong Drive; table lamp, Charles Harnden 221 Rink street; 2 pair ladies' or gent's shoes, Miss V. Endicott, 81 Crescent street; chair, Mr. N. King, 161 Lake street; vanity set, A. Selkirk, 1 Grandview ave.; solid walnut table, J. Cridland, 864 George street; 10 pair silk hose, Mrs. J. Sharpe, 537 Homewood avenue; gent's dresing gown, Miss L. T. Clarke, 267 Sherbrooke street; gent's windbreaker, Miss Helen McAuliffe, 348 Burnham street; table tri-light, Mrs. B. Morrison, 197 Brock street; chrome chair, Mrs. Allan Barnes, 668 Gilchrist street; 1 ton coal, George Jay, 615 Chamberlain street; boudoir lamp, Miss Hazel Slater, 461 Hunter street; chenille bed spread, Mrs. A. Elliott, 265 Carlisle avenue; 25 Capitol Theatre tickets, Lawrence Gordon 686 Armour Road; 1 gate leg table, Mrs. L. Agnew, 645 Roger street; pair H.B. blankets, Mrs. J. Boyle, 531½ Park street; ladies' dress, William Cloatman, 265 Charlotte street; ladies' set travelling bags, John Legrow, 175 Lock street; chesterfield suite, 3-piece, Mrs. Thomas World, 705 Gilchrist street; $20 War Saving Certificate, Mrs. Hosking.

Refuse Permit For Dance Hall

In looking around for a spot for a "de lue" o rotherwise 'ultra' dance hall, Jack Wineberg should have reckoned with the city council's sensitiveness for the new Monaghan Ward residents when he fixed on the east end of Lansdowne Street as tops in his preferred realty list.

All that section of the south end has no representative in council, no neighborhood alderman, and that absence quickens concern for the interests of the recently adopted neighbours.

A week ago the council asked City Engineer Parsons to report on the Wineberg location and the result on Monday night was a Swanston-Curtis resolution "that the report from the engineer does not warrant our granting Mr. Wineberg's request."

Mr. Wineberg was buying all the land between Harrat Street and the most easterly house on the south side of Lansdowne Street, adjoining property on the north side of Morrow Street and four lots on its south side. His purpose in acquiring acreage was to obtain ample parking area. The council has been doubting that he could get approval from the Ontario Department of Highways, but a telegram from him Monday night intimated that provincial sanction was forthcoming and only the city's assent was still lacking.

Obstacles from the city's prospect of the Wineberg project were —present inability to provide sewage connection; conviction that Mr. Wineberg's plans would not eliminate impediments to traffic on No. 7 Highway, Lansdowne Street; and finally the wooden construction of the building.

And behind those professional opinions was the council's opposition to the Wineberg enterprise because it was across the dimming boundary of Lansdowne Street and also their attitude of leaning backward at present to safeguard Monaghan values that are now coming into the trusteeship of the city.

Factory Choristers Do Carol Singing

With Christmas less than two weeks away, the Outboard Marine choristers have begun their second series of Christmas Carol broadcasts every morning from 8:15 until 8:30 over CHEX. The idea was introduced a year ago and proved so popular that it is being continued this year.

The chorus under the direction of Robert Johnston, is recruited from the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company's office and factory personnel, and the narration is done by L. L. Maguire, another employee. The singers attacked their opening program enthusiastically singing two of the Yuletide favorites "Hark The Herald Angels Sing" and "Silent Night", along with a lesser known English carol, "The Virgin Unspotted."

Under Mr. Johnston's direction, the choristers did an excellent job and their enjoyable program will continue until Christmas.

Parts Were Used In His Work For Employer

Lawrence Wilfong testified this morning before a General Sessions of the Peace jury and Judge S. L. Smoke that the refrigeration and electrical parts found in his home were used in his work during employment with Johnston's Furniture and Electrical Sales and Service, and that there was nothing stolen. Defended by W. J. Arthur Fair, Wilfong is charged with theft of merchandise valued at more than $25, from F. H. Johnston, his former employer.

Articles Missing.

Called to the box by Crown Attornew V. J. McElderry, K.C., Mr. Johnston told the court that in May, 1942, he had removed the stock from the basement into his own office, because articles were missing on various occasions. Wilfong was informed, he said, that parts should be in the truck, and not in his house.

"He had no authority to keep merchandise in his house," Mr. Johnston said.

On September 12, he told the jury, Wilfong was dismissed from his employ, and shortly after on that same day, he checked the stock in the truck used for service often by Wilfong, only to find considerable articles missing. A search warrant was obtained, and with Provincial Constable Price Morris and City Police Constable J. Morrow, Wilfong's Downie street house was searched.

Mr. Johnston said he noticed Wilfong's car at the front of the house at first, but after the house had been checked, the car was gone. Later on, approximately September 14, a garage was searched, and more refrigerator parts "that belonged to me" were found.

During Mr. Johnston's testimony, a number of refrigeration parts were entered as exhibits by Mr. McElderry. These were the parts said to have been found both in Wilfong's house and in the garage.

Mr. Johnston testified the rough wholesale value of the entire amount of parts would probably be around $200.

No Record Kept.

Mr. Fair in cross-examining the witness, found that no actual record on paper was kept at that time of what was in the truck.

"How could you check the truck when you didn't know what was in it?"

"We checked it because we were missing things."

Mr. Johnston answered in the affirmative when Mr. Fair questioned him as to whether or not it would have been reasonable if Wilfong had placed some of the parts in the drawer to keep out of the hands of his children.

Wilfong testified that his working hours were from eight o'clock in the morning until six o'clock in the evening, and that he was on 24-hour call. "I supplied the tools, but Mr. Johnston supplied the parts.

"Did you work exclusively for Mr. Johnston?"

"Definitely, yes." (Earlier, Mr. Johnston said that if Wilfong was doing work outside his employment, the parts used as exhibits in court would have been valuable to him.)

Did Not Remove Car.

With regard to the portion of the Crown evidence which dealt with the parts found in the garage, Wilfong told the jury he had nothing to do either with the parts being taken to the garage, or the car being taken from in front of the house while policemen were there.

Previously, 12-year-old Robert Crone said he saw the "Wilfong boy" (one of the accused man's sons) drive into the driveway of his place, and that a few minutes later, he called and asked him to "give me a hand" with carrying some things into the garage. The youngster told the court the things he had helped carry from the car into the back of the garage, were similar to the exhibits produced in court.

The case is continuing.

War—4 Years Ago

(By The Canadian Press)

DEC. 12, 1940—Sheffield hard hit in German night air raid. Royal Navy shelled Salum and Bardia in Western District. Twenty thousands Italians reported captured in retreat from Sidi Barrani. Lord Lothian, British ambassador to the United States, died.

Brig. C. Hepburn To Visit Cty

Brigadier Rev. Canon C. G. Hepburn, M.C., principal Protestant Chaplain (Army), is to visit Peterborough on January 15 and address a meeting under the auspices of the Unity League in the interests of Canadian unity.

Brigadier Hepburn will also address the Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon to which the ministers of the city are going to be invited.

Brigadier Hepburn served overseas in the last war and on returning was appointed rector of All Saints' Church, Ottawa, where he remained until the outbreak of the present war when he was named to the chaplaincy service going overseas with the First Canadian Division. In 1943 he returned to Canada and was named principal Protestant Chaplain.

Permission Given For Temporary Building

Eventually the old "carbon works" of the Canadian General Electric on Townsend Street will be razed and replaced with modern buildings.

It may not be next year. Members of the City Council do not expect it to be in 1945, as a matter of fact, but they do know that the old plant has outlived its utility and it will not be tolerated much longer.

These were off the record comments Monday night, but they are just as obvious to the main streeter as they are to the manufacturers committee or even to the works manager of the big electric plant.

Council granted C. G. E. permission to erect a temporary wooden building, 70 x 16', for the storage of some parts of the kiln equipment while some of the flooring is being relaid. The motion by Alderman Cotton was seconded by Alderman Curtis.

"How are you going to square yourselves wtih John Dewart," Alderman Mark asked, referring to the council's refusal to approve the original permit sought by Dewart Brothers for an addition to their cereal plant at the foot of Simcoe Street. Permission was given when the specifications were changed.

"This is only a temporary building" several members replied together.

"How long is it to be temporary?" City Engineer Parsons asked.

The answer seemed to be around two years at the least.

On The Target

AT 21ST ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS, Dec. 12 — (CP-Reuter). — A terrific explosion followed the bombing of V-2 launching cars at Leiden Station in Holland yesterday.

After 1,000-pounders and 500-pounders had been rained down on the target, pilots saw "an enormous orange explosion and pea-soup debris." A second attack was made on the target in the afternoon.

Second Woman Attacked On Sherbrooke St.

Police were notified Monday night of an attack on another Peterborough woman on Saturday night, shortly before a man grabbed Mrs. Frank Allore, 480 Sherbrooke street, as she was walking along that street toward her home. John Herbert Maloney, 148 Park street, was arrested Saturday night on a charge of having assaulted Mrs. Allore.

The other victim was Miss Terry Ryan, 291 Rubidge street, who was walking south on Rubidge street in the direction of her home when she was attacked by a youth who seized her wrist and also caught her by the hair. Miss Ryan fought off her assailant and at the same time screamed for help. Occupants of nearby houses who heard her cries came to the rescue and chased the attacker south on Rubidge street but were unable to catch him.

Because of illness in the family Miss Ryan did not report the incident to the police until Monday night

Ross Richards Injured When Truck Overturns

Fast scrambling by Ross Richards of Havelock, out of the cab of his truck on its first overturn down a 75-foot drop at the Nepheline mine at the east end of Stoney Lake, Monday morning, presumably saved him from some further degree of injury beyond the hurts which required his removal to St. Joseph's Hospital. He is not seriously injured it was reported this morning.

It was believed the truck snapped its steering gear, rolled to the edge of the level approach area, and tumbled down the decline. In some way Mr. Richards, managed to roll out of he cab on its first flip.

Regains Seat

LONDON, Dec. 12.—(CP-Reuter.) —Home Secretary Herbert Morrison has regained the seat he lost last year on the Labor party executive and another new member will be Aneurin Bevin, Welsh miner and bitter government critic in the House of Commons, it was announced to-day.

HOME ON FURLOUGH—OS. Earl Gillespie, RCNVR, of HMCS Montcalm in Quebec, is spending a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gillespie, 176½ Simcoe street. Prior to enlisting in March, 1944, he worked at the Dominion Woollens, Ltd.

Board Has Withheld Approval For Sewer

Ontario Municipal Board has withheld approval of construction of a sewer on Wolsley street, a northern boundary, obviously mistaking it for one of the streets within the city. The length of the proposed sewer is 241 feet, which the Board assumed to represent six forty-foot lots on each side. The petition to the council was signed by three of the four owners of lots on the south side of the street. The north side is Smith township. The Board asked for "evidence of two more houses being required within a year."

The council decided that City Clerk Outram could explain the boundary circumstance to the Board and again point out that three of the four affected property owners signed the city's petition, but also that several of the residents on the Smith side are also interested.

Babies In Demand

TORONTO Dec. 12 — (CP). — B. W. Heise, Ontario Deputy Welfare Minister, has approved adoption papers for 12,139 babies in the past 18 years, and last night said he has far more applications at present than he has babies. In Toronto alone there is a waiting list of 300 childless couples.

Young Airman Wed 2 Weeks Killed In Crash

Married to a Peterborough girl just a little over two weeks ago, Flying Officer Frank A. Sorensen, Royal Australian Air Force, was instantly killed at Lachine, when R.A.F. Ferry Command Mitchell B-25 bomber crashed into the St. Lawrence River, Sunday.

Flying Officer Sorensen who was the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Sorensen, Australia, was married in George Street United Church here on Saturday, November 25 to Iris Marion Kerr, daughter of Mrs. Flora H. Kerr, Benson Avenue, and the late D. A. Kerr.

The young couple had gone to Westmount to take up residence. Flying Officer Sorensen was a member of the staff of the R.A.F. Bomber Command and was one of a party of three airmen who took off from the airport at Dorval on training manoeuvres on Sunday afternoon. Soon after taking to the air the plane was seen to be in trouble. As it lost altitude over Lachine the pilot made an effort to turn back to the airport but was unable to gain the necessary altitude. Then rather than crash in the town and bring injury or death to some of its residents the pilot swung his machine back over the St. Lawrence and it plunged into the river.

Word of the death of Flying Officer Sorensen came in a telephone message Monday to Rev. Dr. James Semple of George Street United Church who had officiated at the wedding ceremony two weeks ago Saturday, and it was from Flying Officer J. R. McSherry, R.C.A.F., who was best man at the wedding here.

Mrs. Kerr, mother-in-law of the dead flier left today for Montreal.

Lt. J. Campbell War Prisoner

Word has been received that Lieut. John Campbell, reported missing October 17, is now a prisoner of war in Germany. He is the son of Mrs. J. A. Campbell, 710 George street.

Although his card and letter gave no indication of how he came to be captured, they contained the reassuring message that he was physically well and had not been wounded. Although he enlisted with the Highlanders, he was with the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry when he was captured.

Six weeks before he was reported a casualty, his younger brother Bill, with the RCAF, was listed as missing and no word of him has been received as yet.

Want It Stopped

TORONTO Dec. 12 — (CP). — The Toronto Labor Council last night approved a resolution urging the Canadian Congress of Labor to ask the Canadian Government "to use its influence with the British Government to stop hostilities in Greece immediately" and give the Greeks the right to elect a government without interference.

On Labor Board

OTTAWA. Dec. 12 — (CP). — Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Minister of Labor and director of National Selective Service, has been appointed by the government to the governing body of the international Labor office, it was announced yesterday from the office of Labor Minister Mitchell.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, December 13

PLANETARY aspects for this day sound a note of precaution and conservatism in the use of all resources, material, energies and talents. There is a sharp proclivity toward lavishness, imprudence and extravagance, which might be at the roots of future regrets, reversals and recriminations. There is threat of impending loss of credit or standing, or of a demand for a liberal use of funds not available.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves beset by a vivid temptation to squander the funds and resources on enjoyments, parties, excesses or other forms of indulgence. There is hint of an approaching need for assets and sound credit for current emergencies, lack of which may contribute to regrets and sorrows as well as loss of prestige and financial stability. Loyalty and devotion to obligations pay better dividends in the long run. Take sound advice.

A child born on this day may have tendencies to reckless and improvident use of its resources, particularly on parties or on imposition of alleged friends.

DIVORCE NOT A MAGIC PANACEA

A Divorcee is A Married Woman With a Different Status

THE GIRLS who are rushing so blithely and light-heartedly into marriage nowadays with strange men with whom they have hardly a bowing acquaintance, justify their rash act by saying that if, when their husbands come back from the war, they find they have lost their tastes for them, or they don't like their looks, or some other lad has hit their fickle fancies, they won't stick it. They will get divorces. Everybody will be doing it, and last year's wedding ring will be as outmoded as last year's hat.

Not a Shriller of the Moment

In the meantime it is exciting to have a hurry-up, furlough wedding, and they enjoy having the spotlight that is turned on a war-bride, and the allowance they get from their husbands' pay certainly does come in handy in helping them to buy prettier clothes than they have ever had before in which to keep up the morale of servicemen by flirting with them. So, as they regard their marriages as one of the new-fangled quickies instead of the old-fashioned until-death-do-us-part affairs, why bother investigating the man's record, or looking too closely into their own hearts?

Of course, they think, there is always Reno and plenty of way-stations along the road at which they can get off if they find the matrimonial road tiresome. But, as a matter of fact, divorces are not so easy to get, nor are they magic panacea for all the ills of life which women popularly believe them to be.

This illusion that there is some conjure in a decree absolute that changes even a plain, ordinary girl, with no vestige of a come-hither look in her eyes, into a siren who can marry as early and often as she pleases, is universally held by the women who have annexed husbands during the height of the war marriage hysteria, but it has no basis in fact. Men like to play around with pretty divorcees, but they are not strong on marrying them, for men like the okay of their sex on a woman and are apt to think that the wife who couldn't get along with one husband might not hit it off with another.

Undeniably there will be a great shortage of eligible men after the war. Also there will be a large and luscious crop of buds that have been maturing during the past few years just coming into full bloom who will present plenty of competition to wives. So it will behoove every woman who has a good husband to hang on to him, even if he has ceased to look like the hero of her girlish dreams.

Another thing that any woman who is planning to swap partners after the war will do well to remember is that divorce doesn't blot out the past. It doesn't change her into a girl again. She is a married woman with a different status. She can no longer do the things with impunity that she used to do. She can't go back and fit herself into her parents home again. She can't break her relationship with her husband without there being hurts given and taken that never heal. There will always be memories that bless, or burn.

And what is going to prevent divorce from being the easy solution of a foolish war marriage will be the little helpless chidren who will stand between many a mother and the freedom she craves.

Crook—O'Keefe

A marriage of interest was solemnized in St. Michael's Cathedral Toronto, on Saturday, when Pauline Frances O'Keefe, Reg.N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. O'Keefe, 68 Lansdowne street, became the bride of Pilot Officer N. J. Crook, D.F.C., R.C.A.F., son of Mrs. Annie McKaffrey of Toronto and the late John Crook.

For the ceremony, the bride chose a street-length pale blue crepe dress, with navy accessories, and a corsage of gardenias. She was attended by Miss Beatrice Quinn, Reg.N., of Toronto, in a rose dress, with black accessories, and an orchid corsage. John Crook, brother of the groom, was best man.

Following a wedding dinner at the King Edward Hotel, the young couple left for a wedding trip to Montreal. On their return they plan to make their home in Toronto.

Pte. Ray Cockerill Weds H. Harding

A quiet marriage was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Harding, 260 Euclid avenue Monday afternoon, when Helen Doreen Harding, their eldest daughter, became the bride of Pte. Raymond Martin Cockerill, stationed at Camp Borden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Cockerill, 650 Park street. Major John Wood of the Salvation Army officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a street-length delphinium blue wool ensemble, with square neckline accented with bows, and buttoned down the front with tiny gold but-

She was attended by Miss Doris Cockerill, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid, in a two-piece powder blue crepe frock, with black accessories and a corsage of red roses. Arthur Harding, brother of the bride, was best man.

At the reception, held following the ceremony, the bride's mother received the guests in a powder blue ensemble, with black accessories, and a corsage of white 'mums. The groom's mother was gowned in a two-piece black dress, trimmed with sequins, black accessories, and a corsage of white 'mums.

Pte. Cockerill and Mrs. Cockerill will make their home on Charlotte street. The bridesmaid received a make-up kit, and the groomsman a cigarette case.

CWL Reviews Month's Work

The December meeting of St. Peter's Catholic Women's League was held Monday evening. Activities of the past month included a successful Christmas fair, clothing sent to a northern parish, assistance given to local families, knitting and sewing done for the Red Cross, for men in the services and for children at the Orphanage, a spiritual bouquet and cigarettes sent to our chaplain overseas for his men, and arrangements completed for a Christmas tree for the Orphanage children.

Donations approved included $25 to the Merchant Marine, $10 to the British War Victims' Fund, $5 to the Milk for Britain Fund. It was also decided to make a presentation to the Redemptorist Fathers of some article for the chapel in their new home in Peterborough.

At the conclusion of the meeting a wool blanket was drawn for and won by Mrs. J. W. Yokum, 658 Aylmer street.

Roseneath Boy Has Birthday

ROSENEATH, Dec. 12 — (ENS). — Mr. and Mrs. Corelli Thackeray entertained for their grandson Neil Adams on his 7th birthday at a duck supper, followed by an evening of progressive euchre. The table was centered with a cake and candles.

Prizes at euchre were won by Frank Adams and the guest of honor.

Those present included Rex Crego Reginald Timlin, Blair Thackeray, Trevor Mouncey, Donn Adams, Murray Thackeray, Perry Brisbin, Royce Timlin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams and the son and daughter-in-law of the house, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Thackeray.

Family Locket Worn By Bride

A quiet wedding of interest took place recently in the rectory of the Anglican Church in Paris, when Charles Elmer Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Young, of Harwood, took as his bride Margaret Grace Grandine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Grandine, R.R. 1, Paris. Rev. H. Charlton officiated.

For the ceremony, the bride chose a powder blue wool jersey ensemble, with a corsage of pink roses. Her only ornament was a heart-shaped locket which had been worn by three brides in the family. She was attended by her cousin, Mrs. Sanford Shantz, as matron of honor, wearing a gold wool frock, and a corsage of American Beauty roses. Sanford Shantz was best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where pink and white 'mums and tall white tapers formed effective decorations. The bride's table, set with lace cloth, was centred with her tiered wedding cake.

For a wedding trip to Toronto and Harwood, the bride donned a grey squirrel topcoat over her wedding ensemble, and wore a black felt hat, with blue feather trim, and matching black accessories.

18 New Members Join Sodality

Eighteen new members were received into the St. Peter's Sodality at their regular meeting on Sunday, when Rev. F. Marrocco pointed out to the new Sodalists their new duties which membership involved.

The new members are as follows: Misses May Lindsay, Rita Lorenz, Betty Schiarizza, Lois Nolan, Mamie Sullivan, Mary Fair, Geresa Stewart, Gladys Murphy, Mary Cauley, Gertrude Ryan, Irma Lorenz, Joan Wade, Isabel Hunt, Betty O'Leary, Gertrude Cadeau, Joan Cavanagh, Betty O'Halloran, Jeanette Downer.

Following the reception, a short business meeting was conducted, to discuss plans for a Christmas entertainment.

Sage-Crawford Vows Pledged

St. John's Church, Lakefield, was the setting for a pretty wedding when Jean Lenore Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crawford of Smith, became the bride of Pte. George Felmore Sage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sage, also of Smith. Rev. S. A. R. Wood officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. Twist was at the organ, and accompanied Miss Mabel Coombe when she sang "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a floor-length gown of white sheer, with lace yoke, long sleeves, and shirred waistline. Her finger-tip veil of white net was caught to her head with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Verena Dunford was her only attendant, in floor-length pink sheer with gathered waist and long sleeves. Her finger-tip veil of pink net was caught with rose buds, and she carried red roses.

Miss Isobel Coons, niece of the bride, was a dainty flower girl in pink sheer, with a matching net veil caught with pink roses. She carried red roses. Jack Sage was best man, and the ushers were Gordon Messervey and Charles Crawford.

Because of the blocked roads, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Garbutt, neighbours of the bride and her family, opened their spacious home for the reception. The bride's mother received the guests in a two-piece navy suit, with black accessories, and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore brown crepe, with matching accessories, and a corsage of red roses. Assisting the hostess were Misses Isobel Miller and Gertrude Dunford.

Professor Finds Empire Force for Peace

In speaking before the University Women's Club Monday evening in the Y.W.C.A., on the subject, "Canada, and Its Position in the British Commonwealth", Dr. George Brown, professor of history at the Universtiy of Toronto, stressed the importance to the world of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

"Had the commonwealth not hung together in the dark days of 1940 when France fell, it is my profound conviction that the course of the war would have been changed", stated Professor Brown. "The possibility of world domination by Germany at that moment was very imminent."

"It is not merely sentiment which holds this association of nations together. The Commonwealth is an instrument which can help bring about a wider and more genuine and effective internationalism" he went on. He believes that people to-day are living in a period of very important changes—a challenging period, out of which great things may come.

"One great change wrought by the war," he said, "is the shift in the balance of force in the world, which has brought Canada into the very centre of the international scene. Canada is the only country in the world in immediate proximity to the three great powers," he continued.

He thinks that Canada is perhaps the leader of the minor powers next to the great powers, Britain, the United States, and Russia, and that Canada is just underneath the "Big Three," in industrial capacity, and naval and air power. In conclusion, Dr. Brown spoke confidently and hopefully of a new world in the future, where "war will be obsolete as tribal feuds."

Showers Given Mrs. R. Cockerill

Prior to her marriage Monday afternoon, Mrs. R. M. Cockerill, formerly Helen Doreen Harding, was entertained on several occasions by friends and fellow workers. Mrs. M. Temple, 94 Cameron street, was hostess for a miscellaneous shower in her honor, and Mrs. T. Mills, 180½ Simcoe street, entertained at a joint bathroom and kitchen shower for the bride.

Mrs. F. Smith, 239 Lake street, aunt of the groom, opened her home for a linen shower, when the guest of honor received many lovely and useful gifts. Her fellow employees at the Bonner-Worth presented Mrs. Cockerill with a bedspread, as a wedding present.

At the wedding reception, held following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, the rooms were decorated in pink and white, the bride's colors, and the tea table was centred with her large wedding cake, flanked by pink tapers in crystal holders.

Circle Holds Candle Service

Mrs. H. T. Rehill, Dalhousie street, was hostess for the December meeting of the Living Link Mission Circle of Trinity United Church, on Monday evening. Following a short business period, the president, Miss Mignon Mayneord, turned the meeting over to Misses Doris Taylor and Elizabeth Elliott.

Miss Taylor led in the devotions, and the girls of the two losing groups in the copper contest conducted a beautiful candle light service. Those taking part were Misses Grace Sargent, Ruth Taylor, Alfreda Skenfield, Jessie Colling and Elizabeth Elliott. Miss Jean McIlwain accompanied on her guitar for the singing of Christmas carols.

Members of Miss Elliott's group and Miss Taylor's group served refreshments at the close of the evening.

IMPORTANT EVENING ENSEMBLE—The long slim dress, its decollete discreetly covered by a matching bolero, is very much in evidence on smart winter evenings. Designer Joseph Halpert used black silk crepe for this graceful ensemble, the sleeveless dress made with softly gathered bodice. The short bolero has long sleeves and is trimmed with Slavic ball fringe. Utterly simple, relying on its perfect cut for elegance and smartness.—By Alice Alden.

Home and School Association News

KING EDWARD

Members of the Home and School Association of King Edward School enjoyed a pleasant and friendly get-together Monday evening, when they gathered for a Christmas program and Christmas music, at their regular meeting.

Mrs. H. Turner was in charge of the program, which opened with a singsong of Christmas carols, with Mrs. G. Wallace at the piano. J. French, of CHEX, entertained with several selections on his harmonica, and D. T. Crawford read a poem from "Alice in Wonderland." The remainder of the evening was spent in games and contests, climaxed by the appearance of Harold Fife as Santa Claus, distributing candy.

The devotional period, in two parts, was presented by six members of the Mission Band of St. James' United church, directed by Miss Freda McMahon. They were Misses Mary Hunter, June Buller and Donna Bristow, and Ronald Wallace, Ray Harris and Bobby Keating.

It was announced that a tea and shower for the "Save the Children Fund" would be held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. Addyman, 88 Lansdowne street. The January meeting will be in charge of the Health committee, convened by Mrs. F. Cox. Mrs. G. MacMillan moved the vote of thanks to all who had taken part in the program, and refreshments were served by Mrs. G. Stevens and her committee.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Today we will have a few recipes for cooking and serving fish. Some people when they have fish left over from a meal, throw it out. There are several ways left-over fish can be made up, so that no one would know that it was a left-over. Try these recipes some day and see if your family will ever dream that the fish was left over from the first day of serving.

Boned Herrings.

6 large herrings, pepper, salt, parsley, vinegar and 6 slices of buttered toast. Select fish with roes. Split, wash, scape and remove heads, roe, and backbone. Sprinkle generously with pepper, salt and minced parsley, then roll each piece tightly, beginning with the neck. Tie with a string. Put into boiling water that is seasoned with pepper, salt and vinegar, and simmer 10 to 15 minutes. Cut the roe in pieces and fry. Place the fish and roe on buttered toast. Garnish and serve.

Salmon Puffs.

2 cups cooked fresh or canned salmon, salt and pepper, ½ cup soft

British Lost Heavily Early In War

LONDON, Dec. 12 (CP)—Foreign Secretary Eden disclosed in the House of Commons today British forces had suffered 40,000 casualties and had lost nearly 500 aircraft in fighting to free Greece and Crete since the beginning of the war.

Most of the casualties—killed, wounded, prisoners and those missing—were suffered in 1941 when Britain launched an unsuccessful expedition into Greece and was forced to evacuate Crete.

In addition, Mr. Eden said the Royal Navy had suffered heavily—losing five cruisers, 13 destroyers, three submarines, one sloop and 47 minor vessels.

Three battleships were badly damaged, he said, along with one escort carrier, 12 cruisers, 10 destroyers, one corvette, three submarines and a number of smaller ships.

"It must be remembered that in those days we were all alone against a victorious Germany and Italy and in dire peril," Mr. Eden said.

One member suggested the British Commonwealth had taken by far the greater part in the liberation of Greece.

"I don't think there has ever been any question of that anywhere," replied Mr. Eden.

Pressed for a report on casualties since the new British landing in Greece, Mr. Eden said "if you are referring to the present fighting that is going on in Athens I have no detailed figures at present but I understand that the casualty figures are, happily, very small"

German Bomb Traps 182 Men

LONDON, Dec. 12.—(CP-Reuter.)—A direct hit by a German bomb on the boiler house of Betteshanger colliery, Kent, trapped 182 miners in the workings for more than 17 hours during a raid April 26, 1942, it now can be disclosed.

The telephone at the warden's post in the mining colony at Deal remained connected with the men below, who were able to talk with their wives who flocked to the post.

The men were in no danger during their long wait. Food and water were sent down to them, and they were rescued eventually when alternative shaft machinery began operating.

Two men working in the demolished boiler-house were killed.

21st Army Group Takes 223,538 Huns

AT 21ST ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS, Dec. 12 (CP-Reuter)—Latest total of prisoners taken by Field Marshal Montgomery's 21st Army Group since D-Day, was announced today at 223,538, an increase of 803 over the previous total issued two weeks ago.

The 1st Canadian Army and the British 2nd Army now comprise the 21st Army group. Prisoners taken by French forces of the Interior operating with the two armies were included in the total.

DOES SUPER JOB

SOUTHAMPTON, England — (CP). — From D-Day to Sept. 23, 1,002,955 tons of cargo were handled by the Southern Railway's docks here. Train ferries from here to Cherbourg completed 65 return trips in the same period.

"EASY ON THE HOT WATER!" — Heating engineers have estimated that families can waste up to a third of a ton of coal a year through needless use of running hot water. This young lady is alive to her responsibility and is earnestly doing her bit by washing her hands with only a few inches of water in the wash basin.

cited a number of large estates in Peterborough which had been handled by trust companies, such as T. J. Lundy, $327,781; B. F. Ackerman, $491,995; W. J. Morrow, $1,062,000; William Mervin, $61,799; R. M. Waddell, $774,746 and in Brighton the Sam Nesbitt estate of $202,531. Trust companies canvass for will business from house to house, paying a local solicitor to draw the will. Where an estate was held 25 to 30 years for grandchildren, the proceeds for the trust companies would amount into large figures.

Mr. Gordon then referred to legislation of New York State which prevented large corporations from practising law and cited other legislation in the border states designed to protect the legal profession from encroachment. In Peterborough, doctors and business men were canvassed by companies engaged in collection of debts and often fees were charged which were in excess of those charged by lawyers. During the course of his remarks he said that there were 1,485 lawyers outside of Toronto, 1,127 in Toronto, 319 King's Counsel and 215 on active service.

Mr. Gordon said that in a province like Ontario the K.C. commissions should be abolished. Some time ago all police magistrates, who were lawyers, were appointed K.C.'s and this was unfair to the younger members of the profession, many of whom were just as good, if not better, than many of the older members who had King's Counsel to their names.

"Give the younger members of the bar a chance and not hold over them a discriminating handicap which they do not deserve," declared Mr. Gordon.

Stress Cooperation

Harry Deyman of Cobourg informed the gathering that at the local Bar Association meeting early this year a thorough discussion had occurred in connection with trust companies and a resolution had been forwarded to the Trust Company Association in Toronto, the suggestion to the trust companies being that local solicitors be retained in will cases. It was felt that cooperation with the trust companies was the best method of handling the situation, Mr. Deyman recalled.

"It might develop into a case of the larger gobbling up the smaller," J. A. Bradshaw of Peterborough said. He went on to say that in the case of the Ackerman estate it had dwindled from the amount cited by Mr. Gordon to some $200,000 because of the fact that its profits during the 30 years in which it had been handled were not enough to pay the costs of handling by the trust company with the result that some of the assets had to be sold. He referred to a case where a woman had sworn to incorrect statements made in connection with succession duties handled by a non-lawyer through lack of knowledge of the situation, and she finally had to see a lawyer to get the tangle straightened out.

Judge German declared that about every line of business was protected except the legal profession. He wondered if the lawyers, given the desired protection, would be willing to give up work which encroached on insurance and real estate dealers. Discussion on that point resulted in a decision to cross that bridge when they came to it.

Suggest Fund

Judge German then brought up the matter of bonding lawyers. Referring to Manitoba, Mr. Deyman said that a central fund had been established there, instead of bonding, to take care of any defalcation which occurred. Such a fund did away with the expense of paying a premium for bonding. Mr. Gordon thought that some 2,700 lawyers in Ontario could very easily set up such a fund. It would be a protection for the public which would be well-received by the legislators, he declared.

Mr. Willes Chitty of Toronto, president of the York County Bar Association, and editor of the Fortnightly Law Journal, recollected that there had been only a few cases in the province of defalcation. The fund originally was established in New Zealand, then by Australia; Manitoba and Alberta in Canada and also was adopted by Great Britain. In Alberta the cost was $25 a year and in Manitoba, $10.

"Here in Ontario at $10 it would mean $27,000", remarked Judge German.

Mr. Chitty thought that about $2,000 to $3,000 was the average a year in the past five years. Out of this discussion came a motion, sponsored by Mr. Gordon and Mr. Deyman that the meeting recommend the setting up of such a fund for the purposes outlined. This would cover defalcations but not losses through negligence.

Insurance Coverage

Insurance covering claims from negligence of lawyers was next studied with Mr. Chitty expressing the opinion that it was not required. The meeting referred it to a committee to look into it further. The question of a uniform tariff of fees resolved itself into two lines of thought. Some members felt that one tariff might cover all cases but others were of the opinion that a man in a smaller centre where overhead was lower could not expect to charge the fees of the big city lawyers with heavier operating costs.

Charles Payne of Belleville suggested that each association carry on with its own scale and in this he was endorsed by J. C. Anderson of Lindsay and Ross Strike of Bowmanville. Mr. Chitty said that a two-tariff scale might work out. Mr. Fred C. Richardson of Cobourg asked Mr. Chitty if there was any progress being made in regard to an upward revision of county court tariff. Mr. Chitty replied that the Benchers and Bar Association had approached the rules committee in regard to raising the tariff for preparation for trial and counsel fees but the rules committee had expired before this was carried out, although there had been a promise that it would be done. As a new committee had not been appointed, nothing had been done. The Benchers had been opposed to members of the Bar sitting on the Rules Committee and he suggested that the present meeting send on a recommendation favoring the appointment of members of the Bar to this committee. Later this was embodied in a resolution which carried.

Mr. Gordon opened the discussion on alimony and divorce actions and the proposal that they be taken out of the hands of Supreme Court and handled instead by county court judges. In connection with alimony, Mr. Gordon declared, an action would be held up three months for a Supreme Court sittings and if the judge had his list filled up it went over to a later hearing, and by the time it came up the witnesses would be scattered all over and the result was a heavy financial burden on the litigants. County judges could easily handle it, he declared.

As for divorce actions, continued Mr. Gordon, county judges were just as well qualified to handle them as Supreme Court judges. Cases of lesser importance in connection with domestic disputes, could easily be handled by magistrates instead of burdening them on county judges.

Need Dominion Act

Mr. Chitty pointed out that the only jurisdictional body that could do it would be the Dominion parliament as it had delegated that authority in the first instance to the Supreme Court. It would required a Dominion Act to pass it on to the county court, he said. As for alimony cases it might be possible to delegate their trial to a county judge's court, Mr. Chitty said.

F. D. Kerr, K.C., of Peterborough agreed with Mr. Gordon as to jurisdiction in alimony cases but he felt that divorce cases would be better handled the way they are now. Mr. Sheehy of Peterborough felt that special Supreme Court judges should be appointed to handle divorce work, leaving alimony to county court. Charles Payne suggested that if it were a quick alimony action it could be handled by the magistrate under the Deserted Wives and Maintenance Act. With this Mr. Deyman did not agree. A magistrate often felt that a man in jail was no good by way of support to his wife. After the suggestion had been thoroughly discussed, Mr. Gordon's motion carried.

Before the session closed, the Association members passed a resolution favoring publicity and advertising to properly acquaint the public of the important service which was provided for them by the legal profession. There was also some comment on past-war rehabilitation of returned men who had been law students or lawyers before they enlisted.

The meeting closed with a brief discussion by Mr. Kerr of Peterborough of the public feeling towards the legal profession and of the necessity of showing the public that the lawyer was interested in the welfare of the public as well as his own interests.

Simplify Rules Of Laying-Off

A new regulation designed to simplify the laying off of workers in war plants which have completeed war contracts was announced to-day by A. MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service.

The ruling, which is one of several recent amendments to National Selective Service Civilian Regulations, gives the director authority to withdraw the "designated establishment" classification from any such plant or industry. Workers may then be released, upon being given the usual seven days' notice in writing or six days' pay, without the employer having to obtain the written permission from a Selective Service official for the release of each indivdual employee.

It is believed the new amendment will speed up lay-off procedure, and will help workers to take over other important work without undue loss of time. Where such lay-offs occur, Selective Service officers will as usual be on hand to help place employees in other jobs for which they are suited.

Seven Days' Written Notice.

The new amendments also provide that an employer must give seven days' written notice or six days' wages or pay, in lieu of notice, to any employee being discharged, except in certain cases—including cases where the employee has been on the payroll for a period of less than one month or has been employed at building construction work.

During any such period of notice of separation, the employer must provide work and the employee must perform his work for the prescribed time. If an employer is convicted of contravening the regulations, the court may require him to pay the employee wages for a period up to but not exceeding six days. Additional penalties, in the form of fines and court costs, may also be imposed.

The term "Victory Holiday" is defined in the amendments as a day "proclaimed or declared a holiday by the Government of Canada or a province of Canada or by a municipality to mark or celebrate the cessation of hostilities in any theatre of war." A victory holiday may also be declared by any employer to celebrate an armistice. In any case, a victory holiday may not be counted among the seven days required for written notice or the six days required for payment of wages at the termination of employment.

De Marigny Will Go To England

HAVANA, Dec. 12.—(AP)— Alfred de Marigny and his wife, the former Nancy Oakes, are leaving Havana, where they found refuge after he was forced to leave Nassau, Bahamas, under the threat of deportation a year ago.

De Marigny, acquitted in Nassau last year of a charge of murder in connection with the death of his father-in-law, Sir Harry Oakes, wealthy Canadian mining magnate, will go to London, where he hopes his wife will join him in the spring. He was denied a visa to enter the United States.

Mrs. De Marigny left yesterday for Palm Beach, Fla., to visit her mother, Lady Oakes. She plans to go from there to New York for a stay of several months. De Marigny said he hopes to engage in war work tin London. Born in the British colony of Mauritius, he is a British subject.

England Moves To Recast School System

By JOHN DAUPHINEE,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Dec. 12 —(CP) — The first emergency training school for teachers now has been opened and many more will be operating early in the new year as England and Wales move toward full implementatio of the 1944 Education Act—termed by Education Minister R. A. Butler a "complete recasting" of the school system.

Similar legislation for Scotland now is before the Commons.

A critical teacher shortage, coupled with lack of schools has delayed for at least a year the raising of the school-leaving age from 14 to 15, one of the main features of the bill.

The government's plan is to set up dozens of special colleges where an estimated 70,000 men and women can be given 12-months to 18-month teacher-training courses, supplementing the flow of instructors from normal schools and universities. Enrolment priority is being given to ex-members of the services and war industry workers.

Many schools were destroyed or damaged in the blitz or by buzz-bombs. Schools repairs and construction have been put on equal, over-riding priority with housing for manpower and materials.

To modernize school facilities, building regulations have been issued by the government, setting out general standards common to all primary and secondary schools. New buildings will be as up-to-date as the most modern school buildings in Canada. Spacious playgrounds will be provided and each school must have a separate lunch-room. Classes must be held to a maximum of 30 in primary grades, and 30 in secondary grades and nursery rooms.

The new regulations, like most of the Education Act, come into effect next April 1. The first year additional cost of the reforms is set at £5,500,000 (about $24,750,000), increasing to £80,000,000 a year ($360,000,000) by 1955 when it is expected the leaving age will have been jumped again, to 16.

Better pay for British teachers is in prospect.

Canadians Aid Sub Slaughter

LONDON, Dec. 12 (CP)—Canada's secret naval war that preceded and complemented the invasion of Normandy is a secret no longer.

In an exclusive story in London's Evening Standard, Naval Correspondent Gordon Holman has told how Canadian and British craft teamed up to bring off the greatest mass U-Boat slaughter in history, with slight casualties to themselves. Outstanding loss for Canada was the sinking of HMCS Athabaskan in the early stage of the fight.

The operation was tremendous in scope, lengthy, and eminently successful.

First phase of the campaign was to seal off the English channel so U-Boat forces in the French ports could not be reinforced. The second consisted of destroying the U-Boats already in the French ports, and the third was the convoying of the tremendous invasion armadas as they moved with freight-train regularity to the Continent.

Only one of the big ships taking troops and supplies to the front was lost.

Patriots Rise To Oust Huns From Budapest

LONDON, Dec. 12—(CP)—Fighting between Hungarian patriots and German soldiers through the barricaded streets of Budapest was reported here today as Soviet forces hammered at the gates of the Capital.

Archduke Robert, brother of the pretender to the Austro-Hungarian throne, said the advices reaching him from Hungary described Budapest as "a city of chaos, with patriot forces emerging from underground and battling the Germans in various sections of the Capital."

Unconfirmed Stockholm reports quoted recent arrivals from Budapest as saying patriots held sections of the working class districts in the city.

A Berlin broadcast of a German war reporter's dispatch from Budapest said the Captial had been under heavy Russian artillery fire for 30 hours.

The Nazi-controlled Hungarian radio announced that arrests and executions were being carried out against members of the resistance forces.

An admission that Hungarian army officers were deserting, joining the resistance movement also was made by the Hungarian radio in reporting the execution of Lt.-Gen. Janos Kiss, Col. Jeno Nagy and three others The radio said Kiss had directed the organization of the Hungarian front movement on military lines.

A German broadcast said barbed-wire entanglements had been erected throughout Budapest, "and the nailed boots of the sentries ring out on the asphalt"

Archduke Robert said "the best available information I have gives the organized patriot strength in the capital at about 15,000 to 20,000.

Wheezing in the Chest Points to Bronchitis

The principal symptom of bronchitis is a dry, harsh, hacking cough accompanied by a rapid wheezing and tightness across the chest.

There is a raising of phlegm, especially in the morning. This phlegm is at first of a light colour, but as the trouble progresses becomes yellowish or greenish.

You may find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy to help stimulate the weakened bronchial organs, relieve the inflammation, soothe the irritated parts, loosen the phlegm and mucous, and aid nature to easily dislodge the morbid accumulation.

Price 35c a bottle; the large family size, about 3 times as much, 60c, at all drug counters.

Smith Couple 50 Years Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Falls of Smith township entertained their family and immediate relatives at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Gordon Hancock. It was the occasion of their fiftieth wedding anniversary, and about forty-five guests sat down to a sumptuous dinner. The head table was centred with a three-storey wedding cake, flanked on either side with tall white candles in silver candelabra. Large bouquets of Ophelia roses graced the other tables.

Mr. and Mrs. Falls have four children: Mrs. Edmund Morrison, Mrs. Gordon Hancock, Mrs. Clarence McIlmoyle, and Mrs. George Middleton, and ten grandchildren. Two sisters of Mrs. Falls, Mrs. Fred Staples and Mrs. Wilbur Barnard, and two brothers of Mr. Falls, George and James Falls, were able to be present.

An old-time sing-song led by Willard Lord, nephew, was one of the highlights of the evening, when Fred Staples acted as pianist.

The bride of the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Barnard and Mrs. Fred Staples sang "The Old Rugged Cross," accompanied by Mr. Fred Staples. The same quartette has delighted many audiences in bygone days with their musical talents in Millbrook.

Among the many lovely gifts received, cards, flowers, books, was a beautiful clock with chimes by the family, a large basket of bronze chrysanthemums by the ten grandchildren, a silver cream and sugar set by the ladies of Lily Lake Women's Association, of which Mrs. Falls is a member. A substantial sum of money was the gift of the brothers and sisters of the happy couple.

Guests from Port Hope, Toronto, Oakwood, Bailieboro and Garden Hill came to enjoy the celebration.

Their relatives, friends and Smith community wish Mr. and Mrs. Falls more happy years of comradeship and useful service, and another season of continued good health and prosperity.

bread crumbs, a tablespoon lemon juice, 3 eggs. Remove the skin and bones from the salmon, if fresh (or you can use left-over salmon from the day before or canned salmon, when it can be had). Chop the meat fine and add salt, white pepper, soft bread crumbs, lemon juice (or vinegar) and egg yolks. Mix thoroughly, add the well-beaten egg whites and place in six or eight oiled cups, filling the cups full. Set the cups at once in a pan, containing hot water that comes to about one inch below the tops and bake for one half hour in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) Turn out on a hot platter, thrust a sprig of parsley or celery into the centre of each puff and pour any desired fish sauce around them.

Amount of Fish to Buy.

If the fish bought is solid flesh, 1-3 of a pound should be allowed for each person but if fish is bought in the round (with bones, head and tail) at least ½ pound must be bought for each person.

6 Peterboro Holsteins Named For Contest

Six Peterborough County Holsteins have been nominated for the third All-Canadian contest. Two are owned by Stewart Nelson, Keene, and one each by John E. Manley, J. T. Tully, N. W. McConkey and Stanley Wood, all of Peterborough. All were prize-winners at the Warkworth Championship Show. The Nelson nominees include Keendale Lodge Pietje Lass, who was Grand Champion at Warkworth after heading the four-year-olds. She is also a member of the first prize Progeny of Dam from Queen Ormsby Burke Anne that has also been nominated, Supreme Paul, who was Reserve Junior Champion for John Manley, is nominated in the Senior Yearling Bull Class; Otonabee Posch Sir Aaggie in the Junior Yearling Bull Class for J. T. Tully; Re-Echo May Burke, first prize Aged Cow and Reserve Grand Champion in the Aged Cow class for N. W. McConkey; and Donwood Betty Supreme in the two-year-old heifer class for Stanley Wood.

Altogether 89 animals owned by 62 breeders in six provinces of the Dominion have been nominated for the All-Canadian Contest. Of these nominees, 65 are owned in Ontario. A committee composed of the judges at the major 1944 Canadian shows will select from the nominated animals an All-Canadian and a Reserve All-Canadian in each class. Results will be announced early in January.

Flt. Lt. A. White Reported Missing

A winner of the Distinguished Flying Cross, Flight-Lieutenant Albert S. White, formerly of Peterborough, has been reported missing while on a routine flight in the Bay of Fundy area, December 6, according to information reaching his aunt, Mrs. Bessie Morrison, 197 Brock street. The young airman's wife and three-weeks-old daughter are living at Yarmouth, N.S.

FL. White was stationed at Penfield Ridge, New Brunswick, and was on a tour of instruction. He was doing night operations over the Bay of Fundy area.

FL. White was awarded the DFC for what his citation described as "exceptionally high qualities of ability and keenness...his diligence and loyalty have won for him the very high respect of his comrades."

FL. White is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. White, a Peterborough-born couple, now living at Windsor.

Man Who Turned In False Alarm Fined $25

Laverne Healey, 23, who pleaded guilty ten days ago to turning in a false alarm of fire from the box in front of Canada Packers was fined $25 without costs by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning.

His Worship said that in deciding to impose a fine he was taking into consideration the fact that the accused had been in jail for ten days and that he had had no previous record. Otherwise he intimated that there might have been a jail sentence instead of a fine.

John A. Bradshaw who appeared for Healey this morning said that the cause of the accused's conduct was that he had been drinking home-made wine. Defense Counsel, said that was not an excuse in law but that it might be considered an extenuating circumstance.

Three Motor Vehicles In Traffic Accident

Three motor vehicles were involved in a traffic accident on George Street near Rink Street, Monday.

Robert F. Gray, Stewart Street, driving a truck owned by the Fourman Farms, pulled into the curb on George Street to unload some Christmas trees.

Clarence Thackeray, Roseneath, who was driving north swung wide to avoid the truck and his car collided with a parked car, owned by H. J. Parnell, 193 River Road.

The standing machine and Thackeray's car were damaged by the impact.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

TWO WAYS TO FOIL RUFFS

ALL OF US usually think of one standard way to keep the defenders from making a damaging ruff against our suit contract. That is by drawing their trumps, so they have none left for ruffing purposes when the dangerous trick arrives. There is another, however, which is just as effective and which—better still—can sometimes prevent a ruff when the other method won't work. That is by taking an entry out of the hand of the particular defender early, so he can't lead to his partner for the lethal ruff.

West opened the 7 of his partner's first-bid clubs, the A winning and the returned club being taken by South's K.

To dummy went South with the diamond A for a heart lead, the 10 being taken by the K. Over to dummy again went South for a second heart lead. This time East came in with the A and switched to the spade 2, hoping to put West in if he had the K. West got that trick with the 10 and led a third diamond, which East ruffed for the side's fourth trick, setting the contract.

West had noticed East's 9 on the first diamond trick and his 3 on the second, completing a high-low echo for a come-on. South either had not noticed the 9 on the first diamond, or else didn't know what to do about it.

That high diamond should have warned him at once of his danger. If it had, and he knew his way about, he should have switched tactics immediately, leading a spade to the very next trick following one trump lead to his hand. That would have made it impossible then for West ever to have the lead after East became blank in diamonds, and so he could not have led one to East at the later stage when it would do some good. At that point, if East tried to put West in with a spade, the effort would have been futile, for South could have ruffed the trick.

Indians Object To Ordinance In South Africa

DURBAN, South Africa, Dec. 12—(CP Cable). — An important domestic issue has arisen in South Africa regarding the position of Indians in Natal Province, as affected by three ordinances recently passed by the Natal Provincial Council.

They are the residential-property regulation ordinance, the housing ordinance, and the expropriation ordinance.

The greatest exception has been taken by Indians to the residential ordinance, which provides for control by agreement between racial groups of the acquisition of fixed property everywhere in Natal. The three ordinances, in the opinion of the Natal Indian Congress, are instruments in a policy of racial zoning and segregation and in dealing with matters already covered by Union of South Africa legislation, it is contended, they conflict with Union statutes.

The Indian Congress says they are not in accord with the Pretoria agreement of last April. Drawn up at a conference of Natal officials with Indian representatives present this was an informal agreement governing infiltration of Indians. The Congress also said the ordinances make the Natal provincial administration a dealer in property.

To Curb Indians.

In a note to the Congress, Field-Marshal Smuts indicated that assent would be reserved regarding the residential ordinance. The Pegging Act—a measure passed in 1943 to halt Indians buying up the property in residential areas of Durban—which is to be repealed on the passing of the ordinance will remain temporarily in force while other ways of settlement are being explored. The Prime Minister's note said the ordinance is not in accordance with the Pretoria agreement which thus is dropped and can be considered as of no further effect.

He intimated that assent will be given at an early date to the housing and expropriation ordinances and added that the Government in its desire to see the "atmosphere of misunderstanding and suspicion" removed as soon as possible suggested the Indian community establish a small standing committee to improve relations between the authorities and the Indian community.

Commenting on this note, the Natal Indian Congress said the repudiation of the Pretoria agreement rests entirely on the shoulders of Field-Marshal Smuts and repudiation automatically released the Congress from its share in the Pretoria agreement.

The Smuts note added that as the Pretoria agreement failed in its object, it has become necessary to explore a settlement along other lines.

Catalinas Save 23 Allied Sailors

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Dec. 12. — (CP-Reuter) — Twenty-three American merchant seamen, victims of a midnight torpedo attack and temporary captives of a Japanese submarine which sank their ship, were rescued in the Indian ocean by three Ceylon-based Catalinas of the R.C.A.F., it was announced here to-day.

After spotting the burning ship the Catalinas circled ronnd the survivors and dropped life preservers, rafts and food. A naval sloop was directed to the sopt.

The submarine's commander ordered the survivors aboard, but submerged and abandoned them on sighting the planes which swooped to sea level to keep away man-eating sharks while the rescue was effected.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

Scouters Club

Once again the Park Hill group have come to the rescue and made their headquarters available for the Scouters Club meeting. The meeting will take place in the Dixon House, Wartime Housing, at 8 p.m. on Wednesday.

Every leader attending is requested to bring along a small gift, the price of which is not to exceed 25 cents. Two main items on the business agenda are the appointing of three representatives for the executive of the local Association and also the appointing of three members to the Camp Site committee. The final request is, please bring assistants along. It should be remembered that every officer in the Association, leader or assistant, is a member of the Scouters Club. Out of the 52 members enrolled only nine turned up at the last meeting.

Chins Up Tea

St. John's Mothers Auxiliary will hold the monthly Chins Up Tea in the home of Mrs. Fred Ford, 774 Armour Road on Wednesday afternoon. Scout and Cub mothers are cordially invited to attend. This will be the last meeting of 1944.

Executive Meeting

The Executive of the Boy Scouts Association is scheduled to meet next week and although no official notification has been received to date, it is expected it will be held in the Hooper Palm Rooms on Wednesday December 20. All members should reserve this date to attend this meeting. It will be the first chance for the Camp Site committee to get talking about definite arrangements for meetings on the work that has been assigned to them.

All Saints

Congratulations must be extended to the All Saints Pack for the splendid report received this week. We will be looking forward to some more from other Packs. The report was sent in by mail from Bagheera Peggy Leach.

The White, Brown and Orange Sixes met in the Chapel of All Saints last Tuesday evening at 6.30 under the leadership of Bagheera, Bob Elliott leading the opening Grand Howl. Inspection showed the Brown and Whites getting 9 points each and the Orange 7. During the past two weeks the boys have been busy on tests with the following results:

Union Jack:— Bob Elliott, Wayne Stevenson, Bill Goodson, Doug Leach, George Allison, Allen Smith, David Livingstone, Ken Gadd, Bob Leach, Don Halliday.

Time Telling:— G. Allison, K. Gadd, B. Elliott, B. Goodson, A. Smith, Oscar Schwiers, David Brockwell, W. Stevenson, Ronald Willis, Ronald Grey, B. Leach, D. Halliday.

Hopping:— D. Livingstone, W. Stevenson, B. Goodson, B. Elliott, A. Smith, D. Leach, G. Allison, Gary Corner, R. Willis D. Brockwell, B. Leach.

Ball Throwing:— D. Livingstone, B. Leach, B. Goodson, A. Smith, G. Corner, G. Allison, D. Leach, D. Brockwell, W. Stevenson, R. Willis.

During the evening a good deal of time was spent on the work of preparing scrap books The evening came to a close as Doug Leach led the closing Grand Howl.

St. Luke's

Once again the Pack met at the Council Rock where Peter Rose led the opening Grand Howl after which inspection was made and bones collected.

Instruction in many parts of the Cub work was taken up with one or two boys advancing along the Trail. Two new Chums were made welcome to the Pack, Orville Thompson and Bobby Fair. Ken Pammett passed his Somersault test, Carl Butcher and Frank Tuck, Signs and Salute; Darell Lipsett and Ross Wither Ball Throwing; and as the evening came to its close Darrell Lipsett took the Grand Howl.

St. John's

It was an eager bunch of youngsters that met in the Pack Circle in answer to the call last Friday evening, and it was a night to be remembered by Max Sanders. Sixer White Claw brought Max from out the shadows into the flickering candlelight, where Akela and Baloo were waiting to accept him into the Pack as a full fledged Cub. So, before the Pack and the old Wolves Max gave his promise and placed his feet firmly on the Cub Trail.

Akela called upon Scouter Langhorne and Mr. Sanders to earry out the inspection. Akela's Growl was on the Flag. This was followed by a game. Going to their Corners the Sixes were given paper and pencil and had to draw the Union Jack. We were very glad to have with us Scouters, Langhorne and McEwen, the latter from Saskatchewan, Mr. and Mrs. Sanders who were present at the investiture of their son and also Group Committeemen Messrs. Buckland and Clegg. Canon Robertson also attended the meeting.

Several boys were out to pass tests with the following results:—

Ball Throwing. Trevor Hawkins; Skipping, Michael Craig; Union Jack, Clarence James; Savings, Bobby Rogers, Bobby Burgess; Collectors Badge, B. Rogers, B. Burgess, Trevor Mitchell, Roderick Delaney.

On compiling the points it was found that the White Six came through with reaching the Camp Fire on the competition board and will receive the trophy next week. Three other boys passed and completed their Tenderpad tests and will be invested next Friday. They were Bobby James, Stewart Brooks and Keith Brown.

On Saturday morning Bobby Rogers passed his House Orderly Badge with Mrs. Lawless as the examiner.

Great Dust Storms Sweep Australia

CANBERRA, Dec. 12 (CP)—Dust storms, similar to those which swept the Canadian prairies in drought years of 30's have caused heavy damage in the dry areas of New South Wales, Victoria and South Africa.

Australian agriculturists blame the dust-storms on careless use of the soil by farmers, destruction of timber stands, excessive grazing, overcropping and unskilful plowing.

Present Awards To Next-Of-Kin

OTTAWA, Dec. 12.—(CP).—The Governor-General to-day presents awards to members of the three services and outstanding civilians at a mass investiture to be held in the cream and gold ballroom of Government House. Many of the awards are being presented posthumously to servicemen's next-of-kin.

The Victoria Cross, won last June by Flt.-Lt. David E. Hornell for a bomber attack on a submarine, will be presented to his widow, Mrs. D. E. Hornell, Toronto, as the outstanding award of the investiture.

The Distinguished Service Order and Bar, won by Wing Cmdr. Lloyd V. Chadburn of Toronto and Aurora, Ont., will be given to his mother, Mrs. F. G. Allen, of Aurora. Wing Cmdr. Chadburn, the first Canadian to win two D.S.O.'s in this war, was killed in action last June.

Minister Tippling Congregation Quits

DOGMERSFIELD, Hampshire, England, Dec. 12 — (CP-Reutre) — A Church of England clergyman, Rev. Hector de la Mothe, found guilty last week by an ecclesiastical court of "tippling and resorting to taverns," had a congregation of only four children Sunday morning when he read the lesson from the fifth chapter of Isaiah, one verse of which runs: "Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning that they may follow strong drink."

The rector said he was carrying on in the parish until he heard from the bishop of the diocese.

Timmins Voters To Decide Issues Thursday

TIMMINS, Ont., Dec. 12—(CP)—This gold-rich mining area probably will experience the greatest flood of ballots in its history Thursday with employees of 13 Porcupine district mines taking part in a vote ordered by the Ontario Labor Relations Board on the same day that Timmins ratepayers choose their mayor, Council and School Board for 1945.

About 5,300 miners are eligible to cast ballots in the Labor Board vote. The ballot gives them an opportunity for a straight "yes" or "no" answer as to whether hey wish local 241 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers to bargain collectively with the companies on their behalf.

It will be one of the most extensive and widespread collective bargaining votes ever held in Ontario. The 13 mines are located within a radius of about 15 miles of Timmins and the area they cover is about 260 square miles.

Timmins is the largest centre in the Porcupine district which now has a population of about 45,000, compared with 60,000 before the war. The reduction is due to enlistments and wartime restrictions on gold mining. Communities in the area include Timmins, Schumacher, South Porcupine, Porcupine and Pamour townsite as well as smaller communities at most of the mines.

Several Mines

Following are the mines in which the vote will be held, with the approximate number of employees in each eligible to vote: Aunor 270, Bonetal and Broulan combined 163, Buffalo-Ankerite 409, Coniaurum 170, Delnite 110, Dome 470, Hallnor 235, Hollinger 1,600, Kam Kotia 50, McIntyre 999, Pamour 235, Paymaster 225 and Preston East Dome 365. All are gold mines except Kam Kotia. It is scheduled to close Dec. 31, but the vote is being taken along with the others.

The union applied to the Labor Relations Board six months ago for certification as collective bargaining agency. The Board ordered a vote but the managements of the mines appealed, arguing that employees now in the armed forces should have an opportunity to vote. The Ontario Board rejected the appeal and it was carried to the National Wartime Labor Relations Board where it was also repected.

At present the union has no contract with any Porcupine district mine. However it is the only union to be mentioned on the ballot.

Nagoya City Hard Hit By Bombers

3rd Largest City In Japan Has Plane Plants

SAIPAN, Dec. 13 —(AP)—Nagoya, one of Japan's most inflammable targets, was bombed at mid-afternoon today by a force of B29s equalling or exceeding the largest group yet to hit Japan.

Upsetting enemy defences the Superforts made a feint toward Tokyo and then cut northwest of Nagoya, withdrawing over Nagoya Bay after making their bombing runs.

Superforts went into action in the face of a westerly wind, slowing their speed and probably increasing the accuracy of their bombing.

The planes also flew 3,000 to 4,000 feet lower than they did in the Tokyo raids, flying under cloud layers to avoid leaving vapor trails.

Today's flight involved a round-trip of about 3,000 miles, 300 to 400 less than required to reach Tokyo.

Nagoya's 1940 population was 1,328,084 and is exceeded in size only by Tokyo, 165 airmiles to the northeast and Osaka, about 90 miles to the southwest.

Nagoya boasts the largest concentration of aircraft and aircraft parts plants in Japan and is also one of the four primary industrial centres of Japan.

4 Trunk Railways

Nagoya is served by four trunk railways and in peacetime it was Japan's fourth busiest seaport.

Nagoya's wealth of industrial targets includes arsenals, electric plants, electrochemical plants, machinery, machinery tool factories, explosives and iron works.

The city also is inflammable. It has densely crowded residential districts and mushrooming, congested industrial sections crowded with small wooden shacks even in the city's heart. This provides a great fire hazard.

Several B29s made night reconnaissance flights over the Nagoya area in the past few days. One plane found it blacked out, with no searchlights, ack-ack or interception.

Salvage Crews Save Many Sunken Ships

By FRANK LOWE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 13 (CP Cable)—A fleet Hitler sank is sailing again for the Allies.

It is a fleet of 2,500,000 tons of merchant shipping—250 ships of 10,000 tons each—which British salvage men lifted from the sea bottom where German E-boats, U-boats, surface raiders and bombers laid them. Today they are as good as ever and once more carrying men and munitions as though their careers never were interrupted.

The story, news today, began almost at the start of the war. Then Britain's most important defence line, her sea supremacy, was attacked and ships essential to her continued resistance were being sunk in disastrous numbers.

New ships to replace losses could not be built fast enough so it was decided sunk hulks must be refloated. Salvage bases were established all around Britain's coasts and later as the war spread the scheme was extended from Iceland to Ceylon.

The first job of these bases was not to refloat ships, however, but to keep harbors open. As the blitz intensified, vital docks at Liverpool, London and Glasgow became clogged with wrecks of ships sunk at their moorings.

Turning Point

Their work was one of the turning points of the war. With the British merchant fleet reaching a dangerous low they rebuilt wounded ships and put them back into the fight.

Outside of Britain salvage workers toiled in the Mediterranean lifting ships from harbor beds at Tobruk, Algiers, Bari and Valetta and Naples, probably the salvage workers' greatest triumph in the Mediterranean. Ships were piled on the bottom all along the quays and tons of debris were piled atop them to keep them down and keep the port blocked. Yet 170 of those hulks were refloated in record time.

All this though was just a preparation, although a vital task, for the greatest mass salvage job in history—the invasion of Normandy. Salvagemen were on the job before beachheads were established.

There they worked and died and lifted ships and kept the channels clear. Everything from the smallest landing craft to the biggest transport handled was saved and sent back to sea again.

30,000 Japs Perish In Sea Fight

11 Japanese Ships Are Sunk By Aerial Blows

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Dec. 13.—(AP).—More thousands of Japanese troops drowned off wetsern Leyte Monday and Tuesday in Phillipines inland seas which have claimed far in excess of 30,000 enemy soldiers, spilled to their death from bomb-blasted reinforcement convoys.

The latest losses occurred as American planes, attacking for 36 hours, accounted for five transports and four destroyers of an 11-ship convoy despite the terrific battle put up by covering fighter aircraft. Night-prowling patrol-torpedo boats blasted a sixth transport, leaving only a destroyer of the convoy to get away unscathed.

Gen. MacArthur, whose previous communiqued accounts of the devastation wrought on eight other convoys estimated at least 30,000 enemy soldiers perished, said today concerning the ninth convoy.

"Enemy troop losses by drowning are believed to have been heavy."

The six transports and five destroyers were spotted Monday at dawn off northwest Leyte.

During the day, U.S. planes, boring through swarms of fighters over the conovy, sank three destroyers, a transport of 10,000 tons, a second of 5,000 tons and a third of 4,000 tons.

That night, two patrol-torpedo boats sank a 5,000-ton transport of the convoy at anchor at Palompon.

Hold Palompon.

Palompon, connected by a poor winding trail to the Ormoc corridor, is the supply port of last resort of the Japanese since the loss of Ormoc port, 16 miles to the southeast.

Tuesday at Palmopon, U.S. planes so severely blasted a fourth destroyer and two freighter-transports that all probably sank.

The enemy air force not only made a stiff fight over the convoy but also scored some damaging blows against an American supply convoy Sunday night as it was retiring from Ormoc after unloading.

"Fifty enemy planes were destroyed in combat with five additional probable," to-day's communique said. "We lost eight fighters."

Japan has lost more than 1,000 planes in the fight for Leyete. The reinforcement convoy losses to date total 39 transports and 28 escorting warships.

Still plagued by rains, American ground forces on West Leyete maintained pressure on Lt.-Gen. Yamashita's defenders south of Limon in the north sector of the Ormoc corridor.

Even if the Japanese succeeded in getting troops and equipment over to the Ormoc corridor from Palompon, they would face the same peril of the troops already there—entrapment between the 32nd infantry division south bound from Limon and the 77th and 7th in position to strike north from Ormoc.

E.L.A.S. Troops Making Strong Assaults

By STEPHEN BARBER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ATHENS, Dec. 13.—(AP).—E. L. A. S. troops staged strong but unsuccessful attacks against the centre of Athens during the night, even while their leaders were debating British orders to cease fighting.

The strongest assault was aimed at a British barracks northeast of the heart of the capital on the Kifissia road.

(A British communique broadcast from Athens said further British reinforcements had gone into action, that some progress had been made against the E.L.A.S. Piraeus, Port of Athens, and that R.A.F. planes silenced one E.L.A.S. 75-millimetre gun firing on central Athens.)

Reply Awaited

Maj.-Gen. Ronald M. Scobie, British commander in Greece, still awaited a reply to his cease-firing terms to the E.L.A.S., and there were indications the Leftist leaders were wavering in the fight to force the resignation of Premier George Papandreou.

Strong, infiltrating E.L.A.S. forces—the militia of the Leftist E.A.M. party—scaled walls in darkness and penetrated the British barracks compound containing gasoline, ammunition, field artillery and armor. By sunrise they had been driven into a corner after suffering heavy loss of life, but this battle continued.

Cross River At 2 Points Surprise Hun

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS ON THE ADRIATIC, Dec. 13—(CP Cable).—Canadian units of the British 8th Army smashed the enemy's Lamone Rover defences on their sector along a seven-mile front on Sunday night, it was permitted to disclose to-day.

In an assault following a heavy artillery barrage, the Canadians—almost to their own astonishment—achieved surprise crossings which caught the enemy totally unprepared.

Havoc wrought at the onset of the artillery operation was completed by the arrival of the assaulting Canadians in position an hour before the enemy knew what it was all about.

After diversionary attacks elsewhere had succeeded in throwing the Germans off their balance, the 1st Canadian Corps stormed the swift-flowing, 50-foot river at two points in succession.

Much potential resistance had been reduced earlier by artillery action under cover of which infantry had approached the banks, dragging assault boats.

Germans manning positions in the dikes opposite were mostly killed or wounded, while others in more sheltered positions apparently failed to realize the danger, confident that the rain-swollen river—which had been called "the Leopold Canal of the Adriatic"—made their location impregnable.

Majs. Gordon Logan of North Sydney, N.S., and Tony McLaughlin of Great Village, N.S., led the assaulting companies from a Nova Scotia Highland regiment, while

Canadians Are Bogged Down When Germans Blow Dam

By ROBERT EUNSON
Associated Press War Correspondent

IN A ROOT CELLAR BENEATH A GERMAN HOUSE, Dec. 13—(AP).—Wishful thinkers predicting an early end to the war should see this saturated stretch of No-Man's-Land the Canadians are holding in the rain-soaked Nijmegen sector.

One third of the Canadian front is bogged down with water four feet deep from a dam the Germans broke in Holland. Along the rest of the line, German artillerymen have every road taped and tanks can't go anywhere except on roads. A duck could hardly waddle through the slippery, silt-covered terrain.

This most advanced company command post is an old rock house some German farmer once occupied with his wife, children and livestock.

Maj. Wallace Braden of Bowmanville, has his office in the root cellar where we found him talking about last night's patrol with Lieut. Allan Dicks of Montreal. Young Dicks led 22 men into the enemy lines and got back just before daylight without suffering a casualty, although fired on by machine-guns and mortars when a flare was set off accidentally.

"This kind of business is harder on the men than attacking," Maj. Braden said. "Next to the battle for the Schelde this is the toughest going we've had."

Maj. Braden's company swept across the Schelde Estuary, helping gain control of the approaches to Antwerp and one day captured 126 German soldiers and six offficers without loss.

"You can stand outside this house and throw a baseball into German trenches over there," Maj. Braden said. "At night you can hear them sawing wood, talking and galloping horses up and down the road. It's a ruse they have been using ever since Caen (in Normandy) to let us know they are still around."

The company commander suggested the hoof beats and wood-sawing sounds might be coming from gramophone records.

Sporadic rifle and machine-gun fire rattles up and down the front all day but the Germans have mortar and artillery shells for night firing so as not to give away their positions.

But Germany artillery night or day couldn't crash in here because Maj. Braden's office is deep underground and cement-lined. Of course water leaks through the roof but the air is warm and the dirt floor covered with several sleeping bags.

No Trains Left Toronto For 8 Hours

TORONTO, Dec. 13—(SP).—Twenty-three persons are known to have died and one man is reported missing to-day in Southern Ontario where conditions are slowly returning to normal after the most paralyzing snowstorm in the area's history.

Most of the deaths were at Toronto where one man was killed in a street car accident and 15 died of heart attacks from over-exertion in shovelling or walking through the snow. Several of the dead lay for some time in snowdrifts before they were discovered, and authorities fear there may still be others covered by the deep drifts in the city and district. It is estimated 100 persons were seriously injured.

There were three deaths at Hamilton— the third victim reported to-day being 48-year-old Bert Culm, who succumbed while shovelling snow. Single deaths were reported from Brantford, Campbellford, Woodstock, and Richmond Hill. A man is missing at Kingston.

The Ontario Department of Highways announced that all main highways in the province now are open for motor traffic although some may be "narrow and heavy." The Department said the snowstorm was confined to about a 50-mile wide belt along Lake Erie, Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence river and was at its worst in the Niagara Peninsula. Reports from St. Catharines to the Dominion Meteorological Bureau this morning were that the snow there is two to five feet deep.

The Meteorological Bureau said prospects are that the weather to-day and tonight will be fair and cold with strong winds and possible snowflurries in some sections. However, there will be no heavy snowfall anywhere in the southern part of the province.

Schools Still Closed

Although schools in Toronto remained closed today, the Department stores—including Eaton's and Simpson's—most offices, the Toronto Stock Exchange and other business places are operating today. They were closed yesterday.

Street car service in Toronto is practically restored to normal, the Toronto Transportation Commission announced.

The railways announced that trains now are leaving Toronto on time although some are arriving a bit late. Yesterday no trains left the city for eight hours. Airlines said they are ready to resume flights but so far can't get passengers out to Malton Airport to get aboard. Incoming flights are being made on schedule.

Bread is being delivered to Toronto stores and bakery firms said they also are delivering and selling bread along the main streets. Bread was available last night and again today at fire halls. So is milk. However, dairies said they are trying to break trail along the side streets to get deliveries back to normal again.

Early reports from the province were that areas hit by the storm are returning to normal. Traffic has been resumed on streets and highways in and around Galt. Kingston

Americans Take Five Miles On West Bank Of Roer In New Drive Beyond Duren

British-Canadian Sector Remains Quiet
Americans Advance On Bonn
Drive Deep Into Siegfried In Saarland

By EDWARD KENNEDY—Associated Press Correspondent

PARIS, Dec. 13—(AP).—American 1st Army troops cleared the Germans from five miles of the west bank of the Roer River today. In a new drive southwest of besieged Duren they advanced up to two miles and captured three villages. The southern wing sprang into action before dawn today, sloshing eastward toward the Rhine city of Bonn.

In less than three hours, the Americans had advanced more than a mile and entered the village of Rollesbroich, 13 miles southwest of Duren and 35 west of Bonn.

The advance was between the Hurtgen and Monschau Forests and was 4½ miles east of Rotgen. A little farther north, other units of the 1st Army, now opposed by the new German 5th Panzer Army, were within 28 miles of Bonn which lies 15 miles southeast of Cologne.

The 1st Army was drawn up to the swift and high Roer on both sides of Duren. In the centre of the Western Front, the U.S. 7th Army trained its artillery on large sections of the German defences inside the Bavarian Palatinate while the 3rd Army fought slowly deeper into the Siegfried Line inside the industrial Saarland.

St. Jeanne D'Arc, last hold-out fortress in the Metz area 30 miles behind the front, surrendered during the day.

Between them, the 1st and 3rd Armies captured 1,521 Germans yesterday, swelling the total of four American armies and one French army in the current campaign to 78,860.

The new drive by the southern wing of the 1st Army doubled its offensive front to 20 miles. At Rollesbroich, the Americans were 2½ miles from the Roer.

It may now be disclosed that the Germans have thrown their new 5th Panzer Army into battle on the Cologne Plain. The commander is Gen. Hasso Eckardt Von Manteuffel, 47, veteran of the siege of Bizerte in North Africa. His army includes armored units, regular infantry and volksgrenadier troops.

The last infested cellars west of the Roer were being cleared by the U.S. 1st Army. A few Germans during the night filtered back into Derichweiler, Gey and Maria Weiler virtually suburbs of Duren, and these were being blasted from the cold mud, one by one.

Short Range.

Swift advances by the U.S. 7th Army in the Karlsruhe corner brought the German frontier within sight at many points and placed great sections of the Siegfried Line works within short artillery range Vanguards were within 15 miles of Karlsruhe.

Six miles inside the industrial Saarland, the U.S. 3rd Army shouldered its way through another 700 yards of Fraulautern, winning half that satellite town a mile north of Saarlautern. Repeated counter-attacks were broken three miles north at Dillingen and additional pill-boxes were captured.

The 3rd Army moved across the German frontier anew, spanning the flooded Blies river and capturing Herkirchen, three miles northeast of Sarreguemines.

Once again no action was reported to-day from the sectors on the north of the Allied front held by the 1st Canadian, the British 2nd and the U.S. 9th armies.

Russians Push Wedge Into Nazi Defences

MOSCOW, Dec. 13 (AP)—Russian assault forces pointed toward Budapest today from newly-captured Godollo, 10 miles to the northeast, while artillery drew up in close formation at the northern and southern outskirts of the Hungarian capital.

Despite the close approach of the Red Army siege semi-circle no front dispatches mentioned anything about the fall of the Hungarian capital being "imminent."

The city's inhabitants have fled westward by the thousands and the German garrison was said to have dug in apparently determined to hold out until full destruction of the metropolis.

From the Russian positions many fires could be observed inside the city.

The fall of Godollo ripped a wide gap in the enemy defence lines northeast of Budapest. An important rail junction, it was the last major enemy bastion controlling the approaches from that direction. A Soviet communique said the Germans lost 400 killed in its fall yesterday.

The Moscow communique also announced capture of Sajos-Zentpeter, 10 miles north of Miskolc, and 10 other towns in the central Slovakia border area.

These advances appeared likely to be linked eventually with the new operations to the west, north of the Danube bend, the objective being to pinch off from behind some 60 miles of mountainous German defences in northern Hungary.

Japs Massacre Many Prisoners

CHUNGKING, Dec. 13—(AP)—Chinese troops have driven more than 20 miles into Kwangsi province in pursuit of Japanese forces retreating westward from Kweichow province and are about 15 miles from Hochih, the Chinese high command announced today.

This represented an overnight advance of about 10 miles on the part of the Chinese, who are moving down the Kweichow-Kwangsi railway.

Gen. Fang Hsien-Chueh, commander of China's 10th Army, declared today the Japanese ruthlessly slaughtered several thousand Chinese prisoners of war after taking Hengyang.

Fang, now in Chungking after his escape from the fallen Hunan province city which he defended for 47 days, said the Japanese ignored his appeals to abide by international law and cease the massacre.

Allies Engulf 2 Burma Towns

NEW DELHI, Dec. 13.—(CP).—British and Chinese infantry, supported by artillery directed by an American officer, have engulfed Katha and Indaw, important upper Burma towns about 155 miles north of Mandalay, in what the U. S. Command to-day called a "truly amazing example of Allied co-operation."

The action was disclosed with the award of the Distinguished Service Order to Lt.-Col. Trevor Dupuy, Washington, D.C., chief artillery officer of the British 36th Division. Dupuy directed Chinese artillery, the only big gun support the British 36th has had for some time.

The Chinese 50th Division, its movements up to now cloaked for security reasons, protected the 36th's flanks and rears, enabling British and Indian troops to plunge down the Myitkyina-Mandalay rail corridor on a narrow front. Naba, 10 miles above Katha, also was engulfed.

Indaw is 10 miles west of the Irrawaddy river town of Katha, which itself is 52 miles west of Bhamo.

Russian Front Pushed Back 1,100 Miles

MOSCOW, Dec. 13.—(AP).—Three years ago today Hitler's hitherto unstopped Wehramacht was in full flight from the outskirts of Moscow after penetrating to within 11 miles of the capital. Today, the Red Army fighting in Western Romania has pushed the front 1,100 miles from Moscow.

Thus the Soviet capital is celebrating another memorable anniversary which the Red Army created. Dec. 13, 1941, was the occasion for the official announcement that the German plan to encircle Moscow had failed.

They Don't Die For Hitler

Der Fuehrer Has Toppled From His Pedestal

MADRID, Dec. 13.—(AP).—Heavily censored, controlled German newspapers now reaching Spain give ample evidence that wherever Hitler may be, or whatever his physical or mental health, he no longer occupies a pedestal in the German mind.

From 1939 through the early part of this year almost all death notices concerning soldiers killed in action or civilians killed at home by bombing carried the line "For Fuehrer."

They die for the Fuehrer no longer. Of 17 paid death announcements in a recent Deutsch Allgemeine Zeitung, not one mentions the Fuehrer. The German soldiers died, according to the announcements, for Germany, for the Reich, for the Fatherland, or as one said simply, "on the field of battle." But not for the Fuehrer.

Nazi censorship apparently noticed the omission the next day, for a column in the Hamburger Fremdenblatt, containing death notices of men killed in action or by bombing were grouped together under a headline supplied by the newspaper. It said "Fur Fuehrer, Volk und Reich Gabeneihr Leben."

There also were signs that the Nazi-approved worship of ancient Gods was sinking. While the German cause was in the ascendancy and conquest seemed easy there were few references to Christian faith in death announcements. Now these are frequent.

All Allies Carrying Fair War Burden

Americans Taking Bigger Load On Western Front But Not Unjust One

By the Canadian Press.

Dewitt Mackenzie, Associated Press war analyst wrote to-day he had been asked by an American newspaper editor if there was any "injustice" in the United States carrying "the bulk of the military load in both Western Europe and the Orient" and proceeded to declare there was no evidence of slacking anywhere.

"My own feeling (and I've analyzed this war as an observer since it was incubated at the Munich conference, which I attended) is that there is no basis from a military standpoint for any one of the Big Three to feel that it is carrying an unjust load—a bigger load, yes, but not an unjust one," Mr. Mackenzie wrote. "All the indications support Secretary of War Stimson's recent statement that he's convinced 'all the Allies are contributing to the full measure of their resources.'

"That's the way it looks to this column from the 'military standpoint.' If you retort that power politics are being played in Europe, I shan't dispute you, but shall insist that we couldn't get political problems mixed up with the military aspect—or trade and economic questions, for that matter.

"Naturally there have been times when each of the Allies has felt that its burden was hard to carry. John Bull sorely needed help back in the days of France's collapse, when he was fighting Hitler's blitz with bare fists. During her trial by fire in 1943 Russia urged an invasion of Western Europe by Britain and America to ease her terrific strain. And recently some have been wondering why the Russians haven't attacked the Vistula line to support the Allied drive in the West.

"However, while the needy ones have felt anxiety at the time of need, there seems to have been general recognition that the Allies have contributed willingly to the extent of their means. There never has been any question, so far is I know, of making all the contributions balance exactly....

"Churchill the other day characterized the United States as 'the greatest military, naval and air power in the world.' That's a true bill, and it accounts for the preponderance of our forces in Western Europe and the Orient...."

Surgical Miracles Common

Concepts Of Civilian Surgery Discarded

A FIELD HOSPITAL IN GERMANY, Dec. 13 (AP) — Medical theories on what the human body can endure are being revised as Allied doctors perform surgical miracles with men wounded in the battle of Germany.

When heavy fighting rages the doctors and nurses often work 18 to 20 hours daily, sometimes even longer.

This hospital is an old schoolhouse. Brought in from the field, the wounded sometimes arrive within two hours after they are wounded. At home many of these cases would require the services of two doctors and two private nurses each. Here a small group of doctors and nurses must handle them all.

"We've had to throw out many of the concepts of civilian surgery," said Maj. D. S. Meyers of Kingston, N.Y.

"For example, we thought if we had to cut out more than three feet of bowel we might as well give up, because the patient didn't have a chance to recover.

"But there have been (war) cases where I have removed six, nine and even ten feet of intestines and a few days later the patients have been begging for something to eat."

As civilians most of these surgeons would have thought it impossible to operate successfully under present conditions and operations which would have been considered sensational are accepted as every-day work.

Storm Brings Death To 20 Toronto Schools Still Closed

Snowplow In Ditch At Bewdley 28 Still Blocked

Although plows have been working on 24-hour service trying to eliminate the effects of the blizzard which enveloped Ontario all day Tuesday, only parts of the main highways have been cleared, according to reports this morning.

An official of the Department of Highways at Port Hope said at 9 o'clock this morning that the south end of Highway 28 was still blocked from Bewdley on. The road which winds along by the lake is blanketed under drifts three and four feet deep. During the night the plow went in the ditch, and if it can be pulled out in fair time this morning, it is hoped to have the road to Port Hope cleared by noon.

Although No. 2 Highway was blocked all day Tuesday, hard working plow crewmen managed late Tuesday night to clear the section between Oshawa and Belleville. Highway No. 45 is still blocked. This is the road which runs between Norwood and Cobourg. Two other highways have been opened. The one between Havelock and Brighton, No. 30, is open with heavy going reported, and No. 7 from Peterborough and Madoc is believed to be in fair condition. The last word on the highway west of Oshawa as far as Toronto, is that the road is still blocked.

In spite of the blocked roads for miles, some of the highways northeast of Peterborough were not in too bad condition Tuesday. The Denure Bus Lines made two trips to Lindsay, Tuesday, without too much difficulty and got through to Fenelon Falls. One of the drivers came down from Kinmount and reported that he had no trouble at all until after he passed through Fenelon Falls. This company also got buses through to Campbellford, and instead of taking the Hastings route they went by way of Havelock.

Down near Warkworth, residents claim there just aren't any roads at all. They are completely blocked, even in the village where no cars have been on the streets since early Tuesday morning. They have had no mail or delivery service at homes since Monday. The funeral of Mrs. Charles Robertson, who died Sunday, was to have been held today, but due to the storm, has been postponed till Wednesday.

All roads leading into Lindsay were completely blocked for part of Tuesday by a blizzard that starting shortly after midnight raged in fury until 2 p.m. and then after 3 hours of comparative calm started again. Official snowfall of eighteen inches was reported Monday afternoon and it is expected that by this morning a fall of two feet will have been experienced. Lindsay merchants are worried over the possibility of the storm tying up all country roads until after Christmas. All factories operated with small staffs and in some parts of the town pedestrians had to wade through four and five foot drifts.

Toronto Paper Not Publishing

TORONTO, Dec. 13 — (CP). — The Toronto Globe and Mail announced last night it will publish none of its regular Wednesday morning editions due to the impossibility of distributing papers through snow-blocked Toronto streets.

It is the first time in history weather has caused the paper to suspend publications. Delivery trucks were unable to operate and some trucks which set out Tuesday night for out-of-town points with yesterday morning's editions are still unreported. Others were abandoned in deep drifts.

Editors of the paper said the record applied to the old Globe, which began publication in Toronto in 1844 and missed no editions because of weather conditions in the century since then. The Globe amalgamated with the Mail and Empire in December, 1936.

Given 2 Months In Baby Case

Cecil Clayton, Lindsay truck driver, who pleaded guilty two weeks ago to abandoning a 10-days'-old baby on a Murray street porch on the night of October 24, was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court today to two months imprisonment in the county jail, the sentence to date from December 1.

Detective Sergt. W. E. Meagher, called to give evidence in the case this morning said that Clayton and the mother of the baby, had obtained the infant from a maternity home at Little Britain on the night of October 24, had driven to Peterborough and left it at the doorstep of a house on Murray street.

"It is fortunate for you" said Magistrate Langley to the accused" that you left the baby where it would be found in reasonable time. So far as you and the woman were concerned it was a complete abandonment."

W. J. Arthur Fair who appeared for Clayton pointed out that the accused had already been in custody for 15 days and after reading the man's record, as produced by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., Magistrate Langley made the sentence two months but dated it back to the first of the month.

Schools remained closed in Hamilton, where there was 24 inches of snow, but factories were attempting to maintain operations. Milk and bread is being delivered to restaurants, hospitals and stores. Transportation service in the city has been partially resumed after several hundred men worked all night clearing the main streets. Taxicabs were snowed in, but it is expected that three cabs will be in operation this afternoon. One prospective mother had to walk about 100 feet from an ambulance into hospital last night. Another was brought eight miles by sleigh to an ambulance waiting on the highway.

Highway travel was difficult in the Woodstock area, as far east as Paris and west to Chatham. Transport trucks stranded in the city and district yesterday awaited further improvement before moving on. Schools are open, but attendance is low.

There were 17 deaths in Toronto, one man being killed when a street car overturned, and others dying of heart attacks brought on by overexertion shovelling snow or wading through the deep drifts. There were two deaths in Hamilton, one at Campbellford and one at Brantford.

Dozens of communities were isolated yesterday. The transportation paralysis was severe in Toronto, although the situation eased by nightfall.

This morning Mayor Conboy announced stores which usually close Wednesday afternoon may remain open today.

Drifts 15 Feet Deep In Toronto Trains Off Schedule

TORONTO, Dec. 13—(CP)—This winter's most damaging snowstorm in Southern Ontario and one of the worst in history had abated today, but only after seriously crippling transportation systems and being responsible for the death of at least 20 persons.

The storm, driven by a strong northeast wind, lashed Southern Ontario all day yesterday and before it subsided had virtualy isolated dozens of cities and towns. Huge snow drifts blocked highways and for a time all vehicular traffic was at a standstill.

In Toronto, where 15 persons died as a result of accidents or strain caused by trudging through drifts or attempting to clear paths, there was an almost complete paralysis of transportaion, industry and commerce. By nightfall, however, street cars on the main lines were operating and thousands of citizens, forced to walk great distances to work earlier in the day, were able to get home.

More than 22 inches of snow blanketed the Queen City and surrounding districts and a ban was placed on all non-essential automobile travel on streets where street cars operated.

Dominion Government meteorologists said they believe the brunt of the blizzard has passed in Ontario and reports last night said the storm was moving eastward.

The wind switched to the northwest in Toronto last night and snow fell only intermittently throughout the night.

Hamilton and St. Catharines also were blanketed under 24-inch snowfalls, forcing a halt to all traffic. Two persons died in Hamilton as a result of the gale.

While train schedules were all disrupted, most main line trains arrived in Toronto after several hours delay. Some were forced to wait outside the city limits while workmen cleared the tracks and switches.

1,000 Workers.

All snow-clearing equipment and more than 1,000 city employees were called out to clear Toronto streets, completely blocked by drifts ranging up to 15 feet or more. All milk and bread deliveries were cancelled.

Mayor Conboy called on citizens to form "snow commandos" to help clear the streets and sidewalks, and school children—an estimated 100,000—were given the day off.

At the height of the storm a Toronto Transportation Commission street car, crowded with people, overturned at a downtown intersection, killing David Quinn. It was the first fatality to occur in a street car since the T.T.C. took charge of all surface lines in the city on September 1, 1921.

Others who died in this city were: Charles Bennett, Ernest Scott, Lawrence Graziano 44, Edward Dodd, Sampel Bawden, Percy Petrie, William P. Turnbull, George Pearson, Alexander Gardiner 69, Samuel Johnston, Vincent Huntley 54, William Francis 54, Henry Woolboner 44, and one unidentified person.

Hamilton dead were: Robert McClure, 45, and Joseph Long, 60. Vernon Hallock, 26, was killed in an automobile crash near Woodstock and George Davies, 54, of Ingersoll dropped dead as he entered a Brantford war plant.

Life generally was disrupted in practically every centre of southern, western and eastern Ontario. Citizens were asked to help municipal workers in clearing the snow to allow resumption of milk and bread deliveries.

Germans Throw

megen; Lt.-Gen. Dempsey's Tommies were drawn up along the Maas (Meuse) river opposite the Netherlands frontier bastion of Venlo; troops of Lt.-Gen. Simpson had reached the Roer on the left of the U.S. 1st Army some days ago.

120 Wide Normal.

Virtually all the Germans except sacrificial units had been driven behind the Roer, which normally is only about 120 feet wide at Duren. Most of that ruined industrial city lies east of the river, and there was no sign of an immediate American attempt to cross the flood waters.

Troops at Maria river were virtually in the outskirts of Duren and were 18 miles inside Germany and 21 short of Cologne. One American company was cut off in Mariaweiler during the night but re-established contact before dawn.

South of Duren the Hurtgen forest had been left behind after a lengthy blood bath which started in mid-October.

German broadcasts continued to reflect concern about Lt.-Gen. Patch's drive toward the Palatinate, the western twelfth of Bavaria, west of the Rhine. The 7th Army closed within eight miles of the French border town of Wissembourg, natural gateway to the province.

The Maginot Line, partly inhabited by French civilians, was passed but the whole Siegfried Line was ahead. In this area, the German frontier breaks sharply westward from the Rhine.

The drive combined with that of the 3rd Army on Patch's left to squeeze the Siegfried Line from the west and south. In this section, however, the line is thickest, being fortified up to 30-mile depths to the Rhine.

Some 30 or more towns were swept up yesterday, eight or more of them inside Germany. Behind the German lines, Allied air power hit again and again in operations suggesting an attempt to isolate the Germans in the whole central and northern sections of the Western Front.

Gains Slight.

The 3rd Army gains in Fraulautern were through deeply-echeloned German defences and against stubborn oposition. Elements of the 96th Division edged deeper into a maze of pill-boxes and fortified houses in Ensdorf, a mile to the east of Saarlautern, and in Saarlauternroden, just north of the city. Gains were in scores of yards.

A few miles north of Dillingen, the 3rd Army knocked out a particularly troublesome little fort, equipped with a revolving turret that could be raised or lowered to shell troops on any side.

(German broadcasts acknowledged the Americans had broken out east of the Hurtgen Forest and said both sides were suffering severe casualties in the battle before Hurtgen. Advances in Loraine and Alsace were reported.)

No Happiness in the Home When Mother Is Sick

The tired, worn out mother cannot make a happy home if she is sick and worried by the never ending household duties.

She gets run down and becomes nervous and irritable, downhearted and discouraged, can't rest at night, and gets up in the morning feeling as tired as when she went to bed.

Women suffering in this way may find in Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills a remedy with which to help recuperate their health, build up the run down system, and assist them back to health—happiness again.

Bus Schedules Restored In Peterboro

Franch Mitchell, head of Peterborough's bus lines, told the Examiner that according to radio summaries, this city appeared to be the only community of its size in which transportation was restored this morning.

"We had actually some hundreds of calls from citizens during Tuesday's storm," Mr. Mitchell said, "and we are most apreciative of the manner in which our explanation was received. We had every available bus on the streets for the five o'clock factory crowds Tuesday evening, and throughout the day we had the best of co-operation from the heads of factories. The Board of Works did a good job when their equipment began to make itself felt toward the afternoon."

The local buses were back on schedule this morning, and reverted to the Wednesday afternoon twenty minute service.

Reach Oshawa

Leaving the city at 6:30 a.m. today four of Herb Payne's trucks, Toronto bound, reached Oshawa around 10:30 and continued on their westerly way. Another made the Lindsay run, and there is another truck leaving Thursday for Bancroft. Mr. Payne said he was held up Tuesday on the Port Hope section, but trucks got through to Norwood, Hastings and Campbellford and back.

Milk Arriving

Alderman Ovens said some of the milk deliveries from the farms did not reach the Campbell Dairy plant until five o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Farmers are drawing cans on sleighs to the main roads where the trucks are picking them up, and the prospect today was satisfactory. In brief, nothing to worry about,—yet.

Coal Deliveries

Harold Rehill telephoned the Examiner his opinion that "people are becoming more considerate. Some of them telephoned us Tuesday not to try to make deliveries. Driveways were full of snow and we wouldn't be able to get in. We made a few trips Tuesday morning, but folded up at noon. We started again today at 11 o'clock."

Apparently that experience was general among the fuel trade. Several of the firms set to drawing snow from their yards while it was still blowing Tuesday afternoon.

Householders expecting deliveries are being advised today to shovel out their lanes as a help to the truck men.

70 Per Cent To Get Pensions

OTTAWA, Dec. 13 (CP) — More than 70 per cent. of Canadian men and women with overseas service who have been discharged for medical reasons and whose cases have been ruled on by the Canadian Pension Commission have been granted entitlement to pension, Veterans' Affairs Minister Ian A. Mackenzie announced in a statement issued here today.

He based the statement on figures which showed that up until Oct. 31, 15,335 such cases had been ruled on, and of these 11,305 had been granted entitlement to pension. Of the majority of these favorable decisions, Mackenzie said, a total of 10,406 were given on first hearing.

"Where service was in Canada only, the percentage is not so high," the Minister said, "but more than 45 per cent. of all those discharged for medical reasons, for whom a decision has been rendered, have been granted entitlement."

Cross River

Majs. Sammy Ridge of Millbrook, Ont., and Robert Cole of Toronto commanded a Western Ontario regiments leading companies.

Cole's men had taken their first objectives and were engaged in preliminary consolidation before a single shot had been fired. They first were discovered by the enemy on his side of the river 45 minutes after they had crossed.

New Highway

Their foothold was gained just south of Highway No. 16 on the extreme right of the operation where a bridgehead was first established.

Other Western Ontario companies under Maj. Andy Beckington of St. Mary's, Ont., and Capt. Robert Chamberlain of St. Thomas, Ont., crossed and then cleared the riverside villages of Villanova and Borgo Di Villanova.

The Maritimers meantime had made their positions firm to the right of Villanova and were operating under cover of small arms fire from a company under Capt. Syl McKenna of Sydney, N.S.

Then Maj. Sandy Bonnel of Saint John, N.B., struck through to a road junction 1,000 yards northwest, where they played hide-and-seek with a small group of enemy self-propelled guns until daylight.

Sappers under Lieut. Jack Young of Vancouver immediately began developing the bridge site. They're the boys who turned in a terrific job.

The infantry outwitted the enemy and by the time he had realized the attack was on, his artillery and mortar fire rained abundantly not on the infantry, who had gone ahead, but on the engineers.

Sprs. Art March of Port Alberni, B.C., and Ernie Rober of Timmins, Ont., bulldozed the bridge approaches while others under Lieut. Dick Bray of Ottawa got the pontoons and other equipment in place.

In Slit Trenches

When things got hottest the boys were glad to find the enemy dugouts and slit trenches which now afforded them some protection.

A second bridgehead operation three miles upstream was launched at 9:30 p.m., one hour after the first.

Companies from another Nova Scotia battalion under Maj. Gordie McNeill of Cape Breton, N.S., and Capt. Don Rice of Bridgewater, N.S., and Saint John, N.B., advanced.

On the right were companies from a New Brunswick regiment under Majs. Rowland Horsey of Vancouver and Lloyd Watling of Chatham, N.B., while on the left highlander companies moved up under Capts. George Beale and Bill Leadbeater, both of Toronto.

The Nova Scotians hit trouble in the shape of an enemy artillery concentration which caused casualties, and McNeil had his hands full reorganizing.

Rice's equipment floated downstream and his men subsequently crossed with the New Brunswickers on the right. There Horsey and Watling had trouble floating their equipment and changed to boats, yet reached the west bank right on schedule.

Scaling the dike, Horsey led his men in a charge over the top and down the far side. He was amazed at the slight enemy resistance at this point. The enemy retired in confusion—50 of them falling right into the arms of Watling's men who then pushed inland from their own crossing place.

102 Prisoners

By the time the regiment's shallow, 600-yard bridgehead was secure, helped by other companies under Capt. Chad Haining of Newcastle, N.B., and Don Smith of St. Johns, Que., it bagged 102 prisoners, killed an uncounted—but large—number and wounded others, at a cost of 10 wounded and none killed.

The Highlanders on the left also ultimately used boats. Beale's boys got over first and Leadbeater's followed; within an hour they had 25 prisoners including a German company commander.

The bridgehead was augmented men forces under Capts. Harold McCutcheon of Port Colborne, Ont., and Bob Murdoch of Toronto arrived. Again the fighting was light and 65 Germans surrendered.

At this stage the bridgehead's flanks were established, but the centre had not fully materialized. This soon was remedied when the Nova Scotians moved to the right, used their fellow - Maritimers' crossing-place and fanned out, passing behind them, to assume their own designated positions on the opposite bank.

They were well into position without undue trouble at daylight when enemy infantry counter-attacked strongly, supported by self-propelled guns.

In subsequent action companies led by Capt. W. H. P. David and Rice destroyed four of the guns, killing their crews and taking 60 enemy infantrymen prisoner.

Two large stretches of the west bank of the Lamone then were solidly in Canadian hands and units holding them were rapidly expanding their gains to form a junction.

Drawing enemy attention to another part of the Canadian sector and then throwing murderously accurate artillery fire followed by an audacious attack on the very place the enemy believed himself most secure did the trick.

The battle of the Lamone was won at a cost of half the casualties in last week's setback at the same place, and, considering the number of Canadian troops involved, their losses were a mere fraction.

Trouble For Japan

PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 13 (AP)—Heavy bombers of Lt.-Gen. Millard F. Harmon's newly-organized strategic air force struck Iwo Jima Island in the Volcanoes Saturday and Sunday, maintaining aerial pressure on that enemy base 725 miles north of Saipan.

Farm Laborer Refuses To Take Position Given By Selective Service In The North

Harold E. Cook, 21, Lang, who gave his occupation as a farm laborer, pleaded guilty in police court this morning to having failed to accept employment when ordered by Selective Service to take a job.

W. F. Huycke, K.C., said that Cook's military category was "E." Prosecuting the case for Selective Service, Mr. Huycke told the court that last spring Cook had been directed to a job with the Standard Chemical Company at Donald, near Minden, but had failed to comply.

Again in August Cook was ordered to report to the same company but once more he had not done so.

"Suppose I remanded this case would he be willing to go to Donald and commence work?" asked Magistrate Langley.

"I will not go there," said Cook, flatly, and in answer to a question said that he had no particular reason for that attitude.

Must Do Share.

The youth's mother said that the boy had been working on a farm near Lang.

"But he can't do just the work he likes when there is a war on," Magistrate Langley pointed out.

His Worship suggested that it might be possible for Selective Service to provide Cook with a job in one of the local plants.

Mr. Huycke said that the accused had refused such an offer some time ago but that the officials were quite willing to cooperate by assigning him to essential work here.

Cook said that he would go to work in Peterborough if he were directed to a job here and accordingly was remanded until Friday.

"You will have to go to jail in the meantime," His Worship told the youth, adding that a job would be arranged for the accused by that time and he would be allowed to go on suspended sentence if he consented to accept employment.

Obituaries

MRS. EARL FOSTER

Mrs. Earl Foster, formerly Violet Evans, 292 Townsend street, passed away today in Nicholls Hospital, in her 45th year. She was the beloved wife of Earl Foster.

Mrs. Foster was born in Millbrook, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Evans. She came to Peterborough as a small child and while living in this city, she was a member of St. James' United Church.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, three sons, Seaman First Class Melville E., AB Seaman Clair, Roy, at home, one daughter, Mrs. J. Andrusco, (Jean), at home, and two sisters, Mrs. Flora Brock and Mrs. J. Armstrong, both of Peterborough.

The funeral will be Friday afternoon at 1:45 from the Funeral Home of A. Comstock and Sons, 305 Water street. Burial will take place in Little Lake Cemetery, and Rev. F. W. Craik, of St. James' United Church, will officiate.

MISS MATILDA A. WRIGHT

A resident of Peterborough for 30 years, Miss Matilda Ann Wright, 150 Hart avenue, passed away at her residence Tuesday evening, in her 89th year. Ailing for the past year, Miss Wright had made her home with Mrs. Arthur Doughty for a number of years.

She was born in Cavan township, the daughter of the late William Wright and Martha Clegg and she resided in Fraserville before coming to Peterborough.

A member of the Presbyterian church, and beloved by a wide circle of friends, Miss Wright is survived by one sister, Mrs. Margaret Scobell, of Peterborough.

The funeral will be Friday afternoon at two o'clock, from the Belleghem Funeral Home, 190 Hunter street west. Interment will be in Fraserville Cemetery, and Rev. H. J. Mahoney of Knox United Church will conduct the service.

Bride Obliged To Ski To Her Wedding

WESTON, Dec. 13 — Miss Margaret Haxton, was married Tuesday, almost on schedule. But she didn't wear her wedding gown. Miss Haxton was married in a ski suit and arrived at the church after battling five-foot drifts for a mile on her skis. Her bridesmaid, also on skis, accompanied her.

The wedding was to have taken place at St. John the Evangelist Roman Catholic church at 9 a.m. The bride was late in arriving, but the wedding was held at 10.30.

The bride had arranged to ride in style to the church in a taxi. When, however, Miss Haxton learned that the taxi was out of the question, she determined to reach the church "under her own steam."

"Tomorrow was the 13th, so I couldn't postpone my wedding in the face of that, could I?" the bride said. "My bridesmaid, Mary Cribbett, made the mile trip through the snow with me. We both wore skis and ski suits, and left the suits on for the ceremony."

The groom was L.A.C. Fergus J. Kelly of Bancroft, who arrived in Weston last night ahead of the storm. "He was staying only half a block from the church," said the new bride. "I guess we kept him waiting.

"We waited for our taxi, but finally gave up hope of it arriving," Mrs. Kelly said. "They telephoned us once that they were on the way. Half an hour later the taxi driver called again that he had got only half a block and had to be towed back by a truck."

Rev. Father E. T. Keane, who lives in the rectory next door to the church, performed the ceremony.

"I had made a great many fancy plans for my wedding," Mrs. Kelly said, "but I guess nothing turned out as we planned. But I am happy that I'm married before the 13th."

The Kellys' wedding reception has been postponed until tomorrow night.

Snowplows Fight Losing Battle

SMITHS FALLS, Dec. 13.—(CP).—Plough in this section of Eastern Ontario continued yesterday to fight a losing battle against the snow storm which began late Monday and was still raging last night. All highways leading from Smiths Falls were blocked last night. Earlier, trucks managed to batter their way through from Kingston, Ottawa and Brockville until noon.

Snow clearing equipment was in use on town streets, but they filled in quickly and motor traffic was virtually at a standstill.

AUCTION SALE CANCELLED

The auction sale of stock and equipment of Gordon Hancock, which has been postponed due to prevailing weather conditions, will be held Wednesday next, December 20, at 10 o'clock. Further announcements later.

Five Objectives Of American Policy Outlined

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—(AP)—Edward R. Stettinius, United States Secretary of State, Tuesday gave to legislators five objectives of American foreign policy, keynoted by a pledge of post-war foreign trade expansion.

Asserting that the State Department must move speedily to put into effect a reorganization program, the Secretary urged the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to approve the appointments of six members of his staff.

The six are: Joseph C. Grew, named as Under-Secretary, and five Assistant Secretaries, Nelson Rockefeller, Archibald McLeish, W. L. Clayton, James C. Dunn, and Brig.-Gen. Julius Holmes.

Mr. Stettinius said the State Department has these five major objectives:

"1. The fullest possible support in the conduct of our foreign relations for our armed forces, so that the war may be won at the earliest possible moment.

"2. Effective steps to prevent Germany and Japan, after victory by the United Nations, from again acquiring the power to wage aggressive war.

"3. Establishment at the earliest possible moment of a United Nations organization capable of building and maintaining the peace—by force if necessary—for generations to come.

"4. Agreement on measures to promote a great expansion of our foreign trade and of productiveness and trade throughout the world, so that we can maintain full employment in our own country and together with the other United Nations—enter an era of constantly expanding production and consumption and of rising standards of living.

"5. Encouragement of all those conditions of international life favorable to the development by men and women everywhere of the institutions of a free and democratic way of life, in accordance with their own customs and desires."

Warkworth Congregation Honors Memory To Boys Killed In France

WARKWORTH, Dec. 13 (ENS).—In St. Paul's United Church Sunday morning an impressive memorial service was held for two members of the congregation, Lieut. Alvin J. Greenly and John B. Poole.

Rev. Dr. J. R. R. Cooper of Peterborough, a former pastor, chose for his text John 15: 13, "Greater love hath no man than this that he lay down his life for his friend."

During the service Rev. H. G. Lester read a portion of the fifteenth chapter of St. John; and the choir sang "Faith is the Victory"; Dr. Cooper offered prayer, and "God's Way is the Best Way" was sung by Mrs. D. S. Thompson and Rev. H. G. Lester.

After the following obituaries were read, there was two minutes' silence and the Last Post sounded.

Alvin John Greenly was born in Warkworth community September 1, 1915, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Greenly. He attended school in Warkworth and Campbellford and went on to Normal School, Peterborough. During this time he became a member of St. Paul's United Church. After teaching school for two years Alvin enlisted in September, 1939. There followed a period of training in this country, after which he proceeded overseas in September, 1940. In May, 1942, he returned to Canada for his officer's training. In December of that same year he returned to Great Britain as a Lieutenant. He was reported missing while in action on October 3. Later word came through that he passed away in Germany on October 14, 1944.

He leaves to mourn his loss, and yet to be thankful for his record of service, his wife, Pte. Marion Greenly, on duty in England with the CWAC; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Greenly, and his brothers, Elwood and Gerald, besides other relatives and friends.

John Borden Poole was born June 30, 1921, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Poole, Percy township. He attended school in Warkworth, afterwards working on the farm with his parents. When war broke out he enlisted in the fall of 1939, though not eighteen years of age. After some training he was returned home as too young. He enlisted again in the spring of 1940, in the First Midland Battalion, and went overseas in May, 1942. After some time in England he went with the forces to France. In the path of duty as a sniper he was killed in action at or near Falaise in France on August 14, 1944.

He leaves to mourn his loss, and yet to be proud of his service for his country, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Poole; his sisters, Mrs. Ina Runciman, Mrs. Norman Laing of Coldsprings, Mrs. Don Yule of Dartford, Mrs. Merrill Nelson, Mrs. Aubrey Lockhart and Mrs. W. McComb of Campbellford, and his brothers: Charles, William and Harold, and other relatives and friends.

At the altar the young soldiers' pictures were banked with evergreens, small Union Jacks and potted chrysanthemums.

JUST LIKE MOVIES — What Sergt. Jonas Cooper (above), U.S. 12th Airforce, cherishes most among his marital memories is the night he slept in the boudoir of Countess Edda Ciano, daughter of Benito Mussolini, whose husband, Count Galaesso Ciano, was executed early this year. It came about (Cooper's nap, not the execution) when the air force sergeant couldn't find furlough quarters on the beautiful Isle of Capri and was assigned to the countess' villa. The bed was ten feet by eight feet.

Father And Son Race To Reach Higher Rank

OTTAWA, Dec. 13.—Good natured rivalry exists in the Taylor family as far as their service to their country is concerned, and so far the senior Taylor has managed to keep "one up" on his son in rank.

Recently a cablegram was received by Capt. Ernest Taylor in Italy, informing him that his father, Maj. Benjamin E. "Ernie" Taylor, who is in Britain with the headquarters staff of the Canadian Reinforcement Unit, had stepped up another notch, putting him ahead again in the family race.

Maj. Taylor had three years' start on his 24 year old son, for he served three years in the First Great War with the R.A.F., and the wings he won then are worn on his army officer's tunic. He enlisted in the present struggle in 1941 and joined his son overseas the following year. Capt. Taylor graduated at Brockville in 1939 and was commissioned. He arrived overseas in 1940.

With his father a captain, the younger Taylor eyed the extra "pip" on his father's uniform with good-natured envy. Then he went to Italy. He was commissioned in the field there last August and told his dad he had caught up with him in rank at last. Recently he received the cable from the senior member of the family informing him: "I'm still one up on you, son. I've just been promoted to major."

Controller To Resign

MONTREAL, Dec. 13 (CP)—The Montreal Gazette said in an Ottawa dispatch it had been told by Munitions Minister Howe that Thomas Arnold, machine tools controller since early in 1940, will relinquish that post Dec. 15. The time had come to discontinue this part of the munitions department.

Marines Blushed

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC, Dec. 13—(AP).—Marine veterans pooh-pooh any insinuations that they are souvenir collectors. But they blushed when the order was posted to turn in—along with cetrain other "souvenirs" — all "40-mm. anti-aircraft guns" taken from the Japs. Such a weapon weighs approximately 3,000 pounds.

Nobody Wants To Handle Silk Stockings

OTTAWA, Dec. 13—A "few dozen" sheer silk stockings reaching Ottawa today by air express from Brazil, have become too "hot" to handle—a drug on a price-controlled market at a prohibitive $3.50 a pair—so may—ONLY MAY—be given away.

The Ottawa importer who brought them in at about $3.50 a pair f.o.b. at Uplands Air Station, has given them to an Ottawa specialty shop which doesn't want them.

Creates Problem

The specialty shop may give them away to favored customers—if some way of doing it can be devised without causing a riot—or may put them away in storage and forget about the whole thing.

Cost to the importer included the wholesale charge in Brazil, customs duty of 20 per cent, plus $1 a pair, War Exchange Tax of 10 per cent, and a sales tax of eight per cent. This combination of taxes brought the price, f.o.b. at Ottawa, to "about $3.50 a pair," which is far and above the Prices Board ceiling level running between $1.25 and $1.95.

So the stockings just can't be sold except at a sharp loss to all concerned.

That, said R. M. Fowler, Prices Board secretary, this morning, was "definite."

The reporter is commencing negotiations with the Prices Board to raise the ceiling, pay an import subsidy and remit the taxes so that more silken hose may be flown in from Brazil.

Ceiling Will Stand

And the Board, even without looking at any formal proposal in writing from the importer, has ruled that:

1. The ceiling will not be raised;
2. No import subsidy will be paid;
3. Only the Revenue Department could, and almost certainly would not, remit the taxes.

"The ceiling will stand," declared Mr. Fowler, "and a subsidy is out."

All concerned this morning were "sick" of the Brazilian stockings—even the specialty shop which was getting them as a gift.

"I just hope we don't get them," said the specialty shop manager, "I haven't had so much trouble in years.

"We can't sell them. We might give them away, but that would surely cause a riot. So I guess if we are given this 'gift' which we don't want, we'll put them in storage and forget about the whole thing."

General Sessions Cases Finished

The General Sessions of the Peace docket before Judge S. L. Smoke was completed Tuesday afternoon. Since it began last Wednesday morning, four criminal cases were tried by Sessions juries.

Of the four cases, one conviction was made, that of 63-year-old Joseph Nezezon, who was charged with assault occasioning actual bodily harm, and sentenced to six months in an Ontario Reformatory.

In the three other cases, verdicts of "not guilty" were returned. Eugene Schlenkert, 34-year-old American-born war worker was acquitted of a charge of reckless driving arising out of the accident on the Warsaw Road Labor Day, in which Mrs. Felix Courneya lost her life.

Lawrence Wilfong, who stood trial on two counts, was acquitted of both charges. They were: theft of $16.65 from Clarence Weymark, of Havelock, and theft of merchandise valued over $25, from F. H. Johnston, his former employer.

Three charges of reckless driving were not brought to trial when the Grand Jury returned no bills. They were charges against Louis Freeburn, of Norwood, Maurice Lafave, and Herman Viner, both of Peterborough. All three cases were accidents in which there was a fatality.

CARBON BIG FACTOR

The percentage of fixed carbon, created by Paleozoic sunshine, determines the value of coal as a fuel.

DOESN'T LIKE IT—This Nazi pilot, bulky in his flying clothes, and with hands clasped behind his head to guard against any funny stuff, seems to resent his seat on the radiator of a jeep as he is brought in after capture at Weisweiler, Germany. He was captured after anti-aircraft gunfire brought his ship down out of a formation of 25 engaged in ground-strafing Allied troops.

Capone Mobster Cries When Leaving Front

WITH THE U.S. 1st ARMY, Dec. 13—Ten years ago a Capone hoodlum stood before a Chicago judge and unflinchingly heard himself sentenced to Joliet Penitentiary for what was politely called "manslaughter."

Ever since D-Day in France that same mobster, always with the same deadpan expression of the hard-boiled "ex-con," has been up in front lines, acting as armed guard to a team of artillery spotters. Paroled to the Army on condition that he behave himself, he has regained his self-respect and the admiration of all his fellow soldiers. But until the day before yesterday nobody had ever seen any emotion on that rugged mug of his.

A few days ago somebody noticed that he was not looking very well and when the doctor took a look at him he found a heart condition that shocked him. Obviously, the man had a pretty dubious heart when he entered the Army and had not helped it any by going through months of almost daily fighting. In this job you are under fire most of the time and they are generally shooting right at you.

The doctor's verdict called for a good long stay in an evacuation hospital and that was when Deadpan first showed emotion. His colonel got a frantic call from the hospital and a couple of hours later the man showed up himself.

"You just can't do this to me, sir," he said. "Tell them they're nuts. The outfit needs me and I'm okay. Tell them to leave me alone." He was crying like a baby.

The colonel talked sensibly to him and finally got him to go back to the hospital on the promise to let him come back "in a few weeks." A little bird says that there will be some trouble at the hospital unless they keep that promise.

New O.C. At Uplands

OTTAWA, Dec. 13.—(CP).—Group Capt. W. I. Clements of Ottawa, yesterday took command of nearby Uplands Air Station from Group Capt. W. R. Kingsland, who is going to a new post at No. 3 Training Command in Montreal, his home town.

PUSS-IN-BOOTS WARTIME VERSION—No fancy patent leather boots for these patriotic kittens, in Australia. A pair of well-worn army shoes provide an ideal medium for "Puss-in-Boots" as played by "Tinker Tricks" and "Pinkle Purr."

Essen Aflame From R.A.F. Bombs

LONDON, Dec. 13 (CP)—R.A.F. fire bombers put the torch last night to Essen, home of the Krupp Armament Works.

The Essen raid increased operations against Germany in a 24-hour period to four major attacks on eight German cities by 4,000 British and American planes loaded with 10,000 tons of bombs.

Losses were 13 British bombers, 11 American bombers and nine American fighters in the four attacks.

It was the second straight day of 10,000-ton bombing for Germany.

Some night fighters opposed the Essen attack, but five were shot down. Six German aircraft were knocked out of the air by British Mustang pilots during a daylight attack on Witten by R.A.F. Lancasters.

All losses by the U.S. 8th and 15th Air Forces were due to Nazi ground gunners who filled the sky with ack-ack particularly around Merseburg, where a synthetic oil plant was hit.

Tactical air units based in France and Belgium supplemented the heavy bombardment campaign.

Thunderbolt pilots tangled frequently with German fighters on the U.S. Army front. Eleven Nazi craft were destroyed in the air. Seven U.S. 9th Air Force planes were listed as missing.

Slasher Given 6 Months In Reformatory

Joseph Nezezon, 63-year-old paper company worker from Gatineau Mills, Quebec, was sentenced to six months imprisonment in the Ontario reformatory Tuesday afternoon by Judge S. L. Smoke, after a General Sessions of the Peace jury found him guilty last Thursday of assault occasioning actual bodily harm.

The charge was laid against Nezezon following an incident aboard C.P.R. train No. 34 early in the morning of September 3, when Edward Richer, 24-year-old Ottawa-stationed soldier was cut on the back of the neck by a razor.

The 12-man jury recommended mercy for Nezezon upon announcing its verdict, and Tuesday, Judge Smoke said he was not disposed to make the penalty too severe, after taking all the aspects into consideration. Defence Counsel W. J. Arthur Fair told the court Nezezon's job is waiting for him until he can return to Quebec, and that his employers evidentally have a high regard for his loyalty in his job.

The maximum penalty for such a charge is three years imprisonment.

War Weariness In Canada

Can the rancorousness of the recent discussion of conscription be attributed, even in part, to war weariness? Certainly that explanation never occurred to any section of the Canadian press, but it is advanced with a good deal of corroborative detail by Percy J. Philip, the Ottawa correspondent of the New York Times. What Mr. Philip has to say about the recent session of Parliament is of the greatest interest, for lookers-on often see most of a quarrel, and the American press has frequently been more lucid in its treatment of our problem than we have been ourselves.

* * *

According to Mr. Philip, three points emerge clearly from the conscription session. The first is that the Prime Minister won a fight which all his political adversaries expected him to lose. The second is that the strain of war raised the conscription discussion to an abnormally acrimonious and contumacious pitch, and contributed to the customary confusion of thinking on the subject. The third is that conscription caused less serious bad feeling this time than it did in 1917.

* * *

The first point does not require discussion. Mr. King stuck to his guns and outmarshalled those who sought to discredit him utterly and bring his ministry tumbling down. The second point needs some elaboration. Canada is sick of the war, as every country which has been touched by it is sick of the war. But that weariness does not mean that we want to throw in the sponge or let the enemy get away with anything less than a total defeat. It means that we want every measure which will hasten that defeat, and as many people believed that conscription was such a measure, and as the government came round to that opinion, the demand for conscription was clamorous. But it must not be forgotten that this was a complete change of public opinion from 1940, when only a few people dared to talk conscription, and no party would touch the issue with a ten-foot pole.

* * *

The change in public opinion about conscription was made with emotionalism rather than thought, and the full fury of a country which has grown sick of war was directed against the government. It has been the fate of this government to impose restrictions on the Canadian people which they have never suffered or dreamed of before, and it is not to be expected that the Canadian people should love the government for it. But it is disloyal to complain about restrictions, whereas it is not disloyal, and may be represented as patriotic, to belabour and abuse the government on the conscription issue. The emotion which was engendered in one sphere finds its explosive outlet in another. At the next election the present government will be defeated by the emotionalism and frustration of the Canadian public, unless it has a strongly emotional issue on which to base its fight. The tendency of the electorate will be to vote the existing government out, rather than to vote any alternative government in, and the result may be a House in which no party has a clear majority.

* * *

As for Quebec, there are six times as many French-Canadian volunteers fighting in this war as there were in the last war, and it looks as though the leaders of French Canada were beginning to see that this is really a Canadian fight, and not merely a fight into which Canadians have been dragged by the wicked British. The speeches of the French anti-conscriptionists showed signs that they were chiefly anxious not to be bamboozled by their old enemies, the "Toronto Tories". Thus the conscription fight was more a political than a racial one—a good omen for Canada's future. Political wrangles have been known to knit a country together: racial quarrels can only tear it apart.

Education For Parliament

The Ottawa Journal draws attention to the fact that, during the recent special session of Parliament, the French-Canadian members distinguished themselves by the excellence of the speeches with which they supported their case. We have since verified this from Hansard. This is what the Ottawa paper says about it:

> "The French-Canadian members, or most of them, were wrong. That doesn't alter the fact that—from their own premises—they argued logically, and with fine ability and measure, keeping their case throughout on a high plane, avoiding personalities. Mr. Cardin especially, with his restraint and moderation, and with his clear appreciation of the English-speaking mind, was in the very best traditions of Parliament".

Why should this be so? We think that it is because Quebec sends men to Ottawa, as a usual thing, who have been educated for Parliament. Quebec education may be narrow, but it is deep, and when a French-Canadian goes to the House he knows that he goes there to speak as eloquently as possible for his constituents. And upon what models does he form his speaking style? Upon the classic writers of Greece and Rome, and the classic writers of France. In Quebec it is not considered necessary that every man should be well-educated, but there is an insistence that a man who is educated should be able to show that fact in his speaking and in his demeanour.

This is not the tradition of English-speaking Canada. In the first place we lay great stress on technical education, which does not fit a man for speaking, and often not for thinking, either. Secondly, we are still slaves of the frontier 'Honest John' political tradition; upon the whole we like our politicians to be slightly illiterate; if they are too ready in speech we suspect them of being crooks, or at least dangerously smooth. We suspect oratory in Canadians (though we admire it whole-heartedly in Mr. Churchill) and we accept halting and partially grammatical speech as evidence of a great heart and noble instincts. In short, we do not like a parliamentarian to be too good at his job. We like our representatives to speak in Parliament, lengthily, repetitiously and boringly, but we do not like them to speak eloquently, briefly and illuminatingly.

We shall probably outgrow this; most young countries go through a period when they imagine that kind hearts are more than eloquence and simple faith than a sound knowledge of affairs. But at present we do not like our representatives to reveal any education which they may have.

"A Golden Opportunity"

This continent is particularly rich in various forms of 'uplift', and we cannot keep track of all of them; therefore the discovery that there was an Anti-Cigarette Alliance of America came as a surprise to us. But apparently this body exists, and it regards the present cigarette shortage in the U.S. as "a golden opportunity" for millions of people to break themselves of what the Christian Science Monitor calls "the habit-forming weed". All that you have to do if you want to give up cigarettes is to go on a special diet, take regular Turkish baths and doses of Rochelle salts, rub your teeth with cream of tartar, and chew a quid of gentian root or camomile blossom when the craving becomes desperate.

We don't think that many people are going to seize this golden opportunity; we think that they will go right on wanting cigarettes. People are wonderful in their resistance to 'uplift'. They do not regard cigarette smoking as a harmful habit; they consider it a sensual indulgence which they will not give up under any circumstances. They smoke their package a day, and are no worse off than their ancestors who took their two ounces of snuff a day, and felt the better of it. Cigarette smoking does them no measureable good, and we have never heard that it did them any measureable harm, either. People who do not smoke do not seem to live any longer than those who do, or to enjoy life more. Smoking, except among those rude people who puff their smoke all over you, is a personal business.

We have just one word to add: if we catch any members of the Anti-Cigarette Alliance spitting gentian or camomile juice on our floors we shall throw them out into the snow, preferably from a second-story window.

NOTE AND COMMENT

An inventive fellow in Stratford finds that floor polish added to a drink gives it zest. Though for a real kick you have to use boot polish.

After the war Germany is going to be ahead of other countries in one respect—she will be able to mine a considerable quantity of excellent steel.

Books For Your Friends

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

IN this column I hope to recommend to you a few books which have been published recently, and which have in them the stuff that makes a good Christmas gift; some of them have already been reviewed in this column and others have not. First of all I must mention a new biography of the Great Lexicographer, called "Samuel Johnson," by Joseph Wood Krutch (Oxford). For a century and a half the Life by James Boswell has been accepted as the principal work about Johnson; it has held this position because of its great merit and charm as a biography. But we now know a great many things about Johnson which Boswell did not know, and we need a perspective which Boswell was not able to give. There has been foolish talk to the effect that Johnson was no great shakes as a scholar or a writer, and that he would have had an obscure place in the attics of literature if Boswell had not recorded his splendid conversations. Krutch's book exposes this for the shallow twaddle that it is. He gives us Johnson in relation to his times, which is valuable, and he gives us the benefit of a scholarly knowledge of Johnson without the scholarly fustiness. His book is first-rate reading and it will lead many people to read Johnson's "Lives of The Poets," the Idler, Rambler, "Rasselas" and the Shakespeare criticism with new interest and understanding. This book will be reviewed at length in this column at a later date when space permits.

◇ ◇ ◇

IT was the unaccountable whim of some of the late Alexander Woollcott's friends to compare him with Dr. Johnson; (but then, there are some people who insist that any fat man with a gift of the gab is another Johnson). It would be unfair to appraise "The Letters of Alexander Woollcott" from such a point of view. Woollcott was a first-rate man in his line, but his line was neither deeply significant, inclusive nor broad in scope. He was an admirable gossip in a folksy, backyard way, and his backyard was of international dimensions; his letters to some of his far-flung neighbours make good reading, but you must not look for anything of Johnson in them. In fairness to Woollcott it must be said that he was not a conceited man, and he reveals himself to his friends in an engagingly modest manner.

◇ ◇ ◇

IT is a little hard on a man to keep and publish his letters. He writes them in a hurry, and he says things which he would not be prepared to maintain upon oath. The letters written by Woollcott as a little boy might better have been left out of this book, and some of those which he wrote when he was in service during the last war are of slight interest. The really good and revealing letters are those which he wrote during the last ten years of his life. And of these it must be said that some are marred by deathbed repentances; Woollcott lived under the shadow of death for some time, and he made the most of the fact in his correspondence, protesting his affection for this one, and patching up his quarrel with that one. He was courageous about death, but he was a sentimentalist through and through, and he sentimentalizes his taking-off in a manner which makes mawkish reading in many passages. The letters might have been better if they had suffered a little tasteful editing. But here he is, gossiping away to his friends at home and abroad, babbling about his dogs and other people's dogs, making old bachelor's jokes about sex, addressing one correspondent as a contumacious rat and another as his dear, dear old friend. "Goodby-Bye, Mr. Slops," we are tempted to say at the end, but again we are unjust. Woollcott wrote these letters to people who understood him, and who felt his personality in the lines. This the ordinary reader cannot do, and his enjoyment is tempered by his incapacity. But this is a good bedside book, none the less, and a good Christmas package for anyone who loved the Town Crier's broadcasts when he was alive. It is published by Macmillan.

◇ ◇ ◇

GEORGE Bernard Shaw, in his eighty-ninth year, gives us "Everybody's Political What's What" (Constable). I see that a few critics are convinced that Shaw can have nothing of interest to say because he is now a very old man; the book itself gives them the lie. Shaw remains the best living writer of English prose, and the only sign of waning powers which the book shows is a tendency to repeat points, and this may be intentional. There is nothing new in the book; the Shavian ideas about government, economics, religion and art are served up again, but in a synthesis which is interesting in itself. We all know the XYZ of politics, says Shaw, but few of us have troubled to learn the ABC which he purports to set out in this book. I wish that some benevolent society for improving the illiterate classes would send a copy of this book to every Canadian parliamentarian as a Christmas box; it would jolt them thoroughly, and contrary to popular belief, it would not necessarily jolt them toward the Left. Shaw retains all his contempt for party government and "the rule of everybody by anybody." He is, in a sense, an arch-Tory in his insistence on the necessity for trained and intelligent leaders. This book will make a wonderful gift for some of yours friends, but it is not for those of meagre intellect.

◇ ◇ ◇

FINALLY I want to recommend again Aldous Huxley's "Time Must Have A Stop," which was reviewed at length in this column last week. It is the finest novel that has appeared this year, with the possible exception of Thomas Mann's last volume in his "Joseph" trilogy. Huxley, after long wanderings and gropings in metaphysical darkness, has at last found what he believes to be the true gospel, and he preaches it with his accustomed wit and eloquence. This is a novel for people who are genuinely religious, as well as sophisticated; it is not, of course, for the merely superstitious and sanctimonious. Try giving a copy to your minister, if you are on friendly terms with him.

THE POOR HOME-OWNER

We contend that there is absolutely no relationship between the ownership of real estate and the ability of the owner to pay taxes. And if ability-to-pay is not the criterion for public taxation, we might as well admit that confiscation is the alternative. The man who puts all his capital in real estate which doesn't yield a net revenue escapes. In fact, if the business is highly profitable he pays a whacking sum to the senior governments but the city still doesn't reach him at all.

This system encourages people to avoid the ownership of property. By the law of supply and demand, the value of property is driven downward.—Vancouver Sun.

GERMANY GETS HER MEDICINE

Ontario Towns In Spending Mood

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

AT the municipal elections throughout Ontario this week many money bylaws were submitted to the ratepayers and—except in the case of Hamilton — the people were found in the mood to spend the public funds, to borrow for current and post-war projects.

Hamilton turned down a scheme for spending $1,500,000 on a memorial auditorium and parks development program—but Ottawa approved bylaws to spend $2,500,000 on "slum clearance" and public works. Galt voters decided to spend $40,000 on a swimming pool, and Guelph $70,000 on a swimming pool and recreation centre. Kingston approved $100,000 towards a community recreation centre and a similar sum towards the erection of a tuberculosis sanatorium. Leaming voted $40,000 toward a memorial hospital, and Belleville $50,000 for the purchase of property to relieve traffic congestion. Peterborough endorsed the borrowing of $600,000 for a new civic hospital and $75,000 for a memorial health centre. Barrie decided to borrow $30,000 for an artificial ice rink, London $100,000 for a nurses' home, and Sudbury approved a project for a civic centre.

Some of these projects, notably those to provide hospital accommodation, have unquestioned merit and necessity—others seem to fall into the luxury class. But altogether they give the appearance of indicating a new spirit, or perhaps a revived spirit, among civic taxpayers. For some years now the debt of most communities has been falling, and the tax rate. One might have expected that the ideal of a tax-free town would have a great appeal to civic electorates. But instead they go out now to express their approval of civic swimming pools and skating rinks, of civic centres and traffic-relief measures, are willing that debt shall be increased for such purposes.

Time will show us whether this is a trend which will develop into extravagance, or merely a passing phase of generosity, or a desire to catch up with some things left undone during the war years. But we shall all be better off in the end if we keep our heads — if always we remember that borrowed money must be repaid and repaid with interest.

It must be made clear, however, that municipal governments have had no signal to go ahead with free spending—the demands of the war, not only in respect to money, but in labour and materials, still must have first place, and for a long time. Money now is cheap, and the investment houses are clamoring for sound securities, but, even when priority can be secured, building costs for hospitals or any type of public building, or any construction project, are extremely high, indeed almost prohibitive.

It may be that most of the spending contemplated by these bylaws is intended to be done after the war—that is the idea in Ottawa, as we know. It may be that municipalities are showing foresight, or perhaps there are factors which might develop dangerously.

The Other Face

Writing in the London Evening Standard, Evelyn Irons, correspondent says recently:

"I am just back from Paris and I am surprised by opinions of the city which are current here.

"Pictures of Auteuil races, fashions and stories of Ritz bar champagne parties have brought a natural reaction from war-scarred London. 'Paris hasn't suffered' is the sneer.

"You might as well conclude that London has done pretty well by circulating between our best hotels and basing your observations on what you see there. The truth is that just as there are two Londons, so there are two faces to Paris. Partly it is a question of wealth and poverty but not altogether. Some of the socialists of Paris have gone to prison for their intransigeance. Some of the poor have profited by collaborating with the enemy.

"You do not have to go far to find evidence to tragedies of equal magnitude. I will not say greater magnitude. You cannot weigh suffering like sugar.

"My twin sons of 21 were taken to Germany to work. That was a year ago. I have heard no word of them since.

"The Gestapo called for my husband in January and took him away. I do not know what has become of him.

"These were statements got by asking questions, not by listening to complaints.

"There were other things.

"There was flaming courage to resist in men, women and children who risked their lives that France might live."

"There was physical privation. There were cold and hunger for those who could not afford to buy fabulously in the open black market. Mothers grew thin and ill depriving themselves to feed their children. No question of Champagne here, all they wanted was milk for their babies and they received a meagre ration which was frequently sour and unfit to use."—France-Canada.

Whatever the Weather

It was quiet and calm that first evening after the rain. The lake was a kaleidoscope of changing colours from parrot-green to deepest violet. The sky was a pageant of pattern. The stems of the larch-trees beside my door shone emerald with lichen, their withered branches were flame-coloured in the evening sun. The bog was red as a robin's breast. I watched the sun drop behind lavender clouds in a saffron sky. The rushes were still; even the old dried thistle stalks did not quiver. A heron honked. A crow called "kr-raw kr-raw,' another answered "ke-way ke-way." A magpie cackled. A blackbird's last notes came down the hill. The day was done. Owls would soon be stirring. Foxes would be sniffing the scents that hang heavy in the night air.

Indoors there was only the sound of the fire. I closed my eyes and listened to its music. It seemed to me then that I had come through a curtain of rain into a land of faerie, and I was reminded how, as a child, I used to delight to go through a curtain of glass beads that hung in the corridor of my uncle's house. Beyond that curtain a door led into a scarce-used room, wherein were treasures innumerable. Fantastice shells from foreign shores. Cabinets of tropic butterflies, cases of exotic beetles, ships inside bottles. I can still hear the tinkling of the beads as I passed through the curtain. It was fairyland and beyond....

Whatever the weather there is always interest. Every day is an adventure. When there is frost the lake is covered with ice patterns that recall primitive carvings on paddle or club; rectangles, triangles, pentagons fitted together with geometric accuracy, each with a pool of clear water at its centre, a pool with bevelled sides as straight and angles as sharp as any that Euclid could have imagined. Between these scattered groups are delicate traceries that might have been drawn with a comb or surfaces that might have been scraped in soft clay by spatula or trowel, and elsewhere flocculent feathery masses like the frozen under-surface of a swan's wing....'

When the day is grey and a mist shuts out everything beyond the margin of the lake, there is silence and seclusion, and when the south wind sighs across the valley and purrs through the trees, and the swish of rain on the roof is like the rustling of cattle among reeds, I sit by the fire and am content to be. Rain, sweet rain. Sweet generous rain.—From "Coming Down the Wye," by Robert Gibbings.

Sarah Bernhardt

Maurice Baring began his fine essay on Sarah Bernhardt by quoting Musset's famous line "Sans doute il est trop tard pour parler encore d'elle"—and without doubt it is too late again. The French press, paying due homage to art even amid the tumult of war and revolution, has celebrated the centenary of the birth of the great actress on October 22, 1844.

But the British press, alas! has been misled by a remarkable confusion of authorities. True, 1844 is the date given by Larousse, by Meyer, by Cassell, and by Chambers, and, we confess, by the "Manchester Guardian" in its obituary.

But the Encyclopaedia Britannica, the Annual Register, and the "Times" obituary all declare that Sarah was born in 1845, as did the contemporary entry in "Who's Who," which she herself must presumably have seen and approved. Brockhaus, original as ever, gives us a choice between October 22, 1844 (at Paris), and November 22, 1843 (at Havre). Her own marriage certificate declares that on April 4, 1882, she was only thirty years old, but that was a pardonable and admitted understatement.

There can be little doubt that 1844 was in fact the year. To an importunate questioner she once replied "What does it matter where I was born?" and she would have added "or when?" But we should remember the birth of the immortals, for we would not remember their death.—Manchester Guardian.

A Bible Message

But there went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground. And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul. (Gen. 2: 6, 7.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And Adam lived an hundred and thirty years, and begat a son in his own likeness, after his image; and called his name Seth: and the days of Adam after he had begotten Seth were eight hundred years: and he begat sons and daughters. (Gen. 5: 3, 4.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Hearken to me, ye that follow after righteousness, ye that seek the Lord: look unto the rock whence ye are hewn, and to the hole of the pit whence ye are digged. Look unto Abraham your father, and unto Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him....

Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look upon the earth beneath: for the heavens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall wax old like a garment, and they that dwell therein shall die in like manner: but my salvation shall be for ever, and my righteousness shall not be abolished. (Isa. 51: 1-3, 6.)

Lo, this one have I found, that God hath made man upright; but they have sought out many inventions. (Eccl. 7: 29.)

Unconsidered Trifles

The squire showed his guest to his bedroom.

"I hope you're not nervous, old chap," he said, "but this room is supposed to be haunted."

"Haunted!" exclaimed the guest. "What by?"

"A wraith—a spectre!" replied the host.

"A w-w-what?"

"A wraith—you know, a ghost."

The guest gave a deep sigh of relief and the colour returned to his cheeks.

"Oh, that's all right!" he said. "At first I thought you said a rate collector."

As a young man, John D. Rockefeller exhibited the same sense of thrift which characterized his later years. Never much of a dresser, he was often seen with a patch on his coat and a shine on his baggy trousers. His appearance bothered him but little, but his friends often pointed out that such attire was not fitting for a man of his position.

"Why do you dress so shabbily?" asked one friend. "You certainly can afford better clothes."

"What's wrong with these?" demanded the budding oil magnate.

"Everything," was the reply. "Your father would be ashamed of you. You know how neatly he used to dress."

"But," protested young Rockefeller, "this is a suit of my father's I'm wearing now."

WHAT, NO FARMERS?

Once again we admit that tired feeling which always overtakes us when we sit by the radio and hear one of these academic so-called economists dilating on the way to make Canada prosperous and to do away with unemployment, and who takes 15 minutes to tell us all about it without mentioning that there is in Canada such an industry as agriculture.—Lethbridge Herald.

FOR REPUDIATION

Attorney General Corman has issued a statement declaring that the only thing for the province to do is repudiate its whole public debt. This is a shocking suggestion. It indicates an utterly Douglas Government may have the desire but caloused disregard for public responsibility. The certainly they have no mandate to thus wreck the financial solidity of the province or destroy its good reputation for square dealing.—Regina Leader-Post.

StockingDemand Too Great For The Mills

OTTAWA, Dec. 13 — Prices Board denied this morning, through an official spokesman, charges that rayon that could have been used to bolster up the vanishing supplies of women's stockings, has been diverted to the "luxury trade".

Complaints have been made by Ottawa working girls that while they can't get stockings, store windows in the city are "filled with housecoats, cocktail pyjamas, mandarin trousers, slips, all of rayon, and many garments large enough to make 20 pairs of stockings each."

This charge, which at first glance might seem well-founded, is quite incorrect, a Prices Board official said.

Not Suitable for Stockings

"It's quite true that rayon garments of many kinds are plentiful in Ottawa and other cities of Canada, but you couldn't possibly make stockings with the type of rayon used in housecoats, men's neckties and similar articles", he said.

"In the first place, these garments are made of what is termed acetate rayon which is plentiful. To make stockings where elasticity is a first essential, you need a combination of viscose and acetate rayon known as Bemberg yarn, which is in short supply and difficult to get.

"Even if a larger quantity of this special yarn comes on the market, and we hope it does, there are other problem in turning out larger quantities of women's stockings. Making of stockings is a knitting operation which requires a very different type of machine, and a different type of skilled worker than does a weaving and sewing operation. The pool of labor for this type of product is small and highly technical. Moreover, with necessary war restrictions in force, it is questionable if more special knitting machines can be obtained."

The Board has every expectation that the situation will be remedied or remedy itself within a few weeks at the most, and attributes the current shortage chiefly to the enormous and unprecedented volume of pre-Christmas buying.

"Knitting mills are turning out just as many stockings as ever", the official affirmed, "but at present they don't seem able to keep pace with the colossal demand.

"We think Ottawa retailers are doing an excellent and helpful job in distribution of stockings. They offer what quantities of stockings they have at different hours in their endeavor to make the supply go around, and try to maintain a fair balance between the business girl whose shopping hours are necessarily restricted and the housewife who can shop at mid-morning and mid-afternoon hours."

Cite Difficulties

Both housewives and business girls, were evidently unaware of the technical difficulties in stocking manufacture or the special types of yarn required. They felt an injustice was being done and that rayon which could be used for stockings was being channelled into special lines which are more profitable and call for less handling.

"The stocking situation", Prices Board said, "is closely paralleled by the children's underwear situation. Mothers have been complaining to us that they can't get underwear for their children but that ski caps and other articles which they deem 'non-essential' are offered for sale.

"Again, it's a different type of wool and a different type of labor required for the manufacture of children's underwear than for certain woollen sportswear."

The Great American Myth

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

"It is time to recognize that the maintenance of high tariffs is a special-interest concession benefiting a minority. The belief that the future prosperity of the American economy depends on high tariffs is a myth."

THIS is not the statement of some theoretical free-trade liberal, of an impractical professor, of any of those men who are customarily accused, for lack of a better indictment, of mere Victorianism. This is the statement of the National Planning Association of the United States, a group of the hardest-headed businessmen and labor leaders in the nation. In a report on "America's New Opportunities in World Trade," this influential body confirms what has been said already in this series of articles—namely, that if world trade is to be restored the United States must take the initiative in restoring it; and that if world trade is not restored there will be no chance of world prosperity

The National Planning Association's report is a landmark in American business and labor thinking on the future of the United States in the world economy. It shows more clearly than any other document that American thinkers understand how vastly their country was mistaken in the period between the wars, and how a continuance of high-tariff, self-containment policies will bring disaster to everyone. The government of the United States has already repudiated these policies, which it long pursued, but whether American business accepted this repudiation has never been clear. Now at last we have a non-partisan group of businessmen and labor leaders who not only back the government's general line but would follow it boldly to the end.

THE immediate development which has changed the mind of American business thinkers is obvious—the mass-production industries of the United States have grown too big for the domestic market. They must find markets abroad. When peace comes, says the National Planning Association's report, these industries "may be twice as large as are needed to meet maximum domestic requirements." Despite this obvious fact—and the fact that the United States is now the world's largest creditor—"we cling," says the report, "to the foreign trade and investment policies of our non-industrial and debtor period." Such policies, it adds, prevent foreigners paying their debts, depress American exports, depress the world's trade, protect only a minority of manufacturers, and restrict living standards both by reducing employment and upholding artificial price levels.

"Our basic national interest," the report declares, "now lies in the direction of a higher volume of trade with the world . . . It is urgent that our commercial policy be brought up to date, especially by the systematic and gradual reduction of our tariff structure. . . This nation confronts a world filled with potential buyers for Amercan goods. On this country, and this country alone, rests the decision of whether these potential buyers are to become real customers. The committee (which prepared the report) believes it is in our interest and the world's interest, from the standpoint of employment at home and of stability abroad, for the United States to meet its opportunity for leadership in expanding world trade."

THE problem here, as the report says, is quite simple. The world wants United States' goods, will buy all it can get. But it cannot pay for them unless the United States will accept payment, ultimately, in goods. For a time foreigners can receive loans from the United States, and with these American dollars can buy American goods, but as the report says:

"Loans abroad, however, merely postpone the ultimate necessity of importing. Capital invested abroad eventually must be returned, and interest and dividends must be paid in dollar exchange earned by foreigners through their exports to us. If imports are not eventually raised to an adequate volume we will lose, first, our foreign investments and the income on them. In the end we will inevitably lose our export markets as well. If the United States fails to take the initiative in providing more nearly adequate dollar exchange, there is the likelihood that other nations will be forced to intensify their exchange controls, extend bilateral agreements, and develop trading blocs to the exclusion of the United States.

"For the long run it will be necessary to reverse the commodity trade balance and to provide an import surplus out of which American financial claims on the rest of the world can be paid. . . We are by far the world's largest creditor. If we wish to be paid for our exports, and for the capital we have lent and will lend, we must plan to import in volume greater than our exports so as to create a margin—an import surplus—out of which interest, dividends and amortization on foreign loans and investment can be paid to us. . . This means that imports must be raised to very high levels."

The whole question—and its answer will determine the prosperity or poverty of the world — boils down to this: Is the United States prepared to import a large volume of foreign goods? Whether it can do so, and break the logjam which has ruined the world's economy, will be discussed in another article.

(The third in a series.)

Relax Restrictions

OTTAWA, Dec. 13.—(CP).—The Prices Board announced last night that essentiality certificates are no longer required for the purchase of new hot air furnaces.

Train Reservations May Be Cancelled

MONTREAL, Dec. 13 — (CP) — Federal Transport Controller T. C. Lockwood in a statement issued today warned Canadians that owing to the "heavy" westbound and eastbound movement of armed forces, a "great many" regular sleeping and dining cars would be required and "the civilian public may find that even though they have reservations made, it will become necessary to cancel the movement of some of these cars."

Mr. Lockwood said it was extremely difficult for railway companies to notify the public for security and other reasons.

The statement added:

"It is feared that some passengers will, owing to war necessities, find that the car on which they have made a booking has been requistioned and it is also quite likely, during the next three or four weeks, that dining car service may be curtailed on routes on which these cars have been carried in the past."

U.S. Newsprint Reduced

MONTREAL, Dec. 13 (CP)—All newsprint orders from United States customers in the month of December will be out 15 per cent, it was announced here last night by the Newsprint Association of Canada. The reduction was made on the request of the U.S. War Production Board, when orders from U.S. points here were reported 28,000 tons in excess of the monthly quota.

TAMBLYN CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

Another year has rolled around—and once again it's Christmas—Christmas 1944. Some of us at the moment undoubtedly view the advent of this Christmas with something akin to dread. Sorrow has entered many of our homes and worry and anxiety are unwelcome tenants in others. Yes—it will take real courage in many cases to carry on, but against that, Christmas is so much a part of our way of life that it cannot be disregarded. In any event, Christmas will be just what we make it. This year as possibly never before, we are being given the opportunity to exercise kindness — to be helpful to others and incidentally by reason of this to be most helpful to ourselves. So it is our thought that it behooves all of us to ensure by our gifts and cheery greetings—the lessening of the heartaches of those less fortunate than ourselves and by so doing gain and extend the spirit of Christmas. May we also join with you in the sincere wish that another Christmas will find the world free from the shadow of war and that once again we may joy in the fact of Peace on Earth—Good Will to Men.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

This week's card in the Ladies' Basketball League, incidentally the last games until the New Year, should provide one of the best programs of the season for the Friday night fans at the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium. First place in the senior division will be at stake when the Transports and St. John's outfits clash in the 7:45 o'clock game. At present the Saints are half a game in front of last year's champs but a win for the latter would reverse the situation, putting Transport half a game to the good. The first the two teams met this season the Saints nosed out last season's winners by the narrow margin of one basket and the game was the most exciting and incidentally the most rugged of the whole campaign. There is every reason to expect a similar clash Friday night. In the junior game two of the new teams, Quakers and Westclox, will tangle and with both in search of their first win that should be another even affair, with the teams apparently well-matched and likely to stage a lively battle for the decision. This double-header will be the last fixtures in the loop until Friday, January 5, as it is considered impossible to carry on during the holiday weeks.

* * * * * *

The hectic race in the Ladies' Five Pin League continues as hot as ever and the Outboard Marines and Westclox who have been deadlocked at the top of the column for weeks are still tied for first place while the Merry Macs who have been in third slot all along are clinging tenaciously to that position. All three leaders won three games in Monday night's play, the Outboard Marines registering a clean sweep at the expense of the Corvettes, the Westclox taking all three games from the Five V's and the Merry Macs cleaning up on the Arcos. The League is enjoying a good season and on the whole the scores have been fairly high. Monday night for example both the Outboards and the Westclox team climbed above the 3,000 mark and those outfits are consistently around that figure. Incidentally there is a familiar appearance to softball fans about that Westclox lineup which consists of Aggie Anderson, Isobel Bullock, Marg Hawthorne and Norma Whetung of the Big Bens' softball team and Marg Selkirk of the Aircraft club.
